Large Crowd Present For Regular Monthly Banquet Tues. Night

The regular monthly banquet of the Farmers and Business Men's Association was held Tuesday night at the Griffith Hotel with over sixty in attendance, the largest in several months.

B. K. Garrett, resident engineer for the Highway Department, was the first speaker and discussed Foard County's highway program. He emphasized the fact that the Highway Department would make every effort to look after the welfare of local interests in connection with the construction work that is to start soon on Highway 16. Besides retaining the contractor to use local labor whenever possible, the Highway Department also has strict regulations protecting their interests. Mr. Garrett stated. Machinery will also be eliminated as far as practical in order to provide work for more men.

In concluding his talk, Mr. Garrett advocated action on the part of residents on the highway in Crowell in looking into the matter of improving this street with gutters, gravel, etc. At the rate that it was washing away, he stated that it would not be many years until steps would be needed to reach the street, unless corrective work was done.

I. T. Graves spoke briefly about Crowell's new athletic field, stating that as a result of the public subscription and a $75.00 donation by the American Legion, the field now lacked about $50.00 in being out of debt. An all-star team here was planning a game to secure funds to remove this debt, he stated.

Mrs. H. Schindler, county Red Cross chairman, and Vernon Pyle, Roll Call chairman, spoke in regard to the annual Red Cross membership drive and successfully inaugurated the drive at the meeting.

Plans for future trades days and Foard County's oil situation came in for considerable discussion. A. T. Schooley, night watchman, briefly discussed co-operation needed in his work. A. Y. Beverly served as toastmaster for the banquet.

President Fred Rennels named B. K. Garrett, M. S. Henry and C. T. Schlang as a committee to co-operate with the commissioners' court and Texas Co. officials in the matter of improving the oil field road.

W. B. Tysinger, George Cates and A. W. Lilly were named to arrange entertainment for Trades Day on Nov. 6. Eli Smith, A. Y. Beverly and H. K. Edwards were appointed to do the same for the December Trades Day.

I. T. Graves, Mack Boswell and R. R. Magee were named to arrange the program for the next banquet and J. H. Lanier Jr. and W. B. Franklin were selected to sell tickets for it.

Horse Disease Is Subsiding in Foard

Although Foard County horses have died from a form of sleeping sickness during the past two weeks, Fred Rennels, county agent, states that present indications are that this disease is subsiding in this county.

Only two new cases, both from Vivian, have been reported at the county agent's office during the past week. It is the opinion of the state veterinarian who visited here recently that with the coming of colder weather, the disease will likely be definitely checked.

Information Is Given About Cotton Loans

According to information received from the Commodity Credit Corporation by Fred Rennels, county agent, the forms for making application for the 8 and 10 cent loans have been mailed out.

In order to secure the loan it will be necessary for the grower to take as much of his cotton as he desires to borrow on, to a recognized warehouse and secure negotiable warehouse receipts, then with the signing of the proper note and loan agreement, which will be available at banks, with cotton factors and other lending agencies of the Commodity Credit Corporation, the loan can be completed.

Mr. Rennels advises that these forms will be distributed to persons in position to assist in handling the cotton and making the loans. A supply of the proper forms will also be maintained in the county agent's office to be issued to cotton growers and to firms desiring them.

Indian Nest Mystery Solved As Result of G. W. Harrell Article

An article in The Foard County News about G. W. (Uncle Bud) Harrell a few months ago cleared up a mystery of over 40 years standing in the mind of Walter W. Nichols of the Black community.

The mystery was in regard to Mr. Harrell's account of finding six human skeletons together in a pile near Sloan Springs between 1885 and 1880. Fifteen years later while in Oklahoma, Mr. Harrell mentioned the discovery of the skeletons to Jones Vaughn, an old buffalo hunter. Vaughn promptly replied he and another man were responsible for the bones being there. He told of a time when he and the other man were hunting buffalo in that area and suddenly found themselves surrounded by Comanche Indians. After killing six Indians with their buffalo guns, the other redskins left. The buffalo hunters then left the dead Indians in one pile.

Mr. Nichols stated that in 1886 his uncle, George Teague, found an Indian nest with several sacks of beads, silver and brass buttons, blankets and other Indian trinkets. This nest was located near Sloan Springs also. Immediately after the discovery Teague informed his relatives, including Walter Nichols, about it.

"I was 14 then and until reading that story about Uncle Bud, it had been a mystery to me why the Indians left all that stuff out there, but now I know that after those buffalo hunters got through with those Comanches, they had no further use for that material," Mr. Nichols said.

CHILICOTHE IS LOSER IN GAME WITH CROWELL

Although they entered the game as favorites to win, the Crowell High School Wildcats exceeded the most optimistic expectations of their backers in defeating Chillicothe 50 to 0 in a football game at Quanah last Thursday night, thus accounting for the most one-sided victory in the history of grid contests between the two schools. This was Crowell's third consecutive victory in as many years over the Eagles.

A 20-minute downpour came an hour before the opening whistle, however, it did not prevent a large crowd from Crowell, Chillicothe and Quanah from witnessing the nocturnal affair.

Despite the weakness of the opposition, the Wildcats performed in by far the most satisfactory manner shown this season. The improvement in their blocking was especially noticeable and their old-time fighting spirit and aggressiveness were certainly a source of joy to their fans.

Dick Todd was the most sensational performer of the night and scampered across the goal line nine times on sensational runs up to 67 yards in spite of a slick field. However, two of his long touchdowns sprang were nullified when officials called the ball back and assessed penalties against his teammates.

One of the highlights of the game was the effectiveness of Aldon Horn's blocking.

Score Early
Capt. Dunn of Crowell received the opening kick-off on his 20-yard line and returned 21 yards. Todd smashed the center of the line for 9 yards. Whitfield crashed through for 12 more yards. Todd added 10 more yards through the line and Horn gained 3 yards to place the ball on the 25-yard line. On the next play Todd started around left end and then cut back through tackle for 25 yards and a touchdown. Horn failed to go through the line for the extra point and the score was 6 to 0.

work, and that his grades placed him in the upper ten per cent of all the students enrolled in the college last summer.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL IN FOARD BEGINS NOV. 11

Success in the forthcoming membership campaign of the American Red Cross was predicted today by Vernon Pyle, who recently was appointed Roll Call chairman in Foard County.

"Although the dates from November 11 to 30 have been set aside for the Roll Call this year," the campaign leader said, "I am convinced Foard County's membership goal can be reached or exceeded in a much briefer period. For many years, and particularly during the depression, the outstanding performance of this humanitarian organization has become common knowledge. Any results other than a swift, successful campaign are inconceivable when we realize how much the existence of the Red Cross means to this community, state and nation."

Eli Smith is sub-chairman for the Roll Call in Crowell, with Rev. O. L. Savage and Mrs. N. J. Roberts as team captains. The Crowell quota is 108 memberships.

CONVINCING RESULTS

"I didn't think it would do any good but my wife insisted, so I ran a classified ad in The News about a farm implement I had wanted to sell and believe me—I'm certainly convinced now that the classified column really get results," said a Foard County farmer to the editor recently.

"Not only did I sell the implement the very next day after the paper came out, but I kept getting inquiries about it," he added.

The above is just one of the many comments in regard to classified ad results. For as low as 25 cents you can take your message to a large majority of the people of this county. Is there any wonder then that the Classified Column in The Foard County News is Foard's most effective and economical salesman?

If you have something to sell... if you want something... if you want to rent a room... if you want to recover a lost item... then just remember a Classified Ad offers you the cheapest, quickest and most effective method of taking your message to the very people you wish to reach. Why don't you benefit from this tried and proven—and economical—worker, the Classified Column?

APPLICANTS FOR HIGHWAY WORK MUST REGISTER

As far as it is possible to do so, only bonafide residents of Foard County will be used in connection with construction of the grade and drainage structures on Highway 16 from Crowell to Pease River, according to orders issued in connection with the letting of the contract to the McClellan Construction Co. of Wichita Falls.

Since about $25,000.00 of the money on this $42,000.00 project will be furnished by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads in its unemployment relief program for this winter, all of those securing work on this project must first register with Leo Spencer, Federal Administrator for the Texas Rehabilitation and Relief Commission in Foard County. An office in the Russell building, next to the post office, is now open for this purpose.

A list containing the estimated number of men that will be required on this project has been furnished Mr. Spencer by the State Highway Department. It classifies the estimated number of men that will be needed as follows: 6 carpenters, 2 shovel operators, 1 mixer operator, 2 grader operators, 2 blade operators, 4 powder men, 2 air compressor men, 4 tractor operators, 20 teamsters, 10 trucks and drivers and 50 laborers.

A 30-hour week will be the maximum for unskilled labor and the minimum wage will be 35c per hour. For skilled labor the maximum week will be 40 hours and the minimum wage will be 45c per hour.

Increase in Marriage Licenses in Foard Co.

More marriage licenses have been issued from the office of the county clerk, since the change in the Texas marriage law became effective several weeks ago than were issued for the remainder of the year before Sept. 1, 1933.

Twenty-one licenses have been issued so far for 1933, twelve of which have been issued since the change in the marriage law requiring a three-day wait after application for a license has been made.

The total for 1933 has already reached the 1932 total of 21. Fifteen licenses were issued here in 1931 and only twelve marriage licenses left the local clerk's office in 1930.

The following licenses have been issued during the past week:
Clarence Barker and Mary Nell Morrison, Foard City, Oct. 20.
Myrosee Tipton and Mae Patterson, Bald Prairie, Tex., Oct. 20.

Highway 16 Again Shares in Contracts Let by State Dept.

Highway No. 16 in this section of Texas shared in contracts let by the State Highway Department on Monday of this week, when R. B. Stroup of Vernon was successful bidder for grade and drainage work on 13.5 miles from Benjamin to the Haskell County line. His bid was $57,616.00.

The contract will be awarded and work started as soon as the low bid is sanctioned by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads. Money appropriated to Texas by the Federal government for relief of unemployment during the winter will be used to pay for the work.

Duly bonafide residents of Knox County will be used on this work, so far as it is possible to do so.

As a result of action of the Highway Department in approving work on Highway 16 in Foard and Knox counties during the past two weeks, only 16 miles, between Benjamin and the Foard line, now remain on this highway in Northwest Texas for which no provision for improvement has been made.

CROWELL-OLNEY TEAMS TO MEET HERE NOV. 3RD

No football game will be played by the Crowell High School Wildcats this week due to the fact that Archer City has forfeited the game that it was to have played Crowell here Friday.

Therefore, Crowell's next game will be with Olney here on Oct. 3. Local fans have been looking forward to this game for many months. It will no doubt attract the largest crowd of the season.

Olney is the only District 4-B team that has beaten Crowell during the past two years and the Wildcats are going to be out for revenge in next Friday's classic. The Cubs have not lost a District 4-B game in five years and Crowell hopes to gain the honor of finally breaking this impressive record.

So far the two teams appear evenly matched. Neither has been scored on in district competition.

IF YOU COUNT THE COST

The cost of attending our school is nominal for two reasons. In the first place, our tuition charges have always been very reasonable and, in the second place, we afford the student the opportunity to get the fullest possible out of his investment of time. In other words, we make it possible for the good student to finish his course in a short time, thus both limiting the cost of his education and giving him a chance to take employment much earlier than would be possible were his courses unduly extended. It is said one pays for an education even though one does not get it. This is true. One pays for it in decreased earning power, limited opportunities, and small achievements. Therefore, the cost of an education is infinitesimal as compared with the cost of not having it. After all, a thing is worth what it will do for its owner—nothing more. On this basis some types of education have doubtful value, but the business education rates high in the scale of worth. It means preparation for immediate and certain employment, as well as certain advancement; so the worth of a practical business education is greatly in excess of the cost. The practical training is the type of training we specialize in. We endeavor to equip the young ambitious person so he may step right out the next day after graduation and begin earning—not four or six months each year but for the full twelve months.

We solicit the bright ambitious young man or woman, equipped with at least a high school education to spend a few months with us. When his course is finished and with the aid of our Employment Department, we will find him or her a place in business, with an assured future to economic independence.

To learn more of what we can do for you, return the coupon below for one of our catalogs which describes our more than twenty-five different courses and combination of courses.

Why Doctors Favor a Liquid Laxative

A doctor will tell you that the careful choice of laxatives is a common cause of chronic constipation.

Any hospital offers evidence of the harm done by harsh laxatives that drain the system, weaken the bowels, muscles, and even affect the liver and kidneys.

Fortunately, the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form. The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can thus be controlled. It forms no habit; you needn't take a "double dose" a day or two later.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has the average person's bowels regular as clockwork in a few weeks' time. Why not try it? Some pill or tablet may be more convenient to carry. But there is little "convenience" in any cathartic which is taken so frequently, you must carry it with you, wherever you go! Its very taste tells you Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is wholesome. A delightful taste, and delightful action. Safe for expectant mothers, and children. All druggists, ready for use, in big bottles. Member N. R. A.

THE SPEED OF LIGHT

Marvelous as was the discovery that sound impulses could be transmitted by the phone and radio, their mere transmission would be of little value if they traveled only with the speed of ordinary sound.

To illustrate: If one were in San Francisco and desired to talk to someone in New York and had a voice loud enough to be heard that distance, it would take nearly four hours for the message to cross the continent—for sound travels only 720 miles an hour.

But, fortunately electrical and radio impulses travel with the speed of light, which for all practical purposes is instantaneous for terrestrial distances, or about 186,000 miles a second.

Incidentally, it may be mentioned that so far the longest combined telephone and radio conversation ever carried on by a regular toll customer was between San Diego, California, and Stockholm, Sweden, a distance of 8,630 miles. By special arrangement longer distances have been covered.

Many improvements in telephone and radio communications will be made in the future, but there will be no increase in speed. Always the sounds are transmitted with the speed of light, the speediest thing in the universe.

Three Ford Cars Win Three First Places In Big Racing Event

"Three Ford cars—two V-8s and a 1931 four"—won the first three places in the famous Laredo-Monterrey road race sponsored by the Mexican Automobile Association, an affiliate of the American Automobile Association, according to official reports of the race just received.

The two V-8s established the fastest time on record for the course. The third Ford won the same position in the class B event of the original road races which formally opened the new Pan-American highway between Laredo and Monterrey 3 years ago.

The race was won by Eddy Byers, a veteran figure in Texas and Oklahoma road circles, in a Ford V-8 with an average speed for the 138.6-mile race of 78.25 miles per hour. Byers staged a thrilling finish to win over Jimmie Davis, also driving a Ford V-8, who placed second, one minute and 14 seconds behind the winner. Jim Hall, of Houston, Tex., was third in a Ford Model A. Davis' average speed was 77.5 miles per hour, Hall's 73.1 miles per hour.

Speed Wagner, a product of the eastern dirt tracks and a veteran of several years professional racing, was the only other driver to finish in the money, driving a Rockne Roadster to take fourth place. Other entrants including three Chevrolets, a Ford Model A, an Essex, a Chrysler and a motorcycle were disqualified or failed to finish.

Davis took second place after suffering a blowout 20 miles out from Laredo. Four minutes were required to make the tire change. De-

Clyde Ketchersid, local Maytag dealer, was present at the Childress meeting Monday.

Baptists to Celebrate "Century of Progress" At Annual Convention

A number of Foard County Baptists are planning to attend the 85th annual session of the Baptists General Convention of Texas that is to be held in Fort Worth beginning Nov. 7.

The one hundredth anniversary of the beginning of Baptist work in Texas will be celebrated at this time and the convention program will give large space to "Our Century of Progress," and will present the story of the first Baptist organization in Texas. This church was organized in Illinois and moved to Texas as a unit, crossing the Sabine River in Nov., 1833.

There were less than 50 Baptists in Texas at that time. Now there are more than five hundred thousand and white Baptists and a total of more than a million of all races, according to Dr. J. Howard Williams, general secretary of the convention.

In spite of this Davis and his V-8 bettered all previous speed records for the course.

The performance of the three Fords in winning the first three places in the Mexican classic recalls the Ford victory in the stock car event at the Elgin National Road Races a month ago, when seven Ford V-8s took the first seven places

Ayersville Beats Margaret

From Ayersville Items—On last Saturday, the Margaret basketball team and the Ayersville team played a match game in which the Ayersville girls proved too much for the Margaret girls, defeating them with ease. The feature of the game was in the famous event, Fred Frame, Indianapolis racing driver, in the winning Ford V-8 averaging 80.22 miles per hour for the 203-mile grind.

Chillicothe Loses—

off from the 10 to the 33. Losing 8 yards on 3 plays, Crowell took his punt on the 50. Eight line plays by Whitfield, Todd and Horn advanced the pigskin to the 4-yard line, from which Todd circled left end for another touchdown. His pass to Gafford for the extra point was incomplete, making the score 12 to 0.

Chillicothe received the kick-off and after an exchange of punts, Jones intercepted an Eagle pass on the 27-yard line. Todd took the ball to the 6-yard line, from which Horn carried it across for a touchdown. He failed at the line for extra point and the score was 18 to 0.

Patton returned the Chillicothe kick-off from the 27 to the 42 just as the first quarter ended.

Second Quarter

Taking the ball on the Chillicothe 48-yard line after an exchange of punts, Todd took the ball on the first play and galloped 48 yards around left end for another counter. Whitfield hit the line for the extra point to make the score 25 to 0.

Chillicothe's initial offensive threat came shortly after the kick-off when Henry passed to Higginbotham for 20 yards, placing the ball on the 50. Two more passes failed and Henry punted out-of-bounds on Crowell's 33. Taking a lateral pass from Gibson, Todd was off for 67 yards and another touchdown. The slick ball glanced from Todd's toe in the place-kick for extra point and the score stood at 31 to 0.

Chillicothe again received the kick-off and soon punted. Crowell taking the ball on the 50. Straight line plays by Todd and Whitfield placed the ball on the 3-yard line. At this point the Eagles showed their greatest strength in the game and held the Wildcats for downs. Henry promptly punted out-of-bounds on the 29. On the first play, Todd went through center for another touchdown. Whitfield failed at the line for the extra point, making the score 37 to 0.

Saunders checked another Eagle offensive threat shortly after the last kick-off when he intercepted a pass on his 46. Todd gained 30 yards to place the ball on the 25, where it stood as the first half ended with the score: Crowell 37, Chillicothe 0.

Second Half

After Whitfield returned the kick-off from the 27 to the 40, Crowell marched straight to another touchdown with Todd, Horn and Whitfield advancing the ball to the 23-yard line, from which Todd swept around right end to again cross the zero line. Horn failed at the line for the extra point and the score was 43 to 0.

Henry returned the kick-off from the 17 to the 33. A pass was incomplete and Todd intercepted the next heave on the 33. Horn gained 8 yards. Whitfield fumbled and Chillicothe recovered on the 25. Failing to gain, Crowell took the punt on its own 32. On the first play Todd made one of the most sensational runs of the game and finally crossed the goal line, however, the ball was called back and Crowell was penalized 15 yards for holding.

Crowell took the ball on an exchange of punts and after it had been advanced 29 yards on short gains, Todd broke loose around left the scientific goal pitching of Miss Noba McGinnis. Margaret, practice up, we may play you again.

As reported in Margaret items—The basketball girls played Ayersville girls and got beaten last Saturday. The score stood 7 to 9 in favor of Ayersville.

From Margaret items, the following week—The basketball girls will play Chillicothe Saturday, Nov. 8. Our girls are simply fine, and talk about your science, they have it down to a fine art. We appreciate the compliment Ayersville paid us in the last issue of your valuable paper. We are truly glad they esteem it such an honor to beat us, as it was their first time, it did encourage them, we feel sure. Just keep on trying, Ayersville, you are getting better, and it is very encouraging, indeed, to beat the Margaret team even once.

end and then cut back through tackle for 41 yards and the final touchdown of the game. He then circled right end for the extra point, making the score 50 to 0.

Shortly after the kick-off, Horn intercepted an Eagle pass on his own 38 and then gained 6 yards as the quarter ended.

Last Quarter

With third down and 4 yards to go, Todd fumbled and lost 8 yards. On the next play he slipped in the mud and the ball went over to the Eagles on Crowell's 30-yard line. On the first play Lovelady intercepted a pass to again give Crowell the ball on its 27 yard line.

After advancing the ball to the Chilli 49, Todd again broke loose and crossed the goal line, however, the ball was called back and Crowell was given a 15-yard penalty for clipping. I. Davis blocked the punt that followed and recovered it on the Crowell 40. A pass, Henry to Higginbotham, placed the ball on 22. A line play lost 2 yards; 2 passes were incomplete and on the fourth down, Gibson tossed Henry for an 8-yard loss on the 37, where Crowell took the ball.

After an exchange of punts, Crowell took the ball and was headed for another touchdown when the game ended with the ball on the 13-yard line. Score—Crowell 50, Chillicothe 0.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by Charles E. Dunn

World's Temperance Sunday

Lesson for October 29th. Romans 13:12 to 15:3.

Golden Text: Romans 13:10.

Paul's letter to the Romans was written about the year 54 A. D., from Corinth, where the apostle was sojourning during the course of his third missionary tour. A massive statement of his theology, it has been aptly called "The Gospel According to Paul."

The lesson is taken from the latter part of the epistle, which is full of practical counsel. While Paul mentions temperance only incidentally, yet his whole teaching here constitutes a powerful proclamation of this virtue. With the repeal of the 18th Amendment a foregone conclusion,

Christian Science Churches
"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 29.
The Golden Text is: "The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished" (II Peter 2:9).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And Jesus said, Are ye also yet without understanding? . . . For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies: these are the things which defile a man" (Matthew 15:18, 19, 20).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Divine Science adjusts the balance as Jesus adjusted it. Science removes the penalty only by first removing the sin which incurs the penalty. This is my sense of divine pardon, which I understand to mean God's method of destroying sin" (page 49).

the nation faces a very difficult problem. Everyone admits that the liquor traffic must be controlled. But how? There are plenty of brewers whose itch for profits will inspire them to move heaven and earth to bring back the saloon. Can they be frustrated? Most of the younger generation have never seen a saloon, and know nothing of the hideous saloon system allied with vice and corrupt machine of politics. We can depend upon them for only lukewarm support.

Can the separate state be trusted to curb effectively the sale of hard liquor? Are we to have 48 different systems of alcohol control to parallel our 48 varieties of marriage and divorce legislation? It seems clear that the Federal Government, while allowing large liberty to the individual states, must formulate a national plan to forestall the impending chaos of contradictory wet and dry codes.

But what shall this plan be? Perhaps we can adopt a system similar to that prevailing in Norway, where the manufacture and sale of all liquor, hard or semi-soft, is under strict government regulation, and the profits are held down to something like 5 per cent. At any rate the Church will have to abandon its approach to the problem, and rethink its position upon this critical question. The 18th Amendment was a mistaken and costly experiment. But what next?

SYNOPSIS: . . . Ruth Warren, living in the East, comes into possession of three-quarter interest in an Arizona ranch, left to her in the will of her only brother, reported to have died on business in Mexico. With her ailing husband and small child she goes to Arizona to take possession, thinking the climate may prove beneficial to her husband's weakened lungs. Arriving at the nearest town, she learns that the ranch, "Dead Lantern", is 85 miles across the desert. Charley Thane, old rancher and rural mail carrier, agrees to take them to "Dead Lantern" gate, which was 5 miles from the ranch house. As they wearily walked past a huge overshadowing ponderosa pine in coming to the ranch house, a voice whispered "Go back! Go back!" At the ranch house they are greeted suspiciously by the ranch partner, Snavelly and Indian Ann, a herculean woman of mixed negro and Indian blood. Snavelly is difficult to understand but regardless, Ruth takes up the task of trying to adjust their three lives to the ranch and its development. Kenneth, Ruth's husband, caught in chilling rain contracts pneumonia and passes away before a doctor arrives. Ruth tries to carry on. She is not encouraged by Snavelly in plans to try and stock the ranch or improve it. She writes to her father in the East asking a loan with which to buy some cattle. She receives no reply. Will Thane comes home to visit his father . . . and Ruth meets him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

After the noon meal Ruth, had returned to the remains of the old adobe and was mourning over a mess of mud and clothes when she was startled by the sound of an automobile. She could hardly believe her eyes when she saw a fine-looking machine climb out of the gulch. Visitors were not common on the Dead Lantern.

There were two men in the car which approached the ranch house. Before it stopped and just as Ruth had started to walk in that direction, Snavelly rode out of the brush along the southern bank of the gulch, his horse on a dead run. Ruth paused and watched him bring his mount to a sliding stop by the machine.

"What d'you want?" his voice shrilled at the men in the car.

One of the men replied, talking for some time, but his voice was low and Ruth could not understand.

"Hell, no! We don't want nothin' to do with that—" Snavelly swung his arm back and pointed along the road—"There's th' way out of this place, stranger!"

"How do you do?" smiled Ruth, as she came up to the other side of the car. The two men turned their heads in quick surprise, then smiled with pleasure.

"Are you Mrs. Warren?" asked the older man, lifting his hat.

"Yes—won't you gentlemen come up to the house?"

"Why—er—thank you"—he half turned his head in Snavelly's direction—"my name's Parker of the Triangle T, and this is Mr. Harvey, our attorney. Your neighbor, Mr. Thane, thought perhaps you people might be interested in a cattle proposition—"

"Oh, I'm sure we should!"

The three went to the ranch house porch where Snavelly joined them after tying his horse to a mesquite. The girl introduced him. He grunted, did not offer to shake hands and seated himself at one side.

"You see, Mrs. Warren," began Parker, "the Triangle T is changing hands—do you know of the ranch?"

"I'm afraid not," smiled the girl.

"Don't make any difference," observed Parker. "We're on the Mexican line about twenty-five miles east. Well, as I said, the ranch is changing hands. The man who bought it is going to do differently than I've always done. He intends to make a feeder ranch out of it, using Mexican stock—ah—do you see what I mean?"

"Well, no—I'm rather new to this business," said Ruth.

"Don't make any difference—he's going to buy cheap Mexican cattle and feed them to sell. The point is, he isn't going to breed Herefords and he won't pay me for the cattle already on the place—I mean he don't want them for breeding—he'll take all my steers and beef stuff, but you can see that good young cows and registered bulls are worth more than so much a pound—they're producers. Now, the man I'm selling to, Jesus Travana, don't care about that sort of stock. I was telling Charley Thane about it and he wants ten of my bulls and he said you people—" Parker glanced from the girl to Snavelly and then back at the girl. "He thought you people might be interested in doing something. So as I was taking Mr. Harvey, here, back to town, I just thought I'd drop in and see you."

"But," said Ruth, "just now we haven't much cash. We'd have to ask for time in which to pay—we'd have to pay out of the earnings the cattle bring us."

spring selling. Even if I had to wait until a year from this next November, it would be better for me than to sell the stock for what I can get now. The ranch here would be my security, of course."

"I'm opposed to that!" Snavelly leaned forward. "I don't go putting up my interest on no such proposition as that."

For some time no one spoke. "Well," said Ruth at last, "I have no objection to risking my three-quarter interest in the ranch for as many cows and bulls as you'll give me for it."

Mr. Harvey, the lawyer, lifted his brows at this statement—as a general thing partners agreed.

Parker turned to the attorney. "It would be legal for Mrs. Warren to offer her interest even though Mr. Snavelly does not wish to offer his, wouldn't it?"

"Why, yes, it would be legal; it can be done. However"—he studied Snavelly—"it will be a rather unquiet state of affairs. Should the cattle come on the ranch they will increase the value of the partnership interests. In other words, Mrs. Warren would be increasing Mr. Snavelly's property for him, while Mr. Snavelly, in refusing to offer his share as security, would be contributing nothing to the welfare of the partnership. However," he turned to Parker as though he had seen enough of Snavelly—"I think Mrs. Warren's note will be sufficient."

An hour later the machine was disappearing into the gulch and Ruth Warren had mortgaged her entire interests in the Dead Lantern Ranch.

Snavelly came up behind her. "What you jest done was a'in' my advice. Mrs. Warren. Don't expect me to do nothin' if things don't turn out like you figger."

Ruth smiled. "Certainly, I understand. But you were there when Mr. Parker and I went over the situation—I know and you know the water is a little scanty, but if things don't go too badly I may even be able to pay off the note next November. I hope I shall, but if not, he agreed to give me a year."

"Seems like you're talkin' a lot about yourself," he replied tensely. "You talk like this was your ranch."

"I didn't mean it that way," answered Ruth lightly.

The look on Snavelly's face brought Ruth back to earth with a jerk. For a moment she thought he was going to leave her without sneaking, but her relief was short-lived. "Do you know somethin'?" he came by the deep tank in the south pasture on my way home this mornin'. Well, it washed out last night—that repp's gone to hell this minute. Them other shal-low ones won't last two weeks!" For a moment, his glinting eyes played over her sardonically. With a short laugh he walked to his horse and, mounting, rode away.

On the day after the cattle deal had taken place, Ann was not in the kitchen when Ruth arose. Neither was she in her room. Nothing in the kitchen appeared to have been touched since the evening before, nor was the fire lighted. She built the fire. Soon Snavelly came to the door.

"Where's Ann?"

"I'm sure I don't know; I thought perhaps she had to do something outside before breakfast and hadn't come in yet."

"Did you look in her room?"

"I didn't look—I opened the door and called."

"Huh!" Snavelly went to Ann's room and returned shortly. "Her bed ain't been slept in—she's gone ag'in."

"Why, what do you mean?"

"'Bout every two months or so Ann goes away for a spell—don't know where. Well, you can get me somethin' to eat, I reckon."

For five days Ruth was cook on the Dead Lantern, and of the fifteen meals, twelve of them consisted of Mexican beans and boiled sun-dried beef.

On the morning of the sixth day Ann was in the kitchen when Ruth entered.

"Why, hello, Ann! When did you get back?"

"Last evenin'."

"I didn't hear you come in."

"No, Mrs. Warren."

"Where have you been, Ann?"

"I've been away" answered the huge woman quietly.

Ruth said nothing more.

The cattle had come—a long winding river of brown and white flowed into the north pasture. There, the six Triangle T cowboys allowed them to spread out of their own choosing. A great hunting of cow for calf began. Each cow appeared to have lost her calf and each calf bawled as though it had lost two mothers. The calves, temporarily orphaned, made little effort toward reunion; they stood unceremoniously on their limber legs and bawled to the world at large, while their mothers sniffing, lowing, trotting nervously here and there, sorted them out. As soon as a family was united there were mutual sniffings and lickings; the bawling ceased and the cow led her offspring quietly away to graze.

When it seemed certain that every cow had found her calf, Snavelly, with the Mexican cowboys, rounded up the new bulls and drove them towards the home ranch corrals. Ruth and David followed behind. The girl was deathly afraid of those twenty-two monstrous creatures—at least, it loved it and looked over the meadow rather satisfied, friendly expression. But those great lumbering bull-rolling avalanche of unfurling power, as they plodded for singeing their individual battle lances deep in their throats. The girl took a tremendous fright; it didn't seem possible herself could own those huge maels. Of course, Snavelly owned quarter of them, legally; nevertheless, they were her bulls. And were very valuable—to lose two might mean the difference between meeting her note and meeting it.

After the bulls had been ing corrals on the home ranch into the smallest of the meadow were forced, one at a time, to a narrow runway which opened into the pasture. Just before reached the open end of this way and just as he was congratulating himself on his escape, a bar across in front of his nose, and he was a prisoner. The bar was placed immediately behind his sides, and now three took hold of a long lever which result that one of the walls inward, holding the entire bull though a great hand had closed on him. A large animal can be doctored or branded with danger to all concerned, parties to himself.

Before the first of the bulls were released, Ruth Warren had among the surprised cowboys the branding fire with a buck paint she had found in the bar.

"Wait, before you let him in she called to the man by the bar.

"What's the matter?"

Snavelly.

"Well," said Ruth, "you see are we going to keep track of bulls? I mean, suppose we do the pasture and count them, we've counted twenty-two we be sure but what we've counted same one twice, and that may be gone."

"Frankly, I can't. They all alike to me."

"What do you aim to do with paint?"

"I'll show you!"

Before Snavelly could protest ran forward and drew a number on the animal's side, two feet "See," she called triumphantly "now all we have to do is to their numbers on a piece of—we can't go wrong."

Snavelly looked pityingly at then turned away; the old cow was too disgusted to speak. It ed incredible to him that any could look at a bull and not remember him as one remembers the of a man.

few of the remarks made by Juliet Free and Mary Wanda Lewis, Foard County representatives at the Educational Encampment of the Dallas Fair the past week.

The girls joined about four hundred other from every part of the state. They were busy every minute of the time and enjoyed it all. One thing that impressed them among the exhibits was that sent by the negroes. They said, "I didn't know negroes could make such pretty things. By Typo Wrighter

As yet the U. S. Weather Bureau hasn't offered Typo a position, even though a prediction was made in this column three weeks ago that Foard County's first frost would come on Oct. 23—and what happened?—a light frost, the first one this fall, came on Monday morning, Oct. 23, two weeks earlier than the average date for the first frost for Foard County, which is Nov. 5.

It was disappointing upon arising Monday morning to find no evidence in our neighborhood of a visit from Jack Frost—that is, Typo did not want a killing frost by any means—but he did wish a friendly little visit from the white-bearded old gent at that particular time so that people could say: "Yessirree, that Typo is a real weather expert."

Anyhow, imagine our source of pride before the day was over when farmers from Rayland to Vivian informed the depressed weather prophet that his prediction had come true and that if he had risen as early as they did, he would have probably have found a light wet frost. The farmers also sought information as to when they might expect needed moisture for their wheat.

We were somewhat reluctant to give out rain information, deciding that it would be better to specialize in frosts, since this column predicted on Aug. 31 that Foard County was going to have a wet fall—and so far we have had one of the driest falls in many years.

Nevertheless, we believe that Foard County is going to receive a fair supply of that "needed moisture" shortly before First Monday. A light downpour or two may be expected within the next few days, but the principal event in this respect should come Thursday or Friday of next week. First Monday will likely be a pretty day, so Trades Day should mean a big crowd for Crowell, since it may be too wet to work in the field.

It is one of the easiest things in the world for printing mistakes to occur around a newspaper office. Most of them are caught and corrected by the proof-reader, however, it is a rare newspaper that does not have some comical and embarrassing errors to slip through during the year.

It wasn't long back when we saw an ad in another paper in regard to "hairy butter." One little letter in the place of another can certainly make a whale of a difference in the meaning of the word, and the same is true if just one letter is

NOVELTY NIGHT PROGRAM

A large and appreciative audience attend the novelty program last Friday evening at the high school auditorium. Every number on the program from the primary department's "Old King Cole" to the high school skit "O. B. Doctor" received unstinted applause. It was both artistic and amusing.

CARD OF THANKS

This is to express our sincere appreciation for every act of kindness and sympathy shown us during our recent illness. May God's richest blessings rest upon each and every one.

left out of a word. Ask any newspaper man.

Mistakes in reading copy can also bring startling results. Just a few weeks ago our own paper made one in this connection in the church column. The title of the pastor's sermon was printed: "Is Sue So Bad?" when it should have been: "Is Sin So Bad?"

The church announcement was written in pencil and the word "Sin" looked like "Sue" to the linotype operator. The proof reader thought the sermon title rather unusual, but felt that maybe it was something about the younger generation and that it was a pretty good title after all. As a result the mistake was not discovered until the pastor came in the next day to find out who this "Sue" person was.

Football and Marriages

Misplaced slugs of type are often the source of many printer's mistakes. Therefore, in this season of numerous wedding and football write-ups it is not entirely beyond the realm of impossibility for the type in articles about a marriage and a football game to get mixed up with the following results:

Bill Smith and Ida Jones were united on the 10-yard line when Todd smashed Rev. John Jackson at Frederick, Okla., and then Horn galloped across the bride's father of this city, who received Whitfield's kick between the goal posts just as the bride, attractively attired in a pigskin from Olney's territory, left on a short wedding trip to the Wildcat's den. Capt. Dunn performed prominently in civic affairs and is a young man who is destined to be tackled viciously and carefully guarded by his attractive young bride.
