SUBSCRIPTION EXPIRATIONS

The News has recently adopted the plan of attaching a sticker to papers when their time has expired. This is not necessarily a demand for the money for renewal but is only a reminder that the subscription has expired and a renewal would be appreciated.

Some people desire that their paper be stopped when the time is out and when we know people prefer that this be done, we try to comply with their wishes, although we do not like to lose any subscribers.

We have also found since adopting this method that it is a good way to discover and correct errors. Sometimes we make mistakes in dating papers and they have to be brought to our attention before they can be corrected and we are always more than glad to correct errors when we know that they exist.

We appeal to our readers for their assistance in this matter which is so vitally important to the operation of this paper at its present standard and we sincerely hope that we may have your full co-operation.

SUPREME TEST AHEAD

Events are moving swiftly to the time when President Roosevelt and the "new deal" will be put to the supreme test, and the people generally hope the outcome may be favorable to the administration and to the country.

But the powers granted the President by Congress and the program undertaken are so vast as to almost stagger the imagination. These involve nothing less than government control of all business and industry, including agriculture. They embrace such a radical departure from former American ideas and practices as to constitute a social revolution if the powers granted to governmental agencies are actually used to their full extent.

In view of this, it is natural that many thoughtful persons look upon this vast program with some misgivings, although they see the necessity for a change in the conditions which have prevailed.

So far, business and industry generally have shown a disposition to cooperate with the administration in evolving a solution of the many pressing problems which exist.

Going Too Far!!

By Albert T. Reid

The arbitrary fixing of hours of labor, wages and prices of commodities is an experiment of the most far-reaching nature. If carried out as planned, competition in its ordinary sense will be virtually eliminated. No one positively knows how it will all work out. But we shall soon see.

Women rule in a certain tribe of Indians in Peru. Which is further evidence that civilization is spreading.

A social worker has discovered that prisoners like music. No doubt they like the sound of the opening bars.

Then there is the fellow whose idea of fame is to have one of his testimonials read over the radio.

Now if the efficiency experts could only devise some means of utilizing the left-over advice.

To err is human. And in some cases that is about the only human characteristic discernable.

It is safer to guess that the headlight nearest to you is the one that is out.

THE BUSINESS OF LIFE

Jesus' hour of boyish triumph at the Temple had not turned his head. He knew how thorough must be his preparation for a really successful work.

Life which the world sees is effective in proportion as it rests upon solid work which is never seen. Instinctively Jesus knew this. For eighteen years more he was content to remain in that country town—until his strength was at its summit; until he had done his full duty by his mother and the younger children. Until his hour had come.

But what interests us most in the recorded incident of his boyhood at the temple is the fact that there for the first time he defined the purpose of his career. He did not say, "Wist ye not that I must practice preaching?" or "Wist ye not that I must get ready to meet the arguments of men like these?" The language was quite different, and well worth remembering. "Wist ye not that I must be about my father's business?" he said. He thought of his life as business. What did he mean by business? To what extent are the principles by which he conducted his business applicable to ours? And if he were among us again, in our highly competitive world, would his business philosophy work?

On one occasion, you recall, he stated his recipe for success. It was on the afternoon when James and John came to ask him what promotion they might expect. They wanted to know just what there would be in it for them.

"Master," they said, "we want to ask what plans you have in mind for us. You're going to need big men around you when you establish your kingdom; our ambition is to sit on either side of you, one on your right hand and the other on your left."

Jesus answered with a sentence which sounds poetically absurd. "Whoever will be great among you, shall be your minister," he said, "and whosoever of you will be the chiefest, shall be servant of all."

A fine piece of rhetoric, now isn't it? Be a good servant and you will be great; be the best possible servant and you will occupy the highest possible place. Nice idealistic talk but nothing to take seriously in a common sense world. That is just what men thought for some hundreds of years; and then, quite suddenly, Business woke up to a great discovery. You will hear that discovery proclaimed in every sales convention today as something distinctly modern and up to date.

THE OTHER HALF

The idea that space is only a fiction of the brain may be of comfort to those looking for a parking place.

Many automobile drivers who think they know all about the right-of-way law understand only half of it. In answer to the question, "Who had the right-of-way?" the average driver would quickly reply, "The man on the right." The answer is partially correct but isn't complete. The best statutes on the subject say, "The car on the right has the right-of-way provided it enters the intersection first, but if the car on the left happens to be first into the intersection, the car on the right must yield."

Maxwell Halsey, Traffic Engineer of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, says the best way to eliminate confusions on this point is for all cars to slow down when approaching intersection. "In this way drivers will be able to gauge each other's distance and obey the law with great convenience."

"The driver of a car approaching from the right has no justification to suppose that all traffic must stop to permit him to cross. This attitude has produced a high toll of accidents. More than twice as many accidents occur at intersections as between intersections. Last year, 2,430 persons were killed and 184,750 injured in 146,500 accidents resulting from misunderstandings over the right-of-way." State laws should be clarified in order to coincide with common sense and the free flow of traffic. If this is done, another bad hazard will be eliminated. Meanwhile motorists, slow down at intersections.

W. B. Potts of Memphis, arrested for speeding, asserted that he was rushing to police court to pay a $5 fine for his wife for traffic violation.

Quanah Team Leaves Game in 9th Inning As Result of Decision

Crowell and Quanah played one of the most exciting games Sunday ever played on the Crowell field. The game finally broke up in the 9th inning after Crowell tied the score at 11 all and Quanah walked off the field and protested the game but refused to play it out under protest and umpire Ashford forfeited the game to Crowell 9 to 6.

The game was featured by some of the best pitching that Crowell has seen this year when William Bell went to the relief of Rasberry in the 5th inning with the bases loaded and none out and fanned three men in a row and continued to set them down on strikes, fanning 15 in 5 innings. Rasberry fanned 5 in 4

Summary, 2 base hits—Montgomery, Cates, Roberts, Evans, 3 base hits—F. Price, Braziel. Home runs—Garner. Struck out—Bell 10, Rasberry 5, Mitchell 5. Base on balls, Bell 1, Rasberry 1, Mitchell 3. Innings pitched, Rasberry 4, none out in 5th, 10 runs and 9 hits, Bell 5 with 1 run and 5 hits. Earned runs, Quanah 4, Crowell 10.

Christian Science Churches

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, July 30. The Golden Text is: "Sing, O heavens; and be joyful, O earth; and break into singing, O mountains: for the Lord hath comforted his people, and will have mercy upon his afflicted" (Isiah 49: 13). Included with other passages from the Bible is the following from Psalms 30: "O Lord my God, I cried unto thee, and thou hast healed me."

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The divine Love, which made harmless the poisonous viper, which delivered men from the boiling oil, from fiery furnaces, from the jaws of the lion, can heal the sick in every age and triumph over sin and death. It crowned the demonstrations of Jesus with unsurpassed power and love. But the same 'Mind . . . which was also in Christ Jesus' must always accompany the letters of Science in order to confirm and repeat the ancient demonstrations of prophets and apostles. . . ." "Truth, Life, and Love are a law of annihilation to everything unlike themselves, because they declare nothing except God" (p. 243).

THE SIDEWALK

By Arthur B. Rhinow

I waited at the curb for the lights to change, and even after the green had turned to red, I was cautious in crossing the street. When I reached the other sidewalk I felt relieved. "What an invention the sidewalk is," I said to myself. The first sidewalk in New York was laid in 1790. The traffic was not heavy in those days, but I dare say the people were happy even then to have a part of the street that guaranteed safety to pedestrians. No hurrying here, no dodging of vehicles that were driven at the terrific speed of ten miles an hour. One could walk along leisurely and watch the show windows and passing carriages, and dream of the past and future of Little New York.

What genius first thought of sidewalks we do not know, but even at this late date we bow to him in sincere tribute. One has but to walk along a country road at a time when city automobiles vie with each other in disregarding the county traffic regulations to appreciate the sidewalk.

A place of safety from the rush of life—how precious it is! Some there are, no doubt, who enjoy the thrill of being swept along by the current, but even they will in time long for a spot where they can come to themselves and be themselves.

Well, brother, the only true safety spot is in yourself. The safety of the sidewalk is, after all, only relative. Even there you will have to be on the alert when the shopping

Immunize Children Against Diphtheria

Austin, Texas—Dr. H. N. Barnett, Director, Bureau of Child Hygiene, State Department of Health, in a recent statement, urged all parents to have their children immunized against diphtheria. Each child six months old or over should have this preventive treatment now as it takes some time for immunity to develop after the last inoculation.

In the use of toxoid we have an agent that will give passive immunity to this disease; still 812 persons died last year in Texas from diphtheria. Two thirds of all cases occur before the tenth year and approximately eighty per cent of the deaths from this disease occur between the ages one to five years. Our young children are therefore in danger of contracting the disease and dying from it.

It is a treacherous disease. The first symptoms are so indefinite that the mother can easily overlook their presence. It is necessary even for the physician to look closely for the signs of diphtheria in order to discover them as the child does not necessarily complain of pain in the throat. Take your children to your family physician and have them protected against diphtheria.

This is a special appeal to the parents of Texas. If you have children between the ages of six months and twelve years, who have not been immunized against this dreadful disease, have them protected by the injection of toxoid. Parents who know that it is now possible to prevent diphtheria and nevertheless fail to have their children immunized, take a great possibility on their shoulders. The immunization consists of two to three injections three to six weeks apart. When prevention is so simple, do not take chances on illness and possibly death from diphtheria.

Texas Tech to Open 1933 Fall Semester On Sept. 20 and 21

Lubbock, Texas, July 27—The 1933 fall semester of Texas Technological College opens September 20 for freshmen, and September 21 for all other students. Entrance examinations for students, who cannot meet the requirements by high school credits, will take place September 18 and 19. The second semester will open February 1. The college is changing from the term to the semester basis beginning with the fall session.

Tuition fees, provided by law for each student who is a bona fide resident of the State of Texas, will be $25 per semester. A uniform deposit, covering breakage in all laboratory courses, library fines, and other charges for injury, loss, or destruction of state property, will be $7.50, the unused portion of which will be returnable at the end of the semester. A medical service fee of $2.25 per semester which is optional, covers medical care and hospitalization for a limited period.

A student activity fee of $5.00, which is also voluntary, entitles the student to free admission to all football games, basketball games, and other athletic sports. Special course fees and rental charges will be made for courses in typewriting. Otherwise, all laboratory courses are included in the $7.50 deposit.

Students who are non-residents of the State of Texas will be charged an additional fee in accordance with the new law, which provides that the fee shall be an "amount equivalent to the amount charged students from Texas by similar schools in the state of which the said non-resident student shall be a resident."

A LABOR OF LOVE

The recent award of the degree of doctor of law to Miss Martha McChesney Berry of Georgia by Bates College again calls attention to one of America's most remarkable and useful women. Her life has been devoted to the education of mountain children.

Miss Berry was born a Southern aristocrat and had the advantage of the best schooling, as well as European travel. Many girls so privileged might have been satisfied with the pleasures of a purely social career, but not she. In 1902 she founded the Berry Schools for mountain boys and girls at Mount Berry, Ga., of which she has been the director ever since.

Her inheritance was also devoted to the work and from a small beginning the school has grown to include nearly 100 buildings with a "campus" of 15,000 acres, and an attendance of nearly 1,000 students. Still there are always hundreds on the waiting list.

Among the honors bestowed upon Miss Berry for carrying on this labor of love, these may be mentioned: Voted the state's most distinguished citizen by the Georgia legislature, awarded the Roosevelt medal for services to the nation, received a national magazine award of $5,000 for outstanding service, and the medal of the Town Hall Club of New York for accomplishment of lasting merit. She has received several honorary college degrees and other tokens of recognition.

At the age of 66 Miss Berry is still active in the management of her great institution, and is planning for the future as always. It is not surprising, therefore, that in addition to the honors enumerated

BETWEEN YOU AND ME

You and I are a part of this great government "of, for and by the people." For over forty years I have been a humble servant of my fellow-man. My fidelity to my trust is of record. Questions of the day concern my people—such items as have relation to their health and even moral welfare. It is my duty to work for human betterment as long as I am able.

The matter of "Prohibition" is, at this time of writing, bordering on bewilderment and—chaos. For some years we physicians have been doing our best to aid in stamping out an evil. While we were struggling to obey law, the illicit distiller and racketeer have walked around the legitimate use of alcoholics, and have supplied the drinking world with seventy-five-cent whisky, and have reaped fortunes for themselves, challenging Uncle Sam's drastic income tax law itself.

One of my patients—an aged man with pneumonia said, "hell, I ain't going to pay a druggist three dollars for a pint of whiskey when I can buy just as good for a dollar!"

Now comes newspaper reports that physicians may prescribe alcoholic stimulants for medicinal use, in quantity and frequency as they see fit; even to a ninety days supply, if it seems to be indicated for treatment! That means, I imagine, a prescription for a gallon of whiskey under certain conditions—for instance some chronic disease!

Well—I'm not going by newspaper reports. Uncle Sam will have to notify me before I make any drastic changes—and I shall not run into a wholesale business of prescribing a three months supply of whiskey, law or no law. I try to obey the higher law of TEMPERANCE, SOBRIETY, RIGHT LIVING.

Lower Motor Costs Seen After A. A. A. Test

Oil Consumption is Cut 28.5 Per Cent in Run at Indianapolis

DRASTIC reduction in the cost of auto operation is forecast as a result of motor oil tests conducted at the Indianapolis Speedway under auspices of the A.A.A. Contest Committee.

During these tests a new oil, developed by the Gulf Refining Company, obtained 28.5 per cent more miles to the quart . . . and cost 25 per cent less to use, when tested against three popular, high-grade brands familiar to every motorist.

Fords, Chevrolets, Plymouths and Buicks, picked at random from the streets of Indianapolis, were used in the four-day run. Each car traveled 450 miles a day at a constant speed of 45 M.P.H., using a different brand of oil each day. Oil consumption was rigidly checked by A.A.A. officials, and results were corrected for variations in temperature.

The new oil, which out-performed the other oils by a wide margin, is made from a 100 per cent paraffin base, and is refined three steps farther than ordinary motor oils. Introduction of this advanced process marks a definite step forward in the refining industry and, it is believed, will result in decreased operation costs for the average motorist.

prices to the general price level.

The same process would be repeated in 1934-35. At no time can cut of more than 20%. It is said the Secretary of Agriculture order a that the cut this fall will probably be 15%.

Now when John signs his three-year contract (it gives three years of benefits in exchange for two years of acreage reduction) he at once becomes a member of his county wheat production control association. He would have a part in electing the executive committee of this organization. He would report his three-year average yield an acre to the committee and they would have it published along with all the others in the local newspaper. If John's neighbors protest that he is out of line in his statements the committee would have to check up on him. If the sum of all the individual farm allotments in the county (under-designated acreages taken into account) exceeds the county allotment, the association would have to make adjustments of all acreages. The cost of all this local work is estimated to amount to an average of about 2 cents per bushel, and would probably be deducted in some way from John's payments.

Should John fail to keep his contract next year the Government would declare his 1933 payments liens against his future crops and collect it back. If he should sell or rent his farm his successor would have to carry out the contract. But if John is loyal in living up to his contract and farms his allotted acres in a workmanlike manner he will get his payments whether he makes a crop or not.

Extension Service officials point out again that the plan in its present form would discriminate against many Texas farmers because state and county allotments are based on five-year averages while the individual allotment is based on three years. Wheat acreages in Texas are increasing, they explain, and hence Texas would have to reduce an average of 28% under 1932 acreage if a 20% cut were ordered. In 45 of the 65 counties that produce 100,000 bushels or more per year, core if a 20% cut is ordered. A farmers would have to cut 25% or more if a 20% cut is ordered. A brief has been filed with the Administration pointing this out and asking for readjustments of the plan.

An educational campaign to explain the plan and organize county wheat production control associations will probably be started by county agents sometime about mid-August, Director O. B. Martin of the Extension Service, says.

A ROGUE'S NAME LIVES

Hundreds of thousands of stately derricks dot the many oil fields of the world, and many other thousands of smaller hoisting devices also bear the name of "derrick." How this name came to be applied to various forms of lifting apparatus is interesting, for it confers a sort of immortality upon a rascal who became a famous hangman.

When Robert, Earl of Essex, a favorite of Queen Elizabeth of England, aided in the capture of Cadiz, Spain, in 1596, some sailors under his command engaged in the pillage of the city, even making attacks upon Spanish women.

Twenty-four of the culprits were condemned to death, but no one wanted to be the executioner, Essex thereupon pardoned one of them, a sailor named Derrick, in consideration of his hanging the other 23, which he proceeded to do. Derrick evidently did a good job of it, for upon his return to England he was made hangman at the famed Tyburn prison in London. In the meantime Essex had incurred the disfavor of the queen, and had made a feeble attempt to incite a revolution against her. He was tried and condemned to death. On February 21, 1601, Hangman Derrick had the painful duty of beheading the man who had pardoned him in Cadiz five years before and he wielded the axe as skillfully as he had hitherto manipulated the noose.

But his name became a synonym for a hangman, and by extension to a gallows or other hoisting device. Thus the useful derrick came to be so called.

Wheat

We do not know of any country that has made a big wheat crop in one week so with conditions continually growing worse as to crop prospects over the world, we do not see any reason why wheat should not come back.

Should it become necessary for you fellows that have wheat in the granary to have some money, haul your wheat to our elevators for storage and keep it awhile. We still have plenty of storage room and money to loan on it at 6 per cent interest.

Fifteen Years Ago in The News

The items below are taken in whole or in part from the issues of News of July 19-26 and Aug. 2, 1918.

Big Crowd at Depot
By far the largest crowd yet to see at the depot to see the boys to the training camps was that Tuesday morning when 700 or more were there to see them off. 28 boys to leave were from various parts of the county. Of course it is not pleasant to see our liberties trampled under foot by a ruthless people. So the young men will go willingly to the war.

COLLEGE COURSE
Under the present conditions, is it wise to undertake a four-year college course? A very prominent educator said recently that since the World War the Colleges of the country have been over-crowded with students, with the results that there is now an over-supply of college graduates. Young men and women with even Masters Degrees are walking the streets unable to find employment. They are told by business men that their Degree is very valuable and desirable to them, yet they must know how to do a specific thing in order to be of service to them.

A young man or young woman with a high school education, supplemented with a Complete General Business Course, stands a far better chance to find employment than one who has, or will spend four years in College. A four-year College course equips one for just a few places, mostly teachers. Records disclose more than fifty thousand surplus teachers in the world alone. The same thing is completely true in other states. This is not much inducement to spend the time and money for a college degree and be unable to find employment.

Business is on the upgrade and means, of course, that we will see a vast improvement in the employment situation immediately. We will fall to be placing every Comparing the chances for immediate employment and the small cost in taking a business course with that of a College Course, and the cost incident to a college course and the slim chance of employment thereafter, we think the odds greatly in favor of a business training.

IN ANSWER TO A LADY'S LETTER

A lady writes to say that she does not understand why an 8-cylinder car does not cost more to run than a car with fewer cylinders. She refers to my statement that our Ford V-8 develops more power on a gallon of gas than any car we have made.

The use of 8-cylinders does not mean the addition of two or four extra fuel consumers. It is not, for example, a 4-cylinder engine multiplied by two. Our 8-cylinder engine takes the fuel supply of an ordinary 4-cylinder engine and divides it eight ways. And why?

By reducing four larger explosions into eight smaller ones, we get engine smoothness and quietness. Eight-cylinders indicate the way the gas is used, not the amount. It is just the difference between going upstairs in four long jumps or in eight ordinary steps.

Two things use up gas—bad engine design and useless car weight. Besides having an engine that gets a high percentage of power out of the fuel, the Ford V-8 has a light, strong body and chassis so that no power is wasted in moving excess weight.

The only extravagance about the new Ford V-8 engine is in the building of it. The extravagance is ours—the economy is yours.

The whole question of car economy needs clearing up. An economical car gives economy all round. Price, operation, upkeep, all play their part. If what you save on gas you lose elsewhere, that is not economy.

As to upkeep, our dealers say that in recent years the improved quality of Ford cars has cut down their repair business 50 per cent.

As to price with quality,—judge for yourself.

As to economy, here is the record of a stock car three weeks out of shop in Oklahoma:

On a run of 10,054 miles at the rate of 1,000 miles a day—the Ford V-8 gave 18.8 miles per gallon of gas. Not a drop of water was added to the radiator. The oil was changed once in 1,000 miles.

That should answer a lot of questions.

The living room was converted into a typical cowboy den with Navajo blankets, lariats and West Texas water lilies as decorations.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Masterson and ushered into the library where Misses Marjorie and Anna Katherine Browning in cow girl attire presided at the punch bowl. The guests were asked to register and write a wish for the bride in a pretty bride's book which was presented to her by Miss Lucille Jones.

Miss Ila Masterson escorted the bride to the bridal tower, while Miss Ethel Mae Chilcoat sang cowboy songs to the accompaniment of the guitar. ## SENIOR B. T. S. ENJOYS ICE CREAM SUPPER

The Senior B. T. S. met at the Baptist Church Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock to enjoy an ice cream supper. It was decided by the majority to go to the spillway at the City Lake.

Many interesting games were played. Most everyone took part in the games and a good time was enjoyed by all.

The best part came when the ice cream was served. Wonder why the Seniors didn't care for much ice cream? There was plenty to eat and plenty of fun for all.

Those who enjoyed the social besides the B. T. S. membership were Pev. and Mrs. Savage and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Pyle.

Let's have a big crowd out for B. T. S. Sunday evening. More good times are in store for those who attend regularly.—Reporter.

The program for the annual session of the Lower Panhandle Association of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs at Matador on August 16 and 17 has been completed and all indications point to a very successful meeting at that time. 3,560 feet. It was allowed to set for eight days, after which the pay dirt was drilled into.

Within a short time improvement on the road from the pavement to the well will be completed by the county.

Foard's First Well

Foard County's first real oil producer was brought in on June 6, 1929 about one mile north of Thalia and 12 miles northeast of Crowell on the W. S. Tarver farm. The Shell Petroleum Corporation brought this well in at a depth of 2,010 feet.

Other tests followed this one in the Thalia field and at the present time six wells in that area are connected with the Stanolind pipe line that extends from the South Vernon field. By airline distance, the Thalia field is about 28 miles east of the Texas Co.-L. K. Johnson No. 3.

It is from the Thalia field that Crowell and Thalia are supplied with natural gas.

In 1927 the Fain-McGaha Oil Corporation of Wichita Falls drilled a well on the J. F. Matthews farm, north of Thalia, obtaining a production of 55 barrels of oil per day at a depth of 1,492 feet.

It was decided to go deeper with this test but nothing further was encountered and failing again to force production from the shallow sand, the well was eventually junked. The Matthews No. 2 was then drilled by Culbertson Bros. and an excellent gas flow was encountered at 982 feet. Drilling was shut down at this depth and the well was completed as a gasser to supply Crowell and Thalia with natural gas.

with degree staff contests. Many interesting features have been arranged for the two-day session.

Officers of the Lower Panhandle association are: H. O. Cole, Medicine Mound, president; Mrs. Mary Rambarger, Wichita Falls, first vice-president; J. L. Higgins, second vice-president; Mrs. Bertha Ross, Vernon, secretary; Mrs. W. W. Griffith, Crowell, treasurer; Miss Clem Wyatt, chaplain.

The program committee for the annual session consists of Clay Gilbert and Mrs. Scott Bolton of Matador and O. O. Hollingsworth of Crowell.
