

FOARD WHEAT FARMERS TO ORGANIZE

VALUATIONS OF CITY ARE LESS FOR THIS YEAR

The total valuations shown on the tax rolls for the City of Crowell for 1933 amount to $884,420.00, according to J. T. Billington, city assessor and collector, who has completed the preparation of the rolls. This is $420.00 less than the total for last year and $468,860.00 less than two years ago.

These reductions have been brought about principally by the reduction of the city council in reducing valuations on property 30 per cent last year and an additional 10 per cent this year.

The city valuations for the last 4 years follow:

1930	$1,528,000.00
1931	$1,373,280.00
1932	$970,840.00
1933	$884,420.00

Mr. Billington assessed 219 poll taxes this year, compared with 227 last year.

Tax Rate

The city tax rate of $1.50 is the same as it has been for the past several years. The total rate is divided as follows: general 15c; street 15c; water works sinking 5c; sewer sinking 30c; street improvement sinking 10c; funding bond sinking 25c.

QUANAH BEATS WILDCATS IN OPENING GAME

Crowell High School suffered a 20 to 0 defeat at the hands of Quanah High School's Class A Indians in the first game on the Crowell schedule for this season last Friday night at Quanah. This was the second game for the Indians, who also had started practice this season a week earlier than the Wildcats.

Quanah won by simply outplaying the visiting squad, however the Wildcats gave a good account of themselves for a first game and should show much improvement before the end of the season. This was the first regulation game in which a greater part of the Crowell players had ever participated.

Two of Quanah's touchdowns came in the second quarter and the final count came in the last period. Capt. Hall, fullback, crashed through the line for the first touchdown. A pass, Wheat to Edwards, was good for the second touchdown. Wheat went through the line for the final counter.

First Quarter

Todd's kick-off was returned by Wells from the 13 to the 31-yard line. On the first play McKown of Crowell recovered Hall's fumble on the 23. Horn gained 4 yards on two attempts at the line. On the third down Wheat intercepted Jones' pass and returned from the 18 to the 25. Newton broke loose on a spin for 20 yards. A few other good gains were made before the Crowell defense tightened on its own 40-yard mark. Two incomplete passes and a 3-yard loss showed the ball back to the 48, from which Edwards punted with Hall downing the ball on the 16. Todd gained 5 yards then quick-kicked out-of-bounds on Quanah's 30. Making only short gains, the Indians chose to punt and Hall downed the ball on Crowell's 41. Unable to pierce the Quanah defense, Todd punted over the goal line.

Taking the ball on their 20, the Indians advanced to the 34 on a 4-yard run. Dunn smeared Wells for a 2-yard loss on the next play. A punt (Continued on Last Page)

John Hugh Banister Marries Utopia Girl

John Hugh Banister, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Banister of Thalia, and Miss Marybell Miller were married Friday evening, Sept. 22, at Utopia, Texas, in the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. W. A. Miller. Arthur Slater, minister of the Episcopal, performed the ceremony. The groom is a native of Foard County. He assumed his duties as minister of the Church of Christ at Utopia and during the past summer he conducted a number of revivals. Mr. Banister is also a former teacher in the Thalia school. Mr. Banister was reared in the Utopia section and is a former student of C. I. A. at Denton.

SINGING AT GAMBLEVILLE

The regular weekly singing in Foard County will take place this Sunday at the Gambleville school at 2:30 o'clock. The public is invited to attend.

All-Day Service to Honor Rev. Savage's First Year in Crowell

In honoring the first anniversary of the services of Rev. O. L. Savage as pastor of the local Baptist Church, members of the church have arranged for an all-day program Sunday.

The morning program will be the same as usual with Sunday School beginning at 9:45 and the regular Sunday morning worship at 11:00.

Dinner will be served at the church at noon. The program for the afternoon will begin at 2 o'clock and will be featured by the church roll-call. Orchestra music and a sing-song will also take place at this time.

Services for the evening will open with the regular B. T. S. programs at 6:45. The evening sermon will begin at 7:45. Rev. Savage will preach at both morning and evening services.

The public is invited and members of the Baptist Church are especially urged to attend this all-day service.

Foard County Girls Win Trips to State Fair October 17-19

Sixty-five cents and a generous amount of hard work won for Juliet Free, co-operator in the bedroom demonstration contest of the Gambleville 4-H Club, a trip to the state fair at Dallas, October 17-19. Juliet is very enthusiastic over the prospective trip and glad that she entered the bedroom contest.

Practically everything in the room was made from materials which were available at no cost. Her dressing table is made of an orange crate and the stool from a nail keg, padded and covered with a sugar sack. Her clothes closet was also made from orange crates and surrounded with a cretonne curtain. The bed was given a coat of paint and an old coffee bucket painted to match the bed for use as a waste paper basket. Altogether Juliet's room is a very cheerful place in which to live.

Mary Wanda Lewis

A trip to the Dallas 4-H encampment on October 17-19 is one of the rewards won by Mary Wanda Lewis, bedroom improvement demonstrator of the Vivian 4-H Club. Mary Wanda says that her room shows how much can be done with a little money and a lot of hard work.

Before she entered the contest the room was a very much neglected one containing nothing but a rusty bedstead. It seemed a rather large task but by the time the walls were cleaned and calcimined and the floor painted she was ready to complete the work. Realizing that clothes hanging on the newly finished wall would spoil the effect, she next built in a closet from some old lumber, sheet-rocked it, and equipped it with shelves, rod, and a shoe rack. Inexpensive curtains and shades were furnished for the windows. The rusty bedstead was given a coat of paint and covered with a crinkle crepe spread. A dressing table made from two orange crates, an old bucket painted for a waste paper basket, a magazine rack from an old crate, a small wall book case, and a few well chosen pictures completed the transformation.

Besides the picture found in using such a cheerful livable room and a trip to the Fair as a result of her work, Mary Wanda won second prize in the framed picture which she used in her room.

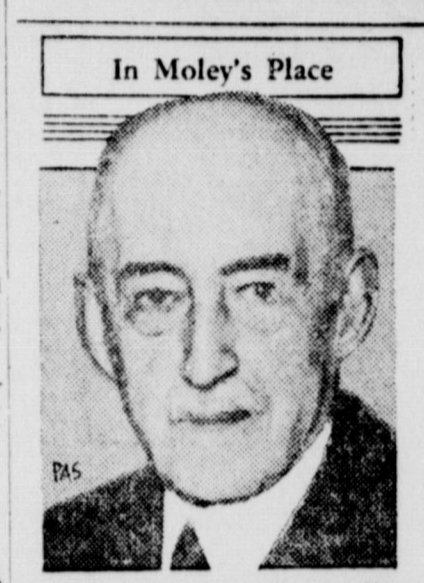

Receives Injury to Eye in Motorcycle Crash Through Wall

Johnnie Holden of Fort Worth received a bad gash below his left eye when he rode his motorcycle through a solid board wall on the street just south of The Allen Co. here Monday afternoon.

Hundreds of people crowded the space leading to the wall to witness this entertainment feature for Trades Day. Traveling at the rate of about 60 miles per hour, the motorcycle completely smashed the solidly constructed wall, which was built of 1x8 shiplap and 2x4 bracing. It was held up by 4x4 posts. Except for the injury to the eye, the crash was perfectly executed. Preceding the crash the wall was saturated with gasoline. It was ignited just as the motorcycle started toward it, however, it had no effect in weakening the strength of the wall.

After this stunt, Holden went to the polo grounds, where he was scheduled to make a parachute jump from a balloon. Within a short time, swelling caused his left eye to re-appear completely close with the result that he was taken to a doctor. As a result the balloon ascension did not take place. This event was originally scheduled for Sunday afternoon, but high wind prevented the inflation of the balloon at that time.

FOUR MEETINGS ON GOVERNMENT WHEAT PLAN ARRANGED: CO. CONTROL BOARD TO BE NAMED

In Moley's Place
R. Walton Moore, of Fairfax, Va., former Representative, is the new Assistant Secretary of State, appointed by President Roosevelt to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Raymond Moley.

Cemetery Ass'n. Tools Are Taken by Thieves

As preparations were being made to dig a grave at the Crowell Cemetery last Friday, it was discovered that all of the tools belonging to the cemetery association had been stolen from the cemetery tool house in which they had been locked.

The loss included six new shovels and other tools. It is presumed that a skeleton key was used to gain entrance to the tool house. The door was open when the loss was discovered.

CROWELL AND PADUCAH PLAY FIRST HOME GAME FRIDAY: WILL DEDICATE NEW ATHLETIC FIELD

Crowell High School's first home football game on its 1933 schedule and the formal dedication of the school's new athletic park will take place here Friday afternoon, with the dedication ceremonies beginning at 4 o'clock and the game at 4:15 against the Paducah High Dragons.

Last year Crowell defeated the Dragons by one touchdown at Paducah, the score being 6 to 0. Paducah has a strong and much heavier team this year and is out for revenge in this game, according to reports from the Cattle capital.

Ceremonies in connection with the dedication of the new athletic field, which is located one block north of the grammar school building, will include a number by the pep squad

Death Takes Woman Who Came Here For Fall Cotton Season

Mrs. Ruby Windham, 38, wife of Claude Windham, died from a heart attack at 4 o'clock Friday morning, Sept. 29, on the O. J. Singleton farm about 3 miles northeast of Crowell.

She had lived here only a short time, coming here with her husband and three sons from Waco for the cotton picking season.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. C. V. Allen, local Christian preacher, Friday afternoon at the Crowell Cemetery. The deceased was born on Nov. 4, 1894, in Texas.

Vivian Man Is First Taxpayer in Foard

L. F. Weber of the Vivian community paid the county and state taxes on his farm on Oct. 1 at the office of R. J. Thomas, tax collector, thus becoming Foard County's first 1933 taxpayer.

Mrs. A. T. Miller of Clarendon was the second person to pay all county and state taxes. J. C. Thompson of Crowell is the first person this year to take advantage of the half-payment plan offered in connection with the payment of state and county taxes.

Subsistence Crops May Be Planted on Cotton-Wheat Land

College Station—"Subsistence" crops may be planted on cotton and wheat land required by signers of Government contracts, but "commercial" crops are forbidden. This is the interpretation given the contract regulations by O. B. Martin, director of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

As "subsistence" crops he classes those used as food by the family or fed to livestock to be consumed by the family; and those that enable the soil to subsist by enriching it or by saving it from destruction by erosion.

"By following this simple classification" Mr. Martin comments, "anybody can determine for himself what he may or may not plant on retired acres in most cases. Farmers must bear in mind that in signing contracts with the Government they have leased the land and have no right to use the contracted acres at all in any way unless given express permission to do so by the Government. Because so many farmers need more land to produce the family food requirements the Administration has permitted contract signers to use retired acres for this purpose. It is a privilege that should not be abused. The Government also permits any use of the land that tends to build it up or save it."

R. J. Thomas Jr. Now in Hole-in-One Club

R. J. Thomas Jr. of this city became the second golfer to score a hole-in-one on the course of the local country club last Thursday afternoon when he dropped the ball in the seventh hole with a single stroke. The distance was 147 yards.

At the time of the unusual shot, Thomas was playing in a foursome with Alva Spencer, Otis Ross and J. T. Billington.

Gordon Bell accounted for the first hole-in-one on the local course on Feb. 11, 1932. His hole-in-one also was made at the seventh hole.

Dr. H. Schindler scored a hole-in-one on the Hillcrest course at Vernon over a year ago. So far as is known, he, Bell and Thomas are the only local linksmen who are members of the "Hole-in-One Club."

More Cotton Checks Reach Foard County

With a total of 358 cotton checks received in Foard County, there are still 211 checks yet to arrive here. The fifth consignment reached Fred Rennels, county agent, Monday of this week. It consisted of 40 checks amounting to $13,358.00, bringing the total amount of the checks received in Foard to $91,198.00.

FOARD HIGHWAY PROJECT ADDED BY STATE DEPT.

Sealed proposals for constructing about seven and one-half miles of grading and drainage structures from Crowell north to the Hardeman County line on Highway 16 will be received at the State Highway Department in Austin on Monday, Oct. 16, and then publicly opened and read, according to a contractor's notice from the Highway Department appearing elsewhere in this issue of The News.

The Foard project was one of seven emergency highway projects in as many counties that were added by the Texas Highway Department last Saturday to the list of works on which bids will be received Oct. 18.

The route over which the new grade and drainage structures will be built proceeds practically due north from the main street of Crowell to an intersection with the present road at a point about two miles south of Pease River. The proposed route passes just east of the country club, instead of west of it, as is the case at present.

Plans for the new route were approved last November. They were completed by B. K. Garrett, local resident engineer for the Highway Department. The distance to Pease River is cut nine-tenths of a mile by the new route.

THALIA SCENE OF CONCERT ON THURS. NIGHT

An entertaining program, featuring a concert by the Crowell High School band under the direction of L. T. Edwards, will be given at Thalia tonight (Thursday), beginning at 7:45 o'clock.

The program is sponsored by Crowell business men, a large number of whom plan to be present at this time. It will take place in the open air, since the portable band stand will be taken along and hooked to the electric light system in Thalia.

M. S. Henry will be in charge of the program which will include several entertaining numbers and a brief address by Dr. R. L. Kincaid.

Fight at Rayland

About 9 o'clock Saturday night, J. Slappy, a young man living just over the line in Wilbarger County, went into the store of Gene Keltz at Rayland and for some reason started a "rough house."

After calling Mr. Keltz some vile names, Mr. Keltz and some of Slappy's friends put Slappy out of the store, but being bent on fighting, it is said that Slappy kicked the door down and afterward tried to get into the store by kicking the window in.

Mr. Keltz, it is said asked the young man not to come in, but no words of pleading from Slappy's friends or Mr. Keltz seemed to have any effect, so Mr. Keltz took the matter fully in hand, and proceeded to protect himself and property by slapping Slappy in the face with a nail puller.

The blow had but little effect on Slappy, who it is said, kept on trying to get in at the window. Another blow was given the young man, but he kept coming until the third blow laid him out.

Slappy was pretty badly bruised up, and it was reported here that his skull was slightly fractured. Latest reports, however, stated that he

LET YOUR LIGHT SO SHINE

Add a candle to a room full of candles and the light is not appreciably increased but bring in a 200-watt tungsten and the candles become dull and yellow.

The world is full of people who give out only a candle glow, and that is why the opportunities for those of the electric light type are so promising. There is a great shortage of students in schools of all kinds. This means that the uneducated boy or girl will be just another candle added to a world already full of candles; and also means that those who have the good judgment to equip themselves with the proper kind of education will be comparable to the electric light in the room filled with candles.

For more than thirty years our school has been bending its efforts to convert the human candle into the human electric light bulb—taking youngsters out of the mediocre class and raising their earning power and placing them on the road to a successful business career. How well we have succeeded is testified to by more than fifty thousand office workers distributed all over the English speaking world, many of whom are at the head of large business enterprises. What we have assisted others to do we will be glad to do for you.

May we send you our annual describing the work we are doing? Its free.

When two can live as cheaply as one

EIGHT CYLINDERS WILL BE AS ECONOMICAL AS SIX

There's no law against believing that "two can live as cheaply as one." Neither is there any law against thinking that eight cylinders can be as economical as six. Use your own judgment—but if you want the most economical car, just ask a few people who own the new Chevrolet Six. Their cost figures will be a revelation, particularly if you are struggling to support a few extra cylinders for the cost of six. You can save with a Chevrolet, and if you want to find out why, go straight to your nearest dealer. Look at the car and drive it yourself. The Chevrolet valve-in-head 6-cylinder engine works wonders with a gallon of gas, and it doesn't burden your pocketbook with extra cylinders, extra rings and pistons, or extra valves. Chevrolet has earned the reputation of being the world's most economical car, but after all, it was Chevrolet's owners who first spread the good word.

MATTER FROM MOTION

A certain famous group of scientists who have been studying the effects of radium emanations have come to the conclusion that all matter is the product of mere motion. They have found that rays given off under certain conditions become transformed into elemental substances.

This sounds, at first glance, like confirmation of the belief of certain schools of metaphysics who deny the existence of matter. It certainly throws a new light on the way in which our Universe came into being, though it does not help us any in the effort to discover how the primal motion started, what urge set it going.

We cannot help thinking of some people we know who have always had about the same idea, although they did not express it in scientific terms, too—who seem to think that women, most of us know men—and if they keep moving fast enough something will come of their efforts, no matter whether they are in any given direction or not. The world contains many, sometimes we think too many, people who imagine that running around rapidly in circles is a sign of being busy. They are trying to produce matter from motion, but we have never seen any important material results from their aimless activity.

We often think there are not enough people in these days of stress who are content to pursue one single objective and stick to that, no matter how slow their apparent progress. In the long run the ones who come out on top are not the busy-bodies and loud talkers who move so rapidly from one line of conversation to another, and from this track to that, that nobody can keep track of them.

We come more and more around to the idea that the ancients who first wrote down the familiar proverbs, drawn from long human experience, had pretty good sense. We are thinking particularly of the old story of the hare and the tortoise.

OBNOXIOUS BILLBOARDS

In spite of the widely advertised "code of ethics" adopted some time ago by the billboard promoters, their habit of defacing the landscape and encroaching upon residential sections has by no means been abandoned.

Public sentiment has been so aroused in opposition to the billboard nuisance that a national committee for the restriction of outdoor advertising is making a vigorous campaign against the unsightly sign-board which glares at one on every hand.

Among the organizations cooperating with this committee are the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the National Conference of State Parks, the American Society of Landscape Architects, historical societies, automobile associations, nature societies and others interested in the preservation of outdoor beauty.

Appeals are being made to advertisers direct, it being pointed out that an offensive advertising sign makes ill-will for the advertiser and tends to hurt rather than help his business.

A patchwork quilt of 11,280 pieces, each no larger than a nickel, was pieced by Mrs. A. H. Elliston of Hereford, Texas.

REV. WOODIE SMITH TO EDIT NEW SONG BOOKS

Rev. Woodie W. Smith of Big Spring, former pastor of the local Baptist Church, has joined the Baxter Music Co. of Dallas and Chattanooga, in addition to his duties as pastor of a Baptist Church at Big Spring, in editing and making of church song books.

The first of these books is the "Revised Edition of Song Service and Revival." A complete church hymnal of not less than 228 pages, to come out some time in 1934, and a small revival book are also planned.

The Stamps-Baxter News, in its issue of this month, contains an article of Rev. Smith's connection with the music company and a brief historical sketch of him.

Rev. Smith served as pastor here from Feb., 1929, to June, 1932.

ROTARY LUNCHEON

Musical numbers, including a saxophone solo by Burk Bell and a vocal solo by L. T. Edwards, new bandmaster here, were given at the luncheon of the Rotary Club Wednesday.

Mrs. Sam Crews served as accompanist for both numbers.

A Rotary question box was conducted by Mack Boswell. The program was in charge of Rev. Geo. E. Turrentine. J. B. Lawson, Rotarian of Vernon, was a visitor. All local members were present.

From Coach Graves

To the Football Fans: In order to add to the enjoyment of everybody in attendance at the local football games, we respectfully request the co-operation of the public in staying behind the cables that have been erected on each side of the new athletic field. You can see the game just as well by doing so and at the same time you will help prevent any interference with the contest.

All but a limited few have co-operated in this respect in the past. This year we hope to have 100 per cent co-operation. Only those who have some official connection with the game have the right to be inside the area enclosed by the cables.

For the convenience of all, we trust that we may have your cooperation. Many thanks. GRADY GRAVES, Coach.

Santa Fe Ry. Offers Low Rates to Fair

Special low round-trip fares to the State Fair of Texas, which opens Saturday, are being offered by the Santa Fe Railroad.

Sixty per cent of a one-way fare will pay for a round-trip ticket on sale Friday and Saturday during the fair, with the purchaser returning home by the following Tuesday.

Rates on round-trip tickets on other days are one and one-fifth of the regular one-way fare. Although the fair ends on Oct. 22, these tickets have a return limit of Oct. 26.

State Fair Ready To Open Saturday

Dallas, Texas, Oct. 4.—With the greatest agriculture, livestock and poultry shows on record entered and now being arranged; with more than 250 major manufacturing plants of the state with their exhibits in place and with one of the best amusement programs in history of the organization all set, the 47th annual State Fair of Texas will open its gates on next Saturday, October 7th, 1933.

Officers, directors, superintendents and others connected with the state exposition have gone many steps forward to give to Texas and the Southwest its greatest fair, Otto Herold, who is serving his second year as president, said here Monday.

The theme of the agriculture, livestock and poultry shows will be "Replacement programs," and will be carried throughout—suggest programs for replacement of cotton acres for the 1934 farmer. The Agriculture Department will show progress of diversification during the past 14 years with comparative exhibits: the livestock department will emphasize "utility livestock" and the poultry department will paint a picture of more food for the home by raising chickens.

The Texas Manufacturers Show is expected to be a revelation to the world, as it will show Texas factories manufacturing practically every kind of product necessary to the comfort and advancement of mankind in this state. This is expected to be the largest "made-in-Texas" show ever held in this state. The amusement program will be headed by the three elaborate musical productions in the auditorium—"Bitter Sweet," Oct. 7 to 12; "Nina Rosa," Oct. 13 to 17, and "Florodora," Oct. 18 to 22.

Two Southwestern Championship sport contests will be held at the State Fair of Texas—the cowboy championship to be held in the Livestock Arena, Oct. 7 to 18, and the motorcycle races which will be held under the sanction of the American Motorcycle Association, for the official championship of the Southwest. Those races will be held in the stadium on each Sunday afternoon and night during the 1933 exposition.

"Nira" Theatre Opened In Tipton by Draper

The Tipton Tribune carried an interesting article in its issue of last week concerning the New Nira Theatre at Tipton, Okla., which was opened Saturday by Earl Draper, who re-opened the Rialto Theatre in Crowell in the spring of 1932 and continued its operation here until a few weeks ago, when he and Mrs. Draper and daughter, Vivian, left for Tipton.

The article stated that the theatre building had been completely overhauled and many improvements made. The latest and best sound equipment was secured.

The people of the Tipton section had felt the dire need of a picture show for months, according to the Tribune.

Why Hospitals Use a Liquid Laxative

Hospitals and doctors have always used liquid laxatives. And the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form. Do you know the reasons?

The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can be controlled. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will a mild liquid laxative irritate the kidneys.

The right liquid laxative brings a perfect movement, and there is no discomfort at the time, or after.

The wrong cathartic may keep you constipated as long as you keep on using it! And the habitual use of irritating salts, or of powerful drugs in the highly concentrated form of pills and tablets may prove injurious.

A week with a properly prepared liquid laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will tell you a lot. A few weeks' time, and your bowels can be "as regular as clockwork." Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved liquid laxative which all druggists keep ready for use. It makes an ideal family laxative; effective for all ages, and may be given the youngest child. SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by Charles E. Dunn

Saul in Damascus.

Lesson for October 8, Acts 9:1-31.

Golden Text: Corinthians 5:17.

The lesson introduces us to the thrilling story of the conversion of Saul, the persecutor, into Paul, the great-hearted apostle. So significant was this dramatic transformation that it is related three times in the book of the Acts, twice by Paul himself. As black carbon may be transmuted into white diamond by the rearrangement of its atoms, so this fiery enemy of Christ became a passionate herald of the Cross.

Rev. Chas. E. Dunn

We first see Saul as a fanatical foe of all followers of the Way, seeking, with relentless energy, to capture, bind and bring to Jerusalem from Damascus as many of these disciples of the hated Master as he could detect. Suddenly, when near Damascus, he was blinded by a spectacular light from heaven. Falling to the earth, he heard a voice cry, "Saul, why are you persecuting Me?" Now note that the stricken victim of this strange interruption responded to this searching query by asking two highly important questions, "Who art thou, Lord?" and "What shall I do?" (see chap. 22:10.)

This is a day for reinterpretation. The Christian world has been stirred by the significant laymen's inquiry, "Rethinking Missions." But all departments of life need to be restated, especially religion itself. And there is hardly a better way to approach such a fresh definition of religion than to ask anew the two questions propounded by the dazed Saul on the Damascus highway. We need to know who the Lord we profess to serve really is, and then we need practical guidance in their immediate task of the hour.

Now Saul's momentous conversion can be explained in several ways. But the only explanation that does full justice to the scene is the spiritual. The cardinal fact is that Saul had a vision of the risen Christ. It was a Spirit that appeared to him, not flesh and blood, and to this Spirit, so overwhelmingly real, he henceforth gave his whole heart.

SERMONETTE

CIRCUS AND HEAVEN

By Arthur B. Rhinow

A little boy sat on the stoop, holding his head in his hand while his little brain was evidently afflicted with a weighty problem.

"What is the matter with Jimmy?" one neighbor asked another.

"Oh, he is puzzled," came the answer. "Yesterday his Sunday School teacher said to him, 'Jimmy, if you're good, you'll go to heaven.' And today his mother said, 'Jimmy, if you're good, you'll go to the circus.'"

No wonder Jimmy's mind wretched.

Who was right, his mother or the Sunday School teacher? As to the comparative values of the promised rewards, he would have to admit that the circus was very alluring; the circus had its elephants, fancy horses, acrobats and clowns. But on the other hand, heaven had been pictured to him as the place of supreme happiness. Which ought he to choose?

Why, Jimmy, don't worry about that. You can have both, the circus as well as heaven.

People who do not understand seem to believe that their whose hearts are attuned to heaven miss the circus of life.

"They get so little out of this life because they think so much of the life beyond," they say.

But that is not so, emphatically not so. The world becomes more beautiful when we can look upon it in the light of heaven. We see more, hear more, and feel more, when we know the Lord of earth and heaven is our friend. There are thrills we gladly forego; but the delights that are really worth while become all the richer when we sweeten this earthly life with the hope of heaven.

Christian Science Churches

"Are Sin, Disease Real?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientists, on Sunday, October 8.

The Golden Text is: "The kingdom of heaven is at hand. Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils: freely ye have received, freely give" (Matthew 10:7,8).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I acknowledged my sin unto thee, and mine iniquity have I not hid. I said, I will confess my transgressions unto the Lord; and thou forgavest the iniquity of my sin." (Psalms 32:5).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Malice, and all sorts of evil are caused beliefs, and you can destroy them only by destroying the wrong motives which produce them. The evil is over in the repentance of the individual, you remain on the individual, you remove this disorder as God's law fulfilled and reformation caused the crime. The healthy sinner is a hardened sinner" (page 404).

WHISPERING ROCK

by JOHN LEBAR

Ninth Installment

SYNOPSIS: . . . Ruth Warren, living in the East, comes into possession of a three-quarter interest in an old ranch, left to her in the will of her only brother, reported to have died on business in Mexico. Her ailing husband and small son go to Arizona to take up a new life. She goes to the climate, thinking the climate will prove beneficial to her husband's weakened lungs. Arriving at the nearest town, she learns that the "Dead Lantern", is 85 miles across the desert. Charley Thane, a rancher and rural mail carrier, offers to take them to "Dead Lantern", which was 5 miles from the ranch house. As they wearily travel, a huge overshadowing shadow in a gulch coming to the house, a voice whispered "Go back, go back." At the ranch house they are greeted suspiciously by the rancher partner, Snavelly and Ann, a Herculean woman of negro and Indian blood. It is difficult to understand the ranch and its development. Kenneth, Ruth's husband, is in a chilling rain contracts pneumonia and passes away before the doctor arrives. Ruth tries to carry on with the story.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

Old Charley was explaining his business: "You see, I hunted all over town but I didn't have no luck with habits like you wanted. I could get one outfit but it didn't look like it would last long so I got these."

Ruth opened the package and found three pairs of overalls and three short jackets to match. There was a bright copper rivet at the beginning of each seam. She rolled them up hastily.

"Most everybody in this country wears them," said the old man. "They ain't fancy but they're good wearing clothes."

Old Charley took another package from the car with some embarrassment. "I had some money left, Mrs. Warren, and I figured I'd add something to your outfit." He paused and said, "I think you ought to have a gun—never can tell when you'll get up with some—some varmint other—coyotes, snakes, and such."

Old Charley had unwrapped two small boxes and now took from the side pocket of the car a revolver. "This gun's one of the best—a dandy—I'd like you to have it, Mrs. Warren." There was a quiet sincerity in the old man's voice which seemed to tell her girl very clearly that she should have the weapon.

"Why—thank you—I—heavens! I'm scared to death of it!"

"Here, take it."

Ruth took the gun gingerly. "I brought along an extra box of shells," said Old Charley, "and I'm going to have some target practice right now—when you once learn how to handle a gun, and you ain't scared of it—you'll find it a heap of comfort."

And Ruth did find comfort and a satisfying thrill, when after the fourteenth consecutive shot she sent the forty-five bullet through the lid of David's hat box at a distance of twenty feet. At about the thirtieth shot she found that she could keep her eyes open, and became really interested. Already, the heavy black gun seemed not a terrifying monster but a powerful friend. Ruth's spirits rose.

"Well, practice is what does it," remarked Old Charley; then quickly, "but I wouldn't practice much around the horn ranch if I was you, Mrs. Warren." He paused and added significantly, "I don't know as Jeph Snavely would like it—you might get a horse or something."

Then for an hour Ruth discussed ranching with Old Charley. She found that the son, too, was much interested in the subject. Ruth suspected that Will Thane had gone to the city to be educated and to make some money, and that having read both his thoughts were turning toward the country and the work he had known in boyhood. Several times she saw his eyes fixed on the mountains or gazing into the valley in the manner of one looking upon good things.

And during all of his talk—from the first two minutes after Old Charley's arrival, Ruth Warren knew that her father was not going to answer her letter. He must have received it, or it would have been returned. Almost she wished that she had not been suspicious of Snavely that morning five weeks ago. If she had not taken that second letter to the box herself, while Snavely was off somewhere destroying the first, she could not blame Snavely for lack of an answer on to him and without losing caste with herself write another. But she would write more letters. Her people were interested in her; very well, she would take care of herself. Her father told her that this was best—she would not have cared to have Old Charley, for example, know that she had cried for help.

When Old Charley and his son had gone, the girl boosted David Sanchez and led her own horse into the gate. She paused, as her hand reached the fastening bar, and looked for a time at the crudely lettered sign. She had just put on a light coat with deep pockets—the right-hand pockets sagged heavily with the weight of its contents. She thrilled with the comfort of this weight and pressed it against her side. It added greatly to her growing sense of power; she knew many worthwhile things about ranching, and she could shoot a revolver. Suddenly she dropped Brisnet's reins, picked up a stone and hammered the sign off the gate.

"Just what kind of a situation is that, Dad?" Will was asking, as ancient Lena bore them over the hill to the south of the gate.

"Danged if I rightly know," replied Old Charley. "I'd like to ask her some things straight out—but—oh, hell, she knows what she's up to."

Already, the heavy black gun seemed not a terrifying monster but a powerful friend.

against and she ain't the kind that wants their private affairs nosed into."

"No, I can see that," replied Will thoughtfully.

"Cute kid," remarked Old Charley a moment later.

"I'll say so! How in the world she ever got out here—" Will mused abruptly. "He is a nice little fellow, all right, and what a kick he got out of that hat! He seems to be taking to the life—"

"Yeah," interrupted the father, "a very cute kid."

Ruth awaited the opportunity and finally cornered Snavely late one afternoon by the door of the saddle shed.

"Mr. Snavely, I mentioned at our last talk that I was going to write for capital to improve the ranch—I—it seems that there will be some delay."

Snavely smiled sourly.

"But," continued the girl hastily, "I am sure that we can do a good deal without capital. First, I understand that the rains are expected about the end of June—less than a month away. You say that the big watering pond will carry us over, but that all the feed will soon be gone in that neighborhood. If we do have rains won't the other ponds have to be filled?"

"Maybe," he shrugged, "but they ain't deep enough to hold it long—"

"Then the thing to do is to have them deepened before the rain comes, don't you think so?"

"Where are you going to get the money for diggin' 'em out?"

"Well, that should be possible—let's say that we deepen the three lower ponds. You say there's one hundred and fifty-one dollars in the bank; we could get a couple of Mexicans from that little border town—Palo Verde—for about four dollars a day. And we have the plow and horses and Fresno. If the money won't be enough we could pay them off with an old cow or two—they'll do anything for fresh beef, you know."

Snavely shook his head. "Since you come we'll have to spend that money for more grub."

"Oh, I hardly think so. I've taken an inventory of what we have and I think it will last a long time—if we don't have any banquets or celebrations," she smiled.

Snavely looked at the girl curiously.

Ruth hardly paused for breath. "So let's get at the ponds right away. Now, then, as we're going to have plenty of water we should get some more stock. I should think it might be possible to get a few head—say about two hundred more cows and at least twenty young bulls by swinging some sort of a dickie with some other rancher—"

Snavely did not speak for nearly a minute. At last he said slowly, "You're gittin' onto a heap of things, ain't you?"

"I'm doing my best, Mr. Snavely—this ranch is going to be a real ranch some day and we've got to think of everything and take advantage of everything which will help us."

"Well, while you're thinking of everything, suppose you think of what will happen if we don't get no rain this summer."

"Well, I once knew a man who had lived in this country for more than sixty years and he said that nobody can tell anything about the weather. So you see we can't shape our course very clearly on experience. But we can go ahead as though things were going to be as they usually are. And of course we must have the ponds deepened anyway—even if we don't try to get more cattle just now."

Snavely regarded the girl through half-closed eyes. "Say, jest what do you think you know about this country anyway—do you figger you can tell me how to run this ranch? You don't know nothin'; you can't tell a waterin' trough from a rowboat. You been here a couple o' months an' you aim to tell me how to run a twenty-thousand acre cow ranch. If you think you can head me the way you want me to go, think again! I offered to buy you out fair an' square once, an' you didn't have sense enough to take me up. All right, I'm a mind to take back that there offer an' let you bump into a few things. Before a month's out you'll come beggin' me fer train fare out of here. If you're so set on improvin' things, fly to it"—he thrust his face forward—"but don't figger none on me; this ranch is like I want it now!"

Ruth was white, but she answered evenly as she turned to walk away. "Very well, Mr. Snavely. There's only one thing for me to do now."

Snavely let her take perhaps a dozen steps, then, "What did you say? What's that you're aiming to do?"

Ruth stopped and faced him, her heart pounding. "Mr. Snavely, I am going to improve this ranch. You are my partner and it's one partner's duty to help the other. I don't pretend to know much about this work, but I know a great deal more than I did, and I do understand the general principle that to make improvements we have got to begin. If you feel that we should go on as you always have, then you and I do not agree, and we shall have to ask for outside help to settle our difficulties. I have certain rights on this ranch and I shall go into town next mail day and consult a lawyer. I wanted to go in with you and get some legal advice in the first place—"

"Now listen here, partner—" Snavely walked toward her. His attitude had changed. "I've already told you there's no legal advice needed. Your will is all straight an' I recognize it. That's all that's necessary—if you didn't have no right here—" his voice rose shrilly—"if you didn't—" He checked back his words and for a moment was silent, then—"Look here, we can't stand no fussin'. I'm a queer one all right, you probably think—and you're probably right, but I'm your partner and we've got to work together. The objections I had to your schemes awhile back was just because they didn't seem possible. But I see now that you're right in one thing. We got to get a start on improvement. All right, lets tackle them repressas. I'll go to Palo Verde to-morrow and by next day I'll be back with a couple of cholos. And we can start in, Mrs. Warren. I aim to do anything I can to help fix up the ranch—only, it's got to be possible—it's just got to be possible."

In spite of Ruth's victory her knees could hardly support her on the way back to the adobe ruin. Somehow the fact that Snavely had agreed to do as she wished made her fear him the more. He knew now that she was not going to be easy to handle; what would he do next? She did not believe that he would mildly subside.

As David was outside earnestly endeavoring to rope a rooster with a miniature riata, Ruth unlocked her trunk and took a comforting peek at the ugly black revolver. She wished she could practice more with it. . . . After a time she relocked the trunk and moved her chair near the doorway where she could keep an eye on David, and watch the sunset shadows steal past her into the distant valley. The old oak tree spread its protecting arms—a faithful, gentle guardian. . . .

Ford Dealers Offering $1,000.00 in Prizes For Short Statement

The Ford Dealers of Oklahoma and Texas are offering one thousand dollars in prizes for a fifteen word statement describing "The Feel of the Ford at the Wheel."

Simple rule contest blanks are available only at local Ford dealers. Anyone is eligible by taking a 29 mile drive at the wheel of a new Ford V-8 car accompanied by the dealer; then writing their impressions of "The Feel of the Ford at the Wheel" in a fifteen word statement.

The one thousand dollars prize money will be awarded in twenty-three units: $500, first prize; $250 second prize; $100, third prize; ten prizes of $10 each, and ten prizes of $5 each.

An interesting phase of the contest is the fact that the winner of the first prize will be receiving better than thirty three dollars a word for the statement, which is better than the price paid to big name authors for their stories.

All entries must be post marked not later than October 31st midnight. The entries will be judged by executives of the Ford dealers' advertising agents, and winners announced to complete judging the announced by November 15th, if it is coming mail by that time.

"TOMORROW'S CAR TODAY"

The Ford V-8

An eight-cylinder, 90-degree V-type, 65 horse-power engine, vibrationless, roomy, beautiful bodies, low center of gravity, silent second gear, synchronized silent gear shift—75 miles per hour—comfortable riding springs, rapid acceleration, low gasoline and oil consumption, reliability, and with many other features not found in other low priced automobiles. Ford's V-8 is "tomorrow's car today!"—and proves it!

The Challenge of the Ford V-8

Get the FACTS Before You Get the Car!

MANY claims for performance, size, economy, design and quality are being made for cars in the low-price field. As a prospective buyer of a Ford, or any other car you have a right to know the facts. Then you can decide for yourself which car gives you the most for the money.

FORD V-8 FEATURES

The Ford V-8 challenges any car in the low-price field to beat it on these important points or on total dollar-for-dollar value.

PERFORMANCE—Top speed in high gear. . . Top speed in second gear. . . Acceleration from standing start. . . Acceleration in second and high gears. . . Riding qualities over all types of roads.

SIZE—Measure all inside body dimensions with tape line. . . Measure chassis space required by engine (not available for body). . . Measure length of wheelbase (center of front hub to center of rear hub. Check size of tires.

ECONOMY—Test gasoline and oil economy. . . Investigate replacement part prices. . . Investigate engine overhaul costs. (Compare with Ford factory rebuilt Cylinder Assembly Replacement Policy). . . Compare service labor charges. . . Learn about service certificate benefits. . . Compare delivered prices on new car with equipment. . . Investigate freight, delivery and finance charges on new car. . . Analyze itemized break-down of monthly installment payments and check against delivered price of car.

DESIGN—Consider the Ford V-8 Engine, aluminum cylinder heads, crankshaft, ignition system, carburetor, etc. . . Check total number of both roller and ball bearings in car. . . Compare braking surface areas (Length and width of brake linings.) The Ford has 186 square inches, an important safety factor. . . Learn advantages of torque-tube drive and Ford rear axle design. . . Get data on shock absorbers. (Ford has self adjusting, double-acting, hydraulic). . . Wheels, Ford has one-piece welded steel type, and other exclusive Ford features.

QUALITY—Check quality of every item from front bumper to rear bumper and compare with Ford V-8 including Rustless Steel head-lamps, anti-rust treated fenders, welded Steelspoke, one-piece wheels, 8-cylinder, engine, aluminum cylinder head, all-steel body, safety glass, interior trim and appointments. No matter what you check on the Ford V-8, you will find the same high uniform quality.

County Federation To Sponsor Stunt Nights Oct. 26-27

The Foard County Federation of Women's Clubs will sponsor Stunt Night on the evenings of Oct. 26 and 27th, in the high school auditorium. This decision was made at the meeting of the Federation which was held at Vivian with the Vivian Home Demonstration Club as hostess on Sept. 13th.

This was the first meeting with the new president, Mrs. S. E. Tate, in charge. Mrs. Jim Cates was leader of the program, the first number of which was "Famous Women in Political Life," given by Mesdames R. L. Kincaid, R. R. Magee, H. Schindler and L. A. Andrews. Two travelers were given by Mrs. S. S. Bell and Miss Mildred Cogdell which included the impressions of the World's Fair as received by the two in their recent trips.

The welfare of the County Library was discussed and the election of Mrs. C. A. Adams as a delegate to the State Federation to be held in Austin in November.

A covered dish luncheon arranged by the hostess club was enjoyed at the noon hour. The next meeting will be on Nov. 2nd at Catesville with the Wimodausis Club.

COLUMBIAN CLUB

The Columbian Club met with Mrs. M. N. Kenner as hostess at her home on Wednesday afternoon.

Roll call was answered with quotations from "Poor Richard's Almanac." Mrs. C. A. Adams led an interesting study on "Systematic Spending for the Family." Mrs. T. N. Bell gave a character sketch of Benjamin Franklin. Mrs. M. L. Hughton, Mrs. B. W. Self and Mrs. Dow Miller participated in a discussion on "Should a Child have Unrestricted Control over Money he Earns or Receives as a Gift?"

A salad course was served by the hostess to a large number of Club members and the following guests: Mrs. C. R. Ferguson, Mrs. P. W. Shirley, Mrs. Marie Rider and Miss Mary Jo Franklin of Addington, Okla., niece of Mrs. Kenner.

Ladies of Christian Church Met Monday

Mrs. A. T. Schooley was hostess Monday afternoon at the regular monthly meeting of the Missionary Society of the Christian Church.

During the business session Mrs. E. A. Davis was elected president for the coming year, succeeding Mrs. Frank Cates.

The lesson study was on India and its possibilities as a mission field. Mrs. R. L. Kincaid gave some interesting information on Gandhi and his objectives, both from the British and Indian point of view.

Mrs. Marion Crowell described the Taj Mahal, probably the most expensive structure in the world.

Mrs. E. P. Bomar of Henrietta was an out-of-town guest.—Reporter.

Officers Re-elected At Zone 2 Meeting; Paducah is Selected

The Women's Missionary Societies of Zone No. 2 of the Vernon district of the Methodist Church met Sept. 21 in an open-air meeting on the banks of Mule Creek, near Margaret, with the Margaret auxiliary as hostess.

Mrs. O. C. Stapleton of Truscott, zone leader, presided. After singing "In the Garden," Mrs. R. N. Huckabee of Quanah led the devotional, citing from the life of Jesus how he loved to meet with his disciples in the garden and how he did most of his preaching among the beauties of the great out-of-doors.

Rev. Geo. E. Turrentine of Crowell spoke on "Our Next Move" in the fight for temperance.

During reports of auxiliaries it was noted that only four boxes of supplies have been sent by Zone No. 2 this quarter.

Mrs. I. R. Hollingsworth of Quanah, district secretary, asked that every effort be made in bringing reports up in full this quarter in connection with her message from the conference.

Mrs. O. C. Stapleton of Truscott and Mrs. J. A. Stovall of Thalia were re-elected zone leader and secretary, respectively. Mrs. T. L. Hughton of Crowell was elected chairman of the program committee.

As a fitting climax to the day's program, the Dunlap auxiliary staged the playlet, "Challenge of the Cross." This emphatically showed who should be a willing cross bearer and what each gains who does bear it willingly.

After Paducah was selected as the next meeting place, Mrs. Stapleton dismissed the quarterly meeting with prayer.

ADELPHIAN CLUB

Mrs. V. C. Wardell was hostess to the Adelpian Club at the home of Mrs. M. S. Henry on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. A. F. McMillan, leader for the afternoon, gave a sketch of the life of Norman Douglas, whose novel "South Wind," was the study for the day. Mrs. Jeff Bruce reviewed the book, the scene of which is laid on an island in the Mediterranean Sea and is a comment upon the manners and morals of the natives of the island which are largely determined by the south wind.

Mrs. M. S. Henry, as Federation Counselor, brought the "Federation News." Mrs. R. D. Oswald gave a discussion on Good English, based on questions and answers from the magazine, "Good English." The hostess served a tempting refreshment plate at the conclusion of the study.

VIVIAN CLUB

The Vivian Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. Charlie Beatty Sept. 28, with 6 members and 1 visitor present. Two new members enrolled.

We had a wonderful lesson on

Thalia P. T. A. Hears District President at Regular Meeting

A regular meeting of the Thalia P. T. A. was held Tuesday night, Sept. 26, with the president, Mrs. H. W. Gray, in charge. Mrs. R. L. Kincaid of Crowell, president of the 13th District of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, was the principal speaker at the program and spoke on the subject, "The Real Aim of a P. T. A.," which was very instructive and interesting.

The Thalia P. T. A. at present is sponsoring the cafeteria and school library. During the year the organization plans to take up some other worth-while projects for the school.

At present there are thirty-three members with Mrs. Gray as president and Mrs. J. A. Stovall as secretary.

Club Organized by Local Spanish Class

The Spanish II Class of Crowell High School organized itself into a Spanish Club Tuesday and elected the following officers: Lona Johnson, president; Guy Whitfield, vice-president; John Allen Fish, secretary-treasurer; Jeff Bell, reporter, and Edward Jones, sergeant-at-arms.

The first meeting of the new club will be in the home of A. G. Bell at 7 o'clock, Friday evening, Oct. 13, at which time the members will be duly initiated.—Reporter.

WEST SIDE CLUB

The West Side Home Demonstration Club met Sept. 27, 1933, in the home of Mrs. Lee Ribble with 8 members and one visitor present. An interesting lesson on "Neighborliness," was led by Mrs. Glenn Roberts with a round table discussion on "Why We Wear Out With Our Neighbors," and "Some Neighborly Traits of my Community, Which I Admire." Miss Vera Patton read, "The House by the Side of the Road." The club will meet October 11 with Mrs. Gus Patton.—Reporter.

neighborliness enjoyed by all. It was just a little hard to decide the question, "Why We Wear Out With Our Neighbors."

Mrs. T. W. Cooper read, "The House by the Side of the Road."

We met October 12th with Mrs. G. J. Benham. Let all members be present and bring or send a complete report of the year's work for the secretary.—Reporter.

followed with Horn killing the ball on his own 35. On the first play, Whitfield's pass was intercepted by Edwards, who returned from the 43 to the 31. On a series of well-executed plays, Newton, Hall and Wells advanced the ball to the 13 before McKown temporarily halted the drive by downing Newton for a yard loss. A pass, Hall to Edwards, was good for short gain and a first down on the 11. Wells gained a half yard. Hall gained a yard and then crashed through to the 2 with one yard to go for a first down, 2 for a touchdown and fourth down coming up just as the first quarter ended.

On the first play Hall went over the left side of the line for a touchdown. Slaton's place kick was wide and the score was 6 to 0.

Todd returned Slaton's kick-off from the 4 to the 25. After 3 short gains, Todd punted and Quanah took the ball on their own 44. Wells gained 2 yards. Wheat's long pass landed in the arms of Edwards, who was stopped by Horn, Crowell safely, on the 18. Wells gained a yard. Newton added 4 more. Hall lost 1. With 4th down and 6 yards to go, Wheat again passed to Edwards, who took the ball and stepped across the goal line. Hall's place kick was good and the score was 13 to 0.

Crowell again received the kick-off with Patton returning the ball from the 21 to the 25. Horn gained 2 yards. Todd circled left end for 10 yards and then added 3 more. Todd's pass was incomplete. Whitfield took the ball to the Crowell 49 for another first down.

On the next play Whitfield again took the ball through the line and with the aid of some good blocking he was loose with only the Quanah safety, Newton, between him and the goal line. A blocker failed to take Newton and he stopped Whitfield on the 28 after a gain of 23 yards. Horn failed to gain. Todd fumbled and lost 4 yards. Whitfield gained 2. A pass was incomplete on the 4th down and Quanah took the ball on the 30.

Failing to gain, Edwards punted with Todd returning from his 37 to the 50. Todd's pass to Whitfield was incomplete. Horn gained 4 yards. Todd picked up 3 more and then accurately punted out-of-bounds on Quanah's 4-yard line. Hall gained 4 yards as the half ended with the score: Quanah 13, Crowell 0.

Quanah converted a bad break one when Slaton got off a bad kick-off, however, no Crowell man fell on the ball and Hall downed it on the 36. He gained 10 yards. Newton followed with 3. A pass was incomplete and Hall broke loose to the 7-yard line where a fumble was recovered by Patton.

Todd's punt was short and Hall was downed on the Crowell 27. Hall failed to gain. Dunn downed an Indian for a 6-yard loss. Wheat's pass to Newton took the ball to the 21. Another pass was incomplete and Crowell took the ball on downs. The Wildcats failed to gain and Todd punted to the Quanah 42, Newton returning to the 48. Hall gained 6 yards. Wells lost 2. Newton failed to gain and Edwards punted

This-That, Etc.

By Typo Wrighter

Why in the name of fairness and common sense will some people deliberately spread information that is untrue and possibly hurtful to someone without making an honest effort to get the true facts in the case?

Well, the best answer we know to such a question is simply the fact that such people are so utterly lacking in that quality of fair play and good sportsmanship that they are afraid of the truth—it might bring to a sudden end the joy they find in spreading hearsay about some certain matter and they couldn't ease their conscience by continuing to say, "that's what I heard about it from somebody who got it pretty straight from someone else."

And yet such people will wall about the awfulness of a person taking another's life and then go ahead with their practice of character destruction. To this type of people the character that someone has spent a lifetime in developing and protecting is over the goal line. Only short gains resulted and Todd punted to his own 47.

Hall gained 4 yards. A pass was incomplete and over the goal line and Crowell took the ball on their own 20 as the quarter ended. Score 13 to 0.

Last Quarter

Todd failed to gain and punted to the Quanah 28. Hall gained 16 yards. Newton failed to gain. A pass was incomplete. Newton picked up 10 yards. Hall added 7. Wheat failed to gain. Hall lost 3 yards on a fumble and Edwards punted to Todd who was downed on his own 8-yard line. One of the highlights of the game followed when Newton returned Todd's punt 27 yards to the 15-yard line with a sensational run. He was finally stopped by Stanley Womack.

Hall gained 6 yards and then 2 more. A penalty on Crowell placed the ball on the 2-yard line, from which Wheat went across for a touchdown. Slaton's place kick was good and the score was 20 to 0.

Horn received the kick-off on the 7 and was downed on the 12. Todd's punt was returned from the Quanah 40 to the Crowell 40. Hall gained 4 yards. Wheat failed to gain. Newton fumbled and lost 4 yards. Edwards punted out-of-bounds on the 18. Whitfield gained 7 yards. Todd added 3 more for a first down.

A pass, Todd to Jones, was good for 13 yards. Another pass, Todd to Gafford, gained 16 yards, placing the ball on the Quanah 43. The next attempt, Todd to Jones, was incomplete. A line play failed and Todd punted over the goal line.

Taking the ball on the 20, Hall gained a yard. Newton covered 12 yards and Wheat failed to gain as the game ended. Score—Quanah 20, Crowell 0.

Yardage gained from passes—Quanah 75, Crowell 29.

ing is nothing more than material to prey upon and use to their own cowardly pleasure of attacking and damaging.

In most cases of this type the one spreading the hearsay, or the ideas drawn from their own imagination, would find it convenient to go directly to those involved in their stories for the truth. And at that, some folks do this very thing and will continue to wander from the truth, although it has been given them by one who possibly has a fine record for honesty.

Are such people to be condemned or pitied? After all, we suppose that their acts in this respect are to be condemned and the people themselves are to be pitied.

In spite of what has been said above, we still believe that a majority of the type of people referred to above are not quite so low that they would steal tools from the City of the Dead, as was the case here last week. That was about the "lowest-down" stunt that we can recall since a man set fire to a live dog here several years ago.

Heard Here and There
H. E. Ferguson believes that the total cotton ginnings for this week in Foard County will be more than for any other single week in the history of Foard County.

Herman Fox says it is a pity that there are a few poor losers in the town who are with the Wildcats when they are winning and down on them when they lose.

At that, we believe Crowell has a lot fewer poor losers than the average town and you will have to go a good ways to find a community behind its school in competitive activities as is the case here.

Is there any wonder that some local folks should act a little strange when C. H. S. loses? You can about count C. H. S. losses in every form of contest during the past few years on your fingers. Too many of us have been spoiled in expecting nothing but victory all the time.

We predict that Foard County's first frost will come on Oct. 23.

Crowell will beat Paducah 20 to 0. Seymour will have one of the very toughest teams in the district this year. Roosevelt will go down in history as one of the world's greatest leaders.

Winners in the Crowell playground contest, conducted by the Y. M. C. A., will be announced next week.
