of undetermined origin completely destroyed the coco plant of the Continental in Crowell Wednesday afternoon. The fire broke out at noon while no one was in the plant, the flames were carried through the warehouse by a strong breeze from the east side of the plant. The fire started in the storage tank from the three large storage tanks on the east side of the plant. The fire probably prevented a second explosion. There were about 10,000 gallons of gasoil in the largest tank, which has a capacity of 12,000 gallons. The tank suffered the heaviest damage from the fire. The middle tank of 8,000-gallon capacity was not damaged considerably. The third tank, also of 8,000-gallon capacity and partially filled with kerosene, was damaged from the fire and apparently was not damaged.

FOARD APPLIES FOR EMERGENCY DROUTH RELIEF

Due to the results of a protracted drouth over the greater part of the county, application has been made for drouth relief for the benefit of farmers and ranchmen. Telegrams have been sent to the Agricultural Adjustment Administration asking that body to immediately place Foard in the emergency class for drouth relief.

The county has been placed in the secondary relief class, but this does not give the relief to farmers and ranchmen who have a surplus of cattle and who will be forced to place them on the market due to a shortage of feed, grain and stock water.

The secondary relief advantages give reduced rates on shipping livestock out of the county and also on shipping feeds and other necessities into the county. In addition loans are also available for seed and for feeds for livestock, but the only immediate relief that will benefit the majority of farmers and ranchmen is the emergency program.

Under the terms of the emergency program, according to information obtained by Fred Rennels, county agent, those who sign up to sell the government a portion of their cattle agree to cooperate in any future adjustment program for cattle. Producers also agree not to allow the females of their herds to exceed by Jan. 1, 1935, more than eighty per cent of the average number for 1932-33.

The buying schedule calls for a price of $12 per head for condemned cattle two years old and over and $13 to $20 per head for sound cattle of this age. For cattle one to two years of age the rates are $10 for diseased animals, and $11 to $15 for sound cattle. For cattle under one year of age, $4 per head will be paid for condemned stock and $5 to $8 for sound stuff.

Although the county has not been certified to at present by officials at Washington for the emergency relief, it is thought that as soon as conditions of the county are reviewed that the county will be placed in the emergency list.

County Judge Vance Swain and a number of ranchmen and farmers are using their efforts in placing the information as to conditions in the county before the proper officials at Washington in order that those who have a surplus of cattle, and are in distressed condition due to shortage of grass, feeds and water, may have an opportunity to get rid of them under the government program.

Oklahomans Here to Boost Reunion At Mangum July 26-27
Two citizens of Mangum, Okla., John Boatwright, pioneer Foard County cowboy, and M. H. Dodson, father of Mrs. Jimmie Doolen of Vernon, a former Crowell resident, were in Crowell Tuesday to meet friends and advertise the "Old Greer County Pioneers Reunion" on Thursday and Friday, July 26 and 27.

The work of perfecting organizations in all communities of Foard County is being completed in accordance with the plans of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration for the purpose of keeping those who take part in the adjustment programs informed as to requirements of contracts, payments, measurements and any other agricultural problems that affect the people of the county.

The various allotment committees of cotton, wheat and corn-hog organizations will compose the County Council of Agriculture and will have the responsibility of planning programs and carrying out the various adjustment acts and disseminating information regarding them in such manner as will be of the best interest to the people of the county.

The county committee commodity division is composed of the following: cotton—Roy Ayers, H. W. Gray, H. E. Davis; wheat—E. V. Halbert, J. C. Hysinger, H. L. Williams, Hubert Brown; corn-hog—A. G. Bell, T. F. Welch, A. B. Wisdom.

In addition to these county committees there are community committees in each of the communities who will assist in conducting community meetings and in giving out information in regard to the various problems and questions arising.

The following communities have already perfected their organizations:

According to information obtained at the office of the county agent, Fred Rennels, blanks are expected any day for making applications for tax exemptions and also for measuring the cotton land.

All cotton farmers, contract signers and non-signers, who desire tax exemption certificates will make application for the certificates. Mr. Rennels stated that as soon as the plans were perfected and necessary blanks received that information would be given out to all farmers in the county.

PIONEER FOARD COWBOY ENTERED SCHOOL AT 25 AND MARRIED AT 26; WAS VISITOR HERE LAST TUESDAY
John Boatwright of Mangum, Okla., who was here Tuesday to advertise the old-timers' reunion and celebration at Mangum on July 26-27, is a former resident of Foard County and is one of the pioneer cowboys of this section.

Leaves Home at 11
Born on Aug. 15, 1870, in Wood County, Texas, Johnnie Boatwright ran away from his home in that county at the age of 11 and headed for the "wild and woolly West." He reached Hardeman County in 1882 and took up work on the R-2 Ranch.

In the years that followed he worked all over this section as a cowboy, spending 8 years in the employ of Tom Haskett on his ranch north of the old copper mines in Foard County.

McFarlane to Speak Here Friday Night

W. D. McFarlane of Graham, candidate for a second term as Congressman from the 13th District, will speak on the court house lawn on Friday night of this week, beginning at 8 o'clock.

There are three candidates for this office, the other two being George Backus of Vernon and Sam B. Spence of Wichita Falls.

MRS. J. W. TEAGUE WILL BE BURIED THIS AFTERNOON

The death of Mrs. Ruth Fox Teague, young wife of J. W. Teague, shortly before noon Wednesday at the local hospital came as a shock to her many friends, although her death was not unexpected, since she had been seriously ill for the past week.

Funeral services will be held at the local Baptist Church this afternoon, Thursday, at 3:30 o'clock with Rev. W. A. Reed, pastor of the Thalia Baptist Church, officiating in the absence of the local pastor, Rev. O. L. Savage. Interment will follow in the Crowell Cemetery.

Pall bearers will be Henry Sanders, Jack Phillips, Henry Ashford, Luke Phillips, J. D. Reynolds and Staton Adams. The flower girls will be Misses Frances and Beulah Ives, Mattie Florence and Bernice Collins, Louise Adams, Ocie Pearl Thompson, Doris Oswald and Bernice Poland.

The deceased, whose maiden name was Virginia Ruth Fox, was born in Crowell on Jan. 28, 1917. She lived in and near Crowell throughout her life. On Nov. 4, 1933, she became the wife of J. W. Teague in a wedding at Frederick, Okla.

The survivors include her husband; parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Fox; three brothers, George, Joe and Jim; four sisters, Mrs. Lloyd Whitten, Edith, Margie and Lola May; two grandfathers, G. W. Harrell and C. C. Fox, and one grandmother, Mrs. C. C. Fox, all of whom live in Crowell and Foard County.

One grandmother, Mrs. G. W. Harrell, passed away just one week before death took Mrs. Teague.

She was converted to Christianity several years ago and became a member of the local Baptist Church while Rev. W. W. Smith was serving as its pastor.

Through her lovable character, Mrs. Teague had gained a large number of friends, all of whom deeply mourn her departure from this life.

To Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Dunn, Crowell, July 3, a boy, Billy Ray. To Mr. and Mrs. James Cecil Botenhamer, Thalia, July 2, a girl, Barbara Joe.

"Believe It or Not" Case
M. H. Dodson of Mangum, whom Mr. Boatwright accompanied here, is connected with a unique fact. He was born and raised in Texas, has never left Texas to live, yet he is now living in Oklahoma, and here's how it all happens:

Mr. Dodson was born in Coryell County, Texas. At the age of 19 he moved to Greer County, Texas, and has since made his home in Greer County, although Greer is now in Oklahoma instead of Texas, as it was when Mr. Dodson moved there. Oklahoma was victorious in a legal battle with Texas in which the two states fought over this county.

Gordon J. Ford

Gordon J. Ford, who was killed in action on Oct. 9, 1918, while fighting with the American forces in France, is pictured above. His name appears in the article below, which includes the movements of the 142nd Infantry and a list of those who enrolled in the Headquarter Company of the 7th Texas Infantry, which was later combined with the 142nd Infantry.

The local post of the American Legion is named for Gordon J. Ford. He was the son of J. R. Ford, who now lives about 7 miles southeast of Crowell, and was instantly killed by concussion and shrapnel near St. Etienne, France, during the Meuse-Argonne offensive.

A number of Foard County boys listed in the article below were in his Company at the time of his death. Two of them, Ebb Scott and Jack Ballard, were nearby and assisted in giving him a battlefield burial. Ford's body now rests in an American cemetery in France.

He was 23 years of age at the time of his death.

County and state payments totaled $25,916.98, of which $18,796.23 was for delinquent taxes. For the Thalia school, $188.01 in current taxes and $453.01 in delinquent taxes were collected, making a total of $1,441.70.

Extra North-South Bus Through Crowell

An extra bus running through Crowell north and south has been added by Murphy Bros., operators of a bus line between Quanah and Stamford.

The new bus leaves Crowell for Quanah at 8:55 a. m. and south towards Stamford and Abilene at 2 o'clock. This gives service each direction two times daily as follows: northbound—8:55 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.; southbound—9:45 a. m. and 2 p. m.

The new service also provides a nice "tie-in" with the schedule of the Red Star Coaches, which operate between Vernon and Plainview. A passenger from the west will have to wait only 45 minutes, since a Red Star bus arrives in Crowell from the west at 1:15 p. m.

The west-bound Red Star bus and the south-bound Murphy bus arrive in Crowell at the same time, thus providing a convenient connection for many passengers during the year.

CANDIDATE SPEAKING
There will be a candidate speaking at the Foard City school house on Friday night of this week. Lemonade will be served by the ladies of the Foard City Home Demonstration Club.

Excellent Grade and Field of Wheat This Year on Coffey Farm

The best average wheat yield in the News has been heard of in Foard County for the 1934 crop is that on the J. G. Coffey farm and one-half miles east of well on Highway No. 28. Mr. Coffey harvested 5,996 bushels on 340 acres, an average of nearly more than 17.6 bushels per acre, all coming from one field.

While I have made better yields than this in the 28 years that I have farmed in Foard," said Mr. Coffey, "yet I have never produced a wheat crop with uniform quality throughout. All of the wheat was No. 1, weighing 60 pounds and better and general was about the prettiest I have ever seen."

The harvest did not bring the benefit from this crop for the hundred calves, belonging to the Shirley, and 30 head of livestock belonging to Mr. Coffey were stored on wheat all fall and winter.

Mr. Coffey believes that it pays to plant with a sufficient season of the ground. The land from which his excellent wheat was produced was plowed twice with one-way plow the first time shortly after the first of July at a depth of four inches and the second time near the first of September at a depth of around 5 and 6 inches.

Sowing of the Kanred wheat took place for about five days beginning on Sept. 15. "For a while I looked as if I wouldn't get much of a stand, if any," Mr. Coffey said, "and the wheat never did me up thick, which may be one of the reasons for the high quality of the grain."

Mr. Coffey has farmed in Foard County since 1908, coming here that year from Clay County, North Carolina. At that time he came to W. S. Bell farm, southeast of Crowell. In 1919 he bought the 34-acre farm that he is now on. The number of acres in cultivation on this farm totals 360.

Guarding Our Interests

About a week ago a suit case containing clothing belonging to Julian Wright reached here from San Diego, Calif. This made his family and friends happy for it was felt that he would soon be home, but it was not long until information came that Julian was on a submarine chaser on the Mexican coast and did not know when he would be home. What this means we can only surmise. It may mean that Uncle Sam is merely taking precautionary measures. At any rate Julian is down there helping to guard our interests and he may not get to see homefolks until the coast is clear.

Prohibition

The great day of national prohibition has dawned. For a period war prohibition will be effective and while it may lapse for a few months, next January will be when permanent prohibition is inaugurated. It can hardly be denied that the ultimate effect of prohibition will be the betterment of the human race. It will likely take some years to thoroughly enforce the new laws.

JOHN D. IS 95

On July 8 John D. Rockefeller reached the age of 95 and seems reasonably certain to attain the century mark. This remarkable man, once generally hated and feared as the head of the great Standard Oil monopoly, has lived to be honored as one of the world's outstanding philanthropists.

He was born in Richford, N. Y., and after receiving very limited schooling became a clerk in Cleveland, and at 19 was a partner in a commission house. In 1862 he engaged in the business of refining petroleum, then an infant industry, and in 1865 he established the Standard Oil refinery, the original unit of what was destined to control for several years nearly the entire oil business of the country.

In 1890 Mr. Rockefeller founded the University of Chicago; later he established the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research; the General Education Board; the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial, in memory of his wife; the Rockefeller Foundation and other philanthropic enterprises.

Through these several agencies he has given more than $600,000,000 for educational, religious, philanthropic and charitable purposes. He retired from active business in 1911, since which time his vast benefactions have been largely directed by his son, John D., Jr.

Mart Ebeling Sends Telegram to Reunion; Includes Local Names

The names of a number of cattle-men, well known to local people, were included in the telegram sent to the Texas Cowboy Reunion last week by Mart Ebeling of Dallas, head of one of the largest brokerage firms in the South and owner of the Big 4 Ranch in Foard and Knox counties. The telegram follows:

"Texas Cowboy Reunion, Stamford—All Texas should be proud of Stamford's annual round-up of pioneer cowboys. They are as proud of them as pioneers of Texas independence. Glory to the Col. Frank Holland, friend of all pioneers. Hail to the Swensons, Frank Rhoads, Jeff Slaughter, John Seiman, John Gist, Tom Masterson, Perry McFadden, Burk-burnett, neighbors of our Big 4 Ranch in Foard and Knox counties, and Capt. Tom Hickman, Jim Minnick, Charlie Featherston, Paul Shirley, Frank Gilland, and many other knights of the range of the present generation. No single individual real he-man cowboy has with modesty and unselfishness given more time to the happy thought of perpetuating the memory of the old-timers than the cowboy's beloved historian, Walt Cousins. His is the noble work of one who experienced the early hardships as when he drove cattle from Abilene, Texas, to Abilene, Kans., never flinching, taking his mounts as they came and his strawberries and sonof-a-gun, with gusto. His untiring efforts will establish the cowboy reunion at Stamford as a national attraction second to none in the U. S. Dallas is proud of its cowboys. Its press' spirit of co-operation, Fort Worth's Amon Carter, personal friend of Will Rogers, cowboy deluxe, and all cowboys.—Mart Ebeling."

For Governor

EDGAR WITT

State Senator from the Thirteenth district in 36th, 37th, 38th, 39th, 40th and 41st legislatures and Lieutenant-Governor in 42nd and 43rd legislatures, candidate in 1934 for Centennial Governor of Texas.

Witt's Candidacy For Tex. Governor Gains Popularity

It has been proof of deft diplomacy that Edgar Witt, through the most turbulent of administrations of affairs in Texas, has served in the senate of six legislatures and presided over two as lieutenant-governor without alliance or feud with any political clique or faction.

Edgar Witt's schooling in statecraft and his record of sincerity in purpose gave the basic strength to Witt's candidacy when he announced, in December, 1933, for the office of centennial governor of Texas.

A man of more than fifty, mature judgment instilled through an enviable legislative career, there came, after his announcement for the governorship three immediate declarations, conceded in every part of the state: Witt was the best qualified man in the race; Witt has more personal friends than any other man in public life in Texas, and Witt would make the best-loved governor Texas ever had.

The senate service of Edgar Witt dates back to just after the World War, when the khaki-clad captain returned home in December, 1919, to learn that on that very day he had been elected to the state senate.

This was in a special election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator A. R. McCollum. Witt's name had been filed on the ballot by civilian friends, who conducted a campaign in his behalf that brought him a five-to-one victory in the election.

One of these campaigners was Witt's vivacious wife. She is the former Gwynne Johnstone of San Antonio. Schoolmates in the University of Texas, they were married a little more than a year after Witt's graduation in the Class of 1904 from the University of Texas. That finished the classroom education that had been begun in the public schools of Eddy, McLennan County, and continued in old Thomas Arnold High School at Salado, in Bell County, Witt's birthplace.

In earning his way through school by waiting on tables and soliciting guests for the boarding house where he worked, Edgar Witt also had occasional temporary jobs around the capitol. Out of college, he got a job in the comptroller's department, and his training in that department grounded him in his long-founded theories on taxation and the changes he proposes to equalize the burden that in Texas, for so many years, has weighed too heavily on homeowner and landowner.

Witt came to Waco a year or so later and began law as a profession in the office of Judge William Sleeper. Later he became senior member of the firm of Witt, Terrell & Witt.

For one term, Witt served in the House of Representatives, 1915-16, but did not offer for reelection. He became instead city attorney for Waco. Then the war. Then home to find himself a senator.

As long as he asked it, the thirteenth senatorial district returned Witt to his office. His record was such, his service so in accord with all that was progressive in governmental affairs that in 1930, when he became a candidate for Lieutenant Governor, Witt was given the support of almost every member of both House and Senate with whom he had served over the years. He was elected over five opponents.

In his office as President of the Senate, Witt has presided through trying times. Oil replaced cotton as the leading source of Texas revenue. Prohibition and repeal problems cropped up. The force of the 1929 stock market crash hit and engulfed thousands, hundreds of thousands, in destitution. Crime ran rampant; outlaws defied the government. The legislature had real problems.

When election time arrived, the Governor was opposed and defeated for a re-election to a second term in one of the bitterest campaigns ever staged in Texas. Yet Edgar Witt's fairness, his statecraft was of such caliber,

WALTER WOODUL

HARRIS SENATOR ASKS ELECTION AS LT. GOVERNOR

Houston, Texas.—Senator Walter Woodul of Houston has formally announced his candidacy for the office of Lieutenant Governor, saying:

"I aspire to the honor of being Lieutenant Governor of this state. I was born in Texas and educated in her schools, including the University. I volunteered to serve in her National Guard on the border in 1916 and served in the world war. I have been privileged to represent the people of Texas in both houses of the legislature, and I believe I know the problems of the state.

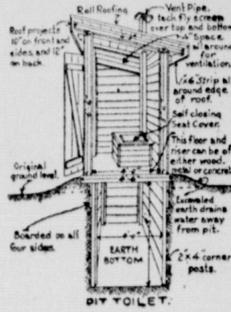

"As the campaign progresses, I will discuss and give to the electorate my position on pertinent issues."

Senator Woodul has represented Harris County in the senate for the past six years and was unanimously elected president pro tempore at the last regular session. He was born in Laredo, Texas, and worked his way through the University of Texas. He led in the organization of Houston Community Chest, is active in the civic life of this city, and is one of the leading lawyers in this section of the state. Senator Woodul was elected state manager of the Garner-for-President forces in Texas and served in that capacity at the National Democratic Convention in Chicago.

Senator Woodul married Miss Ethel Eldridge of Sugar Land in 1917, and they have one son. He is a member of and active worker in the South End Christian Church of this city.

that neither of the factions embroiled in the fight over the governorship even offered a candidate against Witt. He was given his present second term by a vote of 973,041, the biggest vote ever cast in Texas.

New Pit Type

This is a composite view of a typical sanitary pit type toilet, many of which were installed in Foard County under the old CWA work program. This work was carried on under the auspices of the State Board of Health in its effort to eliminate typhoid fever and give everyone the advantages of sanitation.

Public Is Urged to Take Advantage of Sanitation Offer

Under the existing conditions, the local relief office is unable to carry on an extensive work program. However, this office realizing the benefits and advantages of sanitation is endeavoring to encourage the construction of the new pit type toilets as above.

As will be noted in the accompanying illustration, this pit toilet is comprised of four parts, the house, vent pipe and the concrete slab which snugly over the pit. In this manner all refuse matter is completely sealed off and eliminated from these sources. Flies breed in open back toilets carry filth, typhoid fever and other disease-bearing germs to the dinner table.

Fred Kimsey, local relief supervisor, is furnishing labor to construct the concrete slabs. The pit will have to be done, and also the building of the house. (Usually the old pit can be utilized with very little altering.)

Everyone interested in the advantage of this offer can get their order for a concrete slab at the local administrative office. The cost of the various materials necessary have been worked out to a minimum with the local lumber yards and should be well in the reach of everyone.

All who do not have a sanitary toilet are urged to do their part and help make Foard one of the most sanitary and healthful counties in the State.

All wishing to have their toilet furnished can do so at a minimum labor charge. This labor, of course, is exclusive and has connection with the local relief office.

Prominent Fiddler Performs Here

Nationally Known Fiddler at Rialto Theatre Tonight

"Eck" Robertson of Borger, Texas, nationally known fiddler, and a brother of L. V. Robertson of Crowell, played on the stage at the Rialto Theatre last night and will be at the theatre for another performance tonight, assisted by local talent.

Thousands who have not had the pleasure of hearing Robertson in person, have heard his music on Victor records or over the radio. He has played in old-time fiddler's contests all over the continent, usually winning first place.

While he can play classical music on most any instrument, he prefers old-time fiddle "break-down" music and has gained fame playing it.

He can perform many unusual tricks and stunts with his fiddle, even to making it talk. "Eck" made his first fiddle while a boy out of a gourd, the hide of the family cat and bow strings from the tail of the old gray mare that served as the family buggy horse.

ALL IN KNOWING HOW--

THE clever magician seldom fails to amaze his audience with his tricks. And they are tricks . . . but he has to know how to do them and keep in good practice . . . Saving money . . . putting it away for future uses is also a trick. It is the trick of spending a little less than your income and banking the difference. The citizens who practice this thrifty trick are those who have money to invest when real opportunities present themselves.

KNOWING AND DOING

It is mighty fine to know a lot, but it is even better to be able to do things. Many persons who have at their command a considerable assortment of information are unable to put it to very much practical use.

This was neatly illustrated in a sort of "confession" article by a teacher, in the Journal of the National Educational Association. She said:

"I can solve a quadratic equation, but I cannot keep my bank account straight.

"I can name the Kings of England since the War of Roses, but I do not know the qualifications of the candidates in the coming election.

"I know the economic theories of Malthus and Adam Smith, but I cannot live within my income.

"I can explain the principles of hydraulics, but I cannot fix a leak in the kitchen faucet.

"I have studied the psychology of James and Titchener, but I cannot control my temper.

"I can conjugate Latin verbs, but I cannot write legibly."

While this picture may be somewhat overdrawn, it serves to illustrate the futility of much that passes for education, when its acquisition is not accompanied by training which leads to its useful employment in every day life.

When a pretty girl of Hollywood, Calif., was asked her name by a filling station attendant, she replied "I'm Miss Wienie Hott-dog and I feel like a cannibal whenever I eat a frankfurter."

Edward and Mary Seiger of Racine, Wis., commemorated their golden wedding anniversary by being remarried. At the end of the ceremony Mrs. Seiger fell dead.

Today's Live News For Fat Folks

3 Great Letters Read Them All

From all over the country—north—south—east—west come letters of praise for the world's safe and healthful enemy of fat—don't miss these 3 letters.

"I am using your Kruschen Salts on advice of my Doctor. Have used three bottles and lost 15 lbs., and gladly recommend it to all my friends." Mrs. G. W. Bryant, Foxboro, Mass., 1934.

"I am using your Kruschen Salts for constipation and reducing. Have taken 3 jars and have lost about 20 lbs. I can recommend it to be great." Miss A. J. Harber, Pineville, Ky., 1934.

"I have taken 3 bottles of Kruschen. I weighed 256, I reduced 56 lbs., and felt better each day, have got my 4th bottle." Ed Jordan, Levee, Ariz., 1934.

If you are proud of your double chin and bulging abdomen don't take Kruschen Salts. Ed Jordan made up his mind to take off 50 or more pounds of fat—and he did—Ed was sick and tired of lugging it around with him—persistence won for Ed as it will for any fat man.

A half teaspoon in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—get Kruschen at any drugstore.

AMERICANISM DEFINED

The word "Americanism" is used very frequently, but the average person would doubtless find some difficulty in defining it satisfactorily.

Broadly speaking, it is understood to mean an appreciation of and loyalty to America and its institutions. But it means more than a mere passive acceptance of the benefits which are derived from citizenship.

Probably no class of citizens is better qualified to define Americanism than the veterans of the wars which have been waged to defend it. Such a definition was adopted some time ago by the commanders-in-chief of five leading veterans' organizations, as follows:

"Americanism is an unflinching love of country; loyalty to its institutions and ideals; eagerness to defend it against all enemies; undivided allegiance to the flag, and a desire to secure the blessing of liberty to ourselves and posterity." Persons who can qualify under that definition are truly Americans, whether native-born or naturalized.

An inquisitive investigator in Chicago asked twelve men why they fell in love with their wives and nine answered: "Because of her gentle voice."

The visiting preachers trust that the community, comprising all Christians, will feel a responsibility for their families and friends and that each person will be burdened in prayer for others until the Spirit shall descend with unction and great power on all. The Preachers.

Christian Church

Rev. Merrill, on account of his trip to Utah, will not be with us Sunday, but he is sending Bro. Joe Crouch of Highland Heights Church of Wichita Falls to preach for him. Rev. Crouch is a fine speaker, a consecrated Christian worker and I know you will enjoy his messages and his visit with us.

Mrs. Kincaid will tell us, at the Sunday School opening service, about her recent visit to New York. You will sure want to hear this.

A co-operative meeting, Baptist-Methodist-Christian, will begin at Vivian Sunday morning to extend over two full weeks. The preaching will be done by Rev. Baggett, Baptist pastor of Kirkland, Rev. Turrentine, Methodist pastor of Crowell, and the writer, together with Rev. Merrill, if he is available. The Christian people of Crowell can be of great assistance in this endeavor by contributing their presence and their prayers.

Christian Science Services
"God" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 15.

The Golden Text is: "Blessing and glory, and wisdom, and thanksgiving, and honour, and power, and might, be unto our God for ever and ever" (Revelation 7:12.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Give thanks unto the Lord, call upon his name, make known his deeds among the people" (1 Chronicles 16:23.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Question.—What is God? Answer.—God is incorporeal, divine, supreme, infinite Mind, Spirit, Soul, Principle, Life, Truth, Love. . . . Question.—Is there more than one God or Principle? Answer.—There is not. Principle and its idea is one, and this one is God, omnipotent, omniscient Being, and His reflection is man and the universe" (page 465-466).

THE BOOK

... the first line of which reads, "The Holy Bible," and which contains Four Great Treasures ...

by BRUCE BARTON

FROM CARPENTER'S BENCH

The early years of Jesus' life are cloaked in mystery. We catch one glimpse of Him going up to the Temple with His parents, where He was lost from them for a day and subsequently discovered in the midst of a group of wise old men, asking questions and amazing them by the keen penetration of His comment. Except for this single episode the Gospels throw very little light upon His boyhood. We know the names of His brothers, James and Judas and Joseph and Simon, and there were at least two sisters. For some years He apparently was the man of the house, and His earnings in the carpenter shop were the main support of the family. Perhaps this was a disappointment to Him, for He must have been a studious boy who would have preferred to read and study. But He was strong and vigorous, and the family needed His help and His younger brothers His protection. At thirty, however, He had discharged His obligations; He was free legally and morally to find His own occupation and to do as He liked.

Bruce Barton

But what should He do? He had no professional education. He had attended the village school in the synagogue, as every Jewish boy of His time was supposed to do, and He could read later in public; and His conversation and discourses showed a considerable degree of familiarity with the literature of His people, the Law and the Prophets and the Psalms.

It requires no great imagination to sense the brooding that must have gone on within Him as He lifted up His eyes from the bench to see a caravan passing through the valley below on its way to the greater world, or sat at night under stars wondering at the eternal mysteries behind them.

One day in the slack season, about the first of the year as we count it, He took a vacation, turned the shop over to His brothers and went away to attend a kind of camp-meeting conducted by His brilliant, fiery young cousin, John.

The two cousins had known each other more or less, for John's father was a priest, and there is little doubt that as Jesus went up to Jerusalem for the annual feasts He met John there. John had turned his back on the priesthood and become an independent preacher. It is rather a solemn thought that at nearly every important period of Jewish history the established church failed to meet the requirements of the situation. Neither the prophets nor the psalm writers were official priests, but unsalaried and unofficial. John the Baptist refused the priesthood; Jesus was a layman. This is not necessarily a criticism of organized religion, but it does suggest strongly the need for tolerance in the church and for a spirit of humanity toward new truth.

OLD AGE POVERTY

While not a pleasant subject to dwell upon, an occasional look at a head to the conditions which may surround old age would be advisable, even for those whose circumstances in early life are satisfactory and whose future seems secure.

We may well be reminded that nearly 80 per cent of all old people are wholly or partially dependent upon others for support. Yet many of these in early and middle life were prosperous; some even wealthy. Who can not look about him and see acquaintances who were once the envy of their neighbors, but who through business reverses, accidents, illness or extravagance are now brought to feel the sting of poverty?

Usually such disasters might have been averted by a reasonable exercise of prudence and thrift. Keeping up with one's neighbors in a false display of prosperity is one fruitful source of old age poverty, and there are many others. Much of the misery which usually accompanies old age might be avoided by looking ahead before it is too late.

The Family DOCTOR

By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

VICTIMS
As time goes on, I become more and more impressed with the vastating effects on the health of the people by this so-called "civilization." To be candid, I have never witnessed anything like it. Large thousands of mature men and women are breaking down in nervous systems—the break-down striking at the very foundation of the physical structure, sweeping the victims from the field of life—the zone of making a living. Never, in my existence have I seen anything more devastating.
I have urged my patients, don't worry; there is nothing wrong with the individual as his LIFE. And, life can be made little more than constant torture—by worry! Yes, dear reader, we family doctors giving our life-energies to our patients—we advise people not to worry—only to catch ourselves doing the very same thing.
Symptoms of impending break: General weakness in hands and legs. There may be numbness and tingling, with very little actual pain. Just a feebleness—feeling of incapacity, "unequal to the day's work." When these symptoms are felt, REST at whatever cost.
All sorts of surface sensations may be noticed; coldness of hands and feet is common. I have observed "nervous chills," that not followed by noticeable fever. The patient himself remarks that he can't stand anything any more. Some imagine that they have influenza but the absence of cough and marked nasal symptoms prove no influenza. There may be loss of appetite, languor, and above all, a discouragement with daily affairs; the feeling that it isn't any use to venture further.
Mental break-down—nothing strikes me with more feeling of dejection than the mental break-down. To all my readers, REST—before too late.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by Charles E. Dunn

God Cares for Elijah.
Lesson for July 15th. 1 Kings 17 and 19.

Golden Text: Matthew 6:32.
Elijah is the most individual and interesting of the early prophets. A rugged, desert figure of flaming zeal, who stood uncompromisingly for the primitive strength of the faith.

There we see him as the prophet from this simple, pioneer faith. He was peculiarly strong both in impulsiveness and in tenacity. This is the first part of the lesson reveals convictions of the fathers, he hurled defiant thunderbolts at all who departed of both judgment and mercy.
Yet Elijah was weak, too, as the latter part of our lesson makes clear. Behold him sitting under a juniper tree in the wilderness asking the Lord to take his life! What was the matter with him?

In the first place he was tired. After the fearful strain of the contest with the prophets of Baal on Mount Carmel he was completely exhausted. Now physical weariness often produces despondency.
Then, in the second place, he felt all alone, as though no one were sympathetic with him. "I, even I only, am left." We know the meaning of this, do we not?

Involuntarily he swept off his battered hat, showing a grizzled

"You are Mr. Simpson, aren't you? I am Anne Cushing."

"Why, no ma'am," Petry gulped visibly. "My name is Petry, Boone Petry. If you're lookin' for Lon Simpson, he—

"Yes, I know, I bought it. But I thought he might be here to—

"I guess Sim's kind of careless that way," he added apologetically. "But don't let that bother you."

The local groaned in all its length and gathered its complain-

"It's awfully kind of you to take so much trouble. If you could just tell me where I can get a stage or rent a car, I think I can manage all right."

"It ain't a bit of trouble, but there ain't any stage, because there ain't any place in particular for a stage to go. And there ain't any garage, either, not for hirin' cars. But that needn't matter a bit, because our place is just a spell beyond yours, and we can give you a lift easy. Any time you like."

Petry rubbed his chin nervously with a mahogany paw. Here was a situation calling for diplomacy, and diplomacy, he felt, had never been one of his stronger points. He sent a hunted look

"That would be splendid, but I hate to be such a nuisance. "Not a-tall, ma'am. The young man was at his elbow now, looking interested. Looking more than

"Of course we can. Very glad to." Not a single blink betrayed that the Simpson place was out of their homeward way by some miles of singularly bad road.

"It's awfully good of both of you. I didn't expect to be a charge on the community as soon as I arrived."

"The community," said Barry Duane, "considers itself in luck. Now about this new place of yours. When do you get possession?"

"I've got it now." "Yes—of course." He hesitated, and caught Petry's nervous eye. Petry cleared his throat.

"I was thinkin'," he ventured, "seeing there's nobody out there now, maybe the lady might like to put up at the hotel here, until her folks come?"

"But you see, there isn't anyone else to come," Anne Cushing laughed, for the first time in three long weeks and Barry Duane thought it was the loveliest laugh he had ever heard.

"You really mustn't be worried about me," she said in that lovely voice. "I'm not a bit afraid of staying alone. I thought I'd try to get a man and his wife. I meant to leave an advertisement for them before I started for the ranch. Can I do this?"

Barry laughed. "No, I'm afraid you can't. There's no paper to advertise in, the side of the county seat. At least there's no printed one. The unofficial way is to mention whatever you want over at Jim Bagley's general store, and then wait for the returns to come in. Any other suggestions, Petry? How about Martha Larrabee?"

five minutes since she had stepped from the train and here she was, trotting confidently along with two perfect strangers who had taken herself, her luggage and apparently all her problems into their capable hands.

At the far end of the straggling street a wooden cottage, better kept than most, sat a little back in a yard where neat borders of flowers had been encouraged to grow. They stopped. Petry went in. He was some five minutes. Anne began to wonder what was happening. Suppose the efficient Mrs. Larrabee should decline to come?

The front door opened and a woman came out. She was tall and comfortably plump, with greyed brown hair and an air of practical competence. Her face was strong and shrewd, and not without humor. Petry came out behind her, with an uncertain grin on his homely face. Evidently the redoubtable Martha had declined to commit herself.

"This is the lady, Martha, Miss Cushing, this is Miss Larrabee." "I hope you can come, Mrs. Larrabee, I really don't know what there is to be done yet."

Martha looked at the girl in the car, a small and slightly anxious face.

"I'll come," she said briefly, and permitted herself a grim quirk of a smile as she nodded to the car's owner. She went on briskly, calmly taking the situation in hand.

"You wait here for me, and I'll go with you to the store. It won't take me two minutes."

She went back into the house. Such trifling matters as wages, duties and hours had evidently not entered into her decision at all.

"Passed with honors!" said Barry Duane. "Martha came out to look you over, and if she hadn't liked your looks you couldn't have argued her into coming at any price."

She laughed and sobered, looking out at the endless waste that went on and on into the hazy distance.

"I knew I was under inspection. I was so afraid I wouldn't pass muster I scarcely dared breathe. She looks so—dependable."

"Martha's pure gold—and here she comes. Now, for the store and your supplies. Another half hour and we'll be on our way."

They were off in much less time than that, thanks to Martha Larrabee's brisk supervision. Marston's brief sensation was over, at least for the time being, but the repercussions still echoed. All Marston knew it now. A pretty young thing with a soft voice and delicate hands had bought the Simpson ranch, thirty miles out across the Junipero, and expected to run it. Male Marston admired, but shook his head. Female Marston sniffed.

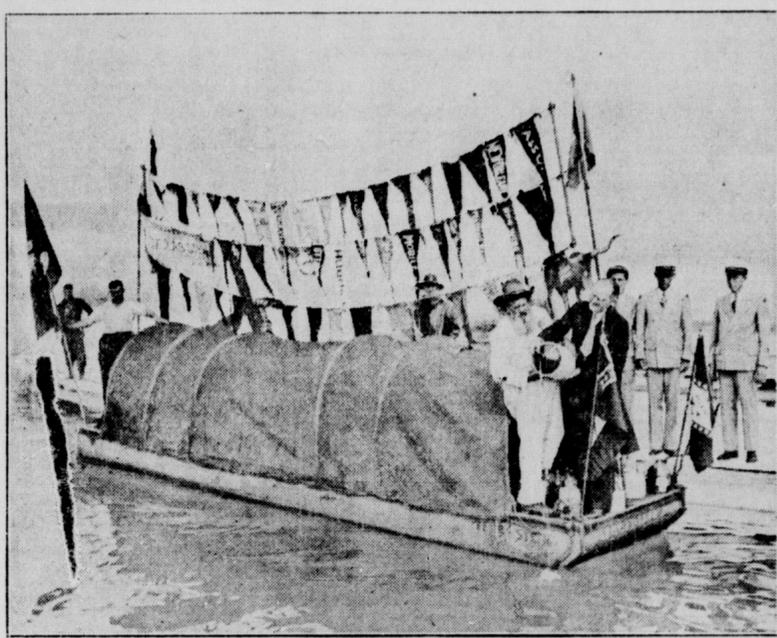

"Looks like she had money," said Jim Bagley hopefully. "She sure is pretty."

"She's too pretty," said his wife tartly. "Girls who look like that and wear clothes like that don't go streakin' off to out-of-the-way places unless there's somethin' queer back of it. The loungers around the store preserved a polite silence."

"And what's more," said the lady heatedly, "that suit she wears is handsome, just handsome, but when she took the coat off, while she was waitin' for Barry Duane to come back and dance around her, I looked inside of it to see where it come from, and the tag had been ripped off! That don't look like any accident to me."

Fortunately for her peace of mind, the girl who called herself Anne Cushing had no suspicion of the too eager eye which had found that evidence of a discarded identity in her coat. She did have a faintly disagreeable memory of

Texas "Scowboy" Mixes Water of 19 Rivers at Fair

In a... of ceremonial at the new World's Fair in Chicago, B. M. Hatfield pours out of a Jug water from 19 rivers and canals and streams into the Fair lagoon and Lake Michigan. Hatfield, bearded "scowboy," filled the jugs on a 4,500 mile motored boat trip from Texas. Victor Webb, Chicago city sealer, who offered Commodore Hatfield the keys to the city, is looking on. Pilots from the Fair's lagoon fleet are in the background. Water from the following points was poured into the World's Fair lagoon by "Commodore" Hatfield: Trinity river, intra-coastal canal, Pensacola, Fla., Bayou La Batrie, Bayou Terribone, Bayou Houma, Gulfport, Miss., Harvey Locks, New Orleans, St. Louis, Mo., St. Paul, Minn., Prescott, Wis., Dubuque, Ia., Moline, Ill., Mobile, Ala., Burlington, Ia., and Ottawa, Ill. He started his long boat trip from Ft. Worth, Tex.

a sharp-faced woman who had been rather offensively inquisitive but that could have meant no more than the ill-restrained curiosity of a small-town gossip. She put it behind her, and settled back contentedly.

Marston, low against its sands, had vanished in a sprawling blur. The old car made excellent time. Petry was driving. Martha Larrabee sat beside him. Barry Duane sat with Anne in the rear seat.

Blazing sunlight beat down, and a long plume of dust waved and wavered in their wake. The road ran on ahead of them, mile after mile, with nothing to impede their view. There was not a house in sight, nothing moving. In the opulent flare of sunshine distance took on strange colors, turning to purple in the folds of those sudden hills.

"You are in the Junipero Valley now," Duane told her. "You must remember that, because it is your next-door neighbor. A few thousand years ago there was a river here, but it has been dry a long time. I suppose it looks pretty ugly to you, but it has its points, and after the rains it will be streaked with purple and gold."

"Purple and gold." She narrowed thoughtful eyes and stared at it, half dreaming.

"No, I don't think it is ugly. It's fascinating. It's empty and brooding and rather terrible, but it beckons you. It keeps promising you something, and you want to go on and on until you find it."

The grey eyes warmed. They almost blazed. She had a quick feeling that somewhere behind this pleasant brown young man there was an eager little boy, rather pathetically anxious to have someone admire a thing he loved, but with all a little boy's sensitiveness to rebuff. That was curious, when in other ways he seemed so completely poised and assured, quite as much so as any man she knew. She wondered what had happened, to make him feel like that.

NRA Insignia Plates Necessary for Trucks On Federal Projects

Austin, July 9.—After July 13 no truck operating for hire without NRA insignia plates will be allowed to work upon any project upon which Federal funds are being spent, according to Col. H. F. Stewart, chairman of the Texas trucking code authority. "This will include much of the road construction, public building renovations and other public works projects under way," he said.

The names of over 400 truck operators who have not registered under the Code have been certified to the NRA Compliance Office at San Antonio, according to Mr. Stewart.

"Almost 2,000 registrations have been made in Texas," he continued, "but, of course, there are always some laggards who stay out until the last minute. July 13 is the last day on which anyone operating a truck for hire can operate legally without the NRA plate, but the Code Authority will continue to accept registrations from those who can show reason for not having registered. Anyone who should register and who has not done so by that date will be subject to the full penalties of the Recovery Act, and each day is a separate offense under the Code."

Full information on registration may be had from the headquarters of the code authority in the Littlefield Building at Austin.

If two names that we have seen in daily newspapers during the past week truly represented local citizens with the same names, then all would not be well with a local insurance man and the local natural gas magnate.

The following appeared in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram Tuesday: "RUSK, July 9, AP.—Leo Spencer alias Merlin French, was sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary today for an attempt to rob a bank at Alto on March 5. He already has been sentenced to serve a prison term for a robbery at Cushing, Nacogdoches County."

And then we read in the Vernon Record where Virgil Smith and Ruth Clark secured a marriage license in that city. After learning that the local gas manager was not a polygamist and that he had figured in no recent divorce proceedings, we concluded that here must be another "Virgil Smith" in West Texas.

Roy Steele serves notice that Four Corners farms can produce "believe it or not" features, the same as others mentioned in this column in the past, and proves it by displaying a healthy Irish pig through the center of which a Johnson grass root had grown, entering one side and passing out the other.

Scratch Him

We prefer to leave this column out of politics, but we can't resist the urge to request voters to scratch the name of "Geo. B. Terrell," a candidate for state treasurer, and here's why:

This bird's real name is Geo. T. Baker. Recently he went into one of the district courts of Dallas and secured an order or permit to change his name to Geo. Baker Terrell, which he enters as candidate for state treasurer as Geo. B. Terrell.

Coming upon the retirement of Geo. B. Terrell, prominent Texan, whose term soon expires, as congressman-at-large, this Dallas bozo evidently hopes to gather votes for himself by taking over the name of this faithful public servant who is retiring from public service at the age of 74.

Please remember this when you go to vote on July 28. Imagine placing a man at the head of the state treasury who uses methods of this nature.

A Man in the Making

We don't know whether his work in a grocery store has anything to do with it, yet Frank Meason seems to be outgrowing anything in Foard County. No longer will this local high school athlete be referred to as "Little Frank." He has gained around 12 pounds since school ended and now tips the scales at close to 150, which means that those Olney Cubs now have something more to worry about.

Incidentally, the old football season will be under way in just about two more months, since Crowell opens with Knox City on Sept. 14, and then plays Vernon in a night game the following week.

And speaking of the way local boys are growing, this Bob Lilly evidently finds last week's pants a little too short to wear today. Bob has shown some real football ambition and we predict gridiron success for him in the future. As a 90-pound Freshman, he reported for practice two years ago. He weighed 105 pounds when he reported at the beginning of last season.

Weather Department

That statement in the last issue that a rain prediction would be made this week has brought a lot of grief. Many drought sufferers urgently requested advance information, but we couldn't give it. In fact, here it is press day again and as yet the old "hunch" fails to respond. Nevertheless, here's the best we have to offer this week:

Showers in the Good Creek and Foard City communities—July 17. Quarter-inch rain at Vivian—July 18.

General rain over the county—July 20. Heaviest around West Rayland.

China has experienced 2,000 famines during the past 2,200 years.

A. L. Honeycutt of Chillicothe, I. O. O. F. district deputy grandmaster and staff, will conduct the installation. Frank Brisco is the retiring noble grand.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Little Billie Merle Abbott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Abbott, of Truscott, who has been seriously ill in the hospital, has improved to the extent that the family has returned to Truscott.

C. D. Stephenson, who has been in the hospital following a mastoid operation, has been removed to his home.

Former Crowell Boy Is Assistant Coach At Canyon College

Bob Cox, who recently arrived at Canyon to assume duties as assistant athletic coach and instructor in physical education, is a former resident of Crowell and the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Cox of Vernon.

During the past two seasons, Bob has become nationally famous as a football player. During these seasons he played fullback for Duke University of Durham, N. C., and was the leading scorer of the Southern Conference last season and was named on the All-Southern Conference team.

Bob's first football experience came when he played on the Crowell High School team in 1926. After his family moved to Vernon, he played the next two seasons with Vernon High School.

After finishing high school he followed his coach, Al Baggett, who is head coach at Canyon at the present time, to Wichita Falls, where he played one year with Wichita Falls Junior College.

From Wichita Falls Junior College, Cox and Baggett went to Amarillo Junior College, where Cox played two more years under the coaching of Baggett. While playing at Amarillo, Wallace Wade, nationally famous coach, became interested in Cox with the result that he played the next two seasons with the strong Duke squad.
