Superintendent Says "Thanks" To Parents

(Editors note: The following letter was sent into the Hart Beat for publication by Andy Gardenhire)
Dear Patron:

This letter is written with one purpose in mind, to say "Thank You" for your help and consideration during the school year just closing. Thanks for encouraging your child to be at school on time each day, for encouraging him to study; for insisting that he obey the rules of the school and classroom. We thank you for the help given in teaching him good citizenship and good manners.

This has been another pleasant and profitable year. On behalf of the school board and all our school staff, we express our deep appreciation for your part in this worthy co-operative enterprise.

It seems that all of us have remembered that the complete education of children is the sole reason for our being; the one thought prompting every action.

We wish for each of you a very pleasant summer.

Sincerely yours,
Andy Gardenhire, Supt.

Auto Accidents Caused By People

Auto accidents don't just happen.

They are caused.

An overwhelming proportion of them are caused by some human element. Sometimes this human element involves a driver with a physical or emotional condition that makes him a less than ideal driver.

You may think you are in good health. You may have an excellent safety record. Yet, under certain circumstances, it can be dangerous for you to be in the driver's seat, says a pamphlet of the American Medical Association.

Doctors agree that the emotional stability of the driver is as important as any single factor in maintaining traffic safety. That's why you owe it to others-- and to yourself--not to drive when you have serious problems on your mind. If you are thinking about that argument you had before you left your home or office; if you're in a depressed or angry "I don't-care-what-happens" mood; if you're very worried about a personal problem . . . you're better off not driving.

The sleepy driver causes many accidents. Infact, a sleepy driver is as much of a hazard as a drinking one. Dozing at the wheel can occur in broad daylight as well as at night. When making long trips in the summer vacations soon to come, rest every two hours and drink coffee or cola to stay alert. Next time you feel the least bit drowsy while driving, pull up and rest up.

Research proves that many medicines, not just a few, can affect the way in which you handle the wheel. Certain commonly used drugs such as anti-histamines, cold tablets and mild sedatives may dull your reflexes or impair your coordination. Stimulants can make you nervous. Tranquilizing drugs can cloud your judgment and interfere with driving skills. Consult your doctor about the side effects of any drugs you take. Don't drive until you know that the medicine or drugs you take won't affect your driving.

It goes without saying that alcohol and gasoline are a dangerous combination. You don't have to be drunk to be dangerous. Even a small amount of alcohol can impair judgment and reactions of many persons.

Driving calls for clear, healthy eyesight, side vision, judgment of distance and the ability to see well at night. Have your eyes tested regularly. If you have glasses for distance vision, don't forget to wear them.

If you have a nervous disorder, or a heart condition, or diabetes, ask your doctor whether you are a safe driver. This also applies as you get older. Past 65, reflexes and coordination tend to be a little slower.

LCC Youth Meeting Set

"God's Way for Christian Youth" will be the topic of the eighth annual Young People's Lectureship to be held June 4-8 on the campus of Lubbock Christian College.

Young people 12 years of age and over are being invited to attend the period of inspirational talks, panel discussions, classes singing, devotions and recreation.

Registration begins at 2 p. m. Sunday, June 4.

Except for daily addresses by area preachers and special girls' and boys' classes, the entire program will be presented by the young people.

About 400 young people are expected to attend the lectureship and hear the daily keynote addresses.

Don Browning, minister for the Eastside Church of Christ in Snyder, will be featured Monday on "God's Way for Service."

Lubbock ministers are slated to speak Tuesday and Wednesday. Jess Hall of the Greenlawn church will speak on "God's Way for Moral Purity," and Earl Darley of the Southside Church, on "God's Way for Daily Living."

Don Williams, youth leader at the Broadway Church of Christ, will teach a special class for boys each day.

A girls' class will be taught by Mrs. Myrtle Higgins, former resident of Olton, a member of the LCC faculty and director of testing.

Total cost for the four-day period, including room and board, is $15.

The program is directed by Wayne Hinds, chairman of the music department of Lubbock Christian College. For further information, write him at LCC, 5601 W. 19th ST., Lubbock, Tex. 79407.

Texas Citrus To Have Representative In Europe

Texas citrus will soon have a representative in Europe when Gordon R. Powell, Extension fruit and vegetable marketing specialist at Texas A&M University, travels abroad in April.

John E. Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said the purpose of Powell's trip is to note the quality of Texas citrus on arrival. He also will investigate consumer, retail and wholesale reaction to Texas commodities arriving as experimental shipments in the European market.

Several receivers in Europe have requested large shipments of Texas commodities for the 1967-68 marketing season. It will be the marketing specialist's responsibility to make negotiations for possible future shipments, Hutchison said.

The possibility for new markets for Texas commodities also will be explored during the trip, which is being sponsored by the Texas Farm Bureau and the Texas citrus industry.

Hutchison said the trip climaxes six months of work by Powell on Texas sweet citrus in major U. S. markets.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

Crucial, make-or-break decisions on state spending confront legislators this week as they enter the windup of their 1967 session.

Senators have submitted a $437,700,000 budget for 1968. This was followed by a bill providing $55,500,000 for teacher pay raises (an average of $640 a year).

House action was delayed by printing problems, but representatives were due to take up the Senate bill and substitute their own appropriations measure calling for $449,400,000 in general fund outlays. House bill would leave about $35,000,000 for such add-on spending as teacher pay raises.

The big unanswered question is whether the House will be able to convince a majority of senators to accept the House appropriations measure without a conference committee.

Speaker Ben Barnes and Gov. John Connally have been working for Senate support of the House bill.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and Senate leadership feel differences between House and Senate bills should be worked out as usual -- in a joint conference of five senators and five representatives.

The Senate's more-generous figure for teacher pay makes the selling job somewhat harder for the House. But the fact that its bill runs some $12,000,000 over the latest general revenue forecast of Comptroller Robert S. Calvert weakens the Senate argument for the bigger pay raise.

The outcome will determine whether the Legislature must go into special session this year to finish writing even a one-year budget.

Still on the unfinished business list: congressional, legislative and judicial re-districting bills.

STATE PROPERTY TAX NEAR END? -- The proposed constitutional amendment to phase out bulk of the state's 47 cents per $100 valuation property tax levy by 1977 is near legislative approval.

The Senate has passed it and the House Constitutional Amendment Committee has recommended it. The proposal would go to the voters in November, 1968.

If the measure is approved, all but 10 cents of the state ad valorem tax (that which is earmarked for state college construction) would be wiped out by Dec. 31, 1976.

While this may be cheering news to property owners, it must be noted that the $47,- 900,000 in revenue must be made up from other sources.

VOTER REGISTRATION PLAN IN TROUBLE-- A new voter registration plan, product of a long study, came out of committee for Senate consideration. It immediately ran into criticism.

Bill would require personal registration with tax assessor-collector or authorized deputy at a public place sometime next year. Voters could register by mail for the big 1968 elections.

Once registered in the 1968-69 sign-up, they could renew eligibility by simply signing and mailing back to tax offices a form card between Oct. 1 and Jan 31 each year. A special supplementary registration period would be held Aug. 15-Sept. 15 during general election years.

Sen. Barbara Jordan of Houston assailed the bill as more restrictive than the present law. She hit sections prohibiting roving deputies and outlawing husbands registering for wives and vice versa.

Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells acknowledged he will have a problem passing his measure in the Senate as it stands.

SAFETY BILL SIGNED-- Texas' first major occupational safety bill, designed to cut the soaring industrial accident toll, has been signed into law.

It creates within the State Department of Health a division of occupational safety to be administered by a three-member board, assisted by a safety engineer and an advisory committee. The board would conduct a continuing educational, promotional and enforcement campaign.

WATER QUALITY BOARD APPROVED-- Bill to establish a Texas Water Quality Board to replace the Water Pollution Control Board has been approved.

Governor Connally recommended the measure as an aid to strengthening water pollution control. Bill will create a seven-member board with its own professional staff and provide for local enforcement of water quality standards.

One Of Eight Americans Snore, Says Medical Group

About one out of eight Americans snore.

This means something like 25 million snorers, women as often as men.

The comic literature about snoring is endless. Plays, movies, vaudeville skits and comics in general have poked fun at snoring down through the years.

There's a good chance that there's a snorer in your family. If so, says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association, you are well aware that it's not very funny.

The assorted hisses, gurgles, buzzes, snorts and raspings of the snoring nuisance hold the seeds for the ruination of an ostensibly happy marriage. Many married couples find it necessary to set up a schedule wherein one spouse tries to precede the other in sleep. Other couples proceed to separate rooms and possibly even the divorce courts.

For the most part snoring is generated while breathing either in or out during sleep by several structures in the nose and throat. The sounds are due to vibrations in the soft palate and other soft structures of the throat in response to inflowing and outflowing air.

The frequency of the vibrations depends on the size, density and elasticity of the affected tissues and on the force of the air flow.

A number of causes of snoring can be helped and even cured. Most cases of snoring in children are cured by removal of enlarged adenoids and tonsils. A blocked nose may lead to mouth breathing and snoring. Sometimes this can be corrected by minor surgery. If snoring is caused by nasal congestion due to the common cold, sinus trouble or hay fever, nose drops or antihistamines sometimes can bring relief to the sufferer and may stop snoring. Many people snore only when sleeping on the back. Any method that keeps the sleeper on his side or face can help.

There are factors that may affect the tone of the tissues of the throat and result in snoring. These include too much smoking, overwork, fatigue, obesity and general poor health. The largest group of offenders are the elderly, presumably because they lack tissue tone.

If there is a snorer in your family who is disrupting the sleep of others, send him to the family physician. If there is a definite cause-and-effect relationship, possibly something can be done about it. If your doctor cannot help, the listener can wear earplugs, when everything else fails.

Texas Aged Population Continues To Increase

The number of aged persons in Texas, those 65 and over, is increasing at a faster rate than the state's total population. Projections for 1980 indicate an aged population of over 1.1 million, say Dr. R. L. Skrabanek, B. E. Dickerson and W. K. Uphan of Texas A&M's Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology.

In a recent publication, they indicate that the number of Texas aged persons will command wider public attention in the future. As a group, their political importance will continue to grow, and more attention will be given their recreation and housing needs, pension plans, retirement programs and medical and welfare services programs.

Preventive medicines, better diets and control of communicable diseases have resulted in more people living longer. In 1960 there were 610 persons 100 years old or older living in Texas, and 43,000 were 85 or older.

The researchers reason that, with current retirement policies in effect, an increasing number of Texans will have 35 years or more of "doing nothing" after retirement.

Also, since women live, on the average, 6 years longer than men, female numerical superiority increases with age and women will continue to control a greater share of the nation's wealth in the future.

The researchers point out that, with many young people entering the labor market each year, and the need to advance younger workers, a sharp increase in voluntary and compulsory retirements has taken place. This has resulted in a decided downward trend in the employment of older people in recent years.

Many elderly people have an income problem. In 1959 the median income of all families where the head of the household was an elderly person and where both husband and wife were living was less than half the income of all families in Texas with both husband and wife living.

Another problem is housing. After retirement usually drops, necessary a more comprehensive housing invitation to live with relatives.

Homes for retirement in 1960, these homes being established in various locations: excellent care, rehabilitation services are being developed for the elderly and maintenance community contact centers.

More details on the aged population may be found in Texas Aged, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Copies are available from county Extension Agents.

NOTICE

Hart will hold a bond election May 20 to decide whether or not to sell $12,000 in bond improvements.

The bonds are supposed to bear interest a year and to pay the interest and create a tax to pay off the bonds, a tax will be levied on property owners.

Nobody is against the improvements, but we already have was paid for by persons who fronted the street.

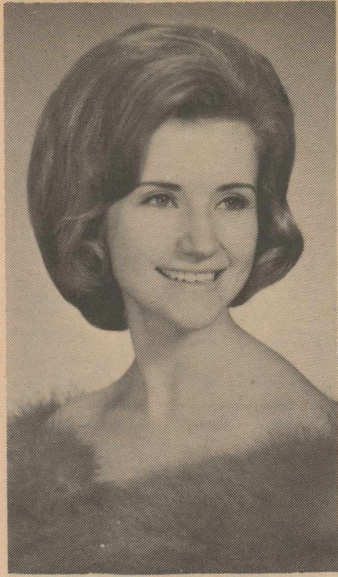

So now the mayor and commissioners are to help pay the others for paving their streets.

There is nothing fair about it. In fairness see how anyone could ask for such a bond vote for it. It's too much for criticism.

In the other bond vote for sewer improvements the users pay $2.50 per month for sewer improvements.

Social Security Filing Necessary

"Filing social security claims promptly has never been more important than it is now," John G. Hutton, district manager of social security in Lubbock, said today.

"While benefit claims may be retroactive for a year or more, the enrollment period for medical insurance is greatly restricted," he said. "Protection under the 'doctor bill' part of medicare can start on the first day of the month you attain age 65 only if you apply for it in one of the three months before the month you reach 65."

"This restriction, incidentally, does not apply to hospital insurance; it applies only to medical insurance," he added.

The first enrollment period set by law covers seven months; the three months immediately before the month of attaining age 65, that month, and the three months immediately thereafter. However, if the application is filed in the month of attainment or later, the effective date is postponed one to three months.

If application for medical insurance is not filed during the first enrollment period, protection cannot be obtained until the next general enrollment period, which will be the last three months of odd-numbered years. Premiums for these delayed enrollments will be higher, and coverage is not effective until July 1 of the following year.

Even though the applicant still working, a claim for hospital and medical insurance can be approved whether or not any retirement benefits can be paid. Moreover, with the increase in allowable earnings, many applicants will receive some cash benefits as soon as a claim is filed.

Information and help in preparing the necessary application forms may be had from the social security office at 3428 Avenue H.

Members of the areawide and steering committees of the High Plains diapause boll weevil control program have unanimously endorsed continuation in 1967 of the fall spraying operations which began in 1964 and have reduced overwintering populations of boll weevils in nine infested counties to about two per cent of previous numbers.

At the same time the group voted for increased efforts toward perfecting eradication methods which would remove the weevil threat from the Plains once and for all. There is a possibility one or more of these eradication techniques could be ready for a test run in the spring of 1968.

"There is no acceptable alternative to continuing the program," according to Ed Dean, Field Service Director of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., the High Plains cotton producer organization which initiated the program.

"If left alone weevils would immediately build back to the huge numbers present in the 1964 growing season and would shortly overrun the entire High Plains area," Dean said.

He also said that if this area is to be in a position to take advantage of male sterilization or other eradication techniques, it is necessary that weevil numbers be kept down to the current low level. Entomologists estimate that no more than an average of three or four weevils per acre will emerge from hibernation this spring, and it is estimated that the release of sterile males would require a ratio of about 100 to 1 to disrupt the reproductive cycle.

The release of 400 sterile male weevils would not be enough to do serious economic damage to crops. But if weevil populations were even 100 per acre, the 4,000 sterile weevils that would have to be released would make the technique prohibitive.

Some 30 people will be used in surveys this June, July and August to both study weevil population dynamics and delineate the area to be sprayed this fall, Dean states.

In 1964, the first year of the program, base acreage to be treated was almost 300,000. Last fall, it was necessary to spray only a base area of about 185,000 acres, and it is hoped this can be reduced to an even smaller acreage in 1967.

"This fact, together with other economies effected in the program, will make it possible for Plains producers to meet their obligations without an increase in the 40 cents per bale contribution," Dean said, "and the committees agreed that this figure would not be changed this year."

The program is jointly financed by the State and cotton producers in the area, with matching Federal funds.

Guthion, newly approved for use in ultra low volume form, may be used this year in a pilot project. If it proves satisfactory for use in the entire program, an even more economical and effective program might be possible in 1968.

Low volume Malathion is the chemical used for the past three years. It will be used for the bulk of spraying in 1967 pending proof that Guthion would do a better job, Dean reported.

"I have never been associated with anything so exciting, stimulating, or offering greater potential for the South Plains than the prospect of importing water to the area for agricultural and other uses," says J. D. Smith of Littlefield.

Smith is President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., and a member of the organizing committee for Water, Inc., the formation of which is one of the first steps toward bringing water to West Texas from areas of surplus.

"Engineers and others who have studied the situation have convinced me that imported water for this area is not only possible, but practical," Smith said, and added "It has often been said that with plenty of water the Plains could be the garden spot of the world, and I now expect to see it become just that."

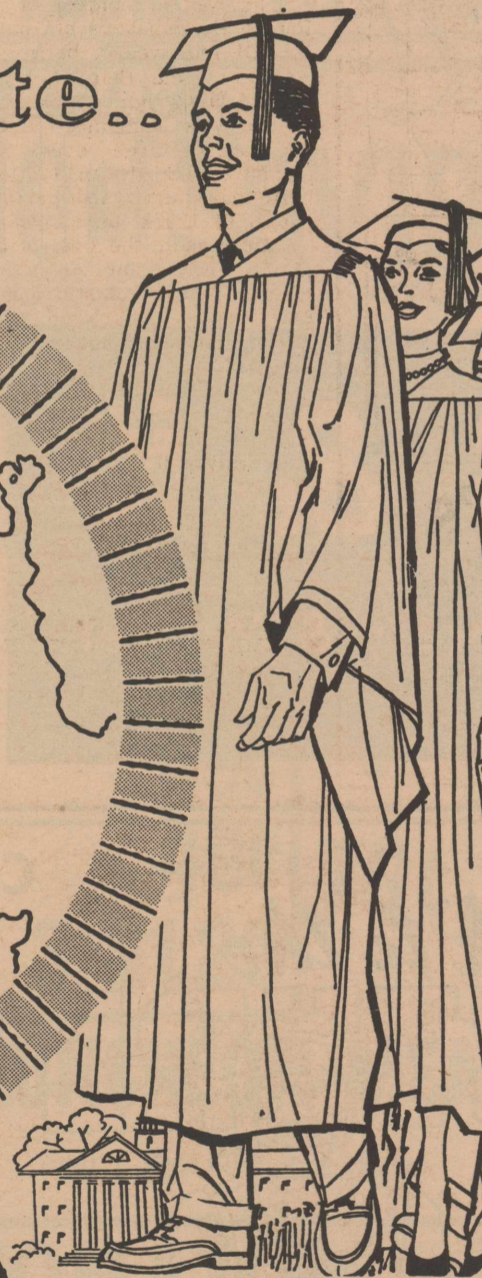

The organizational meeting of Water, Inc., will be held at the KoKo Palace in Lubbock at 2 p. m. May 24, and members of the organizing committee are urging that people from all walks of life be on hand.

A charter and by-laws for the organization have been drawn up and approved by the organizing committee and these will be submitted for membership approval May 24.

Multi-Unit Furniture Stores Making Comeback

The multi-unit furniture store is the trend for the future in furniture retail business, according to Dr. Edward Bursk, editor of the Harvard Business Review.

Quoting Dr. Bursk, Bonny Lay, Extension housing and furnishings specialist at Texas A&M University, says that the city store with several branches will be the fastest growing kind of retail operation.

These multi-unit stores are large enough to have a staff of trained employees able to give proper assistance, but small enough to know the market and what they want in home furnishings.

The discount stores with their quick sales will continue to grow, but not as fast as the multi-unit store. The greater convenience and higher quality furniture available in the multi-unit store has slowed the discount store trend.

Today's more knowledgeable customers are demanding higher quality and better designs in furniture.

There are signs that the smaller retailer is coming

Wayland College Will Sponsor Clinic

J. R. McEntyre, director of Odessa public school bands the past 16 years, will head the second annual Wayland College Band Clinic set for June 19-23 on the college campus.

R. C. Davidson, director of the Wayland College Band and who will serve on the clinic staff, said around 150 young musicians are expected to attend.

"We are most fortunate to get the services of a band director of McEntyre's caliber," Davidson commented in announcing the clinic plans. "He has a record second to none in his field."

McEntyre's Odessa bands have rated first division in all University Interscholastic League competition. For the past 8 years he has directed the nationally recognized Permian High School Band which has won all categories in the Tri-State Music Festival at Enid, Okla., and has been awarded sweepstakes honors the past three years in the Buccaneer Music Festival at Corpus Christi, rating first division in all categories.

McEntyre's Odessa organization was selected as honor band in AAAA in 1963, and has appeared on a nationally televised broadcast. The Odessa director has served as conductor - clinician - adjudicator throughout the Southwest and next year will conduct the Nebraska All-State Band in rehearsal at Lincoln, Neb.

The clinic staff, in addition to McEntyre and Davidson, includes some of the region's most outstanding band instructors. Health Service Grant To State To Fight Sickneses Announced Approval of a $315,659 Public Health Service grant to Texas for a state-wide immunization project has been announced by Dr. J. E. Peavy, State Health Commissioner.

The funds will be used to wage immunization campaigns in cooperation with local health departments and medical societies against measles, polio, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough, Dr. Peavy said.

The project will last until April 30, 1968. An additional year has been tentatively funded with $325,000 for a continuation of the project, Dr. Peavy added, and a supplemental budget of $35,775 for polio vaccine for use this year has also been requested.

Texas has an estimated 1,550,000 preschool children, with 40 percent of these, or 620,000, believed susceptible to measles, and at least 30 percent, or 465,000, are susceptible to polio.

There are no state laws requiring immunizations for entry into elementary school, such requirements being matters of local school board option. Most school systems do recommend and many require diphtheria and smallpox immunizations prior to school entry. In many areas polio and measles inoculations are also recommended.

At present immunizations are provided through 64 health departments located throughout the state, and covering about 75 per cent of the population, the health commissioner reported. He said these are administered through various types of clinics using diphtheria, tetanus and pertussis vaccines manufactured in the State Health Department laboratories.

Polio and measles vaccines are purchased from commercial outlets, he said.

"Health departments, with cooperation from private physicians, have actively promoted immunizations in the past among the preschool and school-age population," Dr. Peavy said, "but, many preschool children are not being reached by the usual and customary procedures."

The current state plan to make 1967 the "measles eradication year" coincides with a national project urged by President Lyndon Johnson and already outlined by U. S. Surgeon General William Stewart.

"We hope that by the end of 1967 case of measles will be a thing of rarity," Dr. Peavy said.

The commissioner said steps will also be taken to organize intensive polio campaigns in certain areas of greatest need-- or, those counties with one or more reported cases during the past two years. These campaigns will be conducted in cooperation with local health departments and county medical societies in the state, he indicated.
