PLANO AND CROWELL PLAY TOMORROW

CROWELL HI BEATS GRAHAM 33 TO 6 AT WICHITA FALLS FOR SECOND BI-DIST. TITLE

Passing the goal line after an end run that came with the kick-off, Dick Todd of Crowell set a furious pace which maintained throughout the game leading the Crowell High Wildcats to a 33 to 6 victory over the Sham Steers for the bi-district championship in a contest played over 3,500 people at Wichita Falls last Friday afternoon. Todd's brilliant kick-off run electrified the crowd failed to get in a touchdown, however, cause on his 85-yard jaunt he got out of bounds by just an inch so on Graham's 32-yard line, a return of 52 yards. He scored shortly afterward from the one-line.

With the aid of a fumbled punt Crowell's part, the Steers came back and tied the score at 6-6 in the first quarter when Kendall crashed across from the one-line. Todd's pass to Gafford resulted in a touchdown in the second quarter, which enabled Crowell to have a 13-6 lead at the half. Two Crowell touchdowns came in the third quarter, Todd going across for both after brilliant runs and passes helped place the ball on the goal line.

Todd raced 65 yards for a touchdown on the first play of the last quarter in completing the day's most sensational made by Todd this season. Excellent blocking by members of the Wildcat squad contributed much to the Crowell victory. Outstanding performances were turned in by Dunn and Patton in the Crowell line. Principal performers for Graham were Couger and Parsley, hefty tackles, and Kimbrell and Morris in the backfield. Besides preventing hundreds of people from attending the game, freezing weather was also one of the principal causes of several fumbles.

First Quarter

With the north wind at his back, Kendall of Graham kicked off to Todd who electrified the crowd by running 85 yards through the Steer herd and across the goal line, however, the ball was called back to the Graham 32-yard line, where Todd had stepped out of bounds by inches.

On the first play Todd went over left tackle for 14 yards. McKown gained 4, but Graham was penalized 5 yards for offside. Todd

FOOTBALL TROPHIES FOR TEAMS OF THIS SECTION

W. T. WAGGONER DIED TUES. AT FT. WORTH HOME

If the Crowell Wildcats defeat Plano tomorrow afternoon at Wichita Falls they will not only achieve Class B football's greatest honor—a regional championship—but will also give Crowell High School permanent possession of the handsome actual size silver football shown in the center of the above picture.

Through the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, the Wichita Mill & Elevator Company, the Holt Hotel and the Empire Paper Co. of that city, offered silver trophies to the leading teams of North and Northwest Texas.

The four statuettes go to the district winners of Region No. 2, Crowell, Plano, Graham and Vocational of Fort Worth. The silver football goes to the regional champion. These five trophies are given by the Gold Medal Co. through its Wichita Falls plant, the Wichita Mill & Elevator Co.

The cup at the left was given by the Holt Hotel to Reagan Junior High for winning the junior high championship of Wichita Falls. The Empire Paper Co. offered the other cup to the Class A, District 5 champion, Vernon and Quanah were declared co-champions of that district, so it is not yet known who will get this trophy.

During his life Mr. Waggoner had supported liberally many public and civic enterprises. He gave $1,000.00 to the statue fund of the local Gordon J. Ford Post of the American Legion, which played a major part in the erection of the fine memorial on the Crowell court house lawn, which includes the soldier and sailor statues and the German cannon on an attractive concrete base.

TWELVE PLANO REGULARS WHO WILL PLAY CROWELL

Although there are 26 boys on the Plano football squad, only the 12 regulars are shown in the above picture.

The quartet on the top row is hailed as one of the greatest Class B backfields in Texas. Left to right, they are: Joe Lynne Batchelor, smashing fullback; Captain Chelsea "Hatcher" Crouch, the "Todd" of North and Northeast Texas; Thomas Miller, a fast stepping and shifty halfback; and Carlyle Taylor, who was selected on the "all-district" 9-B football team.

Those in the middle row are: W. Mitchell, guard; Russell Lovelace, tackle; William Haggard, guard; John L. Crawley, end. Lovelace and W. Mitchell are "all-district" men.

On the bottom row are: Roy Theford, end; Russell Bryan, tackle; Clifford Landers, guard, and Roy Mitchell, "all-district" center.

FERA School Is Started in Crowell

An emergency FERA school under the supervision of City School Superintendent L. T. Graves, County Superintendent Vance Swain and the local relief office opened in the District Court Room on Tuesday afternoon at 10 o'clock.

The teachers for this school are Mrs. Otto Davenport and Mrs. Sewell Roy and the subjects which are taught are reading, writing, elementary arithmetic, English, Texas History, and civics.

Any person who is over 16 years of age and not enrolled in a public school is eligible. All such persons, thus eligible, and needing this instruction, are urged to attend.

The classes will be held from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m. each school day in the district court room.

Negress Arrested as Result of Theft Sat.

The safe at the grocery store of J. H. Olds was robbed of $52 Saturday night. A negro woman, giving the name of Bernice Stanley, entered the store and purchased a five-cent bar of candy and asked for 15c worth of meat which was in the rear of the store. She followed Mr. Olds and while he was cutting the small piece of meat the safe was opened and the money taken.

Upon going to the safe to make change, Mr. Olds discovered the loss. He immediately reported the theft to the officers and efforts were made to locate the thieves.

The Stanley woman is in the local jail and her husband, A. B. Stanley, was held for questioning but was later released.

The negress charged with the theft is wanted at several other places.

since March 8 of this year, will conclude his service with the local church at services on Dec. 23 and take up full-time work with the Henrietta church.

Foard Principals and Supts. Met in Crowell Tues. Night

A meeting of Foard County school superintendents and principals was held at Crowell High School Tuesday night. In connection with the state's curriculum revision program, a committee composed of F. U. Powell of Foard City, Emmett Powell of Vivian and Miss Bernice Coffey of Four Corners, was appointed to work with the state and district committees on this matter and study courses.

W. M. Bralley of Thalia, president of the Foard County Teachers Ass'n, urges all principals in the county to familiarize themselves with the state bulletin No. 336, which can be secured by writing Mr. Stigler, head of the textbook division of the state department of education.

AUTO ACCIDENT

J. V. Robie, local linotype operator, suffered severe bruises about the face and neck shortly after midnight Saturday when his Plymouth sedan overturned about one mile north of Crowell after crashing into a side of a concrete culvert.

Mr. Robie was returning alone to Crowell from Quanah at the time. Lights of an approaching vehicle blinded him, causing the crash, Mr. Robie stated. The sedan was damaged to the extent of about $100.

The shaking up Mr. Robie received did not stop him from working all this week, however.

WICHITA FALLS NAMED SITE OF REGIONAL GAME

Plano's Wildcats won the bi-district championship of No. 7 and No. 9, Class B, last Friday, defeating Vocational High of Fort Worth 26 to 6 at Plano on the same day that Crowell beat Graham, 33 to 6, in winning the championship of Districts 5 and 6.

The game this week will be the final one of the season for both teams and to the winner will go the highest honor that it is possible for a Class B football team to achieve in Texas—the regional championship.

Many Invitations

Besides the Crowell and Plano representatives present at the Bowie meeting, delegations were also on hand from Garland, Olney and Wichita Falls. Seventeen men were in the Olney group. Though not represented by delegations, invitations had also been extended by Quannah, Vernon, Denton and Graham for the game to be played in their cities.

Crowell and Plano men represented at the Bowie conference were: Crowell—Grady Graves, L. A. Andrews, Walker P. Tom and Mack Boswell; Plano — Oliver Hughtson, E. A. Sigler, Alex Shell, Joe Rice and Stanley Thomas.

All outsiders were soon eliminated except Wichita Falls and Garland, which is about ten miles from Plano. In coming to Wichita Falls, Plano has received a guarantee of $450. In case receipts are $1,050 above officiating expenses, etc., for example, Plano and Crowell would split 50-50, with Plano receiving $50 to begin with for the added expense of having to come a much greater distance. In such a case, Plano would receive $550 and Crowell $500.

Receipts Last Week Heavy

The Crowell-Graham receipts passed the $1,000 mark, in spite of very disagreeable weather, and it is felt that the Plano game will attract an even greater crowd.

The price of tickets remain the same as for the Graham game—25c and 50c if purchased before 6 p. m. today, and 35c and 75c if purchased after that time.

The Plano Wildcats have made a very impressive record for several years, being runner-up in their district for four years until defeating Rockwall, last season's regional champion, 12 to 0, recently for the district championship. Plano-Rockwall rivalry has been similar to that of Crowell and Olney, since both teams have been the leaders in their district for five years.

"We had a better team than Rockwall last year, but had six men in bed with influenza when we played them," stated Coach Stanley Thomas of Plano at Bowie Sunday, "and we have nine letter men, six of whom were regulars, back from that squad."

This statement should give Crowell fans some idea of Plano's great strength, for it will be remembered that Rockwall beat Crowell 34 to 7 in the regional battle last year.

In Co-Captain Chelsea Crouch, quarterback, Plano boasts one of the best high school backfield men in the State and are counting upon him to rival Dick Todd's performance in Friday's game.

Hundreds of Plano fans are planning to leave their Collin County homes and journey to Wichita Falls to witness this game and renew acquaintances with numerous Crowell fans who formerly lived in and around Plano. The "get-together" feature of this event should add much interest to it.

Official All-District Team Announced By Wichita Falls Paper

Except for two men, the all-district 5-B football team published in the Wichita Falls Record-News Tuesday, following ballot of the eight coaches of the district, was the same as the one selected by The Foard County News, which was published two weeks ago.

The Record-News all-district team follows:

ENDS—Patton and Gafford of Crowell.

TACKLES—Dunn of Crowell and Tinker of Olney.

GUARDS—Atchley of Olney and Gilliam of Seymour.

CENTER—Williams of Olney.

BACKS—Kelly of Olney, quarterback; Simms of Burk Burnett and St. John of Olney, halfbacks; Todd of Crowell, fullback.

The Foard County News' selection listed all of the above players, except Atchley and St. John of Olney, having two Crowell men in their places. McKown of Crowell was listed as a backfield man and Saunders was placed at center, with Williams of Olney being showed from center to a guard in the place of Atchley.

The only unanimous choices of coaches for the official all-district team were two Crowell men, Todd and Patton. Dunn of Crowell received 7 out of 8 votes.

ROTARY LUNCHEON

Joe Ward conducted an interesting discussion of "salesmanship and advertising" as the feature of the program at the luncheon of the Rotary Club Wednesday. His talk included many interesting and enlightening facts. C. V. Allen was in charge of the program.

I. R. Lines, Fort Worth Rotarian, and Rev. L. W. Bridges of Paducah, were visitors at the luncheon, and spoke briefly. George Self announced plans for the football banquet Monday night. Bernard Bryant of Stamford, former Rotary district governor, arrived just before the meeting and adjourned and made a few remarks.

Local Talent Gives Enjoyable Numbers On Radio Program

The Crowell High School girls quintet, under the direction of Miss Winnie Self, with Mrs. Sidney Miller as accompanist, sang two numbers over KGKO at Wichita Falls Friday night in connection with the Chamber of Commerce program of that city.

Supt. I. T. Graves gave a brief talk of appreciation and was also interviewed over the air about Dick Todd. "Stay as Sweet as You Are," sung to the tune of "Stay as Sweet as You Are" and dedicated to Wichita Falls, was one of the quintet's numbers. A football pep song, "Crowell High," was the other.

Graham was also represented on the program as a result of the courtesy extended Crowell and Graham visitors at the bi-district game by the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce.

The program was well received over this territory and many compliments have been received by the local persons taking part on it.

New Implement and Tractor Firm Here

A new farm implement and tractor firm for Crowell has been opened in the Geo. Allison building by J. L. Stodghill of Munday, who now has firms handling J. I. Case tractors and implements at three points, Seymour, Munday and Crowell.

Clyde Nelson of Munday is manager of the local firm. He is now living here and will move his family to Crowell about Christmas. Clyde Bullion of Truscott will represent the local firm in the Knox County territory around Truscott.

Two tractor demonstrations have been conducted in Foard County during the past week by Mr. Nelson and representatives of the Dallas branch of the Case company, Frank F. Tarpley and Mr. O'Hair, sales manager. A demonstration was conducted Saturday at the M. L. Byrd farm near Crowell and another on Tuesday on the J. C. Taylor farm near Thalia.

FIREWORKS NOTICE

A number of complaints are coming to city officials about the shooting of fireworks in the business section. This practice is a violation of a city ordinance and warning is hereby given that those violating it are subject to apprehension.

Squads that "Finally Made Good" Compete In Friday's Contest

Two Wildcat squads that "finally made good" will compete for Class B football's greatest honor—the regional championship—when Plano and Crowell meet at Coyote Stadium in Wichita Falls Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

For five years almost identical situations have existed in the two districts represented by this pair of bi-district title holders.

Plano may be regarded as the "Crowell" of District 9-B, and Rockwall the "Olney" of the same district. For four years Plano occupied the runner-up position, usually suffering district defeats only at the hands of the Rockwall Yellow Jackets, last year's champions of Region No. 2. Crowell, likewise suffered its only district defeats for some few seasons because of superior squads of Olney Cubs. However, the Crowell Wildcats were a season earlier in definitely deciding that they had "taken it" entirely too often, with the result that they smashed Olney's five-year reign as district champion in the 1933 season.

Plano would probably have been a year earlier in displacing Rockwall, who won four consecutive district championships, had it not been for the fact that six of Plano's Wildcat regulars were laid up with the "flu" when they clashed with Rockwall last year.

In finally beating Rockwall 12-0 this season, the Wildcats of Collin County experienced that same deep degree of satisfaction and joy that came to the Wildcats of Foard County when in the Olney game of last year, they proved for the first time that they could "dish it out" to their principal rival as well as "take it."

Spectators at Friday's tilt will see two teams battling for an honor that neither has yet achieved, a regional championship. And in this most important of all Class B games, they will no doubt see some of the hardest, yet cleanest, football ever played in Northwest Texas, for over a period of many years the squads of Coach Grady Graves and Stanley Thomas have achieved enviable records as hard and clean fighters.

Two Margaret Teams Win Over Goodlett

Margaret's girls and boys basketball teams continued their winning ways in games last week, the boys defeating Goodlett 22 to 11 and the Margaret girls winning over the Goodlett girls by the lopsided score of 50 to 9.

Coach W. A. Smart of the two teams used four substitutes in the boys game and two in the girls contest. Hunter, regular center, and Patterson, sub center, led the Margaret boys scoring with 8 and 7 points each. Other boys in the lineup included Middlebrook, Owens and Ingle, forwards; Bledsoe, Smith, Blevins and Bradford, guards.

Those in the Margaret girls lineup were: Russell, A. Shaw, Morrison and Payne, forwards; E. McCurley, N. McCurley, L. Shaw and Boman, guards.

MASONIC MEETING

The meeting of the 90th Masonic district was held at the Masonic Hall in Crowell on Tuesday evening.

There were 6 members from Chillicothe present, 7 from Thalia, 25 from Crowell and one visitor from the Clarendon lodge.

Pupils from Mrs. I. T. Graves' expression class rendered a part of the program, the first number of which was a skit "Advertisement," by Frank Hofues and Camille Graves. Peggy Cooper gave a reading entitled "The Dancing Lesson." This was followed by another skit "Entertaining Sisters' Beau," by Ray Bell, Frank Hofues, Marjorie Spencer and Camille Graves.

The welcome address was given by O. O. Hollingsworth and the response was given by Cone Green of Thalia. A talk by C. V. Allen and a report by Claude Callaway of the Grand Lodge meeting at Waco were also numbers on the program.

The main feature of the program was an address by George Moffet of Chillicothe. Refreshments of mince meat pie and whipped cream and coffee were served.

Mrs. Stanley Sanders was called to Seymour Wednesday morning on account of the death of the 4-year-old child of her sister. The little girl died of pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Propps and daughters, Lora Gene and Marjorie, of Knox City were here Sunday visiting in the home of Mrs. Propps' mother, Mrs. Fannie Thacker.

S. S. Bell is in a Dallas hospital following an operation submitted to last week. He is reported to be getting along satisfactorily and will remain in Dallas about two more weeks.

Grady Thacker, Lee Black, Miss Elizabeth Kincaid, Miss Corone Henry and Charles Ferguson attended the annual banquet of the Vernon Junior Chamber of Commerce in Vernon Tuesday night.

"God the Preserver of Man," is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Dec. 16.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord preserveth all them that love him." (Psalms 145:20.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "The Lord is thy keeper; the Lord is thy shade upon thy right hand. The sun shall not smite thee by day, nor the moon by night. The Lord shall preserve thee from all evil." (Psalms 121:5, 6, 7.)

The Lesson-Sermon includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Love giveth to the least spiritual idea might, immortality, and goodness, which shine through all as the blossom shines through the bud. All the varied expressions of God reflect health, holiness, immortality—infinite Life, Truth and Love." (Page 518.)

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by Charles E. Dunn

The Christian and the Lord's Supper. Lesson for Dec. 16th, 1 Cor. 11:23-34.

Golden Text: 1 Cor. 11:26.

The Lord's Supper is a pledge of loyalty. We call it a sacrament, a "sacramentum" meaning an "oath taken by newly enlisted soldiers."

The Holy Communion is such an oath. When one participates in this feast of love he says in his heart: "I am for Jesus. I dedicate myself, my all to Him." Thus the Lord's Table is the occasion for a solemn rite of consecration.

Bruce Barton

Then, too, this holy meal is an act of thanksgiving. It is sometimes called the Eucharist which, in the original Greek, means "a giving of thanks."

At the Lord's Supper we express our gratitude for Jesus and all He has done and said. We reveal our appreciation for the fullness of His beauty and the warmth of His friendship.

The Communion is also a memorial. "This do," said Jesus, "in remembrance of Me." We remember the Master when we gather about His Table. Especially, as our Golden Text reminds us, do we recollect His death on the Cross: "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends." Ten years ago two young Englishmen, Mallory and Irvine, lost their lives in a heroic attempt to reach the summit of Mt. Everest, the top of the world. Nobly did they die, and golden is their memory. For they "were lovely and pleasant in their lives, and in their death they were not divided." But Jesus' achievement is still more magnificent. For He gave His life not to capture a mountain, but that men might forever know the meaning of goodness, and thereafter live the kind of life God meant them to live. Finally, the Communion symbolizes fellowship. It represents the loving friendship of the members of a particular parish. But it betokens also the unity of all Christians in the Holy Church Universal. What a thrilling fellowship.

Morris returned the kick-off to the 35. Kimbrell fumbled when hit by Dunn and Gafford recovered on the Graham 35. Gafford passed to McKown for 7 yards. Todd gained 2 and then 5 putting the ball on the 5.

Prideaux made 3. McKown made a 20-yard return of Kimbrell's punt to mid-field, but the play was annulled when Crowell was penalized 15 yards for roughing the kicker. Kimbrell made a yard. ...GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"I'd advise you to shut up, old man," said Dick sternly. "I don't name you, in a way, but there's something here that neither you or I understand. Only this—you said it—laughing's all that Ellen can do, just now. If you haven't enough sense to see it, if Claire's woman enough to get it, I do the kid's at the end of her rope."

Still formidable, still quaint, he had left Sandy standing wordless beside the sofa on which Claire sat. He had left Sandy, and had gone swiftly to Ellen's side, and his long arms, reaching out, had drawn her little figure—in its beaded play suit—close to his chest.

"Easy now, youngster," said Dick. "Lay off that stuff! Cry if you want to, if you must. But lay off that business of laughing. You'll be ill—"

Ellen found that she was clutching Dick's arms, way up close to the shoulders. They were tense, like iron. They were bony they weren't cuddly, they were just something to hold on to—but, oh, how dreadfully she needed them! As her slim fingers bit into their senseness, she began to regain a certain amount of self-control. She could realize, as she fought to keep back her spasmodic giggles, that it was because she had been relieved to know that it was Sandy who had come up the stairs—Sandy, and not Tony.

But at any moment it might be Tony! For hadn't Claire said that his car was waiting, at the curb? Ellen was wrenching herself free from Dick's grasp. Was beginning to shake again, to shake as if she were chilled, as if she were feverish.

"I'm all right n-now, old thing," she tried to say breezily, although she found it almost impossible to articulate. "I'll go n-now and g-get my things on. . . I really have a date, you know."

Sandy threw himself down on the sofa, beside Claire.

"With the baby you met, last night, suppose?" he sneered. "With the boy who rode around the park with you—oh, I know all about it."

"Then," Ellen's eyes were blazing, "then you can just be still about it! For even if you did buy my tickets to the Six Arts, you don't own me. I'm sorry that I left—at least, I was sorry! But I'm not any, any more."

Dick had been very quiet for a few minutes, but although Ellen struggled to be free, his hands weren't relaxing their hold, not a particle.

"You're not leaving this studio, not in this condition," he told her. "What's it all about, youngster, anyway? Did you have anything to drink last night? Answer me that!"

Ellen tried to master this business of nerves. If she didn't, Dick wouldn't let her go. She knew Dick.

"Of course, I didn't have anything to drink," she said, almost gently. "I never drink. Don't you trust me?"

"I used to, myself," said Sandy, "trust you. But not any more. Even Gay wouldn't treat a guy—"

"Be still!" reared Dick. Like most men, his helplessness had the effect of angering him.

Ellen, there in Dick's arms, wanted to scream at them. She wanted to call Claire ugly names, and she'd never wanted to call anyone an ugly name, before. This bantering, when her whole future was at stake! For if Tony came up searching for her—how could she explain things? These arms—Dick's arms—that held her? How his eyes at her. Not Sandy, with his mouth hanging, ever so slightly, open.

Only Claire retained her non-chalance.

"So?" said Claire. And then languidly rose from the sofa and strolled across the room toward Tony. And extended to him a pink-tipped white hand.

"Congratulations," she said. "I suppose they're in order."

Tony wasn't seeing Claire—he was staring at Ellen, though Ellen wasn't in Dick's arms any more.

"I suppose," said Tony, "that they are!"

It was then that Dick spoke. Dick with a vague color coming back into his cheeks—Dick, with a great effort, justifying a girl's three-year faith in him.

He advanced toward Tony and extended his hand.

"I can't pretend that I'm not shocked by this news," he told Tony. "Ellen is very dear to me. She's been like a little sister. I feel that I'd have liked knowing, slightly better the man she married. But you look awfully regular, Brander," his voice never wavered.

"And I know, sudden as it seems that Ellen must care for you very deeply. And I'm sure, very sure, that you'll be good to her."

Tony was flushing. He was very young at the moment. He took the proffered hand.

"You can't blame me," he said grimly, "for wondering. It seemed rather strange. Ellen asked me to wait for her at five, by the door, and she didn't come. And then—"

Dick's hand was on the boy's shoulder. It said as plainly as a voice could have said:

"Steady, old chap. . . Steady!"

"I don't blame you one bit," he said aloud. "I'd have felt just as you do, myself, if the situation had been reversed."

Sandy's mouth had come shut. He, too, was standing.

"My name's Mackintosh," he said. "I should be telling you where to get off instead of welcoming you to our city. I took Ellen to the party last night, so I suppose I'm directly responsible."

Claire interrupted. She allowed herself to display direct and unvarnished curiosity, in a big way.

"But you knew each other, didn't you?" she questioned.

"After all," she was mimicking, "I ought to be told."

Beseechingly Ellen's eyes sought Tony's eyes. Claire mustn't know the irregularity, the suddenness, of the whole thing. It would be a beautiful morsel of gossip for Claire, and her intimates. An agony of embarrassment lay in Ellen's gaze, and Tony, seeing, responded to that agony. Swiftly he had crossed the room, swiftly his two hands had enfolded Ellen's outflung hands.

"Oh," he said quite airily, "Oh, we've known each other for centuries. When," Ellen was stunned to hear him quote the line, "when she was a tadpole and I was a fish—"

Claire laughed.

"When the world," she said, "was even wetter than it is now!"

Sandy was laughing, too.

"Speaking," he said, of wet worlds, I think this calls for a party!"

Party? Ellen wanted to scream out at the thought of a party.

"Oh—no party!" she murmured.

But Dick, with his white face oddly aloof was the one who failed her.

"Certainly a party!" he said. Claire was already at the phone. Her high chuckle was floating through the room.

"Ellen," she was saying, "yes, married! Come around and make it legal."

In the excitement Tony's arm was around her shoulder. It wasn't a chill arm any more, but Ellen—wanting his embrace with keen desperation—wished that Dick weren't watching.

"Tired, dear?" questioned Tony. And then, "You're cute as a button in that get-up!"

Ellen had forgotten the white buckskin, the beads.

"Let me go, Tony," she said. "I must change into my own clothes. . . Just behind this—"

(She was acutely conscious of his unspoken, "Do you dress, and undress, behind that screen? Alone—with a man—in this studio?")

"No," she added, "I'm not tired, really."

Walking sedately she went behind the screen, and began to pull the white buckskin frock over her head, and to untie the endless strings of gay beads.

From the other side of the screen sounded a babel of voices. Voices that talked incessantly.

Dick's voice, saying passionately:

"You're a nasty little cat, Claire. Why don't you try being decent for a while. . ."

And then Tony's voice—Tony's voice, saying:

"If there's going to be a party, seems as if it ought to be my party. Seems as if I ought to throw it. Seems as if some of my friends ought to be in on the big time—"

Ellen, buttoning her straight little blue crepe dress, paused. Tony's friends—why, she'd never even stopped to consider Tony's friends! She hadn't thought of Tony as being—she hadn't thought of him, exactly, in terms of having his own group of friends! Somehow she didn't want to meet those friends. They'd know Tony for so long—so much longer than she had known him, so infinitely much longer. All at once, she hated herself. So this was jealousy!

Tony had already taken Claire's place at the phone. He was ringing up numbers, one after the other. Saying—

"Yes, I've news for you! Yes, I'm married. No—not Jane. No,

NOTES FROM 4-H CLUB HISTORIES

"This is my fourth year as a 4-H Club member and the first time I have ever been an officer," says Ora Mae Owens, president of the Foard City 4-H Club. Judging by her record, however, she has been busy with other things. Her outstanding piece of work her first year was building a closet in her bedroom. The next year she papered the walls, refinished the floors, put up new curtains, and made a towel.

During the past year Ora Mae completed seven of the nine goals set for co-operators as well as doing other work not set as special goals. She is now working on a dresser scarf, the first goal for the new year.

Beginning her sewing on flour sacks, Ora Mae Hargrove of the Thalia 4-H Club, later made a dress for the contest. Ora Mae says, "I learned a lot of new stitches, I made one towel in club and later found it necessary to make three more."

One year Ora Mae was bedroom demonstrator and made a number of improvements, including a dressing table from orange crates, shoe rack from a goods box, and spring and bedding protectors.

"This year I found it necessary to learn how to can and how to pack vegetables and fruit in the par," said Ora Mae. She won second place on her fruit in the contest, held the first of the month.

To do more this year than before is the goal Elizabeth Whitten of the West Rayland 4-H Club plans for herself. Elizabeth was president of the club last year, also serving as reporter. During the time she completed every goal with the exception of canning six containers rather than the ten planned. She represented her club at Short Course and "was present at all our club meetings, including our dress contest, tour, and encampment."

It's someone you don't know. Oh, today! Come to my post bachelor dinner. . . .

So to one friend, so to another, so to another.

For if Tony came up searching for her—how could she explain?

But Dick was insisting, himself. "What's his name, Ellen?" he questioned. "I'd like to know, myself."

Ellen had relaxed hopelessly against Dick. At the moment nothing was any use, any more. Suddenly she was more tired than she had ever been in all of her life—and older, too.

"His name is Tony Brander," she said. "Anthony Brander, the sugar man, was his father."

Claire yawned. The yawn was far too elaborate to be plausible.

"Nothing of the piker about you," she said, "is there?"

Sandy whistled.

"One of those!" he said. "Saw his picture snapped at the races, in Vogue last month. He's an orphan, they said."

Claire laughed.

"What a break!" she murmured.

But Dick didn't say anything for a moment. In fact, his silence made the whole studio seem silent.

So silent that the clock, chiming five-forty-five, seemed only an echo to the knock upon the studio door.

Claire was the one who called a summons. It wasn't her studio, but she was like that.

And then Tony walked into the room. There was a narrow white line around his mouth as he looked across Ellen's head, into the eyes of the man who was holding her. Ellen, with her face twisted back awkwardly so she could watch across her shoulder, noticed that line and wondered about it, mutely.

But it was Dick who spoke.

"This is my place," he said. "I'm Alven. You—you haven't been here before, ever. Who are you?"

Tony's voice was so steady when he answered that it was almost absurd.

"It may be your place," he said, "but it's my wife you're holding in your arms. My wife! Funny isn't it?"

You could have cut through the atmosphere of Dick's studio with a knife, the air was so thick with conflicting emotions. They were such mixed emotions that, though the hysteria rose again in Ellen's mind, she couldn't even laugh. It wasn't possible any more to do anything so simple as to laugh!

Again, by some miraculous change, she wasn't a part of the thing. She was standing on the side lines, she was reading from a printed page. These people—she didn't know them. Not Dick, with his face gone suddenly old and greenish in pallor. Not Tony, her Tony, with pain looking out of

A TOUCHDOWN FOR UTOPIAN

All we need now is a conversion to put us among the winners. The hearty response by local citizens as well as those residing in neighboring counties to our ad in last week's News was better than we expected.

A legitimate oil proposition seems to be what the public is looking for, and we have just that very thing to offer to a few more who are desirous of making a small investment with the usual gamble practically eliminated. At the rate we are progressing, next week will find our Syndicate closed. First come, first served. See one of us at once.

Curtains for Dick

The curtain will drop on one of the greatest high school athletic records ever achieved in the United States when the gun sounds tomorrow afternoon ending the Crowell-Plano game.

Departing Gridsters

Hundreds of local fans will not only be on hand tomorrow to offer their moral support to the Wildcats, but to also pay tribute to the boys who will officially step out in a C. H. S. football uniform for the last time.

More and More Praise

It is doubtful if any high school athlete in Texas has received, or is still receiving, more publicity throughout the State than Dick Todd. Columnists everywhere are writing about him; they talk about him over the radio at Wichita Falls and Fort Worth—in fact, at this time there is not a more widely heralded athlete in Texas than the Crowell youth.

And the finest part of it all is that Dick does not permit his fame to turn his head and continues as the same modest boy that he was when he slipped into practice sessions while in the seventh grade.

From George Whites' 'The Sport Broadcast,' in the Dallas News.

'What a merry time the boys could have this year essaying the task of selecting the outstanding high school football player in Texas. They attempt it in the Southwest Conference and some of the gamer critics try to pick the No. 1 college and university player in the country but this high school problem is something different where there are so many teams and players in A, B and C classification, which in the final accounting really have no bearing on the respective merits of the individual athletes. It is possible to get the best football player in the State to be on an obscure Class C eleven rather than on the State championship outfit in Class A.'

'All of which calls to mind a conversation a couple of days ago with Pat Kniff, who was one of the star ball luggers for the Southern Methodists when they invaded West Point in 1928. Pat is in the coaching profession now and Friday he sends his Graham High gridders against the Crowell eleven for the Class B bi-district title at Wichita Falls.'

'We'll lose probably by twenty or thirty points,' was Pat's pessimistic response to a query for his opinion on the game. 'But for one boy, we might win by that wide a margin,' he continued, then added after a moment's meditation: 'We have a lot of fine football players in Texas and I've seen my share of them, also a lot of the college stars. But I'm not going to limit the field to these. I'll include all of the high schools, academies, junior and senior colleges and universities in America and bet that I'm right if it can be tested, when I say the greatest football player of them'

P. T. A. DECEMBER MEETING

Mrs. Hubert Brown will be the leader for the December meeting of the local P. T. A. at the High School auditorium next Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

all is Dick Todd, Crowell halfback. He's a 160-pound, six-footer. He handles every department of play and he can do everything better than anyone else I ever saw attempting the same job—running, plunging, passing, kicking, blocking, tackling and catching passes.'

'Along with this high praise comes a fine bouquet of poesies for young Todd from W. C. Weir, coach of the Vernon High District 5 champions who play Highland Park on the West Texans' gridiron Friday. The Crowell youngster is Weir's No. 1 nomination for all-State honors.'

'This boy is the very best I have seen in North and West Texas, excelling Red Ratican of 1933,' writes Weir. 'My team played against both boys...'

'As the old saying goes, where there's so much smoke there certainly must be a little fire. Investigation shows Dick Todd packs plenty of blaze.'

'This is his last season of high school football (note college gymshoes.) In his four years of pigskin eligibility he has to date scored 42 touchdowns on runs averaging 24 yards, and has kicked 21 extra points. Last year he registered 180 points, his 29 touchdowns averaging 27 yards each. He scored 86 points in 1932 and 80 in 1931. He's a marvel in a broken field yet has terrific, low-driving power through the line. In a recent game Pat Kniff saw three tacklers get cracks at him standing still only to miss as he stood on the 5-yard line unable to find the goal on a field that had been turned into a quagmire. Then he walked nonchalantly a little farther to make sure he was across when he saw all of the enemy players knifing at him. On defense he specializes in the hard job of backing up the line.'

'When he receives his diploma at Crowell he will have lettered four times each in football, basketball and track. Each of the cage teams on which he played won its district title, which ought to be some kind of a record. For three years he was an all-district choice. Each of his four seasons in track his achievements put him in the State meet at Austin.'

'Todd hails from an athletic family. His brother, Guy, won four letters each in football, basketball and track and two in baseball before that sport was discontinued at Crowell. Another brother, John, won four each in football and basketball and two in track. But they say out West that Dick is the cream of the crop.'

From John Gould's 'Furthermore and However,' in the Wichita Daily Times.

'A good many years of following football, especially high school football, have made us a bit skeptical of the game's claimants to real stardom. That skepticism encompassed us last Friday afternoon as we wended our way to Coyote stadium to see young Mr. Todd of Crowell perform. We knew he was good, but we doubted that he was anywhere nearly as good as his fame indicated.'

'Well, he made a believer out of me. If he is not as talented an exponent of the gridiron game as Texas high schools have ever produced, I want somebody to nominate his equal. That is taking in a lot of territory, especially for those who were football fans in the Leo Baldwin days, but I'll stand on it.'

'One of Todd's most marvelous bits of work last Friday was on a distance at that. It was on a wide end run in the first quarter and Todd ran clear across the field, avoiding six or seven of Graham's players, only to be halted by the remainder before he got away. He sidestepped some, stiff-armed some and shook loose from some, in a way that made him look like a combination of India rubber and grease.'

'We talked to some Crowell folks about him, being curious to know what his plans for college were. We obtained definite and authentic information on the subject. He is going to attend Leland Stanford, T. C. U., Louisiana, Duke, S. M. U., Texas Tech and Michigan. It's all settled as to his plans. 'The Crowell folks told us that Todd's gridiron prowess hasn't turned his head, and that his character and personality are quite as' much in his favor as his artistry in football. Which is something good to hear, because it can't be said of all football stars.'

From Louis Cox's 'Down the Amateur Alley,' in the Daily Times Herald, Dallas. 'College coaches in this section have their eye on Dick Todd, quarterback on the Class B Crowell eleven, and the leading point scorer in the state with 267. The Crowell quarter has literally run wild against all opposition this year, even counting against the class A Vernon club, although his team was defeated in the game, 32 to 12.'

'Todd is a four letterman in not only football, but basket ball and track. He is 19 years old and weighs 160 pounds stripped.'

'Incidentally fans in this section may have a chance to see Todd in action. If Plano beats Vocational high of Fort Worth Friday and Crowell wins from Graham, the two teams will meet. If the clash is at Plano you'll have a chance to see the star ball lugger in action.'

'Thomas Perkins of Dallas is a great admirer of Todd and also a booster for the Crowell club. In the following letter he gives some information on the star:'

'Dear Mr. Cox: Some time ago I wrote you about a backfield star of the Crowell Wildcats. By the name of Dick Todd, but you didn't pay much attention to it. 'I went to Olney Friday night to see this boy in action for the first time this year, and he gave an all around exhibition that I would go that far to see again. 'The team as a whole has scored a total of 393 points against their class B opponents to the oppositions 18. Of this total Todd has scored 267 points, along with the six he scored against the class A Vernon team.'

'If Crowell beats Graham they will play Plano and this should add to your interest. One Graham fan said that they would have to play four ends to stop Todd, but with the blocking he receives I don't believe four ends could stop him. 'He is going to make some college a smart football player, and if Ray Morrison is wise he would have a scout look him over. Every one knows the Mustangs need a smart field general. ' (Signed) Thomas Perkins. ''

Predictions

As a result of victories by Crowell, Amarillo, T. C. U., S. M. U., Michigan State, Notre Dame, Plano and Highland Park last week in their games with Graham, Ranger, Santa Clara, Washington, A. & M., California, Vocational and Vernon, we scored 1,000 on last week's predictions to offset .444 of the previous week.

- This week's predictions: Crowell 13, Plano 7. Amarillo 14, Big Spring 0. Greenville 13, Corsicana 12. Corpus Christi 13, Jeff Davis (Houston) 7. Masonic Home 19, Highland Park 7.

CORRECTION

The absence of an "0" in a sentence last week caused a "90 per cent mistake" in The News last week. In mentioning about West Rayland's 4-H Club winning the silver loving cup for making the best general record of the year, it was stated that "the club scored 100 per cent in completion of demonstrations," when it should have read "100 per cent."
