Olton Lions Carnival To Open

The young and the "young at heart" will gather Monday night July 7 for the first night of the annual Lions Club Carnival.

The carnival is scheduled for a run from Monday night through Saturday night, according to Lion Boss Russell Strain. Amusement rides will be furnished by C. B. Rhodes, who has been making his annual appearance in Olton for a number of years.

Local clubs, such as Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Fire Department and all women's clubs are invited to have projects on the carnival grounds.

Boy Scouts will operate a concession stand, most likely, selling hot dogs and Cokes. Cake and Pie Walks are reportedly being planned by some of the women's clubs.

The Fire Department has, in years past, conducted a dart game and they are expected to come up with a similar booth this year.

Favorite of the carnival is the Lions Club's Dunkin' Board, which will be ridden by various member of the Lions Club.

For the more conservative

"youngsters", there will be a Bingo table, sponsored by the Lions Club. For those who like to eat while enjoying the carnival, there will be a snow cone stand also sponsored by the Lions, and possibly home made ice cream sold by the ladies' clubs.

The Lions, who sponsor various money making projects, will have a booth set up for the sale of light bulbs, which is an annual sale.

They were unable to conduct their annual door to door light bulb sale this year because of incimate weather.

Everyone, young and old alike, are urged to attend the carnival and help in the worthy projects which the Olton Lions Club undertakes each year.

Proceeds from the carnival last year helped to sponsor the foreign exchange student, Sunee Saehow.

Other activities of the year include a broom sale, Halloween candy sale, the annual light bulb sale and in recent years the sponsoring of plays.

Money received from these projects is contributed by the Lions to deserving persons. Contributions of $12 per month was made last year to Girls Town, money was contributed to the Retarded Children's School in Littlefield and 25 pairs of glasses were purchased for needy children.

The Lions present a plaque to a deserving athlete at the annual athletic banquet. They also sponsored Barry Cowart as representative from Olton to attend Boys State in Austin.

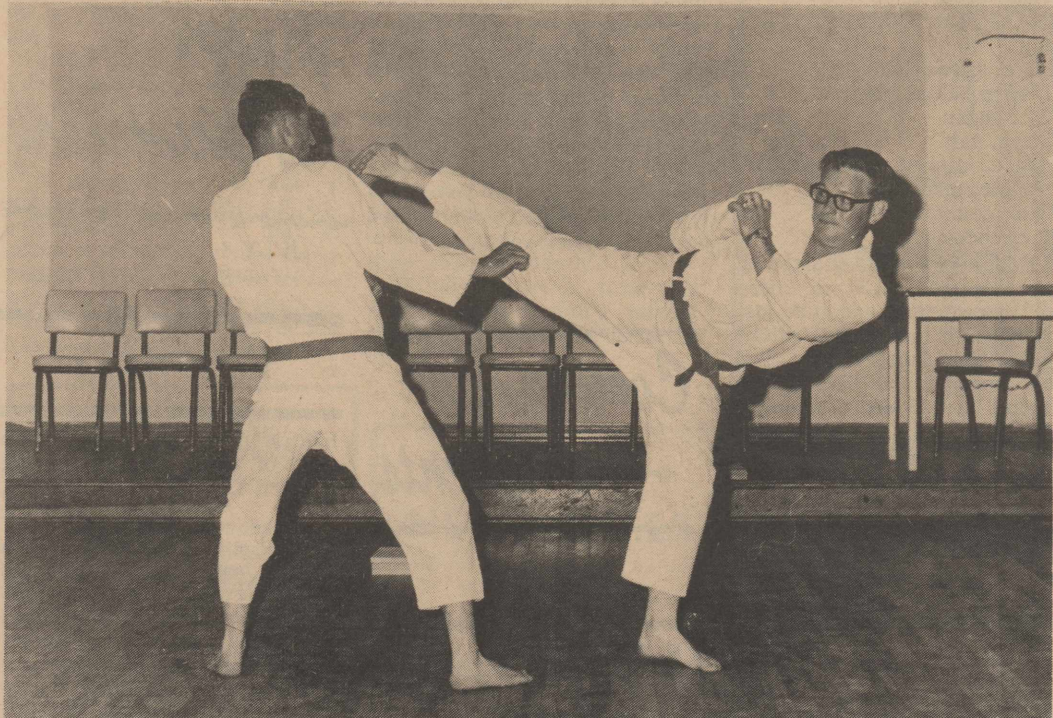

At Christmas this past year, money was donated to the Ministerial Alliance to help purchase Christmas baskets for needy families.

Members of the Lions voted this year not to exchange Christmas gifts and instead they sent the money they would have ordinarily spent on gifts to Girls Town.

Lion Russell urged all clubs to join in making the carnival a big success. "If you decide at the last minute to have a booth, just come on and set it up.

The clubs don't have to pay a commission to the Lions Club either. What they make is theirs to use as they see fit."

So everyone can come out and have a big time at the carnival and at the same time, their money will be going to help some needy person.

A SIDE KICK is demonstrated by Raymond Powers and Jerry Smith, fellow Karate enthusiasts. The kick is one of many arts of self defense taught as a sport in America.

Greenbugs Are Reported By Grain Producers Ass'n

Greenbugs, the small insect that damaged grain sorghum in 1968 are now building up in large numbers. Elbert Harp, executive director for Grain Sorghum Producers Association, reported that farmers throughout the high plains area are reporting some damage and a few are spraying.

Harp stated that, "we are not recommending that all fields be sprayed at this time, but we do think farmers should be checking their fields to see if they do have a dangerous number and continue checking them regularly." The greenbug seriously damaged thousands of acres in 1968, cutting the yields sometimes over 50 per cent. This was the first severe damage to grain sorghum even though they have hurt wheat and barley for many years.

Information about the type and amount of spray may be obtained from Charley Hill, county agent.

Wheat Harvest Almost Over

Wheat, which began rolling into the Hart area two weeks ago, has all just about reached its destination, with the average yield being about 40 to 45 bushels per acre.

Bob R. Bennett brought Farmers Grain their first load of wheat June 19. Hart Grain received a load the same day from Deryl Clevenger. Hi-Point Grain and Fertilizer's first load came from Smith and Merritt.

Orient Art Of Self Defense Becoming American Sport

Karate, the Orient originated act of self-defense, has become one of the most popular sports in the United States and several young men in Olton and Hart are learning the art from Raymond Powers, a member of the Southwest Black Belt Karate Association.

Powers has been in the association for the past three years and just recently received his brown belt during tests conducted at Dallas May 18.

There are six belts a person has to earn before receiving a black belt, which is the ultimate for karatemens. The belts include white, orange, green, blue, brown and black.

Those from Olton receiving instruction from Powers include Jerry Loveless, Terry Snider, Thomas Jenkins, Eddie Hooper, Charles A. McClain, Danny Dial and Rusty Powers.

Two Hart students, Jerry Smith and Rex Henderson commute for lessons each Tuesday and Thursday. Henderson has earned a green belt and Smith has earned a blue belt.

Smith assists Powers in the instruction of basis self-defense and free fighting. He and Powers also attend classes in Lubbock at the YMCA, to keep abreast with new techniques.

Students which now have their white belts will be ready for their orange belt examination which will be given next month in Lubbock. The test consists of basic blocks, kicks and punches.

They will also be required to perform a Korean form of Karate called Chon-Ji. This consists of a series of movements and maneuvers which have been established so that the student can practice the various techniques of attack and defense without the aid of an opponent.

Taekwon-Do, a style of Karate, is a contemporary version of an ancient form of unarmed combat practiced for many centuries in the Orient. It employs the use of the hands and feet as a means of self defense and employs 17 parts of the body to attack 54 vulnerable and critical spots on the opponent and--should it be necessary, it can deprive the opponent of his life.

Girls who "take up" Karate usually do so for self-defense purposes, but Powers said there are other benefits. The exercises help in weight reducing as well. He said that girls should be able to protect themselves against single or multiple attacks with only her purse and bare hands.

"If applied correctly, the rat-tail comb is a deadly weapon," he commented.

Plans are now in progress for a junior class of boys, between ages six and fourteen. Powers said the young student is more agile, energetic and willing to learn.

All the classes teach self defense, tournament fighting and brick and board breaking.

KITCHEN

KORNER

BY LELA GALLION

One thing for certain we can't say it hasn't been hot. The 106 degrees my thermometer showed on June 21 and the humidity that went with it made it seem hotter. It did dry up the mud I was fussing about into large chunks and ruts. Oh well, I just have to have something to gripe about, as I was told when I first moved here "if you don't like it move back where you came from" and I guess I liked it since I stayed nineteen years.

I have a recipe book that has a quote at the bottom of each page and will share some with you.

"Nothing in the world has put as many people on their feet as the alarm clock"

How true!

Good rules to remember when baking cakes are to be sure and not add extra flour or it will be dry. Don't add extra sugar just because you like a sweet cake or it will fall. Just bake a cake that is richer and sweeter. Many people add extra shortening thinking it will be more moist, but it will very easily fall. When you find a good cake stick to the recipe or for those who just can't resist extra gooey cakes, stick it full of holes and add the icing before it is cool.

Pineapple is a good buy at this time. Here are a couple of recipes using it.

PINEAPPLE CAKE

2 1/2 c. sifted flour
2 1/2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
3/4 c. butter or margarine
1 1/2 c. sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
4 eggs, separated
1 c. crushed, undrained pineapple.

Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter and sugar thoroughly. Gradually beat in egg yolks. Blend in vanilla and pineapple. Fold in sifted dry ingredients. Rinse beaters and beat egg whites until stiff but not dry, fold into batter. Pour into 2 9-inch cake pans, greased and lined with wax paper. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 to 35 minutes. Cool in pans 5 minutes; turn out on wire racks. Frost with 7 minute icing.

7 MINUTE ICING

2 unbeaten egg whites
1 1/2 c. sugar
1/3 c. cold water
1/2 tsp. cream of tartar
1 tsp. vanilla

Combine all ingredients but vanilla in top of double boiler. Cook over boiling water, beating constantly, for 7 minutes. Remove from heat and add vanilla.

PINEAPPLE COFFEE CAKE

1 egg
1 1/2 c. sifted flour
2 1/4 tsp baking powder
1/2 c. sugar
1/2 tsp. salt
1 1/4 c. canned crushed pineapple, undrained
1/3 c. melted shortening
1/2 c. coconut.

Beat egg, add shortening and pineapple. Add to sifted dry ingredients, and mix just until flour is moistened. Quickly pour into buttered pan. Top with coconut and bake 20-25 minutes at 425 degrees. Serve warm.

Financial Facts

By Willis A. Hawkins, Jr.

Commemoratives in the form of magnificent coins highpoint many milestones in American history. Here are a few of the 20th Century memorials.

The McKinley Memorial gold dollar coin was authorized in February, 1916. The obverse showed McKinley's profile, facing left. The reverse showed the Memorial Building. This was the coin that commemorated the centenary of the birth of Ulysses S. Grant; a silver half dollar authorized in February, 1922. It depicted a bust of the 18th President of the United States. The reverse showed the log cabin where he was born.

In commemoration of the State of California's admission into the Union, a silver half dollar was authorized in February, 1925. A gold-panning prospector and a walking grizzly bear were depicted.

A Final Tribute To Coach Don Seymour

(Editor's Note: Amarillo Daily News staff writer Fred Wortham, Jr., who covered Class A and AA high school football while working for the Borger News-Herald wrote the following tribute to Coach Don Seymour, who to his friends was known as "The Bull".)

The Bull was quite a guy. Don Seymoure probably had as much football in his head as any American walking on two feet. He was a champion on the gridiron, in his personal life and in association with young people.

He started his career under the near-legendary Chesty Walker as a high school footballer - he always tried to measure up to what the "Old Man" wanted of his boys.

He had another monicker, too, "Windy". For the life of me, during 10 years, the only reason for that handle I could discern was that most of the time he spoke seldom, kinda quiet-like and had a pronounced slow drawl.

Donald Dwayne Seymour was an Oakie by birth, and grew up in Phillips.

After he learned his football basics from the Old Master, he went to West Texas State University and became a coach.

Seymour took over as head man in Stinnett in 1955, and in his second year brought the Class A state football championship to the school.

We'd sit somewhere talking - I'd do most of the talking - and he'd chew on me pretty good for not doing my job right, a process which never seemed to go the other way.

"You don't give the kids enough credit and half the time you don't credit the kids that do the work," The Bull would say.

He'd point out to me that I'd missed the greatest play of the game the Friday night before and that I had, in my ignorance of the finer points - in spite of the fact that I'd watched and reported school-boy football for more than 20 years - missed the fact that a certain blocking back or an interior lineman, on his team or someone else's had played the finest game of the last two or three seasons in all the Class A or Class AA football games in this part of the county.

I've seen few of "his kids" who didn't play their guts out, every play of every game.

Seymour left Stinnett and went to McCamey. From there he went to Spearman, where the cancer cropped up, and later to Plainview as an assistant coach. He had been at Hart a year last Saturday.

That evening he started to the grocery store for a package of cigarettes-he smoked, but told everybody else to leave them alone. He was stricken en route and was dead by the time he reached the hospital.

There used to be a place we called "The Rest Home", a building near the rural home of a mutual friend. It was little more than a spot where a group could gather, throw a side of spareribs on the fire and lift the refreshment cup a time or two.

It was here you found the real Windy Seymour. You found that he worried about his kids, about the upcoming game or season and he sort of got his second wind and relaxed for a time. . . . was a softhearted compassionate human, in spite of his hard-appearing facade.

I'm sorry the folks in Garland won't get to know The Bull. They'd have liked him too.

He'd accepted a job as assistant coach at a new high school there.

The Bull's peers had every respect for him and his professional ability. Few of them matched a team against a Seymour team and came away unscathed, regardless of the score.

In recent months I hadn't seen The Bull very often. When I did we'd have one of our talking - me doing the talking-sessions and we'd go through the whole bit.

Like most of his profession, he was always on the short end - lacked talent on his squad, didn't have a chance, but you didn't dare malign his team or its members, even if he was pessimistic.

I never knew a time that Windy Seymour didn't have a chance to lick anything he set out to lick.

Like others of his profession, Windy Seymour gave a lot of young people a better, all-around outlook on life. They've got character, courage and a tremendous will to win in any situation.

I'm sorry my sons came along too late to learn from The Bull. I aspire to teach or instill these things but can't do it as well as Windy Seymour did.

The Bull left his mark on my life too.

Even when his teams had a losing season Windy Seymour was a winner. Every youngster he touched was inspired.

He was like his old master, Walker. A loss by his team was a personal thing. No member of the team felt it as strongly as Coach Seymour.

I've seen him take an interest in a player and explain that "next time we're gonna do it like this." Seldom, "Don't do that again," He talked positively.

His outstanding record as Stinnett's head coach, 36-2-1, is one of the best three-year records in the schoolboy books.

One of his greatest triumphs was over catastrophic illness. A few years ago he developed a huge lump in his chest.

His friends and the kids at Spearman high school worried about the situation more than he did.

He underwent surgery that

A BOY AND HIS HORSE---Van Burress, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Burress and "Shorty" stopped by to visit at the newspaper office recently. The boy and his horse are very often seen riding around town.

would have killed a horse.

In the shortest time imaginable he came walking into a place where I was visiting one day, and though thin, he looked and sounded like himself. The Bull was back.

Windy Seymour just didn't know defeat and his personal triumph was inspirational to all who knew him, in spite of his modesty.

It was one of the things that made him great. You had to know him to really like him and you had to have closeness with this burr-headed blond to appreciate his knowledge of the game of football.

I've sat next to him at a game or two and in spite of long years of association with football learned more in that two hours of play than all the rest of the time put together.

Boys Hit Home Run

Mike Clevenger and Danny George hit home runs for the losing team as the Colts whipped the Redlegs in Pee Wee baseball play this week.

Winning 7 to 3, the Colts had one homer, hit by Johnny Carasco.

It's your privilege ...

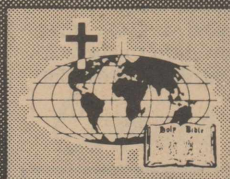

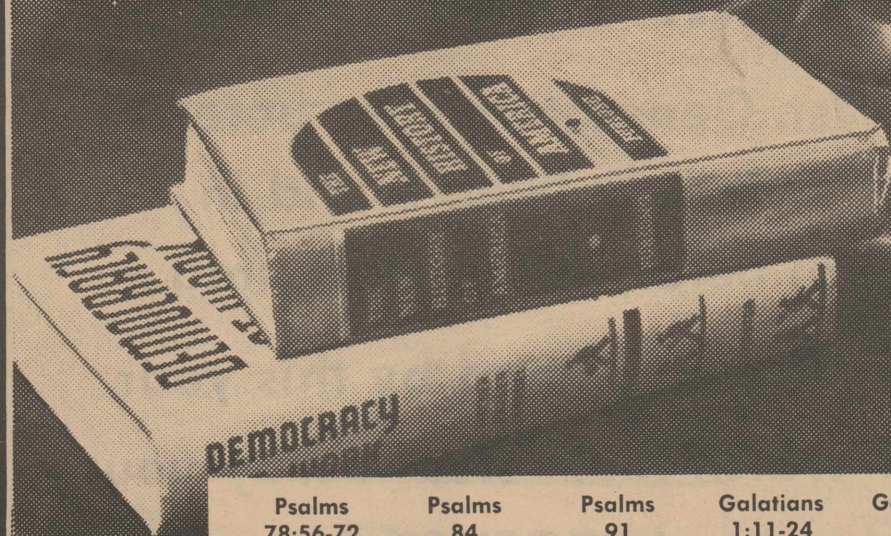

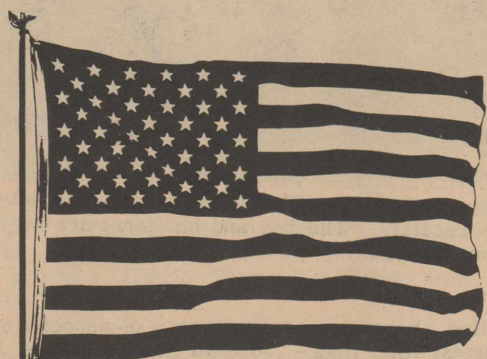

Here in America no one tells you that you have to work. Of course, when you do, you and your family enjoy self-respect as well as material benefits.

No one tells you, either, when or how you must play. But, when you take time for occasional recreation, you become refreshed, alert and ready for more work.

And no one tells you that you must worship the Lord, your God, regularly. But, when you do, you and your family are immeasurably blessed.

His mercy and loving-kindness will embrace your life. Knowledge of His infinite goodness and confidence in His eternal vigilance and love will sustain you at all times.

These blessings, and more, are yours so long as you keep alive the glorious American privileges of freedom to work, play and worship as you choose.
