School Drop-Outs

There are 2 million 16-21 year olds in our labor force today who jeopardized their futures with one rash decision -- they chose to drop out of school without a diploma. If the current dropout rate continues, there will be 32 million adults in the labor force without a high school education by 1975.

The harsh fact is that there is little room left in a booming America for the school dropout. He faces a lifetime of dull, lowpaying jobs -- or no jobs at all. Dropouts have an unemployment rate of 13 percent -- more than 3 times the rate for the whole labor force. In terms of dollars and cents the picture isn't any brighter. When a teenager leaves school before graduating, he can expect to earn $1,000 less in a single year than the person who stays and gets a diploma.

If this country is to continue its rapid technological growth and maintain its position as world leader, we desperately need qualified -- and that means educated -- people who can take on the new skilled jobs being created every day.

To help assure that we have those skilled workers, the President's Council on Youth Opportunity has launched the 1967 Stay-in-School Campaign to convince all young people of the importance of a good education in their own lives and for the future of their country.

Each of us has a responsibility to join in this campaign. If you are in school, stay there and get at least a high school diploma. If you are no longer a student, help those who are by urging them and helping them in any way you can to stay in school this fall. It's the best investment in the future that any of us can make.

Millions Of Families In Higher Income

Millions of American families are moving into higher income brackets and with this rise often comes more insurance coverage.

Mrs. Doris Myers, Extension home management specialist, pointed out some interesting facts about insurance owners published by the Institute of Life Insurance.

Nine out of ten breadwinners with young children own life insurance of some type. Families are improving their life insurance protection each year.

The amount of legal reserve life insurance in force at the beginning of the year averaged $15,900 for each family in the country. This is $1,200 more than last year's average and more than twice the average of 10 years ago.

Last year Americans bought $122 billion in life insurance. More than three-fourths of that was purchased by individuals and the remainder by groups-- such as employer and employee groups.

The average of all the ordinary life insurance policies purchased last year was $8,810 --more than twice the average of a decade before.

SCREWWORM SITUATION NEEDS CAREFUL ATTENTION

Animal health officials and Texas livestock producers are expressing concern over the rapidly increasing number of screwworm cases in recent weeks. Don't let down your guards. Treat and report all worm cases and submit worm samples for identification, emphasize the officials.

A Penny Saved-A Penny Earned

The pennies add up to savings when you take advantage of weekend food specials when doing your food shopping this weekend.

For best buys here are some marketing tips from Gwendolyn Clyatt, extension consumer marketing specialist.:

At retail meat counters, look for best beef and pork values on chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef, round steaks and roasts, pork shoulder roasts and steaks, hams, bacon and end-cut pork chops.

Fryers remain an excellent bargain in most retail meat departments and grade A large size eggs offer the greatest combination in quality and economy for your egg money.

Best buys in fresh fruits and vegetables include apples, Tokay and Thompson seedless grapes, bananas, tomatoes, white potatoes, head lettuce, cabbage, eggplant, carrots, sweet potatoes, squash and turnip greens and mustard.

Because the year produced an abundant peanut crop, peanuts and peanut products are featured at many stores.

RETURN HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hill returned after spending a few days vacationing at Lake City resort.

Pineapple Swiss Steak Party Dish

Count on canned pineapple's golden goodness to give Swiss steak a new twist. Easy does it, just add onion soup mix to syrup drained from pineapple and pour over the browned steak. The full flavor develops as it slowly simmers and there will be plenty of gravy to serve over noodles or other go-along. Add the pineapple slices and touches of green pepper and fresh tomato just before serving. Delicious — of course, and pineapple made it so.

PINEAPPLE SWISS STEAK SAVOY

3 tablespoons flour	Water
1 teaspoon paprika	1 envelope dry onion soup mix
1/2 teaspoon salt	1 tablespoon cornstarch
4 pounds boneless top round steak (about 2 inches thick)	Thin green pepper rings
3 tablespoons shortening	Small tomato wedges
1 (1-pound 4 1/2-ounce) can pineapple slices

Mix flour, paprika and salt and rub into both sides of steak. Brown in hot shortening in heavy skillet. To syrup drained from pineapple add water to make 1 1/2 cups. Combine with onion soup mix and pour over steak. Cover tightly. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 1 1/2 hours or until tender. Top with pineapple slices; mix cornstarch with 2 tablespoons water. Stir into pan liquid. Simmer until clear and thickened. Garnish steak and pineapple with green pepper rings and tomato wedges. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Boys Bicycle 2,800 Miles From Seattle To Expo

It's a trip many persons wouldn't even attempt by car. But two hearty high school seniors from Washington State decided to go to Expo '67 in Montreal, and go they did — on bicycles. It was a 2,800-mile trip that took them across two mountain ranges, seven states and two Canadian provinces on their 62-day journey.

The adventurous youths, both entering their senior year in high school, are Jerry Cullers, of Renton, and Richard Scarlett, of Tacoma. Both boys have been lifelong friends, having attended the same school through the first six years.

Their cross-country journey, which was not without its hardships and problems, began June 17 at the site of the Seattle World's Fair. While the only technical difficulties encountered were a couple of flat tires along the rough route that covered nearly 3,000 miles, for 14 days the youths had to sit around a tiny Montana town while Scarlett nursed a sprained ankle and a sore throat sidelined Cullers for a couple of days.

The boys actually only rode 36 days, averaging 80 miles per day. They slept out often and endured heavy rains without shelter.

One night, they found themselves guests in a jail — voluntarily — and they were often invited to spend the night in homes of mayors and town officials along the way.

Stopping for a few days in North Dakota to work, the boys also were guest speakers at civic group luncheons and 4-H Club meetings.

Although the boys are not

novices at long bike trips, the longest trek they made together previously was 300 miles. They chose stock 10-speed Murray Ohio bicycles for the 2,800-mile trek to Expo, and each bike carried 37 pounds of gear.

At the end of their summer adventure, the boys were received by Expo officials and accorded a vip's welcome.

Resting on their bikes at the end of what they estimated to be 750,000 "tramps" of the pedals, the pair looked tired and worn, but very pleased.

"We are in the best shape we've ever been in," quipped Cullers, who said he would seek an easier means of getting home.

25% Of Food Dollar Is Spent On Meat

About 25 percent of the food dollar is spent on meat—one of the most important and popular foods you buy. It provides needed nutrients to the diet and is also one of the safest items on the dinner table, thanks to the U. S. Department of Agriculture inspection service.

Let the USDA inspection stamp guide you as you select meat, Gwendolyn Clyatt, extension consumer marketing specialist, suggest.

All meat processing plants shipping meat across state lines must meet USDA inspection regulations and all meat they process must bear the stamp.

It is a round stamp: "U. S. Inspected and Passed." The stamp on the meat is purple, made from vegetable dye, and is harmless. The number in the stamp identifies the packing house.

Some establishments whose products do not enter into interstate commerce must meet state or city inspection regulation. (The inspection stamp guarantees that the meat was wholesome and suitable for consumption when it left the processing plant).

At the beef counters you'll find a few features in chuck cuts although prices are higher than a month ago. Ground beef, round and rib steaks are available at moderate price levels. The most plentiful offerings at the pork counter include loin cuts, smoked hams and picnics and some brands of bacon.

Some markets are featuring chicken fryers. Select from the whole bird, cut-up or special packs of chicken parts. Frozen turkeys have attractive price tags.

More Parks For Texas Are Being Planned

"Eight more recreational parks, 24 historic parks and eight scenic parks will be provided in West Texas when the State Parks $75 million bond issue Constitutional Amendment is passed Nov. 11," according to Harlan Bridwell, Bridgeport, chairman of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Tourist Committee.

Bridwell continued, "Development of historic, recreational and scenic parks in West Texas is absolutely necessary to the expansion of tourism in our area. The $75 million in self-liquidating bonds will provide the funds for acquisition and development of the parks and the small admission fees will retire the bonds in 16 years."

The WTCC has approved the constitutional amendment to provide for these bonds and is urging all West Texans to support the measure because of the tremendous influence it will have in increasing tourism. It is pointed out by the tourism chairman that the people in the lesser populated areas spend dollars in the metropolitan areas for consumer goods, but the urban dwellers, in turn, spend their tourist and recreational dollars in the rural and tourist oriented areas.

The planned developments will be located within two hours driving time of every area in West Texas and will be scattered to virtually every corner of West Texas.

A special committee has been formed for the dissemination of information concerning the constitutional amendment and it will provide data to all sections of the WTCC service area pointing out the advantages of the parks program to all of West Texas.

Texas Safety Ass'n Warns

Seat Belts A 'Must' For Most Cars Now

Front seat belts are now required by the new vehicle inspection law to be on every motor vehicle in which anchorages for the belts are a part of the manufacturer's original equipment.

The Texas Safety Association believes many motorists may not know that their automobiles are equipped with the anchorages because they are not visible. Some drivers have assumed that because their automobiles did not have seat belts when purchased, there were no anchorages.

However, for most American-made vehicles, the anchorages are standard equipment beginning with 1962 models. This means that more than half of the passenger cars on the road today have these anchorages.

Some anchorages are hidden under carpeting or floor mats. Removal of the carpeting or mats behind the front seats reveals the anchorages. The anchorage appears to be just a hole in the frame. But, most of these are threaded for placement of seat belt equipment. Some have a small rubber plug which is removed and discarded when the seat belt is installed.

Owners who have not concerned themselves with the condition of their automobile seat belts also are in for a surprise. Having seat belts is not enough.

According to the Texas Department of Public Safety, vehicles may be rejected if the belts are unsafe or unserviceable from wear or damage. They may also be rejected if the attachment fittings are damaged or loose, or if the buckles are loose or inoperative.

The Association feels that those motorists who have been using their seat belts have little to worry about in this respect. Reports show that those who use seat belts know their value and usually take care of them.

The only real problem, the Association notes, is that only 30 percent of vehicle occupants regularly "buckle up."

Although studies indicate that much of the public has really never accepted seat belts, TSA says traffic officials and safety professionals feel the value of seat belts has been demonstrated beyond all doubt and urge that seat belts be used by all drivers and passengers on all trips - long or short.

One recent study of 139 fatal accidents showed ejection from the vehicle to be the major cause of death, and investigators estimated 80 percent of those deaths could have been avoided if the victims had been wearing seat belts.

wheel play or jamming, reduces the amount of positive control over the steering and is hazardous, especially at high speeds.

Vehicles with power steering must be checked with the power on. If the fluid in the power steering is below the recommended level, the vehicle will not pass inspection.

Wheels with defective or bent rim flanges, or those with loose or missing bolts, nuts or lugs will be rejected. Rims having defects and cracks are cause for rejection if they might impair the safe mounting and proper retention of tires.

The DPS is urging owners to have their vehicles inspected during routine visits to garages and stations to insure that the vehicle meets the new requirements and that is mechanically safe to operate over the streets and highways at all times.

The Texas Safety Association is further urging all drivers to get seat belts installed, and use them.

The 1968 inspections will continue until next April 15. The cost of this greatly expanded vehicle inspection is $1.75.

There are approximately 5,500 vehicle inspection stations in Texas, each displaying the official vehicle inspection station sign.

'PLAY' DANGEROUS

Inspection station operators report they are getting some "blank stares" when they discuss the term "lash" in connection with the steering inspection. Lash, or "play," as it is called by most motorists, is the distance the steering control can be turned without front wheel motion.

Vehicles are being rejected if the steering wheel has more than two inches of play, as excess play can be very dangerous.

It must also be possible to turn the automobile wheels from full right to full left without jamming, or binding, or the vehicle will be rejected.

Too much play or any jamming in turning the wheels indicates that some vital part of the automobile steering mechanism is worn. Mechanics say it could mean one of several problems, such as worn gears or tie rods.

Longhorns De-H

Combining a potent offense and a very determined defense, the fired-up Hart Longhorns slipped past the Hereford Junior Varsity 12 to 18 in the Longhorns last non-conference game of the season.

WA Hawkins paced the Horns again this week as he has done in the past, picking up more than half of the yardage gained by the Horns and providing outstanding defense play at key plays in the game.

The game started out badly for the Horns as Hereford's John Martin and Bob Burwick ripped off long gains early in the first quarter but the highly rated Hart defense soon began to hold the visitors in check while the Longhorn offense began to get going.

Hereford scored first, moving 73 yards on their first possession of the night. After taking the kickoff on their 27, Burwick needed only three tries to give Hereford a first at their 40.

John Martin moved to the 46 but a penalty set the ball back to the 32. Disaster struck the Longhorns however as Burwick raced up the middle of the field for 65 yards and the first Hereford TD of the night.

Quincy Hawkins came crashing through on the extra point try to bat the ball down and the score remained 6-0 for Hereford.

Longhorns lost little time getting back in the game however, as WA Hawkins took the kickoff on his 10 and raced back to the Hereford 15 before he was hauled down.

Danny Smith could manage only one yard but Tommy Gonzales blasted through for five for a third and four at the nine.

Smith tried again but again he could get only one yard through the tough Hereford line. With fourth down staring him in the face, WA Hawkins rolled around end for the final eight yards to tie the score at six all.

The first try for extras was good but a penalty rubbed it out and set the Horns five yards further back. WA Hawkins second try went wide and the score remained tied.

After this initial scoring spree the game became almost a slugging match as Hereford kept adding to its yardage as the visitors rolled up several first downs and added many yards to its total but could not penetrate the Longhorn defense near the Longhorn goal.

Hereford was able to keep the Longhorns backed up in their own territory and kept knocking on the scoring door for the rest of the first period.

Early in the second quarter the Longhorns got a big break as a 26 yard TD scamper by Bob Burwick was called back on a five yard penalty. The Longhorns were able to hold the visitors off that time and took over on downs at the 21. Hereford didn't waste much time before coming back as WA Hawkins pass was picked off at the 27 to give Hereford another chance.

Bob Burwick needed only three tries to put the White-faces back in front 12 to 6. Burwick couldn't make it on the extra point try and the score remained at 12 to 6.

Again the Horns went to work and again got a break as Clifford Ray recovered a Hereford fumble at the 46. WA Hawkins scampered around end to pick up 22 yards and put the ball on the Hereford 24.

Hawkins then whipped a pass to Donnie Black, and after Black had shaken off two would-be tacklers in the final eight yards, the score was once again tied 12 to 12.

Again the extra point try failed as WA Hawkins missed his second of the evening.

Once again the game became a slugging match of offense against defense and the battle continued for the final minutes of the first half.

The third quarter opened much as the second had closed, the Longhorn defense doing its best to hold the Hereford attack

Hawkins provided some very fine help.

Shorthorns Win Again

The Hart Shorthorns rolled over Vega here last Saturday morning in their fourth win of the season and strengthened their bid for a second straight undefeated season.

Vega opened the scoring in the first period to take a brief 6 to 0 lead in the game. The Shorthorns quickly got back in the game however, on their next possession.

Ruben Aguanio, a real threat on outside sweeps, managed to get outside the Vega defenders and scampered 65 yards to tie the score. Jimmy Robinson, Hart's hard running full-back, smashed over for the two extras and the Horns took over the lead.

Early in the third quarter Vega again took the lead back on their second touchdown. The try for extra points again was stopped and the scoreboard read 12 to 6 for the visitors.

The Shorthorns again battled back, using the same pass play that they had used to defeat Vega in their earlier game. After taking a pitchout from quarterback Steve Cox, Jimmy Robinson fired to Robert Garcia in a play that covered better than sixty yards and put the Shorthorns back into the lead. Jimmy Robinson again picked up the extra, boosting the score into its final figures, 16 for the Shorthorns and 12 for Vega.

B-Team Romps Past Anton

Using a grinding ground attack headed by Charles Bass and Mark Porter, the Hart future Longhorns rolled to an easy victory over Anton Saturday morning.

Playing a major role in the offensive fireworks was the fine blocking displayed by the interior line and the hard running of Bass and Porter.

Scoring for the future Longhorns was distributed among four boys. Porter scored four times, Bass and Mike Armstrong once, and Poncho Diaz was on the receiving end of two two-point conversion attempts.

On defense the entire squad played well with Graciél Catano doing an outstanding job.

Next Hart "B" encounter will be Saturday morning at Hart against Silverton. Game time is set at 10 a. m.

Texas Schools To Receive Aid From USDA This Year

More than $36.8 million! That's the value of food Texas schools participating in the National School Lunch Program bought from local businesses last year. This represents about 80 percent of the food used at these schools. Where did the other 20 percent come from? This was food and cash donated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to aid schools in expanding and improving their food service.

Schools can count on a sizable donation this year, too, according to John J. Slaughter, southwest director of Consumer Food Programs, USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service, Dallas. More than $143 million worth has been bought for schools across the nation thus far. This is already $13 million more than bought all last year.

This amount will include some 436 million pounds of frozen and canned beef, butter, frozen turkeys, cheese, frozen orange juice concentrate, dried eggs and non-fat dry milk.

"Still more will be bought and allocated to schools during the year," Slaughter said.

Besides giving a boost to school lunches for over 20 million youngsters, the foods will help feed almost 100,000 children getting school breakfasts in a two-year pilot program made possible by the Child Nutrition Act of 1966.

In addition, schools may obtain as much as they can effectively use of such food as raisins, peanut butter, flour, rice, shortening, lard, cornmeal and rolled oats.

USDA also has bought $10 million worth of canned fruits and vegetables for schools taking part in the program. These foods are bought specifically to help schools meet high nutritional program standards. These purchases, under authorities of the National School Lunch Act normally total $60 million each school year. So far the special-purchase foods amount to 72 million pounds of canned green beans, peaches, pineapple and peas. Also, USDA has asked for bids to buy sweet-potatoes, tomatoes, frozen cut-up young chickens, canned purple plums and applesauce.

Some 902,000 Texas children ate a total of 148.1 million lunches at school last year.

Wayland Drama Dept.

To Present 5-Act Comedy

"Tartuffe," a five-act comedy, is being prepared by the Wayland College drama department for a dual enactment, Oct. 19, 20, and 21, in Gates Hall auditorium. Curtain times will be 8 p. m.

Jerry Watson, Wayland speech instructor, is directing the 12-member cast in the production which portrays a religious hypocrite, Tartuffe.

The title role will be performed by Bill Storrs, Denver, Colo. Watson said the play, although written and set in the 17th century, "is as up to date as far as characterizations are concerned as if it were written in this century."

Philip Williams, speech instructor, is technical director. Watson said that although the comedy is in five acts, it is not a tediously long play.

Tartuffe, assigned as a religious advisor in the home of a rich merchant, creates numerous comic situations in flirting with the merchant's wife, trying to marry his daughter and attempting to steal his money.

Other characters in the play are Wilma Martin, Waco, Madame Pernelle; Terry Lovett, Texico, Orgon; Corky Johnston, Lubbock, Damis; Suzanne Gilbert, Dumas, Mariane; David Howard, Plainview, Valere; Curt Sharp, Fairfield, Calif., Cleante; Carrie Sue Perry, Plainview, Dorine; Vance Bradford, Plainview, Monsieur Loyal; Sue Bradford, Spearman, Flipote; Diana Thurman, Fritch, Elmire; and Bob Storrs, Plainview, officer of the crown.

1. Cleaning Your Cleaning Closet: Empty containers take up time and space. So taking inventory is as good at home as it is in a store — it will show you what you have and what needs replacing.

2. Mobilize: Sounds like a troop movement, but it's really just basic organizing of cleaning products — from sprays to sponges. Put the sprays and other products used every day on the shelf easiest to reach. Others can go higher, or toward the back of the closet. (If you don't have a cleaning closet at all, try using shoe bags or empty soft drink containers with compartments in them.)

Get Up And Go

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following poem was handed to us by Mrs. Worth Jones, who received it from a former classmate. We thought it was worthy of publication and hope you enjoy it as much as we did.)

MY "GET UP AND GO"

My get up and go has got up and went,
When I think where my youth is all spent?
Well, my get up and go has got up and went,

But in spite of it all I am able to grin
When I think where my get up has been,
With my ears in a drawer, my teeth
in a cup,

My eyes on the table until I wake up.
Ere sleep dims my eyes, I say to myself,
"Is there anything else I should lay on the shelf?"

I am happy to say, as I close the door,
My friends are the same, only perhaps more so.

When I was young my slippers were red,
I could kick up my heels right over my head.

When I grew older my slippers were blue,
But still I could dance the whole night through.

Now I am old, my slippers are black,
I walk to the store
And puff my way back.

The reason I know now my youth is all spent,

My get up and go has got up and went.
Since I have retired from live's competition,

I busy myself with complete repetition;

I get up each morning, dust off my Wits

Pick up the paper and read the "Obits,"
If my name is missing I know I'm not dead,

So I eat a good breakfast and go back to bed.

But I really don't mind when I think with a grin,

Of all the grand places my get up has been.

Texas State Genealogical Society

To Meet In Fort Worth Nov. 24-25

The annual meeting of the Texas State Genealogical Society will be Thanksgiving weekend, Nov. 24 and 25, at Hotel Texas, Fort Worth, with Mrs. Edna Perry Deckler, state president and editor, in charge.

Milton Rubincam of West Hyattsville, Md., president of the American Society of Genealogists, will speak on "The Critical Genealogist" and will discuss common errors made by amateur genealogists in tracing and publishing family histories without sufficient research in primary source material.

Dr. Jean Stephenson of Washington, D. C., professor of genealogy at the American University, will discuss the ethics of professional researchers in their dealings with clients in a lecture titled "The Professional Genealogist."

Rubicam and Mrs. Deckler will conduct a history and genealogy roundtable which will include officers and editors of genealogical publications from across the United States. Roundtable leaders will include Dr. Ethel Williams of Kalamazoo, Mich., Mrs. Irene Strieby of Indianapolis, Miss Frances Wynd of Albany, Ga., Mrs. Mary Estes Swaney of New Orleans and other nationally known writers on genealogy.

The Texas Society was organized seven years ago by Mrs. Deckler in a meeting at Hotel Texas, Fort Worth, and now has 1,148 members and 265 other subscribers to the TSGS quarterly, STIRPES, initials of a legal phrase meaning "family line of descent."

Registration blanks are available from TSGS, 2528 University Dr. So., Fort Worth. Exhibit space will be available in the Santa Gertrudis Room.

IN HOSPITAL

Earl Hacker is still in the Plainview hospital at this time.

EXPORT MARKETS

American farmers are coming to rely heavily on the export market, says W. E. Black, Texas A&M Agricultural Extension Service economist. Commercial farm exports grew nearly 50 percent from 1961-65. Dollar exports to developing countries grew by a healthy 38 percent, he adds. He expects world food demands to increase at an even faster rate in coming years due to the increasing world population and rising personal incomes.

Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., has announced that PCG's eleventh annual meeting will be held Oct. 20 in Lubbock's KoKo Palace, 5201 Avenue Q, Lubbock, beginning at 10 a. m.

Congressman Robert Price of Pampa, the area's only member of the House Committee on Agriculture, will be principal speaker. His address will be delivered at about 11 o'clock.

The meeting will be open to all cotton producers, ginners and others interested in the future welfare of cotton on the High Plains. A buffet lunch will be served at noon.

An all-cotton style show featuring some 30 cotton ensembles and introduced by a modern jazz go-go dance will follow Congressman Price on the program. The style show, with Mrs. Leland White of New Home as general chairman, is being arranged by six women's cotton clubs from Lynn, Crosby, Hale, Yoakum and Lubbock counties.

The dance introducing the show will be done by Miss Lubbock of 1967, Jan Glenn.

Coordinating the style show will be Mrs. Milton Peeples, well known Lubbock model and charm school instructor.

Price's address will center around cotton legislation and the administrative aspects of current and future cotton programs.

In addition the meeting will feature the President's report, by J. D. Smith of Littlefield, and Johnson's annual report to the membership.

County directors, elected over the past few months in county meetings throughout the area, will be certified by the membership.

Johnson said the general meeting will be adjourned by about 2:30 p. m. and will be followed immediately by a meeting of the newly certified directors for the election of 1967-68 officers. All PCG members will be welcome to remain for the Board meeting.

Current officers of the 23-county cotton producer organization are Smith, President; L. D. (Don) Anderson, Vice President, and W. L. (Preach) Edelman, Secretary-Treasurer.

Ed Dean, Director of Field Service for Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., returned to his home at 5206 16th Street in Lubbock Oct. 4 from West Texas Hospital after having suffered a brain hemorrhage on Sept. 24.

Doctors report that he should recover from the stroke without serious after effects but will require complete rest in his home for the next three to four weeks.

Dean has been with PCG since 1960 and PCG officials expect he will return to duty about the first of November.

The Oct. 1 estimate of the cotton crop on the Plains jumped to 1,230,500 bales, 5,500 above the previous month's guess.

The estimate is made jointly each month by the Lubbock Cotton Exchange and Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. It covers the 23 High Plains counties represented by PCG.

Two factors accounted for the increase. First, the county offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service were able this month to provide a more accurate picture of total standing acreage and that figure was raised from 1,161,500 to 1,189,000.

In addition, weather conditions across most of the area have ranged from favorable to semi-favorable, and observers have noted more rapid development of crops than would normally be expected.

Accuracy of the estimate, plus the crop's quality characteristics, is still much dependent on the frost date. The latest 30 day weather forecast has placed the frost date for Lubbock at Nov. 3 and this fact has led to greater optimism than was previously in evidence.

Harvest is just beginning, but the quality of initial ginings has been described as excellent. Through Thursday, Oct. 5 a total of 934 bales had been classed by the Lubbock, Brownfield and Lamesa classing offices, mostly hand snapped cotton.

These averaged about 1-1/8 inches in staple, almost every bale "miked" above 3.5, and most grades were middling.

*****

As of this writing, on the morning of Oct. 6, there has been no definite word from Washington on when provisions of the 1968 cotton program may be announced, or on what those provisions, generally, may be.

There is, however, some new and more optimistic speculation on the possibility of getting a change in skip-row regulations for the coming year.

As recently as last week USDA officials appeared adamant in their position that the rules for 1968 would be the same as in 1966 and 1967 when producers who planted cotton in patterns with less than four blank rows were required to count a part of the idle land as cotton acreage.

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. has long been on the front lines of a running battle to bring back the 1965 regulations under which only rows planted to cotton were counted as cotton.

The odds on winning this fight have gone up and down like a window shade, particularly over the last two months.

But now there is a strong indication that, chiefly at the insistence of Congressman George Mahon, this two-year inequity may be corrected and producers will in 1968 again be permitted to use skip-row planting without penalty.

Divers Set New Underwater Records

This decompression chamber was the home of Glen Taylor, left, and Arthur Pachette for six days after they completed underwater work projects at record depths of 636 feet. The underwater work was part of a joint research program by Esso Production Research Company of Houston, an affiliate of Humble Oil & Refining Company, and Ocean Systems, Inc. of New York. The dives, 40 miles off the Louisiana coast in the Gulf of Mexico, provided valuable scientific information on man's ability to work on underwater oil well equipment at great depths. During their six days of decompression, Taylor and Pachette passed the time by listening to piped-in stereo and by reading magazines. The shaved spots on their heads were the locations of electrodes which were used to measure physiological data during the dives.

American Families Use Credit

More than half the families in the United States currently have some form of personal debt, not including mortgage payments, considered to be the same as rent.

This use of credit plays a vital role in the country's economy. Properly used, it enables many people to get necessary home equipment, cars, make vital home repairs and pay the costs of education, when they would be unable to pay cash, says Joy Arrington, Extension home management specialist at Texas A&M University.

Each family must decide how much debt it can afford if it wants to take out loans, buy on installment plans or use revolving charge accounts. Most authorities generally advise that a family should not use more than 15 percent of its after tax (disposable) income to pay installment debts (excluding mortgage payments.)

Some families manage more effectively than others and never permit themselves to get into trouble with excessive borrowing. They usually have become familiar with the facts on credit costs and know where the lowest interest rates can be found. In addition, they maintain good credit ratings so that they can use these sources when necessary.

This key to wise credit-buying is to find out the true cost of the money borrowed. Miss Arrington says.
