CROWELL HIGH SCHOOL TAKES CHAMPIONSHIP OF DISTRICT 3 FOR THIRD CONSECUTIVE YEAR

Crowell High School won the basketball championship of District No. 3 of the Texas Interscholastic League for the third consecutive year as a result of a 54 to 20 victory over Turkey in the final game of the district tournament at Childress on Saturday night.

The Wildcats gained the right to enter the final game by beating Quannah 66 to 24 in their first game and then dropping Shamrock 60 to 23 in the semi-finals. Turkey, the Hall County representative, beat Kirkland 51 to 33 in the opening round and Matador 53 to 26 in the semi-finals.

The following nine counties are included in District No. 3: Collingsworth, Wheeler, Childress, Hall, Hardeman, Motley, Cottle, King and Foard. All were represented at the tournament with the exception of King.

The first game of the tournament was played Friday afternoon between Shamrock of Wheeler County and Rolla of Collingsworth with Shamrock winning by the score of 34 to 19.

Paducah-Matador
The Paducah-Matador game immediately followed this contest and proved to be the most closely fought tilt of the tournament. Matador won 44 to 40 in an extra five-minute period, the score being tied 34-34 when the official time for the game ended. Paducah held the lead until the last quarter. During it and the extra period the score was tied six different times.

Crowell-Quannah
The next game was between Crowell and Quannah on Friday night. Quannah had been generally regarded as one of the strongest teams at the tournament, however, the Indians were no match for the Wildcats and Crowell won 66 to 24.

Turkey-Kirkland
Turkey beat Kirkland of Childress County 51 to 33 following the Crowell-Quannah game. Kirkland took an early lead but had it erased before the quarter ended and from then on Turkey held the lead.

Semi-Final Games
Crowell and Turkey had little difficulty in winning their semi-final games Saturday morning. In the first one, Crowell swamped Shamrock 60 to 23 and immediately following Turkey dropped Matador 53 to 26.

As a result of Turkey's splendid showing during their first two games, it was the general opinion at the Turks would give Crowell one stiff competition Saturday night.

Grand Jury Requests Disposal of Gaming Machines in Foard Co.

The grand jury for the February term of court for Foard county adjourned last Friday. The following report of its session was filed with the district clerk:

"We, the grandjurors, duly selected, organized, sworn and impaneled as such for the county and state aforesaid, and for the term of court aforesaid, wish to make the following report:

"We have been in session for a total of three days. We have returned seven true bills. In the following cases sent to us from the justice court, and in which complaints have been filed, we have returned no bills, to wit: State of Texas vs. Jean Cotton; State of Texas vs. R. A. Rutledge; State of Texas vs. Dave Simpson.

"We have also inspected the jail of aforesaid county and find the same to be kept in excellent condition and to be in an excellent state of repair.

"We have also investigated the existence in our community of various kinds of gaming machines and find that there are a few machines operated by reputable merchants that nevertheless violate the law, we recommend to our sheriff that he call on such parties and request that they destroy or dispose of such machines, and that in the event such is not done that said machines be confiscated as provided by law. We also made some investigation of unwitting violations of our gaming laws in other quarters and believe such violations have been discontinued as a result of our investigations.

"On the whole we believe the general moral conditions of our county, especially as pertains to specific law violations, is fairly good.

"We believe that all officials of our county are striving to efficiently discharge the duties of their respective office and we wish to commend them for such efforts.

"Having nothing further to report and having completed our labors, we respectfully petition the said honorable court that we be discharged. Respectfully submitted, L. A. Andrews, Foreman."

Foard County's second trades day this year will be held Monday and prospects are favorable for another successful day of swapping.

No unusual or fancy features have been planned for the day other than the expressions of the willingness of the citizenship in general to co-operate in this event along lines that will prove most profitable to all.

First Monday has been set aside as one day in each month for the people of this section to come together and swap those things that they do not need for things that they do need. Therefore it is possible for hundreds of people to secure needed items without money.

Crowell merchants are also co-operating in the event by offering special bargains for this day, as one can see in glancing over the ads in this issue of The News.

Free Auction Service
The people of this section may take advantage of free auctioneer service on this day. Dave Sallis has been employed by local business men for this purpose.

W. B. Tysinger, who is in charge of the committee on livestock arrangements, states that headquarters for livestock this time will be on the lot just south of Loyd's hotel and that arrangements to care for horses, mules and cows have been completed at that point.

Last month some inconvenience was experienced as a result of livestock being assembled at different parts of town.

The Free Swap ads appear on page 7 of this issue of The News.

The rainfall was about the same over most of the county, although heavier in some places. Considerable snow was received in the Vivian section Monday morning. Some snow fell at Crowell but melted as soon as it fell as a result of the rain that fell with it.

OUR NEW PRESIDENT

We take this occasion to extend our compliments to the new President of the United States and to wish him the greatest possible measure of success in his effort to lead the nation out of the slough of despond.

It is a Herculean task which Mr. Roosevelt and the Congress face. There has not been, in recent times at least, such an opportunity as lies before the new Administration. At the same time, no new Administration has come into the control of our Government, since Lincoln's time, which was confronted with such perils.

We give President Roosevelt and his advisers credit for the highest motives of patriotism. We think no one can deny that Mr. Roosevelt's record of public service, beginning with the Legislature of the State of New York, as Assistant Secretary of the Navy during the Great War, and as Governor of New York for the past four years, has been a record of forward-looking, aggressive and intelligent effort for the common good.

But the situation which confronts the new Administration is one filled with pitfalls and uncertainties. We think that the nation at large realizes, as it never realized before, that our desperate situation in America is on all fours with the economic distress which is felt in every quarter of the globe. We do not believe, and we do not think that Mr. Roosevelt believes, that the United States, in this critical juncture, can lift itself by its own bootstraps. And one of the great uncertainties is how for the nations of Europe will go in cooperating, along lines which our nation can accept, toward bringing about an economic re-adjustment on a world-wide scale.

That is not to imply that there are not many serious phases of our domestic situation which cannot be remedied by the intelligent and courageous action at Washington. It seems certain that, in the beginning of his Administration at any rate, our new President will have the whole-hearted and effective support of our new Senate and House of Representatives, and that sort of team-work ought to get results in speedy action, so far as legislation can be of benefit.

The country is still in the dark as to the exact methods and policies which the new Administration will undertake to make effective. But we believe there is a very general desire to give the new President the freest possible hand, and to clothe him with authority beyond that which has been bestowed upon any Executive, except in war time, in the sincere hope that he will thus be able to act swiftly and effectively.

We do not think that any new President taking office for the first time has ever had the opportunity which is offered to President Roosevelt. At the same time, we are not unmindful, and we are sure Mr. Roosevelt is not unmindful, of the tremendous responsibility which the nation is laying upon him.

We most heartily wish him the best of luck.

TIME TO PLANT LESS

Winter is nearly over, and it will be but a short time before spring planting is under way in every part of the United States. And in every part of the country farmers are more or less in a quandary as to how much acreage to bring into production this year.

If half of the threats of a "farmers' strike" which we hear about are carried out, there will naturally be a material reduction in the volume of agricultural production for 1933 and that, of course, will have a tendency to bring higher prices for such as is produced. We think the realization that it is necessary for the farmers of the nation, as a whole, to reduce the acreage under cultivation has now become quite widespread.

Farmers understand that a large part of their troubles have come from retaining under cultivation marginal lands which were put to the plow during the war, when the utmost possible production was stimulated by the high prices fixed by the Government for agricultural commodities. With half the world at war the United States had to feed more than half of the rest of the world. But that condition could not be maintained, and the American farmers' export market has been steadily falling off for the past ten years, since the rest of the world has got back to its agricultural operations.

Our belief is that this export market is going to continue to diminish. Country after country which formerly was a steady and reliable customer for American wheat, cotton, meat and dairy products, is now raising nearly all of its own necessities.

We think that 1933 is a good year for every farmer to begin to try to help himself and his country by cutting down his planting by anywhere up to 50 percent. If all farmers agreed to this they would find, by harvest time, that they were getting higher prices than they have dreamed of for years. They could pay off their mortgages, buy the new equipment they need, and so start the wheels of prosperity spinning again.

We don't know what is going to happen to the domestic allotment plan of farm relief which has been discussed in Congress, but we think that in offering an inducement to the producers of staple crops to reduce their output, it is headed in the right direction.

AWFUL POSSIBILITIES

Horrible as were some of the engines of death employed in the World War, they were probably far less destructive than those which might be brought into play in a future death struggle of nations.

Prof. Leonard Hill, in his address as president before a London sanitary association, recently cited one possibility which is terrifying in its implications. He declared that a certain kind of germ which can be easily cultivated is so deadly that a spoonful suitably distributed could kill a million persons.

This is not the first time such measures for the extermination of troops and non-combatants alike in the event of another great war have been hinted at. And there is little use to argue that such diabolical means, if developed, would not be used.

Poison gas in warfare was condemned and agreements to avoid its employment were made long before the World War, but it was used with telling effect by both sides after the Germans resorted to it at Ypres, April 1915. Our own experts declare that chemical warfare will play a far more important role in any future war, and there is not the slightest doubt that disease germs would be likewise employed if a practical method of doing so were developed.

With all these added horrors in prospect, it is little wonder that thoughtful persons everywhere are seeking to prevent another world tragedy, which might easily wipe out entire populations. Civilization must preserve peace, or perish by the instruments of destruction which it has created.

SOME LONG WORDS

What is the longest word in the English language? That is a hard question to answer, as writers have from time to time coined words of extraordinary length which have never gotten into general use.

The longest in Webster's international dictionary is honorificabilitudinitatibus, defined as "honorableness, a pedantic nonsense word, used by Shakespeare in 'Love's Labor Lost,' and containing 27 letters.

But in chemical treatises may be found even longer words more wonderfully compounded than the chemi-

THE CENTER OF INTEREST

The Samaritan woman at Jacob's well stopped short, her interest challenged in spite of herself; she set down the pitcher and looked at the stranger. It was a burning hot day; the well was far from the city; she was heated and tired. What did Jesus mean by such a remark? She started to speak, checked herself and burst out impulsively, her curiosity over-leaping her caution:

Bruce Barton

"What are you talking about? Do you mean to say you are greater than our father Jacob who gave us this well? Have you some magic that will save us this long walk in the sun?"

Dramatic, isn't it—a single sentence achieving triumph, arousing interest and creating desire. With sure instinct Jesus followed up his initial advantage. He began to talk to her in terms of her own life, her ambitions, her hopes, knowing so well that each of us is interested first of all and most of all in himself. When the disciples came up a few minutes later they found an unbelievable sight—a Samaritan listening with rapt attention to the teaching of a Jew.

He prepared to go but she would not allow it. Running back to the city she summoned her brothers and relatives.

"Come," she cried, "and see a man who told me all things that ever I did."

They followed her out to the well—these prejudiced, reluctant men and women, who, an hour before, would have thought it incredible that they should ever hold conversation with one of their traditional enemies. It is said that great leaders are born, not made. The saying is true to this degree, that no man can persuade people to do what he wants them to do, unless he genuinely likes people, and believes that what he wants them to do is to their own advantage.

The secret of Jesus' success was an affection for folks which so shone in his eyes and rang in his tones, that even the commonest man in a crowd felt instinctively that here was a friend. . . . The afternoon shadows lengthened while he talked. It came time for the evening meal; again he prepared to go. They would not hear of it. He must be their guest, meet their neighbors, tell them more, persuade them further!

"They besought him to abide with them; and he abode there two days."

cal products which they describe. For example, tetrahydroparamethyloxypuimoline, with 31 letters; also paraoxymetamethozallylbenzine of 30 letters, and others.

English must yield the palm to some foreign languages, however, when long words are considered. In German, schutzengrabenvernichtungsaufautomobile, with 35 letters, is as formidable as the war engine it describes. In English this machine is commonly designated by the four-letter word "tank," a saving of 31 letters going to the credit of our mother tongue.

Longest of all so far discovered is a Greek word of 181 letters, which appropriately enough is the name of a dish containing many ingredients. We call it simply "hash."

NEGRO CAN'T BE FIRED

The present tendency to refuse employment to men beyond middle age has no terrors for John Hyland, a Harlem negro, who has a life job as "superintendent" of the Empire theatre in New York.

John has been an attache of the Empire so long that the memory of man runneth not to the contrary. He was on duty opening doors of carriages for prominent playgoers before John Drew, Maude Adams and Ethel Barrymore became stars.

When limousines took the place of carriages, old John opened limousine doors. Through the years he was the soul of politeness and obliging service. But finally advancing age made it necessary to replace him with a more active man as door opener. And to the credit of a kindhearted manager let it be said that John was not thrown into the discard. On the contrary, he was promoted to the position of "superintendent," with few duties ordinarily, and none at all if he doesn't feel like working.

Furthermore, it was provided that each new lease of the theatre contain a clause that John shall retain his job, whether he is able to work or not.

And old John is still as obliging and polite as of yore. To each new manager he explains: "Ah goes wid de lease."

first quarter of the final contest. For the greater part of this period Turkey held the lead, however, in the final two minutes the Wildcats came from behind and led 11 to 9 as the quarter ended.

In the second quarter Crowell limited the Turks to one point while scoring 13. The rest of the game was all Crowell. In this game as in others the entire Crowell team starred as a unit, with Russell, Todd, Allee, Carter and Wisdom performing in stellar manner.

A play by play broadcast of the final game was received at Self Motor Co. through a loudspeaker connected with a long-distance telephone line to the scene of the game at Childress. George Self announced the game.

The legend that almost any strange person or sight will draw an immediate crowd in New York was blasted the other day about sunset at the public library. A turbaned Oriental came down from upstairs, walked to one end of the lobby, spread out his prayer rug and started in his evening prayer in the Moslem fashion, salaaming. A dozen or more people passed by him as they went in and out. None stared, none stopped, and about half took off their hats as they passed the praying man.

In New York 50,000 persons call up on the telephone to find out what time it is—every day. They pay a nickel each to find out.

There are scores of movie theatres in New York where you can see pictures for a dime. Most of them are on the East Side.

COMMENT CAGE

By PERCY NALLS

It is getting to be an annual habit for the Crowell Wildcats to stage the big show at the District 3 basketball tournament and again the local quarter returned to their den with another championship in their possession following the tournament at Childress Friday and Saturday.

In winning the title this year Crowell tied Estelline's record of winning the tournament three consecutive years in 1928, 1929 and 1930. Crowell lost to Estelline in the final game in 1930, but since then the Wildcats have been the No. 1 team of District 3.

Crowell was the only team at Childress this year that was present for last year's tourney. Teams this year were Paducah, Matador, Turkey, Quanah, Kirkland, Shamrock, Rolla and Crowell. Last year's teams were Delwin, Flomot, Memphis, Kings, Childress, Wheeler, Wellington and Crowell.

The local team is the only one that has been at the district meet for the past five years. Wellington and Paducah have been present 4 times; Childress 3, Shamrock 3, Memphis 2, Estelline 2, Quanah 2, Flomot 2, and one time each for the following: Chillicothe, Carey, Medicine Mound, Kings, Mobeetie, Turkey, Delwin, Rolla, Kirkland, Matador, Hedley, Dumont and Wheeler.

During the last four years Hardeeman County has had a different representative each year: Chillicothe, Medicine Mound, Kings and Quanah.

Crowell's 54 points Saturday night had a rather "exact" effect. With the conclusion of that game Crowell's total score for the season was brought to exactly 1,300 points, compared with 605 for opponents.

The score also gave Crowell an average of exactly 60 points for each game of the tournament. Last year the average was 53, and two years ago the average was 46, an increase of 7 points each year.

Opponent's average at the tourney this year was 22.3, last year it was 26.3 and 23 two years ago.

Estelline, Childress and Memphis, who played in the final games of the tournaments along with Crowell during the last four years, were unable to win their own county titles this year.

Returning to Crowell Saturday night a number of local players thought it was mighty nice of Quanah to turn out with its band at so late an hour to pay tribute to the district champs as they passed through the Hardeeman county seat, however, swelled chests were somewhat deflated when it was discovered that the band was playing to draw crowd to a theatre on the highway and not for the famous Wildcats.

Four Crowell players were named on the all-district basketball team for District No. 3 by the Childress Index following the tournament there last week. Its team was as follows:

- Butler of Turkey, forward.
- Carter of Crowell, forward.
- Russell of Crowell, center.
- Todd of Crowell, guard.
- Allee of Crowell, guard.

Dick Todd was selected as captain of the all-district team.

Honorable mention was given to Wisdom of Crowell, Jess and Jewell Meacham of Turkey, B. Crowell of Matador, and Taylor and White of Kirkland.

Now if Dick Todd can stand a few flattering remarks without high-hatting his teammates; his own brothers, who were pretty hot themselves, and fellow townmen, we'll proceed to pass on to our readers some of the things said about him in the Childress Index. Here are a few statements taken at random from that paper:

"Led by the sparkling and consistent play of Dick Todd, the victors marched on etc., etc."

"Childress sports followers state that not since the days of Whitey Baccus has a more finished player than Todd been seen on the "Childress floor. He will be heard from after he leaves high school competition."

"He should make the State team if the Wildcats encounter no difficulties on their way to that tournament."

Four Crowell players were the high scorers of the tournament with points as follows: Russell 51, Wisdom 42, Carter 36, Todd 36 and Butler of Turkey fifth with 33.

Allee is not included in this high scoring group for the simple reason that it is seldom the duty for him to score a point from the position that he plays, but if it were possible to register the points that he keeps other teams from making, we are sure that the total would be astounding. These standing guards on basketball teams are often the unsung

NATURE AND BILLBOARDS

"To him who in love of nature holds communion with her visible forms, she speaks a various language."

So wrote William Cullen Bryant in his famed poem "Thanatopsis," published in 1817. Cargill, the cartoonist, takes this quotation as the caption for a cartoon depicting a motorist vending his way through a maze of billboards, which also "speak a various language," ranging from praise of El Punko cigars to an invitation to patronize the Rowdie Dow dance hall.

In terms more eloquent than pages of text, the cartoonist characterizes the present disgraceful marring of natural scenery by blatant and offensive billboards, which not only obscure the beauties of nature but are in many instances a menace to traffic.

What would Bryant, poet and nature lover, say if he were to come back seeking inspiration for a modern "Thanatopsis"?

Christian Science Churches

"Man" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, March 5. The Golden Text is from I Corinthians 2: "What man knoweth the things of a man, save the spirit of man which is in him?"

Among the passages to be read from the Bible will be the following from II Corinthians 3: "Not that we are sufficient of ourselves to think any thing, as of ourselves; but our sufficiency is of God: Who also hath made us able ministers of the new testament; not of the letter, but of the spirit; for the letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life. . . . But we all with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord."

The Lesson-Sermon will also include citations from the Christian Science textbook by Mary Baker Eddy, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," one of which will be as follows (p. 90): "The admission to one's self that man is God's own likeness sets man free to master the infinite idea. This conviction shuts the door on death, and opens it wide towards immortality. The understanding and recognition of Spirit must finally come, and we may as well improve our time in solving the mysteries of being through an apprehension of divine Principle."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by Charles E. Dunn

Jesus Giving Life and Health

Lesson for March 5th. Mark 5:21-43

Golden Text: Psalm 126:3

The lesson begins with an indication of the popularity of Jesus. He recrossed the lake, and a vast multitude at once came swarming around Him. He could no more escape the crowds than can the President of the United States. Of course He welcomed them, for He loved people. But there must have been sorrow in His heart as He meditated on the fickleness of the multitude. For He well knew that a dark day was approaching when the capricious mob would spurn Him with a brutal cry for his blood.

But Mark quickly turns from the crowd on the lake's shore to a particular individual in that assembled mass of folk. Jairus was a man of high influence and social standing, a Warden of the Synagogue. Doubtless he had wealth, and a choice home. And it goes without saying that he loved his only child, a sweet girl of twelve, the darling of his heart, now sink unto death.

Trouble is life's greatest teacher. It was trouble that inspired Jairus to appeal to Jesus. Perhaps he had vainly first employed other physicians. At last, in his dire extremity, he came, heartbroken, to the feet of the Master.

It was trouble that had also encouraged the poor woman who had suffered for twelve years from a hemorrhage, to touch Jesus, with superstitious zeal, as He was on His way to Jairus' home, the center of an admiring throng.

The New Testament teaches that adversity is not only to be expected, but it is also to be welcomed. "We ought to glory in our troubles," writes St. Paul. Instead of rebelling against disaster, or trying to explain it, we must rejoice in it, using it for the glory of God and the service of our fellows.

The two miracles of healing are related by Mark with such vivid detail that we almost feel we are actually present. There is a very appealing spirit of sympathetic compassion about the narrative. Note that Jesus appears not so much as a skillful physician as a loving, understanding Friend. And remember that the key to His amazing power is to be found in that sublime command to Jairus. "Be not afraid, only believe."

group, and when four-fifths of them are against anything, it is pretty clear the public is against it.—Cleveland Press.

By seizing the arm of Giuseppe Zangara and diverting his aim, Mrs. W. F. Cross of Miami, Fla., probably saved the life of President-elect Roosevelt.

Starting out with just six cents, Jean Carr completed a long hitchhike from Hollywood to New York in seven weeks—and thrived on it.

Mrs. O. S. Hill of Kansas City, Western women's champion, recently won the annual Miami Beach women's golf championship.

Vice-President John N. Garner

Vice President John N. Garner of Texas, president of the Senate during the Roosevelt administration, is expected to play an important part as a tact man between the White House and the legislative halls of the Capitol while the party is getting organized for important legislation proposed during the next year.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

Repeal Up to States

Washington, D. C. (Autocaster), February 28.—Congress suddenly decided to submit the much talked of Constitutional amendment repealing prohibition, and now it is up to the states to call conventions for the purpose of passing on the repeal amendment. Half a dozen or more states have already begun their preparation for these conventions. In a number of states where the Legislatures are in session steps are being taken to provide for the control of the liquor traffic in the expectation that the repeal amendment will be ratified. New York State has appointed an active commission to study the subject and report a workable plan.

The question of repealing prohibition is now out of the hands of Congress and in the hands of the people of the United States. It will take affirmative action by the people of thirty-six states to eliminate prohibition from the Constitution of the United States. Both dry and wet forces are beginning to organize for a pitched battle in the formerly "dry" states. If the dries can hold thirteen of these states they can block repeal. The fight over the election of the delegates to ratifying conventions, a real fight between the wet and dry elements, promises to provide a lively form of political debate for the spring and summer of 1933.

Japan is No Worry

Washington is taking calmly the serious issue between Japan and the rest of the world. Our Government is standing pat on its declaration of last Fall, that we would not recognize the territorial rights of Japan in Manchuria which have been acquired by force. The League of Nations has taken the same definite position. Russia, which would like to control Manchuria itself, and which is Japan's hereditary enemy, is said to take the same attitude. There is a feeling in political circles that Japan will back down. If she doesn't it is not believed that the consequences will be anything in the shape of a serious war. A naval demonstration by the combined fleets of the United States, Great Britain, France and Italy is possible. Practically all of the American fleet is now in the Pacific, and some of the old sea-dogs of the Navy are just "raring to go." The incoming Administration is said to be thoroughly in accord with the views of the outgoing Administration on the Japanese question.

Extra Guard for F. R.

The attempt to assassinate the new President has brought to the fore renewed discussion of means of protecting the person of the President against such attacks. Three Presidents have been shot by assassins, but nobody believes there is any effective way of guarding the President if an armed lunatic makes a determined effort to get him. President Roosevelt's kinsman, Theodore Roosevelt, always carried a revolver and was an expert in its use. He is probably the only President that ever went armed while occupying that office. The picked guard of Secret Service men which always accompanies the President wherever he goes will be increased for President Roosevelt.

There is talk that the new chief of the Secret Service may be Edward P. Mulrooney, now the head of the New York City Police Department, and regarded as the ablest Police Commissioner New York has had in many years. Mr. Mulrooney has never taken any active part in politics, but his political friends belong to the anti-Tammany or Roosevelt wing of the New York Democracy.

Failure of the present Congress to pass many of the important ap-

Tips on Taxes

Austin—Many measures are pending in the Legislature designed to reduce the cost of government. They range all the way from simple resolutions to constitutional amendments. Legislators are giving attention to the problem of local taxation, as it is affected by State law, and bills are pending whereby local governing bodies will not be hampered in economy efforts by State law and constitutional provisions. The major share of the tax burden is for local purposes, cities, counties and school districts.

Senator Purl of Dallas has introduced a resolution providing for a constitutional amendment abolishing the fee system, except as to public weighers, notaries public and county surveyors. It is believed that vesting in Commissioners Courts the right to fix salaries for officials who are now compensated by fees would result in great savings to the taxpayers. Other legislation, similar in purpose, is being considered.

There seems to be a well-defined purpose to reduce the cost of the State government an average of 25 per cent. The House has already passed the judiciary supply bill, providing for that amount of reduction in salaries of district judges, appellate court judges and district attorneys. The Senate has not acted. Vigorous protests against the reductions have been made before the Senate committee, considering the bill.

Presidents and regents of teachers colleges are reported to be agreeable to a 25 per cent reduction in their budgets.

The House has before it a bill reducing automobile license fees one-third. Passage of this or some similar measure is regarded as certain.

A constitutional amendment, introduced by Senator Walter Woodward, would limit the total cost of the State government to $10 per capita per year. This proposal is unique in that it would compel economy by placing an arbitrary limit on expenditures. Approval of the amendment would place expenditures on the same per capita basis as 1927. In 1925 the per capita cost of State government was $8.50. The peak was reached in 1930 when the figures were $14. Last year the per capita was $12.50.

It is claimed for this amendment that it would provide an automatic check on taxation, which is now virtually without limit. Another claim is that it would compel the discontinuance of bureaus, commissions and departments once their usefulness had passed. Instances of government bureaus and services being discontinued are rare. It is argued that this amendment would require the abolishment of less needed services when necessity for new ones arises.

The general trend is for tax reduction measures, but several bills have been introduced seeking to tap new sources of revenue. The most far-reaching is the proposal to levy a three per cent tax on gross receipts from sales and professional services. Estimates of the amount that would be derived from this levy vary from fifty millions to 100 millions. It is certain that many businesses would be compelled to stand an increase in their State taxes from eight to ten-fold, and many lines who now pay no State ad valorem taxes would be heavily taxed.

Another new source of revenue is suggested in the bill providing for an income tax. The tax on individuals would begin on the first $1,000 of net income with a rate of one proprietor bills and relief measures makes the calling of a special session a certainty. The new Congress will meet probably in April, but the Senate will meet in special session at noon on March 4th, when the Seventy-Second Congress expires by law. President Hoover has issued the call for this special session, which is customary when a President goes out of office and a new President comes in. The Senate is a continuing body, unlike the House of Representatives which dies every two years, so that President Hoover's call to the Senate to meet after his own term is just as binding as if he were to continue in office.

Mrs. Roosevelt's Job

Mrs. Roosevelt, the wife of the new President, announced a while ago that since her husband had promised to cut 25 per cent off the Government expenditure, she was going to do the same thing in the management of the White House. Washington is wondering how she is going to do it. For a hundred years the White House expenses have been managed by a continuing trained staff under the direction, for the past forty-two years, of "Ike" Hoover, the major-domo of the Presidential residence, and Ike and his staff say that it just can't be done. Mrs. Roosevelt intends to dispense with the services of a housekeeper and manage the strictly domestic arrangements herself. She will be the first lady of the White House, since Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, to act as her own housekeeper.

Largely on the initiative of Hon. Newton Baker, formerly Secretary of War and a powerful factor in the councils of the Democratic party, the proposal to take care of homeless and unemployed young men of military age in army camps, where they would be housed, fed, clothed, drilled and taught until they were able to find work is being seriously considered in Congress and probably will be authorized.

"PLEURISY"

Here is a disease of the winter months, Pleurisy, usually resulting from exposure to violent cold. It should not be mistaken for pneumonia, so, you better have the doctor and be sure you are right.

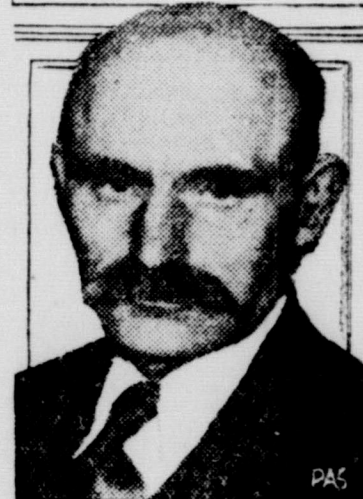

Pleurisy announces itself by PAIN. Not necessarily much fever, unless it begins with a pronounced chill. Remember,—pleurisy is outside of the lung; pneumonia inside. The pleura is a tough, smooth membrane that lines the chest-wall—and also covers the body of the lung. If the membrane is normal, it will glide over its neighboring surface without sensation; if inflamed, it at once becomes very painful. A cough, if any, is excruciating—it hurts to take a full breath—hurts at the point inflamed. If the spot remains sore long enough, adhesions may form, which starts a very chronic condition, hard to cure.

I have many times taken out from three to twelve pints of dropical fluid from an old case of neglected pleurisy—"pleurisy with effusion." It should never be permitted to get that far.

Your duty when attacked is, to go to bed, or, at least stay in the house where the air is dry and warm. Get up a sweat as quickly as possible. See that the bowel is "open." Get the blood to the surface and keep it there—it is possible only in warm atmosphere. Pneumonia may be mistaken for pleurisy—a dangerous mistake. See your doctor, and take no chances. Simple pleurisy is not dangerous if promptly attended to; pneumonia may be deadly if neglected.

The real name of pleurisy is "pleuritis." But I am inclined to use plain, understandable language for my readers. I hope this short sketch concerning a common complaint, may do good somewhere.

Hoover Seeks Relief

Missing only one semi-annual interest payment of $400 on a $14,000 mortgage loan against his farm at Grand Meadow, Minn., but facing foreclosure, A. E. Hoover, son-in-law of President Hoover, turned to the Des Moines Joint Stock Land Bank, asking only that he be allowed to deed the farm to the bank and remain on it by paying rent. Mr. Hoover's father was the brother of the President's father.

After the lesson a very clever contest was conducted. Guests for the day were Mesdames Charlie Smith of Floydada, Lewis Ballard, Floyd McKown of San Antonio and T. L. Hughston.—Reporter.

Roberts led an interesting and instructive lesson on the Philippine Islands. Miss Litha Crews and Mrs. Arnold Rucker assisted in the program. Mesdames W. D. Howell, C. R. Ferguson, Thomas Hughston and Miss Crews were guests for the afternoon. We were glad to welcome Mrs. O. L. Savage to membership in the club. RHYTHM PROGRAM

There will be a program on Thursday evening, March 9, at 7:30 o'clock, given by the three rhythm bands of the grammar school, the piano class of Mrs. Sam Crews and a number of others.

There will, necessarily, be a nominal charge of 15c for adults and 10c for children who are not on the program and the proceeds are to be used to pay for the instruments used by the bands.

Several of the numbers will be in costume. A cake-walk by members of the Columbian Club will be another feature. High School auditorium, March 9, 7:30 o'clock.

ADELPHIAN CLUB

Mrs. Vern Walden was hostess to the Adelpian Club members Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Sam Bell was leader for the afternoon study, the main outline of which was the American frontier.

Mrs. Mark Henry gave a review of E. Douglas Branch's "Westward," which is a romance of the Western American frontier. The transcending thought of the book is that it is a history of ordinary events and common people. Mr. Branch gives us the experiences of the American people on their various frontiers. His book is not a systematic history of the West, but will hold the true American riveted in his chair. Miss Kirkpatrick gave a concise review of "Mr. Currier and Mr. Ives," written by Russell Crouser. In his book, Mr. Crouser shows how the history of a country is shown by pictures that are made of outstanding events and people of various times.

Mrs. Clint White presented an interesting article on President-elect Roosevelt in her "Current News" report.

Mrs. Walden served an attractive refreshment plate consisting of sandwiches, fruit cake topped with whipped cream and coffee. Plate favors carried out the Washington motif.—Reporter.

PASSION PLAY FEATURE AT RIALTO THEATRE FRIDAY

"Christus," which is the Latin term for Christ, opens at the Rialto Theatre for a one day run Friday, March 3rd, matinee and night.

The picture is on the same order as the play which was given in Wichita Falls some time ago. In original the life of Christ is depicted by a foreign cast who speak a native tongue, making it difficult for one to understand and enjoy it as one would were it in English. The picture was actually filmed in the old country. Thousands of persons have traveled to Oberammergau to view the original Passion Play which is presented by a picked native cast every ten years in the little village of Oberammergau. To participate in this play is one of the highest honors a Bavarian can be paid, since it is purely an act of worship and with little or no pecuniary gain to be realized from the play.

"Christus" opens with the birth of Christ in a humble manger. When he is born the old tumble down stable is diffused with a heavenly glow, and the Star in the East guides the shepherds to the new born Savior. Christ's early life is pictured in detail, where he amazes the sages with his profound wisdom. His miracles are shown and His betrayal by Judas, who forsake his friends for thirty pieces of silver.

The picture follows him from pure childhood to perfect manhood, showing His trial before Pilate, His crucifixion, His resurrection and His being raised from earth to heaven. It is the play sublime—the picture of all time.
