NEW PASTOR TO BE WELCOMED HERE SUNDAY

There will be a general dismissal of church services in Crowell Sunday evening in order that local churches may cooperate in welcoming the new Presbyterian pastor, Rev. J. A. Phipps, to Crowell.

Rev. Phipps will preach at the Baptist Church, beginning at 8:15 o'clock, instead of the Presbyterian Church. Added seating capacity and prospects for a cooler auditorium prompted officials of the Presbyterian Church to accept the invitation of the Baptist Church to hold services there. He will preach in the Presbyterian Church at the regular morning services.

The new pastor comes here from Kemp, Texas, and is dividing his time with the Crowell and Chillicothe churches, preaching here every first and third Sundays. He is making his home in Chillicothe.

Rev. Phipps preached his first sermon as local pastor here on the morning of June 3, however, no evening services were held at that time due to the meeting that was in progress at the Christian Church.

He has already become very popular with those who have heard him preach here and the public is extended an invitation to attend the services welcoming him to Crowell.

Baker Is Optimistic About Prospects for Oil North of Crowell

"I predict that a fine oil well will result from the new test north of Crowell," stated James Blair Baker, Jr., of Wichita Falls, independent oil operator who was here Tuesday on business in connection with the test that he is having put down on the J. W. Beverly place, five and one-half miles north of Crowell.

Mr. Baker is very optimistic about prospects for a successful test and states that in case a good well results, the drilling of several others a few miles north of Crowell may be expected.

The Ambassador Oil Corporation of Fort Worth has taken the drilling contract for the new test and in turn has sub-let it on a footage basis to Allison & Fitzwilliams of Wichita, Kansas.

Work of erecting the standard rig for drilling is proceeding satisfactorily and it is expected that actual drilling will be under way in about a week or ten days.

The new test is in about the center of Mr. Baker's six thousand acre block and covers what geologists believe to be one of the most outstanding structures in West Texas. The contracted depth of the test is 3,650 feet.

FAIN-McGAHA TO DRILL NEW OIL TEST IN FOARD

A lease dated March 30, 1934, from J. G. Thompson, Sr., to the Fain-McGaha Oil Corp., was filed for record Wednesday afternoon with the Foard County clerk.

The lease covers 256 acres and calls for drilling to start within 90 days from the date of the lease, which means that drilling is scheduled to start not later than June 30 on the Thompson place, about two miles north of Thalia.

The Fain-McGaha company of Wichita Falls is one of the largest independent companies in Northwest Texas. They drilled Foard's first oil producer on the J. F. Matthews place north of Thalia.

Crowell, Texas, June 21, 1934

THE NAVY'S NEW CHIEF

This month the United States Navy has a new commander-in-chief in the person of Admiral Joseph M. Reeves...

Admiral Reeves is known as an able and aggressive officer, who first attracted attention in 1894, when as an end on the midshipmen's football team...

When the battleship Oregon made her famous voyage around Cape Horn to join the Atlantic fleet in 1898...

During the World War he was cited for "eminent and conspicuous conduct" in battle. He became interested in aviation, and after the war he took up flying...

In view of his impressive record, the country may feel confident that under Admiral Reeves the Navy will be maintained at a high state of efficiency.

GREELY'S RESCUE

One of the most difficult and thrilling rescues in the history of polar exploration is recalled by its 50th anniversary on June 22...

Among the survivors was Lieutenant A. W. Greely of the Army, in command of the party, which had been sent to establish a station for scientific observations in the far North...

Schley and Greely were both destined to subsequently attain high rank in military service. Schley commanded the American fleet at the battle of Santiago...

General Greely is still living at the age of 90, despite three wounds received during the Civil War and the terrible hardships he experienced in the Arctic...

TRAVEL AND LEARNING

Soon the vacation season will be here, and many thousands of persons will visit various interesting places for the first time...

In order that one may derive experiences, it would be well to find out as much as possible about the places to be visited ahead of time...

Information gained from guides and handbooks during one's travels is valuable, of course, but it is generally superficial, and lacking in the historical background...

The educational value of travel depends largely upon knowing beforehand what one wants to see, and why.

A GREAT PREACHER

One hundred years ago on June 15 there was born at Kelvedon, England, a child who was destined to become one of the greatest and most popular preachers in the history of Christianity...

He became pastor of a Baptist church at the age of 18, and at 20 was called to New Park Street Chapel in London. So great were the throngs attracted by his preaching that the chapel had to be enlarged twice in two years...

Herman Fox

Fox Bros. Manager Has Many Years of Grocery Experience

Although young in years, Herman Fox, manager and part owner of the Fox Bros. Grocery & Market in Crowell, is a veteran in the grocery business...

His first experience in this work came in 1922 when he was employed by the Fox & Son Grocery. This store was located in the Ringgold building and was operated by his father, L. D. Fox...

Early in 1923 he purchased an interest in the firm and continued in the grocery business, except for nine months in 1925 when he operated the Quick Service Station. He again returned to his original calling at the first of the year in 1926...

Since Jan. 1, 1929, the local store has been operated under its present name, Fox Bros. Grocery, Mr. Thompson having sold his interest in the store to the Fox brothers at that time...

Three stores, at Crowell, Rochester and Knox City, are now operated by the firm of Fox Bros. The other two members of the firm are Glenn Fox...

A meat market has been operated in connection with the Knox City store since last September. Besides Herman Fox and A. V. Milsap, Travis Fox and Willis Allen are also regular employees of the Fox Bros. store in Crowell.

Memphis Golfer Is Green Belt Champ

H. K. Edwards of Crowell reached the final match of the third flight in the annual tournament of the Green Belt Golf Association at Frederick last Thursday...

Thomas Hampton of Memphis won the championship of the association, defeating Whitney Anderson of Vernon 3 and 2 in the championship flight final.

Hampton was the golfer who defeated Bob Oswald, Jr., of Crowell, 4 and 3, in the second round. Oswald had previously defeated Frank Mitcham, Sr., of Shamrock. Mitcham won the championship consolation flight.

ODD FELLOWS ELECT

Vernon Pyle and O. H. Ferguson were elected grand and vice grand, respectively, for a period of six months at the last regular meeting of the Crowell I. O. O. F. lodge. They will be installed, together with other appointive officers at the first meeting in July.

It was finished in 1861, and in this imposing edifice he preached until his death in 1892. In 1879, on his silver wedding anniversary, he received a testimonial fund of over $30,000, and on his 50th birthday in 1884 he received another gift of about $25,000...

These included an orphanage, a large mission, and a pastors' college, where hundreds of young men were trained for the ministry under Spurgeon's direction.

Spurgeon has been described as a man of thoroughly human sympathies, whose musical voice, clearness, directness and independence, and simplicity of style, combined with humor, common sense and a rich store of anecdote, were the chief factors in his great success.

His sermons were widely printed, averaging about 30,000 copies a week, and many of them were translated into the various languages. He was also the author of a score of volumes on religious subjects which had an extensive circulation. In the 58 years of his life he probably reached more people with the Christian message than had been so reached by any other preacher before or during his day.

An average of 500 persons are killed by lightning annually in the United States.

FOX BROS. GROCERY STARTS NEW MEAT MARKET

NEW EQUIPMENT FOR ADDITION IS PURCHASED

Fox Bros. Grocery of Crowell has opened a new meat market in connection with its store and new equipment for the latest addition to Crowell's line of food firms was installed and put in operation on Tuesday of this week.

A. V. Milsap, who has had 15 years experience in the meat business at Paducah, Matador and Hamlin, has been employed by Herman Fox, manager of the store, to operate the market. He assumed duties in this capacity with opening of the market. Mr. Milsap has lived here for the past few months, during which time he has been agent for Watkins products.

The new equipment for the market includes the latest and most modern fixtures. A 1934 model "Norseman" meat case, a product of the Viking Refrigerators Inc., was received early in the week from Kansas City. It combines beauty with utility and has a large storage capacity.

The latest type of Stimpson "all-weather" scales occupy a specially constructed portion of the case and add to its attractiveness. A Hobart automatic meat slicer, a Hobart meat grinder and other equipment have been added to make the shop complete in every detail.

"We expect to give our customers the finest kind of meat service," said Mr. Fox, "by keeping a complete line of the very best fresh and cured meats on hand at all times. Our fresh meats will come from home-killed stock and exceptional care will always be taken to secure animals from which the highest quality meat can be secured."

The new market is located just to the left of the entrance of the grocery.

Glazier hurled the entire game for Crowell, scattering 11 Altus hits. As a result of this victory, Altus climbed into second place in the league standing. Another Oklahoma entry, Hollis, occupies first place.

Death of Alf Bond of Vernon Came on Mother's Birthday

The death of Alf Bond, 63, at Vernon on June 11 came on the 80th birthday of his mother, Mrs. Rebecca Bond, of Margaret. Funeral services were held the following day at the First Baptist Church in Vernon and burial followed in the East View Cemetery there.

Through error the name of the deceased's mother was not included in the list of survivors secured by The News for last week's write-up. Mrs. Bond is one of the earliest settlers of this section, having arrived in Wilbarger County with her husband, the late M. Bond, in 1887. They moved to Foard County in 1900 and Mrs. Bond has continued to live in this county. Mr. Bond died on Christmas day, 1929.

At the time of his death, he and Mrs. Bond had been married longer than any other Foard County couple, lacking only 9 days of being 63 years.

June 30th and SAVE!

Saturday, June 30, will probably offer you your last chance to make a big saving by paying your delinquent taxes. If delinquent County and State taxes are paid by that time NO INTEREST and only 6 per cent penalty will be charged.

After that the regular 10 per cent penalty and 6 per cent interest per annum from the time the taxes became delinquent will be charged.

EXAMPLE OF SAVING

If you had $100 taxes delinquent since 1924, $106 would settle the bill if paid before the end of the present month. If the month is allowed to pass, it would require $170 to get a tax receipt, plus, of course, the usual statutory costs.

Chevrolet Retail Deliveries During Past Month Heavy

A total of 83,839 units was delivered by Chevrolet dealers during May, according to figures released today by William E. Holler, general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company. This total includes Canadian, export and domestic deliveries and represents a substantial increase over the same period of 1933 when 69,125 units were delivered.

"Deliveries of commercial cars and trucks were especially significant," said Mr. Holler. "The commercial car and truck total for May of 15,134 units over-shadows the excellent figure reached in May, 1933, when 10,879 units were delivered. Sales of both passenger cars and trucks improved greatly during the last ten-day period of May and accounted for the impressive retail sales total for the month."

Retail sales the first five months of this year now total 264,872 as compared with 253,263 for the same period a year ago, an increase of over 110,000 units. Domestic truck deliveries for the five months nearly doubled last year's figure, 68,297 units being delivered against 34,372 units in 1933.

A NEW ANESTHETIC

Baltimore surgeons were delighted a few days ago with the results obtained through the use of a new anesthetic called evipan. It is administered by means of a hypodermic needle.

According to the report, a patient about to undergo a serious operation was given an injection of evipan introduced into a vein in the bend of his elbow. He was entirely unconscious in 20 seconds. Six minutes after the operation was completed he regained consciousness and got off the operating table by himself. After drinking a glass of water he called for "a good big breakfast."

The new anesthetic seems highly desirable to use, because of its speedy effects and the fact that it does not cause nausea when the patient awakes, as other usually do.

Evipan is a German invention, and will be manufactured by a New York chemical company. Extensive tests will be made, however, before it is placed on the market. If it proves as efficacious as the Baltimore report indicates it to be, it will be a great boon to millions of sufferers.

STAY CLEAR OF THE MIRACLE MAN

The meanest thing in human shape is the hyena that holds out inducements for a fee (in advance) to cure an incurable case of disease. I have seen the unfortunate victims of cancer, hopelessly afflicted, grasp at the glittering lure of the heartless impostor who claims to cure ALL cancers. Such sufferers will bite, so great is the urge to live. It is indeed pitiful.

What shall we do with the invalid whom we knew to be hopeless? Just one thing—make him as comfortable as possible to the end; that is our duty. We should never lend ourselves to the contemptible ruse of lying to those on the brink of eternity.

I have had the man with incurable cirrhosis of the liver ask me "doctor, when are you going to get me out of this?" Did I tell him, "my dear sir, you are far past that stage of being cured?" Not a bit of it. I would simply say, "This is a case when we must do our very best, and let thorough understanding be our guide; that's the best anybody can do."

And I try to impress upon all my sufferers that, it is not given to mankind to know precisely what will happen and when.

I have seen the old "botanical doctor" agree to cure an incurable cancer of the breast with poultices made from alder bark—and he sagely counseled that bark must be scraped upward, toward the top of the shrub!

We must have incurables. It is the lot of all to die when the time comes. It is our duty, so far as in our power, to protect and guard the welfare of the stricken one to the last.

It is none the less a duty to fight the scoundrels who would rob the incurable victim.

Christian Church

Bro. Merrill did some wonderful preaching during the meeting. Let's follow up attending the services of the church and showing by our interest in His cause that we deem His church the greatest institution on earth.

To know our Master, to know His will concerning us and to serve His cause properly we must know His will as revealed in His Word—the Bible. It therefore behooves us—every follower—to attend and take active part in the Bible School.

There will be a general dismissal of church services in Crowell Sunday evening that all church people may attend a service welcoming the new Presbyterian pastor at the Baptist Church.

O. L. SAVAGE.

Christian Science Churches

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 24.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And God saw everything that He had made, and behold, it was very good. . . . Thus the heavens and the earth were finished, and all the host of them" (Genesis 1:31, 2:1).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God creates all forms of reality. His thoughts are spiritual realities. . . . nothing exists beyond the range of all-inclusive infinity, in which and of which God is the sole creator" (page 513.)

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by Charles E. Dunn

Lesson for June 24th. Micah 4:1-5.

Golden Text: Luke 1:33.

At the end of this Quarter we can testify to the supremacy of that Great Figure near to whose Person we have, in the course of our studies, all come.

Suppose we think of those qualities in the Master that endear Him to us. Surely He is wonderful in those virtues essential to fullness of character. Think of His adroitness. His skill in avoiding the traps set for Him. Think, too, of His quickness so sharply etched in Mark's brief gospel, where "Straightway" is a favorite word.

Then also we remember His clearness, one of the most important of moral qualities. How transparent in meaning are the Beatitudes, the Golden Rule, the Lord's Prayer, the parables! And we recall His charm. We do not know the physical characteristics of Jesus. But we can be sure that He had, as the poet says, "a sweet, attractive kind of grace." There are references in the gospels to Jesus "looking." He looked upon the people, on His disciples, and on the rich, lovable young ruler. We can picture to ourselves something of the beauty of that look. And how deep was His emotion!

Rev. Chas. E. Dunn

It is said that Marcus Aurelius had a face that never changed. But the face of Jesus continually revealed the play of lights and shadows inspired by His deeply sensitive nature. He "rejoiced in spirit." He "sighed deeply." He became angry. And always was He "moved with compassion."

And what patience! How long-suffering with those petty, quarrelsome disciples; Peter was a sore trial, yet He called him a rock.

And how astounding His achievement! There seems to be no decline in the authority of Jesus. The old, old story is as compelling as ever. With Lamb we can agree that if Shakespeare should come before us, we would rise, but that if Jesus appeared, we should kneel.

MANY FUR FARMS

It may be surprising to many to be told that there are now nearly 5,000 fur farms in the United States and Canada, most of which have been established during the last 15 years.

These farms represent an investment of around $25,000,000 and from them are now produced and marketed about 80,000 skins each year.

Thus it will be seen that a new and important industry is being developed, which embraces a practical conservation plan as well, just as the commercial raising of cattle and hogs has preserved these animals from extinction.

Another point in favor of fur farming is its humane aspect. Instead of being tortured for hours and even days in cruel traps, the fur farm animals may be instantaneously put to death when their pelts are needed for the market.

Women of the future may wear handsome furs without the feeling that they do so at the expense of frightful suffering on the part of the beautiful animals which contribute to their comfort and adornment.

FOOD FALLACIES

Popular ideas about food are a strange admixture of truth and fiction according to Dr. Lieb, an authority on diet. Particularly is this the case with respect to notions of what is good for people, or not good for them, under varying circumstances.

For example, bananas and nuts were long thought to be hard to digest, but if the bananas are ripe and the nuts chewed sufficiently they are among the most easily digestible of foods.

The prejudice against raw foods is also unwarranted it is said. Raw corn, wheat and other starches in moderate amounts are completely digested, while raw potatoes are 78 per cent digestible. The craving of some children for raw potatoes may be indulged to a reasonable extent without harm, and the same is true of raw cabbage and lettuce. Drinking water during meals was long thought to be harmful to the digestion, but for normal persons it is now declared to be beneficial if sipped in between swallows of solid food.

Forcing children to eat spinach or other foods which they do not like is not good for them, as the feeling of repulsion which they experience hinders digestion.

While the doctor does not say it in as many words, it appears that a rather safe rule of diet is to eat what one likes, provided it does not produce any disagreeable after effects. And regardless of advice, that is what most of us insist on doing anyway.

THE BOOK

... the first line of which reads, "The Holy Bible" and which contains Four Great Treasures

by BRUCE BARTON

A GREAT IDEA IS BORN

It was assumed that when a woman married she took her husband; if he died and she must go back to her own people, she abandoned her husband's gods and took theirs again. But when ten tribes of Israel split away from the tribe of Judah and Benjamin, Jehovah did not go to one or the other, but remained with both. His ship was often neglected, but in their hearts the people knew that He was still their God and always the time of tribulation they threw down their idols and returned to Him.

The idea of One God—unseen and not worshipped in visible form—had been born in the world, and had taken firm hold upon human hearts. This is the outstanding achievement of the Old Testament, the thing which gives the Old Testament eternal truth and inspiration.

In its total effect the Old Testament is a record of God's progressive revelation of Himself to men. This is the second element of its greatness. Steadily from Genesis to Micah the conception of His nature and quality grows clearer, bigger, finer.

We have referred already to Amos, who was not a priest and nothing but scorn for the formulae and ritual of the established religion. He saw the temple courtyards red with blood and men through sacrifices to buy the right to be iniquitous, and he cried "God cares nothing for sacrifice; He is a God of Justice."

I hate, I despise your fast days, and I will not smell in your assemblies.

Though ye offer me burnt offerings and your meat offerings, I will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace offerings of your beasts.

But let judgment run down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream.

As a conception of the Almighty this represented a vast step forward. In those same days another preacher, Hosea, was adding another item to the expanding fund of truth. Hosea was a married man, and his wife was a flirt. So much so that Hosea was compelled finally to leave her away. His friends said "good riddance," but Hosea was lonely, lonesome, sorrow and regret. This woman who had wronged him—she still loved her. Pocketing his pride he went to her with forgiveness and took her back to his home.

And out of that domestic tragedy there came to Hosea a new truth. "If I, being only a man, can love so much and forgive so much, surely God must be capable of even more," he said. Amos told the world that God is just; Hosea added, "and kind."

ran down through the grounds, into the river. Then he stood still, a moaning, his clenched hand shaking with passion, "I'll fight. Time up, Major?"

As he spoke there was a crackling of twigs behind them and a shout, a hoarse vociferous shout. "Hi, there! Hold on, you—you young rascal, what're you doing here?" Mr. Gordon came up, breathless, hatless.

He plunged into the middle of the group, snatched his son by the nape of the neck, like a puppy, and fairly shook him.

"Lomax, Haddon, Richard—what the devil d'you-all mean by this?"

Roddy blazed, at white heat, wrenching himself away from him. "I'm here to avenge my sister's honor," he shouted, "if you've forgotten it, I haven't, I'm a Gordon still!"

"Gordon fiddlesticks!" his father shook with a passion as great as his. "It's a damned pity you didn't think of being a Gordon before, you young scawag! D'you happen to know that that man's mon— kept you out of jail?"

His son gasped. For a moment he was dumb. Then he rallied, his young face set hard and tight again.

"Did my sister go to this man for money—to save me from jail?"

"Yes, confound you, she did—that's it, that's the whole of it. It's your fault every bit of it, sir!"

Roddy reeled. For an instant the world turned black; then a blaze of fury burnt his shame up.

He went up to Richard and shook his pistol in his face.

"I know why she married you now, damn you, I'll kill you for it!" he shouted, "you damn coward!"

Richard folded his arms. "Go ahead, Rod," he said bitterly. "I deserve it—but I've a word to say. Mr. Gordon, Major Lomax, Haddon, all of you, I didn't know until tonight of the scandal that has been launched against the loveliest girl in the world. I deserve to be killed for exposing her to it. I stand here tonight to expiate it in my blood. Nancy Virginia is my wife, gentlemen, and I love her. I have always loved her, and I am glad—I say this facing death here, as you know—I'm glad and proud that she bears my name.

Mr. Gordon caught at his son again. "You hear him? He speaks like a man. He loves your sister. He's married her. Confound you, you donkey, you, you're making a public scandal. Lomax, help me take this boy home! Richard, go in the house!" he shouted, "what d'you mean by standing up there for this lunatic to shoot at? You're a brave man. I take off my hat to your courage, sir, but I—I've had all I can bear!" Rod Gordon, he's married your sister!"

"Has he?" Roddy breathed heavily, his face rigid, "I want to see the license, I want to see the certificate of this secret marriage, I want to know if he's made a dupe of my sister!"

Richard met his look squarely. His own face was hard now. "You can see them all. We were married in church. But we'd better settle our differences now. Do your duty, gentlemen, I accepted his challenge and I'm ready.

"This can't go on!" Haddon gasped, coming forward. "I want to say—"

Richard threw back his head. "All right, Haddon, another time! Give us the signal, gentlemen."

Lomax caught hold of Roddy's father and held him by main force. Mr. Gordon was struggling violently.

"Damn you, Lomax, unhand me—Roddy, you young devil, you!"

"Give the signal, Haddon," said the Major sharply. "I can't hold this old octopus forever!"

Roddy sprang to his position, his weapon gleaming in the moonlight. Richard faced him. Haddon, shaken and gray, began to count.

"One, two, th—"

Suddenly a white-clad figure sprang out of the shadow of the shrubbery. Like a flash it leaped between the duelists. Nancy covered Richard with her own body.

"Stop!" she cried, panting, "you'll have to shoot me first, Rod!"

Roddy recoiled, his mouth fell open, his eyes fixed themselves on hers—incredulous, startled, maddened with surprise. There was a terrible moment of silence.

"God, you love him!" he gasped.

His father, broken loose from Lomax now, had him by the arm, he wrenched the pistol from the boy's relaxed fingers. Roddy sagged over against him, while Nancy still faced him, her face as white as a star and her beautiful hair tumbling about her shoulders.

Roddy was dumb.

Mr. Gordon dragged him along. "Come!" he said huskily, and then: "you young fool, you, she loves him—you've made trouble enough, let 'em alone!" he whispered.

Roddy was still speechless. He yielded to the older man's force; he let himself be dragged away. Lomax and Haddon followed them—as dumb as he was. They walked slowly. Twice Roddy stumbled. His ears were ringing, but he heard his father's voice, after a moment.

"You young donkey, you!" and then it broke and grew husky; something melted in him. He looked at the boy's dejected face.

"I'm proud of you."

Roddy was silent, his head sagged with his shoulders, his face burned. He knew now the price his sister had paid to keep him out of jail, and the iron entered into his soul. He had come, at last, to the beginning of repentance.

The father and son went slowly, and the other two, Lomax and Haddon melted quietly away toward the river meadow.

Richard stood still, rooted to the spot, his face as white as his shirt, his eyes were on Nancy, and hers were fixed on the distance where her father and her brother had gone. Suddenly it came to her that they had gone home and left her. Left her alone with the man she had married. She drew a quick breath, a wave of crimson rose slowly, it rose all over her quivering young body and rushed up to her white face. Her eyes sank and her hands shrank together. She was alone—left behind—and he was silent. But she had heard what he said to her father and to the others. He had said he loved her, that he was proud that she bore his name!

The silence grew and grew. It seemed to her that it was killing her. She heard the drip of moisture from the quivering boughs of the trees; the faint fragrance of opening buds came to her, it was almost more than she could bear.

Then Richard's voice, broken and changed.

"Nancy, you didn't mean that? You did it to save Roddy from murder, you—"

She was dumb, but she made a faint, wavering gesture of denial.

"Nancy, I beg your pardon—I didn't know the things that were said—it's all my fault. It was up to me to protect you, I—"

He stopped and then, hoarsely: "God knows, I wish you did mean it—I love you with all my soul!"

She lifted her head at that, and the moonlight found her face; slowly, almost reluctantly, she raised her eyes to his.

He caught his breath. A great light broke.

"Nancy! You didn't mean that you—"

"Nancy Virginia—" he drew her toward him, looking into her face, the power in his eyes holding hers—"shall I take you home—to them?" he asked, and his deep voice broke on the word, "or—?"

She could not take her eyes from his. She no longer tried. Her face quivered and softened into a happy smile.

"Richard," she answered softly. "I—I've come to you!"

LOSE FAT THIS SUMMER—KEEP COOL—LOOK AND FEEL YOUNGER

Mrs. Jessie Martin of San Francisco is happy because she has discovered the right, safe way to reduce—read her letter:

"I have taken Kruschen Salts a month and find great benefit. I have lost 14 lbs. in that time and would lose more if I stuck to a diet as I should. I take them every morning regular and hope others will profit by them as I have."

We have letters from men and women who have lost as much as 100 pounds of fat—from people who have reduced high blood pressure—from folks who have no more bloating or shortness of breath.

Kruschen helps stomach, liver, bowels to function properly—increases physical attractiveness all while losing unhealthy fat. Just take a half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—get it at drug-gists everywhere.

Dress Contest and Encampment Are Discussed Saturday

The dress contest of the Foard County H. D. Clubs at 2:30 p. m., June 27, in the district court room and the encampment for the H. D. women, beginning at the Gribble Park on July 19, were two items stressed Saturday afternoon at the regular June meeting of the H. D. Council.

The annual encampment will begin on Thursday, July 19, and will continue as long as the 20th as the women care to stay.

There was also some discussion at the Saturday meeting about plans for the Short Course.

The "theme song" for the July meeting will be "On to the Short Course."

There were eight H. D. clubs represented at the council meeting.

The distinction of being New York's first girl marble champion goes to 13-year-old Patty Smyth of Flushing, L. I.

Women's Dress Contest Will Be Held Wednesday, June 27

The women's dress contest will be held on Wednesday afternoon, June 27, in the District Court Room, judging to begin promptly at 2:30. Each woman enters a street dress made from cotton material with the foundation pattern from which the dress was made. The wardrobe demonstration will end at this time and the record from there. The plans are to go to Vivian and visit the demonstrators there in the morning. A picnic lunch at the park at noon, a visit to a few places of interest around Crowell, then Thalia, West Rayland, Ayersville, and Margaret in the afternoon.

Each girl is expected to bring lunch, wear clothing suitable for riding in trucks and be on time.

Mrs. Murphy Adopts Unique Features in Improving Bedroom

One of the outstanding problems of Mrs. C. T. Murphy, bedroom demonstrator for the Margaret Home Demonstration Club, was the finishing of fourteen-foot walls which were blackened and the plaster cracked and broken off in a number of places. After the cracks were filled the walls were white washed a very pale pink and the metal ceiling painted a steel gray. This added much to the appearance of the room by improving the appearance of the walls as well as adding much to the light, and apparently decreasing the height of the ceiling.

A combination of colors was used in the room with pink, blue and orchid predominating. The bed was painted ivory, pink pillow cases and sheets used, with blue and orchid in the other furnishings. A chiffonier equipped with hat racks and shoe racks, and a special drawer for each type of article was used for a closet.

Since the room was prepared for the two young girls of the family, a rather unique feature was introduced in the form of articles made from their doll furniture. A doll table was used as a bench for the dressing table, a blue and orchid pillow being used on top. A doll bed was made into a foot stool and another converted into a shoe rack.

Many other improvements were made such as the addition of new curtains, a new mattress with a mattress pad, cover and spring cover for the bed, refinishing the floor, and to complete the picture the use of a large doll as a door stop.

Club Girls to Make Tour of County on Fri. of This Week

The 4-H Club girls are going on a tour of the county on Friday of this week, leaving Crowell promptly at 9:30. All of the girls will meet at the court house and leave from there. The plans are to go to Vivian and visit the demonstrators there in the morning. A picnic lunch at the park at noon, a visit to a few places of interest around Crowell, then Thalia, West Rayland, Ayersville, and Margaret in the afternoon.

WEST SIDE H. D. CLUB

How and where to hang a picture was the demonstration given by Miss Holman to the West Side H. D. Club which met with Mrs. Gus Patton on June 13.

There were 12 members and three visitors, Misses Vera, Benlah and Ruby Patton, present.

The club is sending Miss Lela Patton to the Short Course at College Station.

The club will meet with Mrs. Lee Ribble on Tuesday, June 26.

WEST RAYLAND H. D. CLUB

There are three things in a picture that attract a person's interest in them, according to statements made in a talk and demonstration by Miss Holman on appropriate pictures at a meeting of the West Rayland H. D. Club with Mrs. Luther Marlow on June 12.

The three attractions in a picture are: (1) the story it tells; (2) beauty, and (3) imagination. Miss Holman displayed various types of pictures and showed types appropriate for every room in the home.

The treasurer reported that sufficient funds had been raised to send a delegate to the A. & M. Short Course. Mrs. L. A. Rheay was elected as the delegate.

VIVIAN H. D. CLUB

Despite the extra warm weather, seven members, three visitors and Miss Holman were present. The next meeting of the club will be with Mrs. Shirley McLarty on June 26.

VACCINATION URGED

Austin, Texas.—Parents of children who will enter school this fall, are reminded by Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer, that vacations are a good time to have their children vaccinated against smallpox.

"The family physician is expected to vaccinate every baby and young child under his care," Dr. Brown said, "and the parents should see that it is done. The earlier it is attended to, the better it is for the child. Until the child enters school, the responsibility for having him or her protected against smallpox rests with the parents. After this it is shared by the teachers.

"Children, if vaccinated in the first year of life and again in the tenth or twelfth year, will be immune to the disease, practically for life. Single vaccinations usually last from seven to ten years. In part, this explains why most of the cases that have developed in the past few years are in adults who were vaccinated only once.

"Smallpox is a disease of ignorance and indifference. It attacks the rich and the poor, the healthy and the weak, with no discrimination; but it does not attack the immunized person who safeguards his health by taking advantage of modern preventive medicine.

"To stop vaccination would be relaxing our vigilance and the result would be rapid infection of non-immune people. There were 854 cases of the disease last year in Texas, every one of which could have been prevented by recent vaccination."

Refreshments of home-made ice cream, cake and grape juice were served to Mrs. Duncan, Mrs. Bert Self, Mrs. Tom Bell, Mrs. P. J. Merrill, Mrs. O. L. Savage, Mrs. Hines Clark, Mrs. T. L. Hughton, Mrs. H. Schindler, Mrs. M. S. Henry and Mrs. C. V. Allen.

she had the largest number. Mrs. Kincaid recently retired as president of the Thirteenth District of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers after serving three years in this capacity. She was the only representative from this district at the Des Moines convention.

After her arrival in New York, she was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stephens until her departure. Mr. Stephens is a brother of Mrs. Kincaid and is vice president of the Westinghouse Co., one of the nation's largest electrical concerns. His home is in East Orange, N. J., which in reality is a part of New York.

While in New York, Mrs. Kincaid and Elizabeth witnessed the arrival of over one hundred ships in the fleet of the U. S. Navy on May 31.

They stated that the killing of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, notorious Texas characters, attracted an unusual amount of attention in New York and was prominently featured in the newspapers and over the radio in that city. On a number of occasions Mrs. Kincaid and Elizabeth were asked by New Yorkers if they were acquainted with Clyde and Bonnie. "Nobody in New York seems to realize how large Texas is," Mrs. Kincaid said.

Leaving New York on June 6 on the steamship "Dixie," Mrs. Kincaid and Elizabeth arrived at New Orleans six days later, June 12. The ship never stopped until it reached New Orleans and came in sight of land only at a few points in Florida, including Palm Beach, Miami and Key West. The cost of a trip from New York to Dallas—by boat to New Orleans and then by rail to Dallas—is considerably less than the trip entirely by rail.

Before leaving New Orleans, various points of interest were visited in that city.

Miss Elizabeth Kincaid is the second member of the Kincaid family to receive an M. A. degree from Columbia. In 1929, Miss Loretta Kincaid, now Mrs. Harvey Turnbough of Lubbock, received her M. A. degree from that institution. Merl Kincaid, brother of Loretta and Elizabeth, spent one year in New York University, specializing in the study of banking.

This-That, Etc.

Watch your step! Crowell and Foard County are going to see more peddlers, swindlers, grafters and others in this general class in the next few weeks than have been seen here in a number of years.

Already our wheat harvest has resulted in Foard becoming the "happy hunting ground" for a number of those from distant points to prey upon unsuspecting citizens here.

"Like flies after honey," is the description given this situation by the Plainview Evening Herald in an editorial warning the people of that area of conditions that have arisen as a result of the harvest of the largest wheat crop in Texas in Hale County.

The editorial in part follows: "Residents of this section will be asked to buy everything from sewing machines down to pie pan lifters. There will be some good things offered and a lot of worthless things. Any good thing that is offered can probably be had just as well from some established dealer who pays local taxes, employs local citizens, helps keep local churches and schools going and otherwise performs the duties and enjoys the privilege of citizenship.

"Now, good sewing machines are an asset to any home. Every home should have a machine. Using sewing machines as typical of all articles purchased—don't you think that the old boy who drives over this area through the hard times, wearing out his auto tires and the seat of his pants, is entitled to your consideration in good times? Give him a break. He will be here when hard times hit again to give you service on what he sells you.

"From areas not so fortunately blessed with a wheat harvest there will come flocking in a flood of used automobiles. Remember how they were bought here in our worst times and run out to the oil fields for sale? Some old boy handling automobiles almost starved with you while you were almost starving. Let him share your prosperity with you.

"If the transient is offering values far in excess of what one can get from others, it's common sense to snap up the value. But with anything like an equal value obtainable from an established local citizen, we should give him the break. As a matter of fact he should be favored somewhat, even on a price basis. He's one of us. He helps us carry on."

The above editorial is just as timely for Foard as it is for Hale County.

Boy!—there are always too many schemers and solicitors connected with grafting propositions in our midst, but just watch out from now on.

There will be solicitors for "rescue," "maternity" and "orphans" homes, some of which probably do not exist. Persons claiming to have official connection with worthy institutions, but who represent no one but themselves, may also be expected among the solicitors.

And talk about your advertising propositions! There will be persons selling spaces on everything from book covers to school curtains. How these fly-by-night promoters love to form some connection with a school or church!

Very often they are unable to sell their propositions upon their own merits with the result that they secure the services of local individuals with good reputations to put their schemes through.

We believe that you will find every local merchant willing to help the schools and churches of this county, but it is regrettable the way that some schools enrich some transient or out-of-town sign painter at the expense of local merchants, whom representatives of the school solicit for ads an a "beautiful" curtain. In reality the school reaps very little, compared to the promoter in the background.

The above instance is given as a fair example of the numerous types of schemes that have been worked in the past and which may be expected in greater numbers in the future.

And then there are merchants who seldom use an ad in their own home newspaper who will tie into most any advertising scheme that some out-of-town bird brings along, yet they expect their home paper to back all of the propositions for community betterment and to raise the very devil about out-of-town buying that hurts them.

If some of our merchants would use the same energy in promoting their own businesses that they use in cussing hard times and out-of-town trade, they would be getting along much better.

ROTARY LUNCHEON

A talk on advances made in modern surgery and instances of outstanding successes in this respect were given in a talk by I. T. Graves at the Rotary luncheon Wednesday. O. L. Savage was in charge of the program.

In an extemporaneous speaking contest conducted by George Self, the first prize of a free car wash job was won by Fred Kennels, with W. W. Griffith as a close second. J. A. Huber and George Backus, Vernon Rotarians, served as judges. Various subjects were assigned the speakers.
