Insanitary Conditions in China

The generations that have lived and died in China for ages know little and care less about sanitation or health measures. The soil is infected with disease germs. Millions of people live on boats in the rivers, passing their days and nights on the boats and never going ashore. The waters of China are polluted. The air is filled with fine dust whenever the wind blows and sometimes when it doesn't, so the very air that is breathed can deal death to the unwary.

Watch the Fords Go By

THE NEW FORD V-8 FOR 1936

Why do we say The New Ford V-8 for 1936?

What is new about it?

Of course, the newest engine in the low-price car field is still the V-8 engine. Since Ford made it available to all car users (keeping it as economical as cars with fewer cylinders) the Ford V-8 has been the newest engine on the market, and remains the newest for 1936.

You may buy a car on minor "talking points"—some specially advertised feature "with the car thrown in"—but, after all, it is the engine you buy when you buy a car. Hence we put the engine first.

Other new points about the car make a long list.

Its lines are much more beautiful. The hood is longer and sweeps forward over the distinctive new radiator grille, giving the car a length and grace that are instantly impressive. The fenders are larger, with a wide flare. Horns are concealed behind circular grilles beneath the headlamps. New steel wheels.

Ford upholstery—always of sterling quality and excellent taste—is rich and enduring. The appointments of the car have a new touch of refinement. There is no question about the increased beauty of the Ford V-8 for 1936.

In more practical matters, many improvements have been made—Steering is made easier by a new steering gear ratio. The cooling system circulates 5 1/2 gallons of water through a new, larger radiator. Natural thermosyphon action is assisted by two centrifugal water pumps. New style hood louvres permit a rapid air-flow around the engine.

Easier, quieter shifting of Ford gears—The gear shift lever now travels a shorter distance.

The two qualities you want in brakes—Brakes that stop the car with ease and certainty, Ford Super-Safety Brakes of the long-tested, fool-proof, mechanical design.

Safety—as always—in the electrically welded genuine steel body. Safety Glass all around at no extra cost. Hundreds have written grateful letters because this glass has protected the safety of their families.

A car you can drive without strain all day, if you like, in city or country. Steady, holds the road, responds to the driver's touch like a well-trained horse. You don't have to "push" or "fight" the Ford V-8—driver and car easily get on terms of good understanding with each other.

An engine has much to do with the roominess of a car. Very much indeed. A long engine uses up car space. The compact V-8 engine permits much of the ordinary engine space to be used by passengers.

It really is a great car in every way, this 1936 Ford V-8—the finest, safest, most dependable Ford car ever built. Now on display by Ford dealers.

IOWA PARK ON SMALL END OF 19 TO 0 SCORE

Outstanding ball carrying work by Frank Meason plus some fine blocking by his teammates enabled the Crowell Wildcats to win their second consecutive game of the year over Iowa Park's Hawks by the score of 19 to 0 at Iowa Park last Friday night.

Crowell scored twice in the second quarter and once in the third with Meason going over for each of the three touchdowns after previously putting the ball in scoring position with nice runs.

Two Wildcat regulars, Paul McKown and John Cogdell, were missing from the line-up in this game and Sam Crews was out for the greater part of three quarters when he re-injured his knee. Despite the loss of these regulars, Crowell's score would no doubt have been larger had the regulation 15-minute quarters been used instead of 12-minute ones.

This was Crowell's fifth game of the season and the first one to be played on foreign soil.

Summary
 First downs—Crowell, 16, Iowa Park 9.

Running plays—Crowell carried the ball 82 times, gaining 211 yards and losing 44; Iowa Park carried the ball 15 times, gaining 10 yards and losing 47.

Passes—Crowell tried 4, completed 3 for 38 yards and had one intercepted; Iowa Park tried 2, not only school was in session but an election was being held to vote bonds for needed improvements to the school plant that have already been planned. Here we visited for a short time with L. F. Ward, C. L. Adkins, Roy Ayers and Bailey Rennels, superintendent of the school. The other gentlemen were helping hold the election.

After leaving Riverside en route to Rayland, a stop was made at the McLarty farm where the erection of a sweet potato kiln was in progress. The first man we met at this farm was Garfield Jones, a former Crowell man whose home now is in Beaver County, Okla. Garfield was digging a trench six to eight feet deep and three feet wide. The potato kiln is located several hundred yards west from the farm home and will be a stucco building, 36 ft. long by 28 ft. wide, with metal roof and eight double windows on the south. Concrete air passages with small holes on top run full length of the building on each side and connect with one in the center that leads to a concrete cellar on the north where the fans will be operated by electricity. The building is estimated to hold 20,000 bushels. Shirley McLarty, who lives on the farm, says the sweet potato crop is good this year and he expects to harvest about 400 bushels to the acre on 45 acres. The McLarty farm, with its irrigation system, dense growth of trees and good crops, is an interesting place to visit, and in the short time we were there, we hardly got started. The feed crop is beautiful and is well managed. At a distance we sighted a large herd of hogs grazing on alfalfa.

Going on to Rayland we had a pleasant visit with J. L. Roberson, manager of the Aubrey L. Lockett Gin, Tom Lawson, H. D. Lawson and others. H. D. Lawson showed us some samples of a new variety of cotton he has raised this year which is expected to average one-half bale to the acre. The bolls grow in clusters and contain from 9 to 12 locks to the boll.

Returning home by way of Thalia we stopped at the Farmers' Co-operative Gin at Thalia. J. C. Taylor is manager of the Thalia Farmers Gin and Willie Cato is bookkeeper. We also stopped at the postoffice, Shultz Drug Store and the office of the Thalia Gin Co. C. C. Battenfield is manager of this gin.

OVER FOARD

The publisher of The News has for many years desired to make regular visits to the different communities in the county and during the time he has been sole leader of The News squad he has made a good many visits, but not nearly as many as he wanted to. We enjoy getting out and visiting our neighbors and friends when not hard-pressed with other necessary duties.

On Tuesday morning of this week we visited in the east part of the county, the first stop being made at Riverside school where

Longer Lines in Ford V-8 for 1936

THE LONGER and more graceful lines of the Ford V-8 for 1936 are well illustrated in this view of the popular De Luxe Tudor Sedan. The new longer hood extends gracefully over the attractive new radiator grille. Wide streamlined front fenders, with an imposing flare, shroud the tires and house the horns behind chromium grilles. New design steel wheels with 12 1/2-inch hub caps are handsome and easy to clean. Bucket-type front seats are exceptionally comfortable. This body type, of welded steel, is available without de luxe appointments at lower cost.

then 1. Saunders fumbled on an attempted pass and lost 10. F. Meason's punt put the ball on the 22. Cooksey fumbled and lost 1.

G. Meason returned the Hawk's punt 13 to the 38. Dunn lost 3. F. Meason gained 8. A pass, Saunders to Fitzgerald, gained 13. F. Meason gained 1 and then 4. On the next play he circled right end for 6 yards and a touchdown. Fitzgerald's drop-kick for extra point was wide. Crowell 19, Iowa Park 0.

F. Meason kicked off and Honeycutt returned 12 to the 34. Honeycutt made 2. Iowa Park penalized 5. Honeycutt lost 7 on an attempt to pass. Honeycutt's punt went out on his own 39. F. Meason failed to gain as the quarter ended. Crowell 19, Hawks 0.

THE WOOL MARKET HAS GONE SKY HIGH

Within the past few weeks the price of raw wool has jumped more than 30 per cent. The mills, in turn, have raised prices of the finished cloth accordingly. As a result of this, we can definitely look for higher clothing prices.

The Farmers National Grain Corporation, at their meeting in Chicago September 17, adopted the following resolution endorsing the programs of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration:

"Whereas, within a period of a little more than two years, American farmers have seen the prices of their products increased from levels which spelled bankruptcy and ruin, to near parity;

"Whereas, the reduction of price-depressing crop surpluses and the balancing of production to demand at fair price levels, all made possible by the Agricultural Adjustment Act, has been most influential in starting agriculture on the road to recovery;

"Whereas, such business recovery as we have had is largely due to the partial restoration of farm buying power through fairer exchange value for farm products in terms of non-agricultural goods and services;

"And whereas, under the American system of controlled and protected industrial production with fixed prices, fixed wage scales and arbitrary rates, fees and commissions, farmers must exercise like control over their production and prices if they are to avoid insolvency;

"Be it resolved, that the Farmers National Grain Corporation, in annual meeting assembled, vigorously support and insist on the maintenance of the Agricultural Adjustment Act and its policy of equal privilege and protection with parity prices to farmers, until some better means is developed to insure the 30 million people directly dependent on agriculture a fair share of the national income."

Hardin-Simmons and S. M. U. Will Play at Wichita Falls Oct. 26

Wichita Falls, Oct. 22.—Hardin-Simmons University Cowboys, whose aspirations point directly to a berth in the Cotton States conference, and the Southern Methodist University Mustangs, already a recognized factor in the Southwest group's 1935 pennant marathon, will furnish Wichita Falls' intercollegiate football classic here the evening of Saturday, Oct. 26, at 8 o'clock.

Bringing together two of the Southwest's most colorful aggregations, preparations are being made to handle a crowd of 5,000 or more at the Coyote stadium. S. M. U.'s Bobby Wilson, Shuford Smith, et al., under the tutelage of Coach Matty Bell are painting a red streak through the football map this fall, and unless the Ponies fall before Rice Institute Owls this week-end, it will be an undefeated team the Hardin-Simmons crew will encounter.

Coach Frank Kimbrough, in his first season at Hardin-Simmons, has started a building program that promises big things for Cowboy football of the future, and his campaign already has brought results this season. Holding Texas Tech to 10 points and Baylor to 14 added new feathers to the Kimbrough bonnet, and such sterling battles as Christy, McKinney, Crowell and Tyler are expected to give Southern Methodist plenty of trouble here a week from Saturday night. Kimbrough will furnish one of the most colorful teams to be seen in Texas this year.

CROWELL, OLNEY AND SEYMOUR TIED FOR LEAD IN DISTRICT 9-B; CHILLICOTHE SHOWS STRENGTH

Games This Week

Three conference games will be played in 9-B this week. Crowell will journey to Chillicothe Friday afternoon; Seymour to Iowa Park and Archer City to Burkburnett.

Olney takes on one of the toughest teams in Texas high school football in playing host to Masonic Home.

Wichita Falls' invasion of Quannah Friday night provides the highlight in 5-A. These are the only two undefeated teams in the 5-A race.

The other teams of the district will be idle.

Predictions

Last week we picked the winners in six out of eight games. We were incorrect in picking Throckmorton to beat Chillicothe and Childress to beat Electra. In games mentioned above we believe the winners this week will be Crowell, Seymour, Burkburnett, Masonic Home and Wichita Falls.

In the Southwest Conference, expect T. C. U. to beat Centenary; A. & M. to break Baylor's undefeated record; S. M. U. to down Hardin-Simmons, and Rice to win over Texas.

District 9-B Standing

Teams	G.	W.	L.	T.	Pct.
Crowell	2	2	0	0	1.000
Olney	2	2	0	0	1.000
Seymour	1	1	0	0	1.000
Chillicothe	3	2	1	0	.665
Archer City	3	1	2	0	.333
Throckmorton	3	1	2	0	.333
Burkburnett	2	0	2	0	.000
Iowa Park	2	0	2	0	.000

Schedule This Week

Crowell at Chillicothe.
Masonic Home at Olney.
Seymour at Iowa Park.
Archer City at Burkburnett.
Throckmorton, open.

Results Last Week

Crowell 19, Iowa Park 0.
Olney 18, Archer City 0.
Chillicothe 12, Throckmorton 2.
Seymour 7, Burkburnett 6.

Other Games

Weatherford, Nocona and Bowie continued to reveal strength in 10-B, the bi-district competitor for 9-B. Weatherford beat the defending champion, Graham, 25 to 6. Nocona won 62-0 over Belleue and Bowie maintained its perfect record with a 6-0 win over Henrietta.

Matador beat Lockney 21-7 and Paducah downed Aspermont 19-0 to maintain their perfect district records west of here.

Rotary Luncheon

Class A games of local interest: Electra 26, Childress 6; Greenville 27, Wichita Falls 7; Vernon 33, Frederick 13. The biggest upset in Northwest Texas came when Haskell beat the Class A Abilene team 6 to 0. Haskell had previously beaten Seymour only 19 to 6.

Former Resident Visits

Roy Hanna, former resident of Crowell and manager of the Falls wholesale and retail plant while here, was a visitor here Tuesday. He has moved to Wichita Falls from Dallas, where he has been for the past few years, and is serving as divisional manager for the Falls Refining Company.

While here Mr. Hanna announced that the Falls Refining Co. had become a distributing agency for "Veedol," 100 per cent Pennsylvania oil.

Best Cold Cure Is To Remain at Home

Austin, Texas, Oct. 23.—"The 'open season' for the so-called common cold has again arrived. Victims of this general complaint will constantly increase during the winter months, large numbers of persons will become temporarily incapacitated, many will become dangerously ill, while yet others will succumb to complications," stated Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer.

In spite of the wonderful strides in disease prevention made in the last few decades, the problem of the common cold yet remains to be solved. If the situation lent itself to mass control, there possibly would be no problem. Unfortunately, however, the matter cannot be handled in that way. The solution, in view of present-day limitations, rests somewhat upon the intelligent co-operation of the individual. So far, this has proved to be an insurmountable barrier. The trouble arises because the victim fails to appreciate the possibility of "only a cold." In fact, with the day's work to be done, it is difficult to be self-persuaded that one should remain at home, and possibly in bed, if overtaken by such an infection. Feeling quite able to move around, it is hard to realize that rest and care represent the best treatment not only for the cold itself but as a preventive of more dangerous supplemental conditions.

The average person argues that home and bed are alright when one is too sick to be any place else. However, the scientific facts prove that most of the calamities now charged to the common cold could be avoided if one would at least stay at home when this infection appears and remain there until it is cured. In fact, on a business basis, it is the economical and wise procedure. For "only a cold" may develop into a very real illness; therefore, every precaution should be taken to minimize the spread of this infection.

Christian Science Services
"Probation After Death" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Oct. 27.
The Golden Text is: "Blessed is the man that endureth temptation; for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him" (James 1:12).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "When Jesus was risen early the first day of the week, he appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom he had cast seven devils" (Mark 16:9).

The Lesson-Sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "In his resurrection and ascension, Jesus showed that a mortal man is not the real essence of manhood, and that this unreal material mortality disappears in the presence of the reality" (page 292.)

GRAMMAR SCHOOL ASSEMBLY
Wednesday morning of last week the grammar school pupils enjoyed a sing-song program in assembly. The program consisted of quartets, solos, duets, and readings. Those giving these numbers were Wanda Rose Liles, Thelma Lois Moore, Maxine Lindsay, Bill Scott Bruce, Mary Curtis, Mary Evelyn Edwards, Joyzelle Tysinger, De Alva Thomas, Joe Harris Seales, Kendrick Joy, and Billie Billington.

NIGHT FOOTBALL AT LAST
Crowell has at last realized a long-wished ambition—to have a lighted football field. This advancement was desired not only by the football team, the pep squad and the students, but by every football fan in Crowell. The large attendance at the Matador, Quannah, Paducah and Burk Burnett games are appreciated.
More people can attend a night football game because it is not to be forgotten that Crowell is primarily an agricultural town and usually the farmers are working in the day time. For them to attend a football game in the daytime is ordinarily impossible.
The stunts between halves are much more interesting at night than in the glare of the sun, and the fans can relax more in the cool night air and concentrate on the game rather than on escaping the hot sun's rays.
Even the boys are more peppy at night! After resting all day they are more than ready to go into the game and win!

AMONG THE MISSING
John Cogdell, who has been a "main stringer" for the past two years in the Wildcat line-up, is in the local hospital for an appendicitis operation. Due to this John will be unable to participate in any more games this season. John, who is always the first to get back into Wildcat territory after a touchdown, will be missed very much by the other Wildcats. However, in a few weeks John will be on the side lines rooting for the rest of the players.

PERSONALS
Thelma Jo Ross is seriously ill, suffering from an attack of yellow jaundice.
Raymond Horn, who has been seriously ill on account of an infection, is improving.
Martha Morgan cracked a bone in her arm last Thursday.
Theresa Gamble is suffering from a badly burned hand.

THEME OF THE WEEK
I Like To Hike
(By Mary Frances Green)
To me hiking is the true meaning of the word fun. I fully enjoy and delight in traveling over a steep, narrow path made dangerous by cliffs and steep banks. Scrambling up a rocky mountain side and stumbling on rocks and undergrowth is the sport that I like best of all. Crawling under fences, jumping ditches, and climbing up treacherous sloping hillsides has become my favorite pastime in moments of leisure. In the afternoon I love to leave the house for a long hike. Happily, I roam over the country side, looking for dangerous trails that ramble over the hills and brakes, cross creeks and chasms, and pass through meadows and over ditches. I like to be alone and to use my imagination. Because hiking affords an opportunity to do these, I have learned to like it so much. The more perilous the trail and surroundings, the better the place is for serious thought. I like to spend hours wandering over these rocky cliffs, thinking thoughts all my own.

THE DOCTORS ARE RIGHT

Women should take liquid laxatives
Many believe any laxative might take only makes constipation worse. And that isn't true. Do what doctors do to relieve this condition. They use a laxative, and keep reducing dose until the bowels need no at all.
Reduced dosage is the secret aiding Nature in restoring regularity. You must use a little less each time, and that's why your laxative should be in liquid form. A dose can be regulated to the drop.
The liquid laxative generally is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, contains senna and castor—natural laxatives that form no even with children. Syrup Pepsin the nicest tasting, nicest acting laxative you ever tried.

HOSTILE VALLEY

By Ben Ames Williams

CHAPTER XI—To the astonishment of her hearers she declares Carey is the murderer. In the eyes of the others' open disbeliever and Carey's almost comical denial, she questions shrewdly, but his explanation seems plausible, and the old is apparently discredited.

CHAPTER XII—It is arranged that Marm and Jenny, while Bart and the sheriff, with an old Saladine Bart leaves, and he went blundering into the barn, groping here and there. He stumbled over something, and Saladine struck a match, and the sheriff demanded hoarsely:

CHAPTER XIII

It was no longer raining, although beside the road the leaves were dripping, and the headlights of the black mirrors of muddy in the ruts. At the turn that led to the barn, Saladine saw that the way, carefully, since the floor was slippery; and so pressing forward, he saw the farm buildings, the white blur of the house, the barn with its high peak against the gloomy sky.

When Saladine looked up over his shoulder now, following the sheriff's eyes, he saw a man sitting cross-legged on this timber, his hands hanging idly over his shins, his eyes bright as cat's eyes in the dark, and burning strangely. His grinning teeth were white. It was Zeke Dace, with that big hat, its brim curled so jauntily, pushed far back on his head.

Zeke, above them, said in a drawing tone: "Here's a knife! Help yourself. And something thumped on the barn floor.

The sheriff found the knife even in the darkness, and twisted open the blade, and Saladine heard steel saw on hemp. Then a pully whirred, and something fell heavily on the ground outside the barn door.

The sheriff was quick that way. He became busy there and he said over his shoulder:

"Find the lantern, Jim! One somewhere!"

Zeke spoke calmly, "It hangs right here under me!"

Saladine was a man not easily daunted; but his hands were shaking now. He tried fruitlessly to light the lantern, broke two or three matches in an absurd futility before Zeke dropped from his perch and said:

"Here! Let me!"

And he took the lantern and with steady hand had it lighted instantly.

So they turned to where Bart lay. The sheriff had Bart's wrists in his hands, pushing Bart's arms up and back and down to the ground above Bart's head; then bending the elbows, pressing the folded arms hard home on Bart's chest. He repeated this in a rhythmic persistence.

Zeke said at last, in tones which had a peculiar terror of their own: "I low you won't do him any good that way, mister. His neck's broke!" He added contentedly: "Or if it ain't, it ought to be!"

The sheriff relaxed his efforts. "It's all I know to do," he admitted helplessly. He bent forward, examining the dead man. "I guess you're right," he said at last, and stood up slowly. "You must be this Zeke Dace they tell about," he reflected.

"That's so," Zeke assented. "That's who I be!"

The sheriff looked down at Bart there on the ground. "You done this to him, did you?"

"Guess I did," Zeke assented; and after a moment, he explained as though proud of his grim device:

"I lowed he'd come to tend the critters in the barn here, give him time. So I run a fall through the tackle of the horse fork, and got enough purchase with it to h'st the grindstone into the upper mow. I didn't know as it'd be heavy enough, so I fastened some trace chains and such truck onto it. Then I balanced it up there on the edge, so's it'd tip over easy, with one end of the affl fast to it, and a running noose in t'other end. I fetched the noose end down here and waited; and when Bart come in, all I had to do was drop the noose over his head and twitch the grindstone off its perch."

The sheriff tipped back his hat, ran his fingers across his brow. "Well, we'd ought to get Bart in the house," he decided. "Can't let him lay out here!" And he said to Saladine: "Take his feet Jim, will you. I'll carry his head."

And he spoke to Zeke in a matter-of-fact tone. "You hold the lantern," he directed. "Open the door for us."

So they carried Bart into the kitchen, and laid him on the floor. Zeke closed the door, and he set the lantern on top of the cold stove; and the sheriff moved his brow and turned to face this man. "You done this, you said?"

Zeke seemed almost to chuckle

IMPORTANCE OF VITAMIN "A" TO EYESIGHT OF HUMANS AND LIVESTOCK SHOWN IN TESTS

That weak or abnormal eyes and certain other defects in man-kind may be due to a deficiency of vitamin A in the diet of the mother before and during pregnancy is now considered seriously as a possibility and for that matter the health of the mothers themselves seems to rest upon a good diet in which among other needed substances, vitamin A is adequately supplied.

No experiments have been made with humans to bear out such a conclusion and their very nature renders such experiments most difficult or impossible. Recent experiments with animals, however, have yielded results that strongly point to a deficiency of vitamin A in the rations of the mother animal for some time previous and during the early stages of gestation, as a certain cause for eyelessness, or at least defective eyes, as well as numerous other defects such as cleft palate and arrested placement of the kidneys. In fact such dietary deficiencies, carried too far, have resulted in the death of the mother animal before parturition and in all cases have caused her health to be so precarious as to make doubtful her survival.

By analogy many scientists and students from all over the world have seized upon the remarkable experiments by Fred Hale of the Swine Husbandry Division of the Texas Experiment Station to suspect that the diets by which he has been able to produce entire litters of pigs born blind and some in various stages of arrested development are not unlike the diets of these students now suspect that in many cases the weak or underdeveloped eyes of children may be due to vitamin A deficiency in the mother's food. Mr. Hale has been able repeatedly to produce blind pigs by withholding vitamin A from the mother for some 160 days to 180 days before breeding and for 30 days afterward. Then in order to save the life of the sow and to furnish the sow every opportunity to go through the full gestation period, he would supply vitamin A which quickly restores the animal to health; but since 30 days, the period during which the eyes are formed in the embryo pigs, has been passed with insufficient vitamin A, the vitamin is supplied too late to restore the eyes and the pigs are accordingly born blind or even without eyes. His experiments have been extended to include evidence that the eyelessness is not due to heredity and the feat has been repeated often enough to prove definitely that the vitamin deficiency is the cause of these cases of blindness or eyelessness. While the are other causes for blindness there is no doubt that vitamin A deficiency does cause blindness under such conditions as obtained in these experiments.

Ordinarily there is little or no excuse for animals in normal surroundings to suffer from vitamin deficiency. Any farmer can provide ample vitamin A for his animals the year round. Green pasture does the trick perfectly and when that can not be had there are such feeds as alfalfa and yellow corn that supply very good amounts of the vitamin and in emergencies cod-liver oil can be fed. Sometimes during a protracted drouth some of the ranges are depleted for a long time of every vestige of green grazing or browse of any sort. In such cases the vitamin A deficiency is likely to occur and when the condition precedes the breeding season for a few months and continues for a time during the gestation period the young will very likely be born with defective eyes. Indeed this very thing has just been happening in sections of Western Texas where the long drouth served to deplete the prospective mother animals of sufficient stores of vitamin A on up to a time when the

STANDING STALKS SAVE SOIL

Midwestern farmers check soil blowing in fields of corn and sorghum harvested with a binder for standing stalks every 20 to 30 rows. Topping the sorghum and husking or snapping the corn saves the grain. This method of checking soil blowing is most effective when rows run at right angles to the prevailing winds. Some farmers prefer to leave a uniform stubble about a foot high—which is just as good a plan—says the Soil Conservation Service.
