Hart Riding Club Takes First In Area Parades

Hart Junior Riding Club rode away with two more first place prizes this weekend after competing in two area parades.

First win came Saturday in Canyon as local riders competed in the junior division of a downtown parade.

Members enjoyed barbecue on the court house square following the parade, in addition to their victory.

33 Attend Cooking School

Thirty-three students from the Hart area received certificates of achievement Friday upon completion of the "Fun For Juniors" cooking school.

The five-day school, sponsored by the Swisher County Electric Cooperative, Inc., of Tulia, was designed for girls between the ages of six and 12.

Youngsters not only learned the fundamentals of cooking, but also prepared breakfast, lunch and dinner dishes.

The last day was devoted to a party for parents, highlighted by the presentation of certificates.

Classes were instructed by Mrs. Jeanette Malone, home economist.

They again took a first place trophy after riding in Littlefield's District One Parade the next day.

The second "victory feast" consisted of watermelon which was served to all competing horsemen.

Latest conquests brought to six the trophies brought home by the local club this summer. Riders also took first at the ABC parade in Littlefield, Plainview's Old Settlers' Reunion, Plainview's Bar-None Rodeo, and district parades in Tulia and Canyon.

Future competition is set to include parade rides in Hereford, Morton, and Dimmitt.

Vote Called In County On Bond Election Petition

County Judge Raymond Wilson announced this week that a petition seeking a $50,000 bond election for or against improvements to two county roads in precinct 1 would have to be refilled before a vote could be called.

He said recent shifts in commissioners' precinct boundaries voided a previous petition since it no longer necessarily represents the wishes of legal resident voters in the new precinct area.

The announcement came after consultation with attorneys charged with drawing up the originally proposed bond.

The longest segment of road mentioned in the petition runs about a mile and a half along the eastern edge of Hart from SH 194 northwest to FM 168.

The second strip runs approximately three-fourths mile from the south edge of Dimmitt to the northern border of precinct one.

Wilson said first plans called for the roads to be widened to from 80 to 100 feet and then paved if the project was approved at the polls.

Steps were already being taken to obtain necessary easements for property along the two roadways when bondsmen requested new signatures.

No date has been set for a hearing on the new petition.

During County Fair

Events Slated For Hart Day

The Hart Junior Riding Club is planning a parade and playday to be held on Hart Day Aug. 15 in conjunction with Castro County Week.

Club members have asked local residents to join forces for the planned festivities in order to make Hart Day A Better Day.

Twenty-two invitations have been extended to area riding clubs to participate in the day's downtown parade.

Hart Farmers Receive Wheat Allotments

Hart farmers this week received 1968 wheat allotments totaling 18,952.4 acres, according to a report from the U. S. Agricultural Stabilization and Soil Conservation Service.

New allotments for Castro County were 101,075 acres--a 13 percent drop from last year's figure of 117,415.4.

ASCS Office Manager Charley Hill said allotments were mailed Monday.

The 1968 program is almost identical to last year's, according to Hill. He said no acreage diversion was required. A farmer may substitute wheat and feed grain acreage under the present payment plan if he takes part in both programs. He may also use permitted barley acreage for wheat by advance arrangement with the county ASCS office.

Hill noted that wheat certifies on 40 percent of the farm allotment on participating farms.

He also announced producers who have certified their wheat and feed acreage will receive their 1967 final wheat payments in the near future.

Final date to turn in cotton, feed grain, and diverted acres to the ASCS office is Aug. 15, according to the report.

Hill reminded farmers that prompt filing would help insure prompt final payments.

Littlefield and Morton accepted the offer this week.

Hart residents of all ages as well as organizations, are urged to contribute to the parade by submitting queens, floats, old cars, decorated bicycles, or any other appropriate item they may choose to the procession.

Following the parade will be a playday which will include barrel, ring, and flag races as well as pole bending.

Competition will be open to girls and boys in pee wee, junior and senior divisions.

Trophies will go to the all-round boy and girl winner in each division and ribbons and rosettes will be presented to winners in individual events.

For more information, call R. G. Henderson Jr. at 938-2355.

MORNING CLASS of the cooking school which was held in Hart High School last week are pictured here with their certificates.

Gov. Connally Proclaims Safety Week July 23-29

AUSTIN, Tex. - Governor John Connally has proclaimed July 23-29 Farm Safety Week in Texas and called on rural residents to give attention to safety "as part of every occupational and recreational activity."

The Governor noted that accidents on Texas farms and ranches "continue to exact a painful human and economic toll each year" and called attention to the observance of National Farm Safety Week which has been proclaimed by President Lyndon B. Johnson, and coincides with Farm Safety Week in Texas.

Theme for the state and national observance is "Think and Act Safely." The Texas observance is being sponsored by the Texas Safety Association and the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council. Other groups interested in farm safety, such as the Texas Farm Bureau and the Texas Electric Cooperatives, Inc., are participating with these two groups in coordinated safety programs for the July 23-29 observance. County judges throughout the state will be making local proclamations in observance of Farm Safety Week, and most county agricultural agents and home demonstration agents will take part in local programs.

Spearheading the Texas activities is Joe L. Smetana of Waco, who directs the statewide activities of TSA in farm accident prevention as Vice President for Farm and Ranch Safety. He is also President of the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council and Safety Director for the Texas Farm Bureau, Waco.

Smetana reported that accidents kill some 8,000 farm residents each year, and an additional 750,000 are victims of disabling injuries. The economic loss to the nation is some $2 billion.

"This is a tragic waste of human and economic resources," he said. "We must apply full energy to the urgent task of reducing rural accidents."

More News Coverage Is Aim

As you look through today's copy of The Hart Beat, we hope you will notice a few changes, which we hope are for the betterment of the paper.

We understand that when the newspaper was established in Hart, that it was with the agreement that it would be supported by Hart businesses and that it would cover news of Hart and the Hart area.

This is what we are striving to do. And as we stated last week, we need your help. Not only in gathering the news, but supporting the paper too.

We'd like to know what you want to see in your paper, too. We welcome any suggestions and letters in regards to the paper. If we have a good paper, we like to hear about it and if we have one that doesn't suit you, we want to know about that too.

Football season is coming up pretty soon and we hope to have good coverage and lots of pictures for you on this as well as more school activity coverage than ever before. After all, a school in a small town is the center of every one's attention and most everyone is involved one way or another.

If you know of a person who has a unique hobby or collection of some sort, this is great material for a feature story. And there are probably quite a number of such people right in your little town. So, let us hear from you.

You Can't Beat The Heat

You can't really beat the heat.

Whether it's the heat or the humidity or both, it's hot in almost all of the United States in July. After weeks of sweating and steaming, it's not uncommon to find the heat is beginning to wear you down.

You can't do anything about the outside temperature. You can avoid it if you're fortunate enough to work and live in air-conditioned comfort, but it still will be hot outside.

The American Medical Association points out that there are some things you can do to be more comfortable-things that can help you beat the heat.

Stay out of the sun as much as possible, especially during the middle of the day when rays are hottest. Wear light, loose clothing. The ladies have an edge over the men in this respect. Drink more liquids than usual, but take extra salt only on your physician's advice, particularly if you have liver or kidney trouble or a heart condition.

Take a shower or dip in the pool once or twice a day to cool off. Get plenty of rest and sleep. Eat your regular diet and don't go overboard on cold cuts and salads, unless you like them anyway.

Get up early in the morning to do your heavy work on the lawn or garden. Or work at dusk in the evening, but try to avoid heavy exertion during the hottest hours of the day. There is a sound physical reason behind the siesta custom of the tropics.

You need exercise in the summer as well as in the winter, but don't overdo it, especially on extra hot days. Don't overdo physical exertion, whether at work or at play.

The more relaxed outdoor life of the summer months has many advantages to compensate for the heat. Stay relaxed and use common sense and you can beat the heat-at least somewhat.

KITCHEN KORNER

By Lela Gallion

I want to apologize to those who gave me news and it did not get into the paper and explain that it was through an error. Thank you for your patience and understanding and for those of you who say you have missed the grocery specials when you are making out your shopping lists we also hope to improve this if possible in the near future.

There are so many fresh vegetables around now and don't they taste good. The roasting ears and green beans seem to be bountiful this year and are just twice as good fresh.

When I was a child and we had roasting ears left over we cut it from the cob, put cream and butter and a little thickening in it and had creamed corn the next meal and it was real good. I still do this sometimes. Try it and see if you like it too.

PICKLED PEACHES

24 to 30 small, hard-ripe peaches
1 piece ginger root or 1/2 tsp. ground ginger
1 T. each allspice and cloves
3 sticks cinnamon
1 tsp. salt
3 c. light vinegar
2 c. water
5 c. sugar

Wash, rinse, scald to loosen skins, cold dip and peel peaches. Drop into salt-vinegar water, 2 tablespoons each to 4 quarts water, or use an anti-darkening mixture according to manufacturer's directions. Tie spices in piece of thin cloth and drop into wide pan containing salt, water, vinegar and 1/2 of sugar. Cook until sugar dissolves, then add a layer of peaches and gently boil until fruit is hot to center. Remove peaches and heat another layer. When all peaches have been heated, pour hot syrup over them, cover and let stand overnight in a cool place. Pack peaches to within 1/2 inch of top of fruit jars. Add remaining sugar to syrup, and cool until sugar dissolves. Pour hot syrup over peaches. Carefully run knife between peaches and jar to remove air bubbles. Add more syrup if needed to cover peaches. Put dome lid on jar; screw band tight. Process 20 minutes in boiling-water bath. Makes about 3 quarts.

LAST MINUTE PEACH CRISP

4 or 5 peeled, sliced fresh peaches
1 T. lemon juice
1/2 c. sugar
1/2 c. graham cracker crumbs
1/2 c. slivered almonds
1 tsp. cinnamon
2 T. butter or margarine

Preheat oven to 350 deg. Spread peaches in a 9-inch pie pan. Drizzle with lemon juice. Mix sugar, graham cracker crumbs, almonds and cinnamon. Sprinkle over peaches. Dot with butter or margarine. Bake 30 minutes.

HAWAIIAN SHERBET

1/2 c. shredded pineapple, lightly salted
1/2 c. granulated sugar
1 c. pineapple juice
2 tsp. lemon juice
2 c. cold milk
1 1/2 tsp. granulated gelatin
2 T. cold water

Make a sugar syrup of sugar and pineapple juice. Boil 10 minutes. While hot add gelatin which has been soaked in cold water and stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. Then add lemon juice and shredded pineapple (with a few grains salt added), alternately with milk. Chill. Freeze, if using hand freezer, with 3 parts ice, and

Altitude Can Be A Problem

Planning a trip to the mountains to get away from the heat for a week or so? So are several million other American families at this time of year.

The American Medical Association cautions that if you're headed for some really high mountains, above 7,000 feet, it would be wise to make the change gradually if you wish to avoid "high altitude sickness." Anyone who has made a trip to Mexico City can tell you of his troubles in this respect.

Try, if you can, to make the ascent over a span of days so that your body can adjust to the oxygen-poor "thin air" at higher elevations, cautions Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association.

Symptoms of high-altitude sickness are drowsiness; headache; blueness of the nails, lips, nose and ears; a feeling of warmth and flushing of the face soon after arrival; troubled sleep; irritability, and shortness of breath.

There are some precautions that may help prevent distress if you have to make a fast trip from a low level to high elevations. Before the trip, get a good night's rest and avoid alcoholic beverages and heavy smoking. A good breakfast an hour or so before departure is all right, but no food should be taken during the rest of the trip.

Reduce physical activity during the trip. Sit quietly as much as possible. After arrival in the high altitude area, go to bed for a few hours and eat very lightly. Indulge in only light physical activity during the first 24 hours. Walk don't run, if you have to climb steps to a hotel or lodge.

Patients with certain heart and respiratory conditions may encounter more serious discomfort by abrupt changes to high altitudes. However, physicians have noted that most patients with cardiac or pulmonary disease who can move around and engage in moderate activity at sea level most often can tolerate altitudes of 7,000 to 8,000 feet without serious effects.

If you have doubts as to whether you or someone in your family may suffer from a trip to the high mountains, consult your physician in advance.

HART PRESENTS Kerry Newsom, eight month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Newsom. Kerry has two brothers and three sisters. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Rice of Plainview and J. J. Newsom of Hart. Great grandfather is Ike Stewart of Melrose, Tex.

Chopping time on the Plains has many area cotton producers busy trying to determine whether they are required to pay the minimum wage imposed last year by Congress on farms using 500 man-days or more of hired labor in any calendar quarter.

Effective February 1, 1967, the minimum wage for hired workers on such farms was set at $1 per hour. The minimum jumps to $1.15 an hour in 1968 and to $1.30 per hour in 1969.

A man-day is any day during which an employee worked one hour or more.

This year those farms exceeding the 500 man-day limit in 1966 are required to pay the minimum wage. Whether the minimum is required on a farm in 1968 will be determined by this year's labor use.

Ed Dean, Field Service Director for Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., says the question most in the minds of cotton farmers now is in relation to cotton chopping "crews."

"The law provides that man-days performed by employees of a 'bona fide' contractor are not counted as man-days used by the farm operator, Dean says, "but decisions already made by the Department of Labor on farms in the Rio Grande Valley clearly indicate that both cotton chopping crew leaders and individual crew members will be considered employees of the producer."

"Even when cotton chopping is contracted to a crew leader by the acre it appears that maintenance of records and payment of the minimum wage will still be the producer's responsibility in the eyes of the Labor Department."

He explains that the Department has held that crew leaders fail to qualify as "Bona fide contractors" on two counts.

First, according to the department, the crew chiefs don't have a significant investment in their contracting business. Second, they don't have the final say in management decisions, the Department says.

In figuring the number of man-days used in 1966, farm operators should keep in mind that work done by the producer's immediate family is exempt from the man-day count. Also, hand harvest pieceworkers who commuted aily from their homes and who were employed in agriculture less than 13 weeks of the preceding calendar year can be excluded.

Each period of seven consecutive days when an employee worked one hour or more on one or more days is counted as one week for the 13-week test.

In meeting the $1 per hour minimum, farmers can include as wages the "reasonable cost" of board, lodging and other facilities furnished by the employer for the employee's benefit, Dean points out.

But annual lump sum payments or the proceeds from a given number of acres of crop will not help to satisfy the minimum wage law requirements, he cautions.

In a letter from Clarence Lundquist, Administrator of USDA's Wage and Hour Division, PCG was informed that "The minimum wage requirement must be complied with on a work-week basis. Each work-week stands alone, and the employer may not satisfy the minimum wage requirement by averaging work-weeks."

The letter stated further that "A covered farm worker must be paid not less than the applicable minimum wage for all hours worked in each work-week, and this amount must be paid finally and unconditionally on the pay day for that week."

He and his family will move into the parsonage Tuesday.

Rev. Wakefield graduated from Hart High School in 1949 after coming up through the grades here. He later received his ministerial training at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview.

His wife Yvonne taught school in Hart two years. The Wakefields have three children, Connie 8, Cindy 6, and Steve 3.

Medical Symbol Could Save Life

All over the world a simple six-sided figure has become the symbol of identification of personal medical problems.

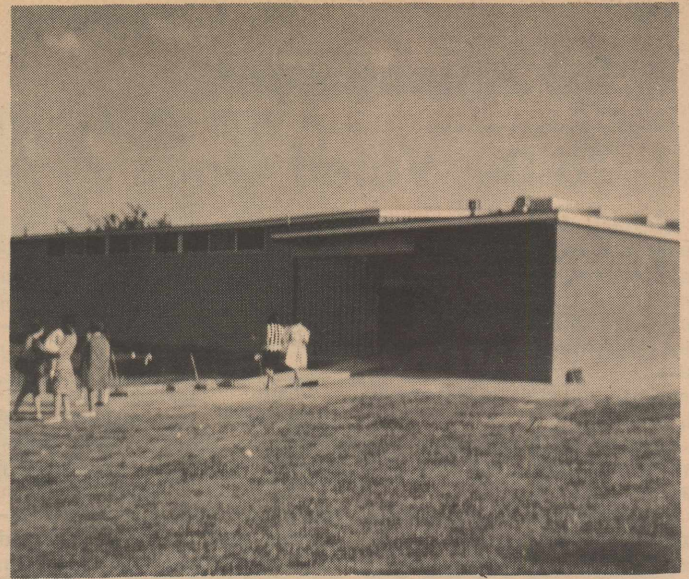

The symbol was adopted by the American Medical Association some four years ago and three years ago was adopted by the World Medical Association as the universal indication that the individual displaying the sign has personal health problems that might require emergency attention.

Who should carry identification? Everyone, says the AMA. A card, such as the AMA emergency medical identification card, is useful to identify an ill or injured person, to help locate family, friends and personal physician, and to give information that will improve emergency care. People with special health problems should also wear a durable metal or plastic alerting signal device on their wrist, ankle or neck, indicating their need for special medical care.

The emergency medical identification card should note special problems that need immediate attention in an emergency or that could cause an emergency. For example, diabetics must be identified so that a person in diabetic coma will get proper treatment promptly and needed doses of insulin will not be overlooked during treatment for injury. The need for certain medicines must be known. Heart patients taking drugs to prevent blood clots may bleed profusely if injured unless they receive special care. Other people are sensitive to certain drugs and must never take them.

Epileptics could be saved much trouble and unnecessary hospitalization if they carried a card indicating that they may have seizures. Neck breathers (those who breathe through a tube surgically inserted below their "Adam's apple") must be recognizable to protect them from smothering.

20 Amendments To Be Voted On

AUSTIN, Tex.— Newspaper readers throughout Texas soon will be seeing long columns of type about important issues as Secretary of State John Hill begins to advertise the six proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on November 11.

Fourteen additional amendments will be on the 1968 ballot.

Eight of the 20 amendments are of interest mainly to special groups (eg: legislators or state employees). Eight others would provide local governments with new powers or duties. Only four of the group directly affect most Texans.

Amendments to vote on this year will appear on the ballot in this order.

* No. 1, House Joint Resolution 3, to permit counties to put all tax money in a single general fund rather than dividing income in specified amounts among separate funds for earmarked purposes as is now required.

* No. 2, HJR 37, allowing cities and other governmental units within hospital districts to levy taxes for participation in mental health and mental retardation community centers.

* No. 3, HJR 17, reviving the veterans land program and authorizing a total of $400,000,000 in bonds to finance continued purchase of farm and ranch land by veterans, including those who have served in Southeast Asia during present hostilities.

* No. 4, HJR 6, authorizing counties to pay medical, doctor and hospital bills of county law enforcement officers injured in line of duty.

* No. 5, HJR 12, authorizing a $75,000,000 state revenue bond issue for the development of state parks and recreational areas. Bonds are expected to be financed by a small admission fee.

* No. 6, HJR 27, permitting state officers and employees to hold non-elective positions under the state or U. S. governments where there is no conflict of interest and where the state might benefit.

That's all for '67.

Top interest in these amendments doubtless will center on the park bond proposal and the veterans land amendment.

Hospital mental health and mental retardation groups will emphasize the importance of Amendment #2 to the new community center approach of treating mental patients close to home.

Calling the 1967 election for Veterans Day and a Saturday, undoubtedly, was to assure a large voter turn-out for the land fund amendment. A substantial campaign to urge its passage already is taking form.

Gov. John Connally is the principal backer of the parks bond issue. Last December he unveiled a 10-year plan for acquiring and developing 150,960 acres of recreational lands and historical sites. This would more than triple present state park acreage and open a variety of new facilities for outdoor recreation.

Only opposition to the amendment to date has been based on the $1 a car park-entry fee, initially proposed by Connally to finance the vast program; and scattered complaints that facilities included in the governor's master plan do not adequately serve some areas of the state.

He is expected to spearhead an intensive fall campaign—supported by parks, recreational and outdoor groups—to put over the bond issue.

The veterans land amendment would add another $200,000,000 to state bonds previously authorized and through which 35,300 veterans have purchased farm and ranch properties at low interest rates spread over a 40-year pay period.

This amendment would raise the amount which could be borrowed under the program from $7,500 to $10,000. The program was initiated in 1949. Additional bonds were approved by voters in 1951 and 1956. Amendments to enlarge the bond authorization were rejected at elections in 1963 and 1965. Opposition came mainly from Dallas and Houston.

Proponents emphasize that, while thousands of veterans have benefitted from the program, it has cost the state no money and actually has turned a profit of $2,500,000 a year while providing an expanded land market.

Opposition has adopted the argument that it is not the function of the state government to engage in the loan business and that veterans have had plenty of time to participate. Some also contend that "cheap money" invites purchases of land not needed and which will not be put to productive use.

Amendment #2 specifies that the legislature, in providing for creation of hospital districts, does not have to require that the districts assume full responsibility for community mental health and retardation centers and services. It would permit cities and counties to levy taxes and issue bonds for such services. Subdivisions within existing districts would be authorized to do so unless statutes creating the districts expressly prohibit.

An attorney general's opinion held that the constitution does not allow political subdivisions within the boundary of a hospital district to levy taxes for medical and hospital service. Under that ruling, cities and counties located in such districts were restricted from participating in establishment of community health centers. Therefore, only hospital districts could establish such centers, a key part of the mental health program.

Amendments #3, #4 and #5 are self explanatory and apparently non-controversial.

Amendment #6 is aimed primarily at permitting educators, who are paid from state funds, to serve on federal advisory boards.
