Crushing of rock was started here Tuesday for the street surface resulting from cutting down the court house square 30 feet on the north and west sides. The crusher used for this purpose was rented from Harde-man County and will be returned there this afternoon.

The rock on this project was donated by W. B. Johnson and comes from a point on his ranch, about 7 miles west of Crowell. Cutting down of the court house square is one of Foard County's C. W. A. projects.

Original plans were to cut down all sides of the square, however, it was decided to cut down only two sides due to the cuts being made each week in the national C. W. A. program.

STORAGE SPACE TO BE ENLARGED BY DUNCAN & SON

Work was started in Crowell Monday preparatory to the construction of the largest fireproof country grain elevator in Texas by T. P. Duncan & Son at the site of their present mill and elevator, which will be enlarged to the extent of giving it three times its present storage capacity of twenty thousand bushels.

This week work has been confined to tearing down certain portions of the present plant in order to make way for the new concrete construction, including four tanks, 15 feet in diameter and over 70 feet high, a new engine room and a new head house.

Modern and Fireproof

The new grain handling equipment will have double the size and speed of the present equipment and when completed the elevator will be one of the most modern that can be found anywhere. The concrete walls will be six inches thick and will be reinforced with steel rods six inches apart, both vertically and horizontally. There will not be a stick of wood in the elevator proper.

The new tanks will be constructed in a single row and will form the south section of the elevator. As a result it has been necessary to move the office building, which will also be remodeled when work on the elevator is completed. The office is now located on the east side of the plant's scales instead of the west side. The scales will also be moved several feet farther south and east and will be completely reset and repoured.

Missouri Contractor

H. P. Roberts of Springfield, Mo., has the contract for the construction of the plant and the installation of its new machinery. He has specialized in concrete elevator construction for many years and has established a wide reputation in this line of work. H. E. Henley arrived here from Fort Worth last week to assume duties as superintendent of construction.

Foard County labor is being used, except for foremen who specialize in this particular kind of construction. All building material is also being purchased through local dealers.

86 Feet High

The concrete head-house of the present plant is being torn away to make room for a larger one. The old head house, which formed the highest part of the present plant, was 8 ft. wide, 14 ft. long and over 20 ft. high. The new head house will have greater width and length and will be 41 feet high, making the elevator 86 feet at its highest point, since the part of the elevator upon which the head house is built is 45 feet high.

The old concrete engine room has also been torn away and a larger room will replace it in order to house a new natural gas engine which will furnish power for both the elevator and mill. No changes are planned in the plant's flour mill.

First construction work will be started on the head house and within possibly 30 days its machinery will be in operation to handle grain in the present storage space.

Complete by June

It will likely be around the first of June before all of the new construction work will be completed. Crews will soon be working both night and day in rushing the plant to completion.

Despite the expansion program, the regular business of the mill and elevator is proceeding as usual and the flour mill will continue to operate daily.

This is one of the largest construction projects started in Northwest Texas in a number of years. It will add attractiveness and impressiveness to the Crowell industrial section and will also add greatly to the facilities that Crowell has to offer the wheat farmers of this section.

CWA Garden Project To Be Discussed at Meet Here Saturday

An invitation is extended to C. W. A. workers of Foard County and the public in general to attend a meeting in the district court room at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The matter of using government retired cotton acres along the Pease River valley as gardens for the unemployed will be discussed at this meeting, along with other matters of interest.

A preliminary meeting in this respect was held here Tuesday, at which time it was decided to hold the Saturday meeting.

RISE OF CARBON BLACK

Do you know that ten per cent of the weight of your automobile tires is composed of carbon black? Such is the case, according to a report by the Bureau of Mines, which tells of the remarkable growth of the carbon black industry. Carbon black is a fluffy, velvety, black pigment made by burning natural gas with insufficient air. Until about 15 years ago it was used chiefly in the manufacture of printing ink and the output required was comparatively small. But in 1915 it was discovered that by combining carbon black with rubber the tensile strength of the rubber was much increased, adding greatly to its life when used in automobile tires. After this discovery the use of carbon black increased with amazing rapidity, until now there are about 60 plants for its manufacture in the United States, with a total production of nearly 200,000,000 pounds a year. While carbon black is used extensively as a pigment in inks and paints, in stove polish, crayons and a variety of other articles, fully two-thirds of the output goes into automobile tires. Thus the development of another important industry has been brought about through the marvelous expansion of the automobile trade. Eighty-seven couples belonging to the Paris Marriage Club will be united at a single ceremony.

Chevrolet Names New Advertising Manager

The appointment of C. P. Fiske as advertising manager of Chevrolet Motor Company is announced today by William E. Holler, general sales manager. Mr. Fiske succeeds R. H. Cooker, who becomes associated with Campbell-Ewald Company. Starting as a Chevrolet representative in the Janesville zone more than 10 years ago, Mr. Fiske has steadily advanced to positions of greater responsibility each year. From representative to sales promotion manager of the zone was his first step and this was quickly followed by his elevation to regional sales promotion manager of the Great Lakes region, one of the largest and most important in the country. Mr. Fiske's first sales executive position came with his return to Janesville as zone manager. His excellent record in this position was followed by his transfer to Indianapolis as zone manager. More than two years ago Mr. Fiske was called to the central office in Detroit and promoted to manager of the truck department. Under his supervision Chevrolet closed 1933 with retail deliveries of 103,500 commercial and truck units, leading all other manufacturers in truck as well as passenger car sales. Last October Mr. Fiske was appointed manager of the sales promotion department of Chevrolet and it was under his direction that the successful launching of the new 1934 Chevrolet took place. Mr. Fiske's elevation to the most important advertising post in the automobile industry followed his unusually fine record over the ten year period.

Relief Funds May Be Used at Sanatorium

Sufferers from tuberculosis in Texas may now be hospitalized without the usual long wait because of crowded conditions, for admission to the State Sanatorium, provided the Texas Relief Commission sees fit to use a portion of the state relief bonds authorized by the Legislature in the passage of house bill number thirteen, for this purpose. The bill authorizes the Texas Relief Commission to use not to exceed three per cent, or so much thereof as may be necessary, of the proceeds of the Texas Relief Bonds, Second Series, for the hospitalization of indigent tubercular patients, in recognized established tuberculosis sanatoriums (other than the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium) within this State; provided that the applications and requirements for admission and treatment to such sanatoria shall conform to the rules and regulations at present established by law for admission to the State Sanatorium and provided that applications should be filed with County Judges in the respective counties. Commenting on this legislation, Dr. Z. T. Scott, managing director of the Texas Tuberculosis Association, stated that the plan of hospitalizing indigent tubercular patients in private sanatoria had proved very successful in other states where the waiting list exceeded the bed capacity of the state institution. He pointed out the economy to the state

Twenty Years Ago in The News

The items below were taken in whole or in part from the issues of The Foard County News of Feb. 27, March 6-13-20, 1914. Found Hanging Groans and cries for help were heard coming from the second story of the Allee-Henry Co. building Monday morning. Presently the cry of "Oh, Pete" (meaning Pete Campbell) rang out, but Pete being absent, M. S. Henry yelled, "Pete is not here!" "Well, you'll do, so come—and come d-m quick!" was the loud reply. Mr. Henry rushed up stairs and saw Rob Allee, his partner in business, hanging to a rod from the top of the room by one hand, a garden plow in the other and several hundred dollars worth of cut glass and chinaware directly below. Mr. Allee had gone to the top of the room for the plow and just as he took hold of it the rolling ladder he was on rolled from under him. He was rescued safe and sound and now says it ought to be a felony for one to use a ladder with wheels on it. And It Still Blows The 80-foot wireless tower near the J. W. have invented an attachment for automobiles to which they have given the name of "Barks" Subradius for Ford Autos. C. Chalk is now on the job of these fine attachments, which are buckling. Fine Auto Sales Messrs. T. N. Bell and agents for Ford cars in this city, went over to Vernon to bring in their first car, part of the trip all right, latter part, they sold the R. Parrish of the Tractor community. The funny part of the was the fact that a number of prospective purchasers were waiting to see the new Ford. Bell and Self were seen on the curve on foot. The boys are living in hopes that they are able to have a car on the near future. George Hinds left Palestine, where he has position in a drug store. Prepare for Warm Spring Days Says Health Department

Austin, Texas—The warm days of spring will soon be here and the Texas State Department of Health urges everyone to see that their property is cleaned of the winter's accumulation of trash. It is only through individual responsibility and effort that one can have a clean and neat appearing city.

In planning your spring cleaning start with the house itself in the attic and work down, not forgetting the basement. Attics and basements are the greatest collectors of refuse and therefore of dust and dirt that the house possesses, and their neglect often constitutes a serious fire hazard. Do not forget to screen against flies and mosquitoes. The better the job of cleaning, and with a garbage pail tightly covered, the fewer flies there will be, because flies love dirt and breed in garbage and other filth.

This will be a great improvement in rural sections and towns that do not have a city water supply or sewer system. We are prone to judge people in no small measure by the kind of yard

Many times you have heard some one say, "No, I don't know the people next door but they cannot amount to much because their yard is cluttered with tin cans and papers and their garbage can is always open." Do not let your neighbors be able to pass judgment on you on such grounds.

Two Basketball Games Here Tuesday Night

The four teams in the local basketball league will play their third games in a double-header program at the Crowell High gymnasium Tuesday night beginning at 7:45 o'clock.

The two previous double-header programs have proven of real interest to local fans and the Tuesday night schedule should prove no exception.

Grady Graves' Palookas, league leaders are matched against Gordon Bell's Ringers. Bill Middleton's Moguls and Eli Smith's Elmers, who are tied for second place in the present league standing, will settle the matter as to which quintet will drop to third place.

The admission to these double-header programs is only 5c and 10c. The proceeds go toward paying for the new gymnasium.

Palookas and Elmers Win; Losses Go to Moguls and Ringers

Another interesting program was presented at the local gymnasium Monday night by the Crowell basketball league in a double-header program.

One of the closest games of the year was played between the quintets managed by Grady Graves and Bill Middleton, with Graves' club coming through on the top end of the 27-25 score to gain the honor of being the only undefeated team in the league.

In the other game, Eli Smith's club had little trouble in disposing of Gordon Bell's entry by the score of 38 to 7. Jack Russell, center for the Smith team, was the leading scorer of the evening, chalking up 17 points.

The present standing of the league follows:

	W. L. Pct.
Graves' Palookas	2 0 1.000
Middleton's Moguls	1 1 .500
Smith's Elmers	1 1 .500
Bell Ringers	0 0 .000

The Dollar Bride

Mary Inlay Taylor

Eighth Installment

THE STORY SO FAR
Nancy Gordon trades herself in marriage for fifteen thousand dollars—the price of her family honor—and the freedom of her brother, Roddy, who stole, for a woman, that amount from the bank in which he works. Nancy, desperately in love with Page Roemer, nevertheless agrees to a secret elopement with Dr. Richard Morgan, and with the money he loans her prevents Roddy's arrest. Dr. Morgan is loved by Helen Haddon, a sophisticated young married woman, but he adores Nancy and hopes to win her after marriage. In Washington they are married. Nancy is Richard's bride—and afraid of him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Then he saw, lying on the table, one of Nancy's gloves. It lay there, holding the perfect form of Nancy's hand—like a thing alive. He blushed up to his hair, his eyes fixed on it. "Sit down," he said formally, drawing forward a chair that was not Nancy's. "You spoke of Kingdom. What's wrong with him?"

Helen laughed bitterly, refusing the chair, her green eyes on him. "King's reading Voltaire now—I wish he had some real work to do beside sitting in the back room at the bank on great occasions. It's awful to be rich and idle and hang around all day reading French. My father and my brothers all worked; I'm not used to idle men, Richard, I'll quarrel with him dreadfully if he doesn't go off for golf. I want you to send him."

Richard moved over to the mantel and rested his elbow on it, shading his face. "I can't urge any more of it, Helen. King's not strong enough this spring. Besides, he's just gone for the tournament in Washington, hasn't he? He told me so. You both ought to go to Europe."

She stared at him, startled. Then a slow hot blush went up over the long oval of her face.

"I didn't know he was ill, she said slowly, watching Richard.

"He's not ill—he's got a weak heart, that's all—I'm taking care of him."

"Keeping him alive?" she looked away. This was not what she had come to say; her heart was stormy now. She put her hand suddenly on the glove. "That's Nancy Gordon's," she said defiantly. "You're in love with that girl, Richard?"

He turned toward her, meeting her glance coldly.

"Do you want me to prescribe for you or King today, Helen?" he asked shortly.

She stood quite still, her eyes fixed on his. For a moment, the very forces of life seemed suspended, her green eyes were as glass, she barely breathed. He had never seen her like this before! Then suddenly she began to laugh wildly, hysterically, choking back her tears.

"Oh, how funny! Your blushing, Richard," she gasped. "I didn't mean anything. Prescribe for us, both, do I'm an awfully good patient, you know it?"

He smiled grimly. "No, you're not, but here's a prescription—it's for adenitis," he added coolly, holding it out.

She caught her breath, his anger seemed to burn its way through to her consciousness, but in a moment she controlled herself.

"I'm sorry I offended you, Richard," she said, with amazing gentleness.

ed that money from Richard Morgan. Roddy and I will pay him back. I—I married him yesterday."

Her mother dropped back into her rocker, speechless, but her father rose. His face turned gray.

"What kind of a girl are you?" "What did you say?" he demanded.

"I said I married Richard Morgan yesterday, in Washington, because—because he gave me the money to save Roddy."

"Where's Roddy?" Mr. Gordon's voice shook, "where is he now? He had no business to take that money from you!"

No one answered him and he broke loose in terrible denunciation. All the pent-up misery found vent. He made no bones about it. He spoke the truth as he saw it, spoke it brutally without seeing its effect.

The storm of his wrath swept over Nancy's bowed head like a hurricane. She clung to a little table in the center of the room.

"What kind of a girl are you?" roared Mr. Gordon, "what did you do? Go down there and tell him you'd marry him for fifteen thousand dollars?"

"Yes."

Nancy fixed her blue eyes on her father. He was so amazed that his mouth hung open. His shot had been a random one; that he had hit the bull's eye nearly prostrated him with horror and dismay.

"Good Lord!" he said below his breath.

Then he rallied himself. "I'll wire Roddy, I'll make him confess and bring that money back—it isn't his to pay in, I'll—I'll—" he sputtered breathlessly.

"You can't," said Nancy, "he's put it back—he's not going to confess and go to prison now!"

"He shall—I say he shall!"

Mr. Gordon slammed an old chair back with such violence that he broke a leg off; it toppled over helplessly and fell into the corner with a crash.

"I'd a darned sight rather that Roddy stayed in jail for life than to have him take that money! Can't you see that your daughter's sold herself?" he appealed to his wife. There was a terrible vehemence in his tone.

"Where's that man?" he swung around on Nancy, "where's Morgan?"

"He came home with me—he's in his office now. We—we haven't told any one—he wanted to come here with me, but I—"

"I should think he'd better come here like a man. I want to ask him if he thinks he's living in his grandfather's time. I reckon old Morgan bought his slaves about the same way—only cheaper!"

"Papa!" his wife almost shrieked now, "Papa, you ought to be ashamed of yourself!"

"I am, I'm ashamed to have such children! I've got a pair of them—the boy steals and the girl sells herself to the first rich man who'll—who'll pay for her!"

"Hush!" Mrs. Gordon cried, "hush, Papa!"

Nancy, who had never stirred from her table, did not lift her eyes now, but her white lips moved.

"Let him alone, Mama; it's true! Only a minister married us in church. It—it wasn't an auction, Papa."

Her father snorted with fury. "True! I reckon it is! There's one thing I'd like to say to you, though, he added with sudden and terrible courtesy, "if you'll permit me, Nancy?"

She choked back a sob.

"It's this—" he took a step nearer, striking his fist on the table—"you have sold yourself darned cheap!"

She gazed at him, speechless.

H. D. and 4-H Club Activities

The construction of a lily pool is the present project of Mrs. I. W. Middlebrook, co-operator in the Margaret Home Demonstration Club. The pool is made of concrete, is built in an irregular shape and rocks place around the edges in such a way as to make it look natural. The water will be run in at one side so as to give the appearance of a natural spring. Perforated pipe has been placed around the pool for subirrigation of the plants and flowers placed near the pool as a background. The pool is a part of the plan for the improvement of the entire yard. A number of other improvements have been made since a chicken proof fence has been built around the yard.

About thirty varieties of vegetables form the basis of the garden plan of Rudell Blevins, garden demonstrator for the Ayersville 4-H Club. A new plot has been selected for the garden which is near enough to the source of water that it can be irrigated. With facilities for irrigation several new vegetables have been included in the plan.

An inventory has been taken and accounts kept since February as a part of the work of Marguerite Lewis, clothing demonstrator for the Vivian 4-H Club. Besides this part of the work, Marguerite will plan her own clothing for the entire year, care for and repair her own clothing, provide adequate storage space, and make at least four garments, one of which is to be a school dress.

MARGARET CLUB

Margaret Home Demonstration Club met Friday March 16, with Mrs. E. F. Dunn as hostess. There was 16 members and one visitor present. Mrs. Baggett was leader for the afternoon. Mrs. Jim LaRue gave an interesting talk on the Life of Karl Wilson Baker. Mrs. Brotherton gave a talk on Texas. Miss Holman gave a demonstration on storage space. The hostess served an attractive refreshment plate of vegetable salad, cheese sandwiches, angelfood cake and coffee.

We will meet Friday, March 23, with Mrs. W. A. Dunn.—Reporter.

In an old quilt she had used many years, Mrs. H. G. Thurston of Davenport, Ia., found paper currency worth $5,000.

Deciding to attend church at Carthage, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Church of Canton, N. Y., made the trip in their airplane.

"Heart? Broken her heart—I'd like to thrash her!" he bellowed.

"You'll have a stroke, William; you'll have a stroke—if you don't stop!"

"Stroke be hanged!" he said, and rushed to the telephone. He had just thought of it.

He called up Richard. "Yes, I want to see you—now—right away! All right. I'll wait!" He hung up the receiver and began to stride up and down again.

Mrs. Gordon knew the girl must be wretched and her heart went out to her. But there was a thrill of secret relief, Roddy was saved. His father couldn't make him return the money. Should she go upstairs and try to make it up to Nancy? She half rose and Mr. Gordon smashed a little glass paper-weight that had fallen in his way.

"He's going crazy," she thought feebly; then she remembered Richard Morgan. He was coming soon and there would be an explosion worse than the one that had greeted Nancy. What would happen? Would there be an awful scene? She did not know what to make of this, but she had seen Nancy's face. She summoned all her courage.

"I don't think it's right to treat the child so!" Mrs. Gordon wiped the tears from her eyes. "She's done it all to save Roddy."

"You think of nothing but Roddy! I'm—I'm—" his voice broke suddenly—"I'm thinking of my girl!"

"I'm thinking of my girl!" "I'm thinking of Nancy, too. What use is it to make a scandal of her marriage? She married Morgan—I can't think she'd do it if she didn't care for him—it's against nature."

"Fiddlesticks! What's nature got to do with it? She married that—that fellow to get the money quick for Roddy." He brought his fist down again on the table—"I'd like to thrash the minister who married them! What business has any man got to marry people in that way? He ought to have had them both locked up in the police station!"

"William Gordon, I've heard you say yourself that you wished Nancy'd stop flirting with Page Roemer and marry a decent man like Richard Morgan!"
