Work Relief Program Several Weeks Away Officials Announce

Austin, April 30.—Administration of relief in many Texas counties is being complicated by a rush of persons seeking employment under the new work relief law to get on the relief rolls before plans for carrying out the measure have been completed, it has been announced by E. A. Baugh, assistant director of the Texas Relief Commission.

"Some of our administrators are working under pressure from all sides to admit to relief rolls applicants not in dire need but anxious to get a first chance at federal work relief jobs under the new program. This condition results in congestion in our county offices and hampers county administrators in their efforts to do the best they can for those really destitute people already on our rolls. We are making every effort at this time to lower our caseloads because it is the season of the year when there ought to be more jobs available. Concerted efforts to "crash" the relief rolls at this time merely make the job more difficult for many county organizations already overworked with their present relief loads. It may be several weeks before the new work relief program begins to function in Texas. When we receive instructions to undertake it, we will set up the program in all counties simultaneously. There will be no need for people seeking work to move from one county to another. Rumors that the program already is under way in some counties are without foundation." Mr. Baugh requested persons seeking jobs not to apply at relief offices. "We are still granting relief to the unfortunates," he said. "We have no jobs to offer."

You're The Loser

WHEN you allow Headache, Neuralgia, Muscular, Rheumatic, Sciatic or Periodic Pains to keep you from work or pleasure. You can't go places and do things when you are suffering—and the work or good times won't wait for you.

Why allow Pain to rob you of Health, Friends, Happiness, Money?

DR. MILES ANTI-PAIN PILLS have been used for the relief of pain for more than forty years. They taste good, act quickly, do not upset the stomach, nor cause constipation, leave no dull, depressed feeling.

Thousands have used them for twenty, thirty, forty years, and still find that nothing else relieves pain so promptly and effectively.

Why don't you try them? Once you know how pleasant they are to take, how quickly and effectively they relieve, you won't want to go back to disagreeable, slow acting medicines.

You too may find quick relief. Why wait forty minutes for relief when Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills will relieve you in ten to twenty minutes?

As a household remedy I have never found anything that equalled Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills. Mrs. Sias D. Keller, Fenfield, Pa. I never found anything that was so good to stop pain as Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills. I have told many about them and I find they are all using them. Mrs. Martha Lacy, Davenport, Iowa I have been using Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills for years. I keep them on hand all the time. I can certainly recommend them for pain. Miss Audra Seybold, 2417 W. 2nd St., Dayton, Ohio Your Anti-Pain Pills have been a wonderful help to me. I have used them for three years and always keep them on hand. Mrs. E. Annual Convention Plans of W. T. C. C. Nearing Completion

Plainview, Texas, April 25.—The 17th general convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is three weeks distant, but the Westex convention goes would not realize it if he dropped into Plainview this week. Both the 1935 host city and the WTCC's convention manager, Jed Rix, have their plans going ahead so briskly and smoothly that they could, in a pinch, pull off the big show on a week's notice.

The conventions of the West Texas Chamber are always heavily attended and full of color, but major efforts are under way this year to strike a new high not only in attendance and color, but in the work of the convention—in quickly getting to the heart of what West Texas needs most for its prosperity and development and in formulating a program of work calculated to meet those needs. The organization's 1935-36 year will be devoted to carrying out the program laid down as the mandate from the membership at Plainview.

Work Program

The convention this year will major on the following three points, all fundamental in the life of West Texas:

Taxation.—A clear-cut program will be devised with the objective of obtaining needed relief for the sorely pressed property owner who pays 75 per cent of the taxes of Texas although holding only 33 1/3 per cent of its wealth. The wealth of West Texas rests almost entirely in its real estate.

Arthur P. Duggan, State Senator, from Littlefield, will be chairman of the taxation group conference.

Agriculture.—In this group conference, among many other matters, close examination will be made of the Bankhead bill for determination whether the West Texas chamber should favor its continuance, whether the WTCC should continue its policy of working for abrogation of the acreage control feature and in favor of domestic allotment.

Clifford B. Jones, Spur, will head this group conference.

Territorial Development.—A wide diversity of problems will be considered by this group conference, with emphasis upon development of the chamber's soil erosion program, Brazos River and other development, state planning board activities, and highways.

Ray H. Nichols, Vernon, will be group chairman.

Business of the convention, to be expressed through resolutions, will be cleared through the 200 directors in their scheduled luncheon and breakfast sessions. This is designed to speed up the work and bring the organization under closer control of its directors, who are in turn nominated by their respective towns.

Entertainment—Something unique in the way of entertainment is in the making for the second night of the convention—Tuesday, May 14. The Westex

Short Course Theme at Texas A. & M. for 1935 Is Announced

College Station — "Changing Country Life" will be the theme for the twenty-sixth annual Farmers' Short Course to be held at A. and M. College July 28-August 2, according to Roy W. Snyder, chairman of the central committee.

Phases of the housing problems facing the rural family; soil conservation with particular reference to emergency erosion work; and agricultural adjustment will furnish features of the program. Demonstrations in doing will be stressed rather than talks and lectures at this event, the largest rural gathering in Texas each year.

In addition to the program planned for farmers, ranchmen, and rural home makers, conferences are scheduled for rural pastors and laymen of the State, agricultural editors, superintendents of rural schools, members of the bee keepers' association, producers of State registered and certified seed, and members of Epsilon Sigma Phi, national honorary fraternity for Extension Service workers.

A newspaper staffed by 4-H club boys and girls as reporters will be printed daily during Short Course week. Neal Douglass, agricultural editor of the Austin American, will be managing editor. A small news-sheet was mimeographed and sold on the campus last year, and because of its success plans have been made to enlarge and print the paper this year.

The central committee in charge of developing plans for the Short Course consists of Roy W. Snyder, chairman; R. H. Bush, Paul A. Cunyus, O. G. Humlinson, Miss Onah Jacks, Mrs. Dora R. Barnes, and Miss Minnie Mae Grubbs. This committee expects to have noted speakers and leaders present to bring information and lead discussion.

The chamber is going to blow itself for a free-for-all banquet for all conventionists wearing the registration badge. It will not be a formal affair, but a sort of picnic whereat it is anticipated a thousand or more visitors will break bread with James V. Allred, Governor of Texas; with the Governors of Oklahoma and New Mexico; and with the eleven living ex-presidents of the West Texas Chamber, who will be guests of honor and in charge of the affair.

These living past presidents are Clifford B. Jones, Spur; C. C. Walsh, Dallas; Arthur P. Duggan, Littlefield; R. W. Haynie, Abilene; A. M. Bourland, Vernon; W. B. Hamilton, Wichita Falls; Charles E. Coombes, Stamford; Huston Harte, San Angelo; Wilbur C. Hawk, Amarillo; Walter D. Cline, Wichita Falls. The 1934-35 president, James D. Hamlin of Farwell, will join the ranks of past presidents soon.

Two nights, Monday and Tuesday, will bring entertainment from a modern and fast-moving floor show. This year it is called "La Fiesta" (the feast) and will be given under direction of Miss Wilma Friedsam of Plainview's Wayland College. The entertainment acts will come from West Texas cities and towns, and each member town has been invited to send its local sponsor. Talent will be so abundant that Miss Friedsam will put on a different show each night. Besides the floor shows, she will have the pick of at least ten West Texas bands and orchestras and fifteen or twenty top notch quartets that will be entered in the quartet contest. Reservations

CROWELL WINS LEAGUE GAME AT ELDORADO

The Crowell baseball club broke its losing streak with a 7 to 0 victory over Eldorado, Okla., at Eldorado Sunday. This was the first victory for Crowell since the opening of Cotton Belt League play three weeks ago and the second loss for Eldorado.

The fielding of the Crowell nine was the outstanding feature of the game. The infield handled 20 chances without making an error. Crowell out-hit Eldorado, 10 to 6, with hitting honors divided among Sloan, Larue, Ashford and Rushing, who collected 2 hits each. Davenport collected 2 hits for the Eldorado hitting honors.

Wm. Bell went the route on the mound for Crowell and allowed only 6 hits. Johnson, Ralls and Criswell labored on the mound for Eldorado, but were unable to hold the Crowell nine after the 7th inning.

for their bands already have been asked by Lubbock, Amarillo, Wichita Falls, Tulsa, Anson, Slaton, Memphis, Denton and Ralls, home of this year's official West Texas Chamber of Commerce band, under direction of Jimmy Thornhill. The Fort Worth special will bring its band, too. Floor show acts already booked are from Abilene, Fort Worth, Wichita Falls, Denton, Vernon, El Paso, Amarillo, Lubbock, Quanah, Mineral Wells, and Dalhart.

Contests
 The West Texas Chamber of Commerce gives its member towns (now numbering 197) abundant opportunity for mainline participation in its convention activities. The Plainview convention will be no exception. Any town may ask the privilege of entertaining next year's convention. It may put forward its own candidate for the presidency or first or second vice-presidency of the WTCC. It may appoint its sponsor for the annual convention show. Or, it may place entries in one or all of the four annual contests.

These are the My Home Town contest, oldest of the four and conducted by C. M. Caldwell of Abilene; the town beautification contest inaugurated four years ago and conducted by Houston Harte of San Angelo; the poster contest, now in its third year; and the quartet contest, new this year. Entries to date in the contests are as follows:

My Home Town—Amarillo, El Paso, Floydada, Pampa, Spur, Post, Quitaque, Ralls, Dalhart, Slaton, Vernon, Memphis, Olney, Burk Burnett, Lubbock, Brownfield, Breckenridge, Tahoka, Anton, Farwell, Artesia, and Portales (last two in New Mexico.) Total to date 22.

Poster—Dumas, Munday, Electra, Floydada, Throckmorton, Hamlin, Haskell, Lubbock, Pecos, Fort Worth, Mobeetie, Stephenville, Amarillo, Olney, Breckenridge, Plainview, Perryton, El Paso, Pampa, Richland Springs, Wichita Falls, Quanah, Dalhart, Slaton, Memphis, Tahoka, Artesia. Total to date 27.

Quartet—Floydada, Big Spring, Quanah, Memphis, Wichita Falls, Lubbock, Dalhart, Burk Burnett, Hamlin, Slaton, Bowie, Portales. Total to date 12.

Entries in the town beautification contest are always late. Local committees have to be formed and considerable study has to be given the regulations before a town can forward its entry blanks. It is no mean honor for any town to be given formally No. 1 rating in West Texas for a beautification program on a town-wide scale.

The 17th annual convention will open at 10 o'clock on Monday, May 13, in the Plainview municipal auditorium, which was, by the way, built expressly to entertain the same convention 13 years ago, in 1922. Key speaker at the opening session will be Governor Allred.

Six-Month Steer Feed Experiment To End May 10th

A steer feeding experiment running 180 days at the United States Experiment Station, Big Spring, will close on May 10 and the record made by the animals on feed will be announced, according to J. M. Jones, Chief, Division Range Animal Husbandry, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, under whose direction the tests have been conducted co-operatively by the Federal and State stations. While this is the eighth test conducted at the Big Spring Station, it is the first in Texas in which steers have been fed individually, which speeds up the results. Twenty steers were fed individually, the type and quality of each having been carefully recorded at the beginning of the experiment. They were fed identically the same rations excepting that the amount fed varied according to the appetite of the animal. In comparison with these twenty steers another comparable twenty head were group-fed in the usual manner and on the same feeds as the individual steers received. Mr. Jones thinks it will be possible to determine somewhat the influence that certain type and quality in the animal may have upon the economy of gains made, a thing entirely impossible in group feeding. The cattle were bred by E. B. Dickinson, of Stanton, Texas, and some outstanding individuals were included in the group.

It is expected that a representative of the packing houses will attend the closing of the tests to valuations on the steers as they leave the feed lot and to advise stockmen attending the meeting as to market preferences for killer cattle. Mr. Jones will, in addition to discussing the current experiment, give a brief history of the feeding experiments that have been underway at the Big Spring Station for the past eight years.

George Bond of the Big Spring Station staff, who personally fed these animals will make a report to the meeting. The meeting will be in charge of F. E. Keating, superintendent of the Big Spring Station who has devoted much attention to these feeding experiments for the value that they have in providing the best utilization of the large feed crops produced in that section.

JOHN HENDRIX RESIGNS

John Hendrix, secretary of the Board of City Development of Sweetwater for the past five years, has resigned, effective May 1.

Mr. Hendrix left last Friday for a tour of three weeks through South Texas on an assignment to write a number of articles for The Cattleman, publication of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, of which he is an associate editor. His articles on early West Texas ranch life have been carried in practically all the leading livestock publications.

He has not announced definite plans for the future, but will continue, at least for the present, to make his home in Sweetwater.

In 1933 Mr. Hendrix was selected by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce as the region's outstanding secretary.

Mr. Hendrix is well known in Crowell and Foard County, having spent most of his early life on his father's ranch in the west part of Foard County. In passing through Crowell on his way to Quanah to visit his mother he always stops for a few hours' visit.

Keeps Daily Records
 Except for the period from May 5, 1933, to Aug. 6, 1933, when he was ill, Mr. Lilly has listed daily happenings every day since coming to this county in 1902 and now has a great many books stored away that contain a wealth of interesting historical data in this respect.

For 33 years he has kept a daily record of the weather, the happenings in his family, crop news, the prices paid and received for various items, visitors at his home, major events of the community and many other items that occur during the day.

The following entry appeared in his 1935 book regarding the day of the 60th anniversary: "April 25—A fine day after the dust storm yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Glover came over last night and stayed till bed time. They brought their musical instruments and gave us some music.

"This being our 60th anniversary of married life, most of our children, neighbors and friends came pouring in and at noon there were just 85 all told; brought lots of good things cooked up and we feasted. We were presented with several presents. The photographer, Mr. L. V. Robertson of Crowell, was here and took our picture while we were preparing to eat dinner, which was spread on the ground out in the yard. The cake with its sixty candles was baked and brought from Paducah by our life-time friend, Sidney F. Hughs. It was our sincere desire to have all of our children with us, but O. W. and J. R. were absent. Those present were: (same list as printed above).

"In the afternoon we had music and the day passed off pleasantly."

The News staff enjoyed a very pleasant visit from Mr. and Mrs. Lilly and a daughter, Mrs. Shaum, of Las Vegas, last Saturday.

GOVERNMENT REPORT ON OFFICE POSITIONS

The United States Department of Labor has just issued a comprehensive survey on employment in business offices—showing the range of salaries of 43,000 office workers, the kind of training required, methods of hiring, help, and the like. This survey shows the median salaries of Secretaries to be $156.00 a month; of Stenographers, $114.00; of Bookkeepers, $111.00; and of Cashiers, $123.00 in the cities surveyed, representing the different sections of the country.

This survey further says that young, inexperienced workers are more in demand, it being considered more satisfactory to employ beginners and to advance them as vacancies occur, and that searching for the person who had just experience necessary was not deemed economical.

Young people who are interested in obtaining business positions are invited to investigate the training and placement facilities offered by Draughon's Business Colleges, through which many graduates are being put in touch with inspiring opportunities. Write for Bulletin No. A today. Address nearest Draughon's College, Dallas, Wichita Falls, Abilene or Lubbock. 46

We didn't think we knew much about judging one-act plays, but when we recently witnessed the awarding of the prize for best play to a lad with a fresh 1935 haircut, who was supposed to represent a mountaineer boy in the play, we were convinced beyond doubt that we knew nothing.

SURGERY'S ADVANCE

Some of the recent amazing advances made by surgery were enumerated by Malcolm T. MacEachern in an address this month, in which he credited surgery, X-rays and radium with no less than 26,000 positive cancer cures.

Great progress also has been made in the treatment of goiter, the death rate from which was as high as 20 per cent, now reduced to less than one per cent in the best hospitals.

In the surgery of the stomach and gall bladder, death rates formerly reaching 20 to 30 per cent have been cut to about 6 per cent. Today practically any part of the brain may be operated on and many heretofore incurable conditions corrected. Even the heart has been subjected to the surgeon's knife with success in some cases. Several feet of intestine may now be removed with substantial safety to the patient. In the treatment of serious fractures, limbs which would have been amputated in the past, are now saved in many cases.

Surgeons are now able to open the chest with little danger to the patient, and draining the chest cavity of pus is now common. Tuberculosis has been successfully controlled by surgical means, under certain conditions.

The wonderful advances in medicine and surgery are contributing inestimable benefits on mankind in the relief of suffering and in prolonging life. It is tragic that so much of the science and art of healing is counteracted by human carelessness, especially by fools who drive automobiles without regard for life or limb.

"The Harvester" is an intensely interesting farm picture to be shown Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the building next to the post office.

Only one performance is scheduled so all grain farmers are urged to clear the calendar for Monday afternoon and see this free entertainment. "The Harvester" starts way back in the early days of the hand sickle and shows the fascinating story of how grain harvesting progressed from one step to another. After the sickle came the scythe and then the cradle. In those days blisters and ugly skin burns were a dread of every harvest hand, to slow progress of grain harvesting up to the present day.

The early thresher, the first self-raking reaper, and the binder are then shown in order, picturing the slow progress of grain harvesting up to the present day.

The early thresher was an eyesore compared to today's modern rig. In one scene from "The Harvester," Benito Mussolini, the Italian Dictator, feeds an old hand feed thresher. Many probably remember this type of machine, but this picture goes way back to the primitive method called flailing, another back-breaker for harvest hands of old.

After the thresher is brought up-to-date, one of the first types of combines is shown. This is a mammoth machine with a circus teamster required to handle the many horses hooked to it. Awkward and big as it was, the first combine represented another big step forward in reducing harvesting costs.

Even the ordinary combines, new as they are, can hardly be called modern since the introduction of the Harvester. This is the newest piece of grain harvesting machinery in existence today.

The film, "The Harvester," gives all the details of this new and interesting machine. The United States Patent Office at Washington, D. C., granted 31 claims in the Harvester patent.

This gives some idea of how new and advanced the Harvester really is. The local M-M dealer, Etter Tractor Co., who is sponsoring this show, urges every farmer in this territory to attend. Enough comedy and other short subjects will also be shown to make a well rounded out program.

Mrs. Mariette Pallier of Lyons, France, was bitten by a snake which had coiled itself in the oven of her kitchen stove.

Geo. M. Cleary of Mattoon, Ill., aged 66, gave a great yawn and fractured his jaw.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by Charles E. Dunn Sin, Repentance and Faith. Lesson for May 5, Luke 15:11-14. Golden Text: 1 John 1:9.

Jesus' thrilling parable of the lost son strikes home to the very roots of life, so human and real is it. Our vision is here directed toward the discipline and re-education of a high-spirited, ambitious soul who sinned with deliberate intent.

The salvation of such a one is the greatest miracle of God's grace. Study the prodigal. Notice the self-will revealed in his eagerness for an immediate payment of his inheritance.

Consider his folly, the folly of passion and sensualism. Visualize his severe misery, the fruit of desperate degradation. And ponder his repentance inspired by hunger. It would have been nobler if he had confessed his guilt previously, before he had wholly lost his manhood.

But the hard necessities of poverty make wise many a fool. And what an appealing picture is the father! Note that he allowed the lad to have his way. Was that weakness? On the contrary, it was strength. For it shows that he respected the son's personality, that he trusted the boy's free will.

And when the youth was gone, he waited long, with a forbearance truly remarkable. And when his patience is rewarded, how enthusiastic his greeting.

There is no story grander than this. It is surely a masterpiece of the first rank. Here we face the drama of humanity in both its depths and heights. The prodigal is the typical runaway. The father fit of the heavily armed guard in the passage, on the other side of the grated cell door.

Being arrested on the charge of having murdered the shell dealer in this camp last fall, was bad enough. But he had not discovered the real teeth in the trap until Fallon entered the marshal's office, just before he was committed to the cell.

Now when he thought of his dog team waiting for him by the warehouse wharf, and of Drew waiting at Tagish for the mail and freight he had been trusted to deliver, it was all he could do to refrain from getting up and kicking the wall.

The blizzard had caused a disruption in Drew's mail service at a critical time when the inspector was short of a driver. A sled shipment of gold was to be run to Skagway and a packet of mail brought back, containing a considerable amount of bank currency consigned to Dawson against the gold, Drew's choice of a substitute courier had been good gambling. Speed knew that life had left marks on him legible enough to that veteran judge of men.

On delivering the gold to the wharf agent in Skagway, he had not been able to pick up his sled load immediately for the return trip. A shop lay in the gulf in a twinkling of a moment. Her arrival delayed by the storm, was being celebrated as a barbing of Spring and spoils. Even the shore crew was drunk, further retarding the loading of her cargo. Meanwhile the mail was brought ashore, and the agent, nervous enough at having custody of the gold, was still more uneasy about the police mail—an silk—wrapped and sealed packet of bank notes in easily portable form. His strongbox had been broken recently by thieves, and the packet was presumptively safer in the game pocket of Speed's coat. Facts to be read by the marshal as indicating that Speed had stolen the regular mail runner's orders, had delivered the gold to obtain the mail, and had been prevented from taking the ship only by the longshore tie-up.

The strangely timed event that left him open to capture, occurred during the forced wait. With many hours to kill, he had decided to visit Steiner at what was now Skagway's General Store. Money lending was one of his gold mines, and speaking of curious pledges, he mentioned an oddly shaped cloverleaf nugget on which he had loaned something more than its weight to a gambling client. Then the hunt was on.

The client wore a dicer hat and stuttered; was known as "Lefty" and suspected of being a pick-pocket. Speed ran the man to earth in a gambling tent, where he cut into the same poker game, and dealing Lefty a hand on which the thief would willingly have bet his shirt, lured the nugget into the game on a raised pot. The spinning, foliated piece of gold was weighed on the bar scales, and played for twice its gold value.

Speed won with a straight flush. When Lefty desolately quit the table, Speed grilled him about the nugget. Under pressure, the thief maintained the extraordinary story that he had lifted it in Skagway from the pocket of a man now dead—the shell dealer, in fact, whom Speed had shot at the door of The Pack Train saloon.

In order to learn something more about the man with the dicer, Speed had been looking for Rose when the marshal seized him.

That the man he was accused of murdering should be the man who had brought the nugget to Skagway, was an apparently perverse loop of the influence he called luck. Now it lay in the marshal's safe, along with Speed's guns and the mail.

Speed's breath smoked in the old cold cell. They had freed his hands, and had not troubled to remove his gun belt—signs that pointed to brief imprisonment and swift judgment, although this was his second day in the cell.

He did not notice the darkening of the cell, or the wilder music that sounded from the camp during his long abstraction. It was the opening of the street door that made him aware of both. There was a different tread in the passage; different, yet somehow familiar.

"Take it in yourself," the guard growled nastily to a shadow by the grating.

The big door was unlocked, and as the figure edged into the somewhat clearer light of the cell, Speed understood why he had been trying to place the footprint in his memory. The man who confronted him was Frenchy, carrying a plate and curving his chest to bring a deputy's badge into more formidable prominence.

Speed bit his cheek as he glanced over the contents of the plate without accepting it.

"Well, you're a nice one, Frenchy," he commented mildly. "So they give you a deputy's star. Looks good on ye, too."

The ex-fisherman squirmed back a little, not quite able to keep a firm front with that even voice in his ears.

"You don't forget, neither, do you, Frenchy?" his prisoner acknowledged, eyeing the fish, and then the knife in his belt, on which his free hand had closed. "Are you the marshal's official sticker?"

Narrow black eyes beaded with a rankling heat which only blood could quench, as the cool gray ones of his defenseless prisoner lifted to his face.

The pause grated on the impatient guard at the door. "If that's the best you can do, frog, back out of here with them plates before he takes your knife and carves ye."

"Reckon this feller don't know who he's callin', Frenchy," Speed observed, as the fisherman backed an involuntary step or two. "Tell him what you done to Horse McGinnis of Spokane. Tell him you could lick ten half-baked deputies like him with one foot."

An oath from the guard showed that Frenchy's elevation to office was not popular with the marshal's squad. He swung the door, and hooked the fisherman with a boot to speed his exit. In that finely measured instant, Speed jumped for the door.

Speed reached the corridor in a bound. A gun blazed out of the dark tangle but he was already clear of the passageway and gone.

The canvas between the frame and the rafters was dark. Unfortunately or otherwise, Steiner was out. Speed cut a slit in the canvas, and climbed through the aperture, dropped inside.

Though the tent had looked dark from outside, its interior was vaguely illuminated by a filtered wavering flow from the kerosene lamp in the street it faced on. Rummaging uncovered a crowbar of handy size. In a drawer he found a collection of six-shooters, which said little for Steiner's judgment of firearms, but he quickly picked out a .45, loaded it from his own belt and put it in the holster.

Still the object of his search eluded him. He was beginning to think that the Jew had done some empty boasting when his eye fell on a longish box in the far corner, under a shelf. He pulled it out, and delicately prying it open with the bar, put his fingers inside. With a groan of relief, he removed the cover and took out two sticks of dynamite.

As he dropped in the snow and passed to listen, his skin prickled with a sense of some lurking presence close by, soundless and unseen. He started swiftly back along his previous trail through the tents, without touching the gun at his belt.

Speed crouched forward tensely, gripping the bar, as a dark shape brushed along the tent wall within a yard of him. In that instant of its disclosure, his hand lunged out and clutched a man by the throat. He raised the pinch bar.

"D-d-don't hit me," he protested in a hoarse whimper. "It's f-f-for ve, I seen you prowling into the Jew's tent to get the d-d-dynamite. D-d-don't try it! What'd the m-m-marshal take of y-you?"

"My guns and jack—they don't I've got to get."

Lefty caught his arm. "Leave me case this trick," he whispered huskily. "You wouldn't have a chance in a m-m-million with dynamite. I seen that safe once when the marshal pinched me, and with a few minutes, I could f-feel the e-combination. It used to be my racket."

"What's in it for you?"

"I owe you a hard, and the m-m-marshal a bad turn. G-give me the bar," whispered Lefty. "You wait here."

"How—wait here?"

"W-watch for the mob. Whistle if they get too close. But give me all the t-time you can."

Speed yielded the bar. Lying in the drift, his gun covered the only door to the jail, so the chance of Lefty's playing him double was slight. Long minutes dragged before a distant tramping began to pound on his eardrums. A shore party had been combing the beach. The empty boats at mooring and the ship in the gulf would naturally suggest that way of escape. As he sprang erect, his sharp whistle pierced the dusk.

Rambling 'Round New York With HUGH KENNY

Warm Sundays' the new zoo in Central Park is besieged by thousands. It is educational, no doubt, for human beings to make the rounds and look at caged animals pacing up and down in their confining spaces, but it always seems a little cruel that their space is so limited. The sea lions are the only animals that seem really content to show off in their big pool of water.

Suburbanites of New York talk of gardens and seed catalogues at this time of year, and the flower show held at Grand Central Palace each year gives them new inspiration to dig and plant. When hot days arrive, suburbanites will get back at Manhattanites for all the kidding they took about delays in transportation during the winter. They'll ask them how they breathe stuffy Manhattan air 24 hours a day without collapsing!

Sub-let advertisements begin to appear in New York want-ad sections this time of year, when Manhattanites plan on getting out of town for the summer. . . . Boat yards in Brooklyn, City Island and up on the Harlem River get busy "fitting out" the packs of the wealthy and near-wealthy for the summer sailing season. Roller skates buzz along sidewalks, and summer rains are forecast by April showers.

Eavesdropping on a Fifth Avenue bus: "And my dear, you would not believe it, he sleeps in a bureau drawer."

At first nights on Broadway an occasional huzzah and cheer is supplementing the usual polite applause these days.

A dancer who competes with Sally Rand in New York dances in the dark—but her body glows with a luminous paint. Publicity agents say she comes from Europe. Her birth certificate says, "Brooklyn."

A sporting goods house in New York sells a preparation for dogs with fleas. Put it in the middle of the dog's back in a little spot about an inch in diameter and the fleas presumably crawl to it, curl up and die!

Immunize Now Warns State Health Dept.

Retail sales in the United States by the Chevrolet Motor Company to the end of March were the largest for any first quarter in five years, it was announced today by W. E. Holler, vice president and general sales manager.

"As compared with last year, the first three months of 1935 showed a gain of 23.2 per cent in sales. While both trucks and passenger cars shared in the gain, the larger part of the increase over 1934 was in passenger car sales which increased 31.5 per cent," said Mr. Holler.

"The quarter ended with a total for March that established it as the largest March sales record since 1930, and with a bank of more than 74,500 orders on hand to be carried over into April.

"The present demand requires the operation of all Chevrolet manufacturing and assembly plants at their maximum rate through April, and the company looks to a continued heavy demand through May and well into mid-summer."

Crowell Juniors Hosts at Centennial Banquet for Seniors Last Thursday

One of the most elaborate social events in the history of Crowell High School took place last Thursday evening when members of the Junior Class were hosts to the Seniors at the annual Junior-Senior banquet at Raymond's Cafe.

Approximately one hundred persons, including Seniors, Juniors, faculty members, class mothers, entertainers and representatives of other classes, the P. T. A. and school board were present.

Planned as a "Texas Centennial Banquet" by the class sponsor, Henry Black, and officials of the Junior Class, the occasion lived up to its name in all details connected with the program, menu and decorations.

The cafe was converted into a veritable Texas flower garden, featuring bluebonnets and roses. Several varieties of Texas cactus were contained in over twenty-five small pots decorating the centers of the tables, which were arranged in a rectangular manner.

Other decorations included Texas and United States flags and a picture of President Roosevelt. The attractive program carried out the red, white and blue Texas colors. Hand-painted pictures of the Alamo and bluebonnets covering cut-out maps of Texas, and red and white ribbons decorated the blue fronts of the programs. Miss Bettye B. McAdams, Junior Class member, painted each of the Texas maps. The programs also served as plate markers. A white "Lone Star" was suspended from the handle of each red nut cup.

The banquet menu was printed on the program as follows: CHOW—Gulf of Mexico Cocktail, Prairie Chicken, Dressing, Son-of-a-Gun, South Texas Spuds, East Texas Peas, Shortenin' Bread, Amarillo Special, Texas Centennial Cake, Sky Juice.

Tom Ray Roberts, member of the Junior Class, served as toastmaster for the following program: "Hi Folks"—Cotton Picker (John) Cogdell, Junior president. "Same to You"—Cowgirl (Geraldine) Carter, Senior president. "Texas Songs"—Cowanhand (Doris) Oswalt, with Mrs. W. M. Bralley as accompanist.

"The Eyes of Texas" (novelty piano arrangement)—Bronc-riding Bralley. "Greater Texas" (Senior prophesy)—Cactus Kid (Mary Lou) Fudge.

"The Lone Star State" (talk)—Foreman (I. T.) Graves. "Adios" (Senior will)—Wolf Hunter (F. L. Rennels, Jr.). "Home on the Range" and "Dear Old Crowell High"—Ranch Hands (entire group), led by Geraldine Carter and Doris Oswalt.

Poultry Edition

Well, it seems that the hens of Foard County have really started something. Accounts of freak eggs have been published during the past two weeks and information on another is contained in the following letter from H. A. Wesley, Margaret postmaster:

"Speaking of eggs, here is some more information. Last week an R. I. Red hen laid an egg on my farm east of Margaret that was sharp on one end and large and round on the other. One side was flat, and a ridge taking up about three-fourths of this side formed all the way round. On the inside of this ridge, the shell was about half as thick as the rest of the shell and just above the ridge there were ten letters, about half of them plain as print, such as T. W. R. and A, all in capital letters. The rest of the letters were something like a Chinese laundry mark, and I was unable to figure them out.

"I brought this egg to Margaret last Wednesday and intended to take it to your office, but some people in examining the egg let it fall to the floor and broke, so you will just have to take my word for it, but several in town saw the egg. "If we are going to have war, it takes old hens' to tell us about it before hand and we had just as well be ready for it when it comes and makes the best of it.

"Respectfully,
"H. A. WESLEY."

This makes the second hen in Foard County to lay an egg containing the letters necessary to spell "War." A R. I. Red at the T. J. Cates home in Crowell had these letters in their proper order on her egg, together with "NRA."

Now we are anxious for some real intelligent hen to lay an egg telling us when Foard County is going to get a "sure-nuff" ground-soaking rain. L. D. Fox claims the peculiar inscriptions and wavy appearing surfaces on the eggs received at his hatchery from the W. S. Carter farm near Margaret indicate that plenty of rain is in store for the county—maybe a flood. He doesn't say how soon.

Two turkeys, half turkey and half chicken, have attracted considerable attention this week at the Hough Hatchery. These full grown fowls were secured from Robert Washburn. Except for a turkey type of neck, they resemble ordinary roosters and behave more in the manner of a chicken than a turkey.

Unusual Chicken

R. H. Cooper now has a pet chick in his Rhode Island Red flock and states that he will watch its development with special interest and attention and here's why:

Over three weeks ago Mr. Cooper chopped the head of a Rhode Island Red hen; scalded and pickled her, and then in removing the insides, he found an egg. Placing a special mark on it, he put the egg with others and brought them to the Fox Hatchery, Tuesday, a normal and healthy appearing chick was hatched from the egg that was never laid. In such a case we presume that the chick has a right to claim Mr. Cooper or L. D. Fox as its mother.

FOUR-COLUMN PICTURE FEATURES TODD BROS. IN SAN ANTONIO PAPER

Besides naming those in the picture, the following comment appeared under it:

"Among Fiesta visitors in San Antonio this week is Dick Todd, the football phenomenon from Crowell, Tex., who scored the amazing total of 318 points during the 1934 season for his high school team which won the regional Class B championship.

"Dick is a brother to Guy Todd, co-captain of the St. Mary's University Rattlers, who had established a previous record at Crowell with 181 points in one season."

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Todd and their three sons, and Mrs. John Todd and Miss Bernice Poland returned to Crowell last week after visiting relatives at Thrall, San Antonio and other points.

Invite Local Golfers to Wichita Falls for Tourney May 11-12

Golfers of Crowell have been invited to send a four-man team to the annual Wichita Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce tournament that is to be held May 11-12. Other individuals may compete in addition to the team.

Fifty-four holes will be played on a handicap basis, thereby giving the 100 shooter the same chance to score points for his city as the man who shoots in the 80's. Each man's handicap will be determined by the score of his 18-hole qualifying round, which must be played either May 5 or May 11, only. The final 36 holes will be played Sunday, May 12.

A beautiful loving cup will be given to the city whose team wins. Individual winners will be determined on a low score basis and trophies will be awarded.

Flights will be arranged on the basis of the qualifying 18-hole hole score and two prizes will be given in each flight. A man may play in any flight, represent his city and compete for an individual prize at the same time.

A stag banquet, dance, $350.00 in prizes and $40.00 in merchandise to the winning team are some of the tourney features.
