Blood Needed For Aven Boys

Brett and Matt Aven, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Aven, are victims of Hemophilia, known as "Bleeders" disease.

Hemophilia victims may suffer severe bleeding as the result of bruises or cuts because of the failure of their blood in clotting.

Blood used for the boys must be replaced in order for the boys to obtain more blood when needed. The Aven boys have needed 100 pints of plasma during the past 18 months.

A mobile blood unit from Blood Services of Lubbock will be at the Methodist Church in Hart from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Friday, May 24.

Anyone wishing to donate blood should call 938-2212. Appointments will be made for the donors convenience. A donor should not be over sixty years of age.

Cemetery Board Sets Clean Up

Tailwater System Proves Advantageous

Because High Plains underground water is depletable, every possible means to prolong its availability for agriculture is encouraged by the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District. For the past several years one of the primary practices of underground water conservation that has been stressed by the Water District is the installation and proper use of tailwater return systems. Hundreds of these systems now dot the High Plains in audible testimony of their economic practicability. Hundreds of farmers will testify as to their saving in water, money, fertilizer and soil since their tailwater system was installed.

Such a farmer is Billy Wayne Sisson who farms 18 miles west of Hereford. This pit has a 700,000 gallon capacity with a return pump capacity of 500 gallons per minute. His entire installation, including dirt work and pump, cost Sisson less than $2,000.00. During the peak season this return system will have 8 irrigation wells contributing tailwater to it with 4 or 5 wells on virtually a constant basis.

The numerous tailwater systems that cover the High Plains today are the final results of long hours of study and evaluation of new ideas, methods and equipment that were used in a few experimental systems installed by the Water District. The experimental installations have proven the following advantages for the High Plains farmer:

1) Prevents the ponding of water at the lower end of the field.

2) Prevents the flooding of adjoining neighbor's farm land.

3) Prevents the flooding of public roads.

4) Prevents the flooding of public road drainage ditches.

5) Prevents mosquito breeding by eliminating the shallow, tepid water necessary for mosquito breeding

6) Improves the efficiency of water distribution.

7) Provides an additional source of irrigation water.

8) Reduces the amount of irrigation labor necessary.

9) Recovers and reapplies nutrients carried from the farm in tailwater.

10) Recovers and reapplies rich top soil carried from the farm in tailwater.

11) Improves plant growth rate because tailwater is much warmer than ground water.

Measurements of the available tail water is very helpful in designing the installation, but normally 125 GPM per contributing well is a pretty good "rule of thumb" when planning an installation. The pit size and the pump capacity are then matched to the available water supply, with consideration given to the required time to empty the pit by the pump.

Irrigation tail water losses vary during the watering season due to many conditions; therefore, a slightly larger pit of approximately 1.5 acre feet capacity should be considered. A pump with a capacity of about 250 GPM will almost insure a continuous supply of water from a pit this size when two 8" wells are contributing irrigation tail water. Selection of the pump and power unit depends on many things ---such as the type of installation the operator desires, location of the pit, quantity of water to be pumped balanced with the number of feet of lift. Individual dealers will be happy to assist operators with these calculations.

With the water table in the High Plains becoming lower and lower each year, it behooves every operator and every custodian of this precious commodity ---water --- to do his utmost to use this God-given product in the wisest possible way.

BUILDING, BUSINESS DROP OFF-- Both building and business activity dropped off sharply in March, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research barometer.

Construction index fell almost 31 points from the previous month and was eight per cent below March, 1967. However, the January-March overall average of index this year still is 12 per cent above that for the first three months of 1967, due to the record February bulge.

March business index was eight per cent below the February value but was 3.3 per cent above March 1966, Bureau reported.

Moments Of Meditation

C. T. Cunningham, pastor of First Baptist Church

"Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old, he will not depart from it."

In "training up a child" a parent needs all the help they can get. And, of course, it must be the right sort. There are so many influences to draw our children away from the higher ideals of life. Our own conduct as parents has an untold influence on the life of our children. Our way of life becomes their way, so we need to ask ourselves the question, "Do I want my boys and girls to be the kind of person I am or have been." Because they are fast to become what they see in their parents.

I received the following in a bulletin by Mr. Bill G. West and would like for him to speak to us. It is titled "Don't Influence My Children." Many parents say, "I don't want my children to be talked to about becoming a Christian. I want them to make up their own minds about religion."

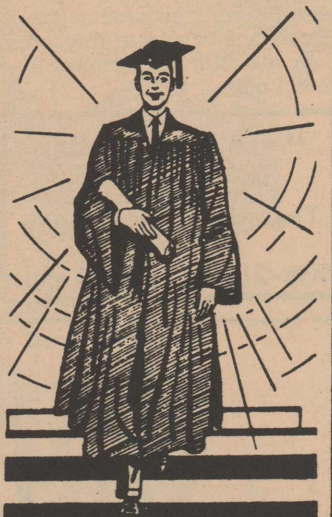

It is impossible for a person, even a child, to avoid being influenced. Not, of course, unless he lives in a vacuum! An official of General Foods reported that a typical American family is exposed to 1,518 selling messages in the course of an average day. Family members are exposed to 117 television and radio commercials a day.

The question then is not a matter of being influenced, it is a matter of who is going to do the influencing. Children are constantly influenced by their friends, movies, magazines, advertising, and the moral climate of the times. It is only fair that they should be influenced by the gospel of Christ also. They deserve at least to know that there is a higher and nobler life than that which they see about them on every hand."

Yarborough led by 36,000 votes in the first primary. But Smith quickly picked up the wholehearted endorsements of third place candidate Waggoner Carr and fifth place runner Eugene Locke.

Classic liberal-conservative lines are drawn in the Yarborough-Smith clash. Researchers contend that continuing disinterest and a light turnout on June 1 could prove disastrous to Smith.

Legislators mention June 4, June 10 and June 11 as probable starting dates. Rumors were widespread at last week's Legislative Budget Board meeting that Connally was considering calling the session before the June 1 runoff election.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith told reporters that he feels it will be "difficult" for the legislature to pass a major tax bill in a 30-day special session, starting cold.

Clayton Named NRHC Delegate

Bill Clayton, State Representative from Springlake, has been appointed by Governor John Connally as a delegate to the National Rivers and Harbors Congress to be held in Washington, D. C., June 4-7.

Clayton, along with other delegates from Texas, will attend the conference as official representatives of the State. Water resource development for the United States will be the main topic of the conference. Every state in the nation will have representatives attending.

Clayton, whose legislative district is composed of Oldham, Parmer, Deaf Smith, Castro and Lamb Counties, has long been a leader in Texas in the field of water and water resource development.

"Clayton's vast knowledge of water and water problems of the State make him a valuable asset to the Texas delegation," Governor Connally said.

4-H'ers To Tour Peru

A "Teen Caravan" to Peru and four other Central and South American countries is described as the chance of a lifetime for Texas 4-H Club members. Edward F. Schlutt, associate state 4-H leader, said the June 24 to August 22 tour gives the participating 4-H members an opportunity to live and learn much about international relations.

The tour, he continued, has been planned by the National 4-H Foundation and is a project of the Texas Partners of the Alliance with Peru.

Its purpose, Schlutt said, is to provide Texas' young people with an opportunity to develop a sense of world citizenship and an understanding of another culture. They will learn to communicate in another language and also about agricultural and manufacturing industries; foods and their preparation; music, songs, dances, games, sports and other arts and crafts, he said. But perhaps most important, they will learn what living is like in another country.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service specialist added that some of the young people will have an opportunity to work with Peace Corps volunteers and local Extension Service people in conducting youth education programs in the high Andes country of Peru. It is hoped, he said, that many of the visitors will actually live with host families.

The experience is expected to give the young Texans, between 17 and 19 years of age, a new perspective of their own problems. The trip will give them an opportunity to use the knowledge gained in school and apply it to a real-life situation, Schlutt said. Too, it should aid them in developing an ability to understand, accept and appreciate people who have problems and ideas different from their own.

There is a deadline for making an application for the trip, May 20 and a fee is involved, Schlutt said. A visit to the local county Extension office will give interested 4-H members detailed information.

A Forgotten Man

For the information of the Press: The following is the text of Senator Tower's weekly report to Texans:

I think we ought to remind ourselves this week about the real forgotten American-- the lawabiding citizen.

Let's take a look at that forgotten man, in the form of a small merchant operating in any city of our nation.

Let's draw a typical picture of a citizen who has saved enough money, or borrowed enough money to set up a small shop where he can display his wares. This is apt to be a grocery store, or a service station or something similar.

From the very zeginning this citizen of our Republic is circumscribed and directed by various levels of his government. He must conform to government-imposed ordinances about fire hazards and sanitation.

He, himself, can work as long and hard as his physical stamina will allow. But if his business gets large enough to employ a helper he must pay that helper no less than the government dictates, and the hours must be no longer than the government dictates.

He must not defraud his customers. He must not falsely advertise his products. He must not discriminate in his hiring practices, or in selling his wares. He must, in short, operate the way government tells him to operate or he must not operate at all.

The citizen of whom we speak accepts all these rules and regulations, Perhaps not happily, perhaps grudgingly, but nevertheless legally. In return he is allowed to pay a heavy tax burden to practically all levels of government.

He pays a tax for schools even though he may not have children in school. He pays taxes for parks and recreational areas even though his own business may demand so much of his time that he seldom uses a public park. He pays taxes that sometimes go to subsidize his competitors.

All this he does because it is required of him by the laws, and he is a law abiding citizen.

And, he also pays taxes for the financial upkeep of a system of law and order that is an absolute necessity if freedom is to prevail over anarchy, if the individual is to have any rights as opposed to the whims of the temporary mob.

Then, our citizen finds out too late that the policeman who walks his beat has been ordered not to be too harsh on those who would rob him, or burn his store and thereby endanger his life as well as destroy his property. He finds the Attorney General of the United States taking issue with, and undermining the authority of, local officials who have voiced their determination to see that law and order is upheld.

It has been said time and time again in the field of foreign affairs it does this nation little good to possess massive military power if we lack the will to use that power in the defense of the Republic and for the security of our citizens.

By the same token it does us little good to have the means to protect the lives and property of our citizens if we lack the will to use those means. We might as well, under those circumstances, disarm and disband our police and turn our streets over to the tender mercy of arsonists and looters.

Much has been said about some kind of sickness abroad in our land that causes this unbelievable rioting and looting. And, the villan somehow turns out to be the decent, hardworking, law-abiding American citizen.

Despite the fact that he gives up more than 30-Billion-dollars annually in programs to aid the poor and underprivileged, the decent citizen is castigated as the creator of the ghettos, the cause of riots, the oppressor of the poor. The law-abiding citizen is expected, because of his manifold sins, and because of his "sickness", to suffer in silence and to pay still more, as ransom for his home, his business, his system of law and order.

Otherwise, he is told, he must expect the torch; he can expect everything, in fact, except protection by his government in his hour of need.

I will accept the fact that there is a sickness in our land. But the patient should not be identified as the law-abiding citizen.

The patient should properly be identified as the fuzzy-brained, foggy-thinking, opinion-makers who blame everyone but the arsonist for burned buildings; who attempt to blame every citizen of our Republic, except the murderer of course, for murders.

Yes, there are sicknesses in our land.

There is that sickness of heart that is present in all law-abiding citizens when they see their cities, their homes, their businesses go up in smoke while looters and arsonists cavort for the benefit of television.

There is a sickness of dismay among us all when we see smoke obscure our nation's capitol.

And there is, of course, that terrible sickness which comes when we see our chief federal law enforcement officer vacillate in the face of mobs in the streets.

Yes, there is a sickness abroad in the land---it is an illness of the lawless.

And the best medicine to cure that illness is a good, stiff dose of law and order.

Success TO YOU

May each day be a step toward the fulfillment of your dreams.

FRECKLED BANANAS

When bananas are covered with little brown spots, they are ready for mashing and mixing into puddings, breads and cakes. To hold ripened bananas a few days, refrigerate them, suggests Extension foods and nutrition specialists at Texas A&M University. But be sure to wrap them tightly in a plastic bag to prevent their odor from spreading. Their skins will turn brown but the inside will stay the same for a few days. Keep unripe bananas at room temperature until they ripen the way you like them.

■ The facts are that electric air conditioning takes less space, is fully dependable, fully efficient and uses just clean air and electricity. Chances are you have an electric refrigerator that may be as much as 15 years old . . . yet it's still dependable, still faithfully performing its cooling duty.

And that's the way it is with electric air conditioning.

"700 acres of PIONEER sorghum averaged 8,568 pounds for me."

Elvin Wilson, Friona, Texas

Many of last year's bumper yields came from small acreages. But Elvin Wilson had 735 acres—all Pioneer hybrid 820—that averaged 8,568 pounds per acre.

Good weather, good farming and good seed boosted Elvin's yields. He double rowed on a 40" bed, watered four times in addition to pre-watering, controlled weeds with Propazine, and put on 280 pounds of nitrogen.

Hybrid 820 makes the most of his good farming—shades the ground fast, produces big yields, stands right up to harvest. Isn't this the kind of sorghum you want, too? See me soon.

NEWS HEMISFAIR'68

AND FEATURES WORLD EXPOSITION APRIL 6-OCT. 6-SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS

Two problems that have plagued all world's fairs-- parking and accommodations-- have failed to materialize at HemisFair'68.

Although three-fourths of a million people have visited the World's Fair thus far, ample parking and hotel accommodations have been available.

"We have been pleasantly surprised in the first month's operation with the ease of parking and obtaining accommodations in the city," Marshall Steves, HemisFair President, said.

Visitors have found even on heavier days they can drive right up to the HemisFair gates, parking in the 4,500 car lot on the east side of the exposition. Cost is a maximum of $1.50 per day.

The city of San Antonio has also opened numerous lots near the Fair, within a block of the Alamo, accommodating thousands of cars daily at a maximum of 75 cents.

In addition, privately operated lots have popped up like spring flowers in the downtown World's Fair area.

Despite some reports to the contrary, many visitors have been pleased to find rooms available upon arrival in San Antonio without advance reservations, especially at midweek.

"This is an excellent, magnificent fair...a bigger fair than the Seattle fair--and better."

Those words of praise for HemisFair came from the man who should know--J. E. Gandy, president of the 1962 Seattle World's Fair.

Gandy, on tour with other members of the Washington State Stadium Commission, made the remarks at a news conference after touring the 92.6-acre World's Fair grounds at San Antonio.

Gandy said the San Antonio World's Fair has "great charm" that he had never encountered at any world's fair.

"You have built well, dreamed well, planned well," he said. "The City of San Antonio will be rewarded for years to come."

Attendance at the popular Alive Pavilion has topped the 50,000 mark and resulted in a dinner for two for a Fort Worth couple.

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Reeves were awarded the dinner for two in the beautiful revolving restaurant atop the 622-foot Tower of the Americas after they viewed the highly acclaimed "Sermons from Science" films at the pavilion. The pavilion, sponsored by a group of San Antonio businessmen, has a program of 13 different scientifically accurate, yet entertaining, movies produced by the Moody Institute of Science in California. The films are presented 16 times daily in both English and Spanish.

The program was selected by Time Magazine as one of the top ten exhibits at the New York World's Fair. At Expo '67 the waiting lines for "Sermons From Science" were as much as five hours long.

A monkey tips his hat in thanks for a penny while his organ-grinder master turns the musicbox. Three clowns attract a crowd while posing for pictures with passersby. A group of actors perform fractured Shakespeare.

All are part of the unexpected entertainment greeting visitors to HemisFair'68. Each performs when and where there is a willing audience.

The organ-grinders with their playful monkeys, laughing clowns with Keystone Kop props, and strolling Shakespearean Players are only part of the unannounced free entertainment on the 92.6-acre grounds.

Visitors walking towards pavilions for visits to interesting exhibits often stop and watch a shootout by a pair of Western gunslingers or a fast draw exhibition.

There are also impromptu performances by the Rainbo Puppet Theater, dances by Spanish Flamenco dancers and the music of Mexican mariachis on a floating bandstand on the lagoon.

All of this is in addition to the regularly scheduled free entertainment such as the popular Flying Indians at the Frito-Lay/Pepsi-Cola Pavilion, the fabulous marionettes at the Coca Cola Exhibit, water ski shows, and numerous bands and choirs scheduled daily at the various open air theatres around the grounds.

Veteran World's Fair visitors who made HemisFair one of their stops in April are singing its praises, not only for its beauty and interesting exhibits, but the reasonable prices.

The per capita spending of fairgoers during April was $5.18, including gate admission of $2 for adults and $1 for children, parking, food, rides and games, and admissions to various entertainment features.

Cotton-cushioned mattresses are cooler because of cotton's built-in circulating system.

PTA Council To Meet Tuesday

The Castro-Swisher Bi-County PTA Council met May 7 at 9:30 a. m. in the First Baptist Church in Hart.

Mrs. Albert Schoenenberger of Happy presided during the business session. Mrs. Schoenenberger presented Mrs. Wiley Alexander, retiring District 8 president, and Mrs. Red Lambeth, State vice-president.

A School of Information was conducted by Mrs. Alexander and Mrs. Lambeth. Mrs. Alexander also served as installing officer.

New council officers are Mrs. Melvin Gibbs of Kress, president; Mrs. Sammy McGill of Hart, vice-president; Mrs. Tom Wethington of Nazareth, secretary and Mrs. W. G. Patton Jr. of Dimmitt, treasurer. All unit members were present.

Sweet rolls and coffee were served by the Hart PTA.

Mrs. Schoenenberger was presented a past-president pin. Mrs. Don Beatty of Kress made the presentation. Gifts of appreciation were given to Mmes. Alexander and Lambeth.

OIL-GAS LEASES SOLD-- Sale of 34,368 acres of state oil and gas leases the first week in May brought $1,400,000 in new revenue to the state's coffers. So reports Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler.

Biggest single bid was $211,235 for 640 acres in Ward County by Humble Oil and Refining Company. Bids on 1,590 acres of sulphur leases brought $155,267. Highest of these bids was by Duval Corporation for $76,918 on 40 acres in Culberson County.

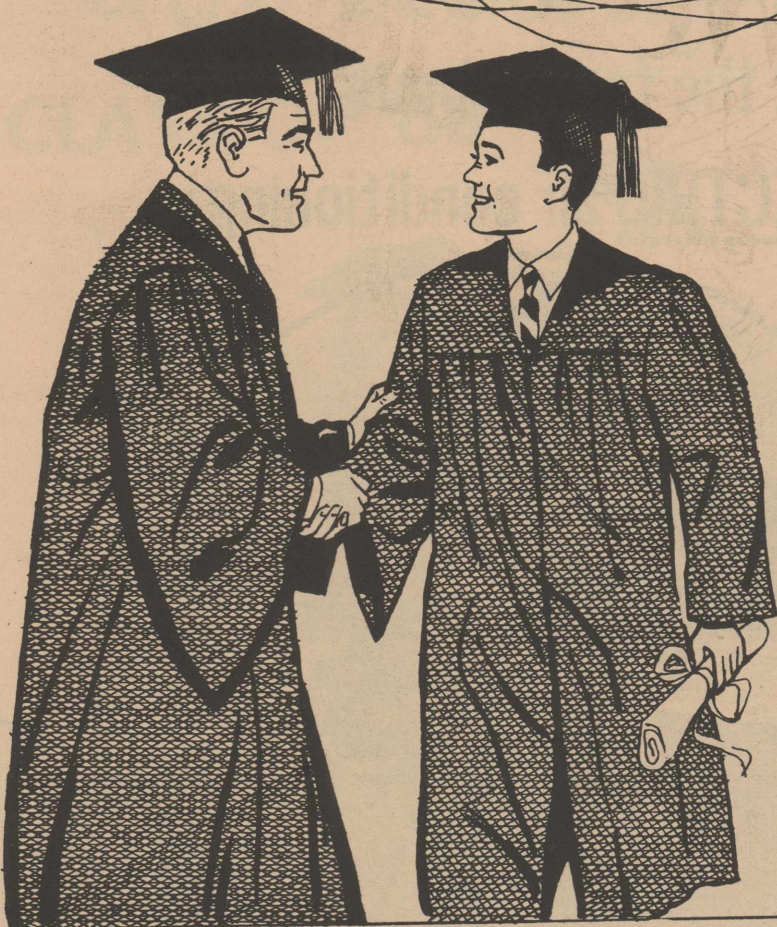

Cotton was known throughout the world by 1500.

American Indians used cotton nets for beds.

RICHBURG PLUMBING

If you missed attending the Kiddie Kollege graduation and performance you missed one of the cutest programs of the year. Those little children were so well behaved and went through their parts so well it amazed - yes, even their parents. I believe their teacher, Mrs. Brown is to be commended for the good start they have for their school years to come.

School will soon be out and the children will be home for their summer vacation this week. This will call for more finger foods for snacks. Have you ever tried taking fresh ripe strawberries, wash and stick a round toothpick in the large end, roll in powdered or plain sugar and freeze on cookie sheet later transfer to plastic bag. These are even enjoyed by grownups and easy to serve.

KITCHEN KORNER

By Lela Gallion

BEET RING WITH COLE SLAW

- 1 T. gelatin
- 3 T. cold water
- 1 1/2 c. hot water or water and juice from canned beets
- 1/2 c. vinegar
- 2 c. cooked beets or No. 2 can beets drained and riced
- 1/2 c. sugar
- 1 recipe Cole Slaw

Soak gelatin in cold water 5 minutes, then add to hot liquid and stir until dissolved. Add vinegar, beets and sugar and pour into 5-cup ring mold. Chill until firm. When ready to serve, dip into warm water to loosen and unmold onto serving plate. Heap cole slaw in center of ring. 5 to 6 servings.

PERFECTION SALAD

- 1 1/2 c. hot water
- 1 pkg. lemon gelatin
- 3 T. lemon juice
- 1 T. sugar
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 9-oz. can crushed pineapple and juice
- 1 1/2 c. finely shredded red or green cabbage
- Crisp lettuce or endive
- Mayonnaise or boiled salad dressing
- Paprika

Add the hot water to gelatin, stirring until dissolved. Add lemon juice, sugar, salt and pineapple juice, and chill until gelatin begins to set. Shred cabbage, combine with pineapple and fold into gelatin mixture. Turn into a 4-cup mold which has been rinsed in cold water. Chill until firm. When ready to serve, unmold the salad on a bed of lettuce or curly endive. Serve with mayonnaise or boiled salad dressing and a dash of paprika on top. 5 to 6 servings.

PESTICIDES

The increasing use of pesticides to keep homes free of insects and protect plant life requires certain precautions on the part of the user. First, read the directions on the label of the container and note all cautions and warnings. Second, keep pesticides away from children or pets. Third, make certain the container is tightly sealed and never transfer the contents to another unlabeled container.

Cotton Farmers

To Cast Ballots

If you are a cotton producer in Castro County, Charley E. Hill, Office Manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, wants you to remember that Friday, May 17, is the last day to vote on the transfer -- by sale or lease -- of 1969 upland cotton allotments outside the county. Ballots were mailed early this month to all cotton producers of record, and the referendum started May 13.

Ballots may be mailed or delivered in person to the ASCS county office, but they must be in the office or be postmarked not later than May 17, and mailed ballots must arrive at the county office before ballots are counted on May 22. A ballot in an envelope postmarked after May 17 will not qualify as "eligible."

The vote will decide only the question of whether a farmer in this county can sell or lease his 1969-crop upland cotton allotment to someone who would use it in another county of this State. A two-thirds affirmative vote will permit such transfers. In no case can transfers be made outside the State.

Farmers are cautioned to follow all instructions in marking their ballots. They should be sure to sign the certification -- or the producer's mark should be witnessed -- on the back of the envelope sent to them by the ASCS county office. This serves as evidence that the ballot was marked by the producer personally without undue influence by any person. Ballots are kept secret, although the counting of the ballots is public.

The public counting of the ballots will take place on May 22 at 9 a. m. in the ASCS county office. Anyone who wishes may watch the counting.

Because the transfer of cotton allotments is so important to growers, it is hoped that a large percentage of the county's cotton producers will cast their ballots. Any cotton producer in the county who has not received a ballot by mail is urged to get in touch immediately with the ASCS county office.

Some people plant flowers in the spring

But then what does a flower have that a gas light doesn't? Flowers brighten up your yard. So does a gas light. After you install a gas light, it might be the first time you've seen your flowers at night.

Flowers come in different sizes and shapes. So do gas lights... designed to lend distinction to any landscape. Take your pick.

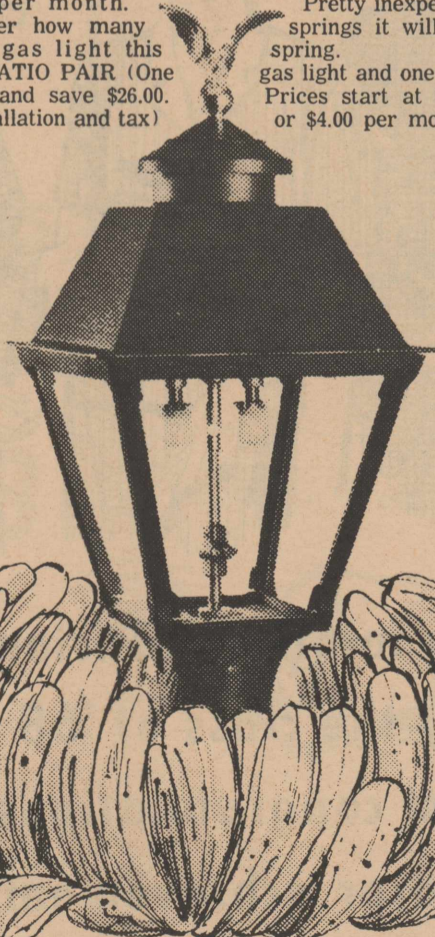

If they're taken care of just right, flowers will bloom the whole season. A gas light blooms year 'round, and requires absolutely no care.

Flowers have a wonderful fragrance. You've got us there. A gas light doesn't have an odor at all. But we know you'll overlook that, since a gas light has so many other nice features.

New Bike Steers Like A Car

This completely new idea in bike riding is called THE WHEEL. It's a bike that steers like a car and it's catching on fast among kids everywhere.

THE WHEEL bike has a racey steering wheel, a "Drag Brake" mounted in a woodgrained console, and a chain guard modeled after the exhaust stacks on drag racers. A regular coaster brake is standard equipment, too.

Huffy, in Dayton, Ohio, came up with the design that's making regular handlebars old stuff.

LCC Associates To Handle Pat Boone Tickets Sales

Panhandle South Plains Fair Association's Board of Directors designated the Lubbock Christian College Associates as the organization to handle the advanced ticket sales for the Pat Boone Show at the 1968 Lubbock Fair.

This group of dedicated women have developed a "Go-Getter" reputation over the years and the Fair Board feels they will live up to that reputation.

The combination of Pat Boone, Baja Marimba Band, Jimmy Dorsey Orchestra and Master of Ceremonies, Don Rice insure top level family entertainment at each performance.

Last month, the LCC Associates turned the keys of the beautiful and functional, new home economics building over to the Lubbock Christian College with no strings attached. This group of dynamic females made a dream come true--they built a building in place of an air castle and LCC received an instant building, painlessly and at no cost!

VETERAN DPS CHIEF DIES
--Col Homer Garrison Jr., 66, Texas' top police officer and head of the vast Department of Public Safety for 30 years, died of cancer.

All of the state's highest officials joined in mourning his loss.

"He was one of the most capable and effective law enforcement administrators in America," said Governor Connally. "Under his leadership, the Texas Department of Public Safety has become recognized throughout the nation as a symbol of law and order. Its reputation will live as a personal tribute to Colonel Garrison."

Wilson E. Speir is serving as acting director of DPS.

KINDERGARTEN STANDARDS-- For the first time, the State Board of Education has adopted professional standards for Texas kindergarten teachers. This step could be in the direction of recent suggestions of public, state-supported kindergartens.

Board also took note of the state's desegregation problems by approving the appointment of two more staff members to the Texas Education Agency to work solely with local school districts in complying with federal law and court decisions on the subject.

Also getting the Board's endorsement was a preliminary plan to study how best to make use of Texas' educational manpower and to assess pupil needs. Study is being made in conjunction with the U. S. Office of Education to help TEA coordinate programs supported by some $129,000,000 in federal funds.

LETTER FROM BOB PRICE

The House Agriculture Committee voted a one-year extension of the 1965 Food and Agriculture Act last Thursday.

The Act was extended by the Committee to the end of 1970 without amendments but will still have to hurdle the Rules Committee and a vote on the House floor where it may be opposed by some of the big-city Congressmen. And the Senate Agriculture Committee has not yet agreed on an extension. I supported the extension because the great majority of producers who testified before the Committee were in favor of extending the bill now rather than waiting until next year when the Act is due to expire.

The present programs were not changed in any way although I believe some of them should be, and probably will be, in separate proposals that are now under consideration by the committee.

Personally, I feel that the present program should be completely overhauled and more local control should be returned to County ASC Committees. And the farmer must have a stronger voice in the administration of his programs and the operation of the Department of Agriculture.

There should be more men in the Department of Agriculture in high positions with broad farm experience and backgrounds. And this also applies to both the House and Senate Agriculture Committees.

Although the farm population has dropped four million since 1960, Department of Agriculture employees have increased by 40 percent to more than 120,000.

Specifically, I believe substantial expenditures by the Department can be diverted to research in an effort to cut production costs. And there must be a further expansion of our export trade in farm products.

Industry must be attracted to rural areas and the migration to overcrowded and riot-torn cities must be halted. And inflation must be stopped. Farm profits have been eaten up by skyrocketing increases in all farm production costs - machinery, labor, fertilizer and interest rates.

I believe parity on farm products should be increased automatically as the cost of living increases. Such increases are now tied to the cost of living index for retired Federal and military employees, and Congress has recently voted increases for all Federal and military personnel as well as Social Security retirees. But farm income actually dropped by 11.5 percent last year as farm operating costs went up.

I think there should be a FLOOR of at least 85 percent of parity for all farm products rather than a ceiling as at present.

There should be a better balance of agricultural imports with exports, and the high rate of meat, dairy and textile imports should be corrected. Congress needs to update tariff and quota legislation. There is now too much left to administrative decision through loosely worded legislation that leaves interpretations of laws to the discretion of these administrators in the various government agencies.

There is a real and urgent need to improve all farm programs and, consequently, farm income. I and other members of the House Agriculture Committee are seriously concerned with the depressed state of the farm economy and the dire necessity of some changes such as I have outlined.

VETS BONDS SOLD--Texas veterans land bonds worth $30,000,000 sold for an average interest rate of 4.33 per cent.

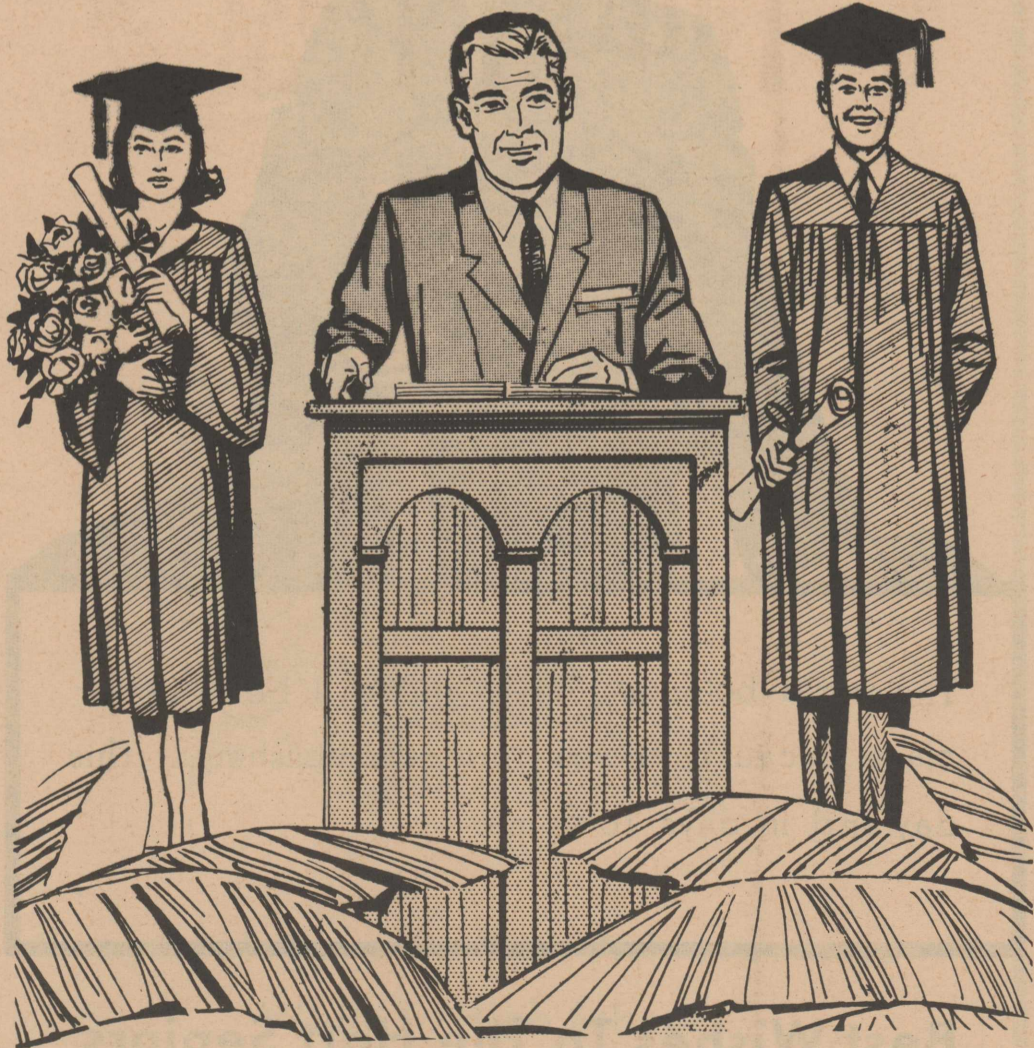

First National Bank in Dallas, Harris Trust and Savings Bank in Houston, and First National City Bank of New York and Associates were successful bidders on bonds.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler, chairman of the Veterans Land Board, said the sale was necessary to continue purchase of land for the Texas program recently revived by constitutional amendment.

Before used for buying veterans land, money will be invested in short-term government securities to offset any interest costs accruing against the Veterans Land Board. Sadler said AAA bond rating and the excellent pay record of the Veterans Land Board made it possible to sell bonds below market.

SHORT SNORTS--Constitutional revision committee suggests that Texas' top state appellate judges be appointed rather than elected.
