Residences Bought by Local Men This Week

M. Haynes, local real estate manager, the purchase of residences here last week by J. Carley and Carl Alexander. McCarthy bought the A. B. residence on Oak street, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Fetter, while Mr. Alexander, the house next door occupied and Mrs. Roy Preston. This has been the property of the Building and Loan for several years.

Places are well built, attractively and conveniently located. You cannot do so, Mr. and Mrs. Haynes won't have to lose much money in seeing their grand plan.

Index joins with the community in extending congratulations to families on finding such good

Bed To Sister's Beside Wednesday

Dewey Thomas of the Pridemore was called by a long-distance call early Wednesday to the bedside of her sister, Sarah, in Mangum, Oklahoma.

As we could learn, no discerning the lady's illness in the family here, other than what was expected to live. The plans with other friends in hope that Mrs. Thomas may find improved when she reaches

FAT CALF SHOW AT TAHOCA ON MARCH 16TH

The first Lynn County Fat Calf Show will be held in Tahoka on Saturday afternoon, March 16th, according to V. F. Jones, County Agent.

Ten boys in the county have been feeding ten Hereford calves as a project in 4-H Club work the past year, and these calves will be shown as an exhibit in the county and exhibited in the Baby Beef Division of the Quality Meat Show at Lubbock on April 1, 2, and 3rd. The show at Tahoka will be held on the street between the court house and Harris and Applewhite's, and the calves will be judged at 2:30 P. M. on March 16.

The boys who have fed calves and will have them on exhibit are: J. W. Gardinier, O'Donnell; Loy Lawson, Grassland; Floyd Heck, Wilson; Ray Charles Nieman, Wilson; Alvin Shambeck, Wilson; Garland Swann, Wilson; Bill Frank White, Wilson; T. J. Poindexter, New Home; and Willard Bennett, New Home.

Everyone is invited to see this exhibit of good beef.

His Second Anniversary

SANDSTORM SUNDAY WORST IN MANY YEARS

From time to time the Index has jokingly referred to sandstorms as "the great-daddy of all sandstorms" but if reports from our fellow residents are correct, Sunday's storm must have been the greatest-granddaddy of them all.

Shortly before four o'clock, it is estimated, a high wind swept in from the west, coming in one great sweep which looked like a solid wall. The weather station at Lubbock reported Tuesday that the wind reached a velocity almost a mile a minute, and was so heavily laden with flying sand and gravel and trash that for several minutes the day was as dark as the blackest midnight. It was necessary to turn out lights in the houses, and car lights could not penetrate the gloom.

While the worst part of the storm lasted only a few minutes, it was bad enough for several hours afterward. Old timers on the South Plains are unanimous in saying Sunday's sand was the worst seen here in thirty or forty years. The sand either cut down or covered up acres and acres of young wheat which had come out after the snow of the weeks ago, while fields which had been listed and prepared for spring planting were as level as the floor Monday morning. These unfortunate conditions have been intensified by such other storms every day this week so that the situation is rapidly becoming serious for farming as well as for housekeeping.

In other sections of the state the storm took other and even more serious forms. In central and east Texas the wind became a tornado which caused tremendous loss in property and also cost the lives of at least two people, they being colored children and the small town of Forney. And while we were fortunate enough to be out of the sandstorm Sunday, when we came through Forney some five hours after the cyclone had struck, we came to the conclusion, folks, that there are really worse things than sandstorms. It was our first time to see a storm-wrecked town, and we certainly do not like the effects of that kind of wet like the effects of these things we're scooping out here and there, and trying to get the youngsters socks dry, let's at least be thankful that we still have the youngsters and that the roof is still on our house.

Scholastic Enumeration Is Under Way Here

Patrons and parents of the local school are reminded that it is again time for the annual scholastic enumeration of our district, and that Mrs. W. A. Tredway is in charge of this work again this year.

As everyone knows, each scholastic in the school districts will receive a per capita apportionment of $16.50 annually from the State of Texas, and this sum, when multiplied by the total scholastic enrollment, takes on an important proportion. In fact, state apportionment means months of school for our students.

So the school board and faculty join with the community in asking your cooperation on this very important work. Don't wait for her to hunt you up to include the names of your children on our roll—get in touch with her yourself and make sure that our district will receive every dollar to which it is entitled.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brunson of Mrs. Neal, in Nolan county, have moved back to the George Vaughn school and will work there again this year. We are glad to welcome them back home.

$99,380 RECEIVED ON COTTON TAGS

Thirteen hundred and forty four additional checks on sale of Exemption certificates for $99,380 were received at the county agent's office last Monday, according to V. F. Jones, County Agent. This brings the total list of checks received to 2279 for a total of $149,648.00. There are 562 first payment checks still out that will amount to approximately $37,352.00. The remainder of these checks are expected in the near future.

Pneumonia Fatal To Virgil Thomas James

Virgil Thomas James, 15-months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil James died about four o'clock Monday morning in a Lubbock sanitarium after an illness of only a few days.

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed James with Rev. G. W. Montgomery in charge. Interment was made in the city cemetery.

The baby was taken ill Friday night, and grew steadily worse. Shortly after midnight Monday morning the frantic parents started with him to the hospital. Car trouble forced them to stop here in town, and Mr. Ed James, uncle of the baby, rushed with him to Lubbock, but he passed away in less than an hour after reaching the sanitarium.

Besides his parents, the baby is survived by his grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. James, his grandmother, Mrs. Williams, and by other relatives and friends of the family.

The index joins with the community in extending sympathy to the bereaved parents.

Primitive Baptists To Meet At Mesquite

We are asked to announce that Bro. Tyne W. Smith of Drouse, a Minister of the Primitive Baptist church will hold worship services at the Mesquite church on March 24, the fourth Sunday in this month, at eleven o'clock. The public is cordially invited to come and take part in this service.

Postpone Open Meeting Of Lamesa Lodge

We are asked by the Lamesa chapter of the F. & A. M. to announce to our readers that the open meeting of that Lodge scheduled for Tuesday evening of next week, has been postponed to Friday evening, March 15.

Please bear this in mind, and make your plans accordingly.

Earl Howard, one of the operators at the O'Donnell Telephone Exchange, is at home with flu this week. He is feeling much better today.

Miss Iris Hodges is here from Hobbs, visiting her grandfather, Dr. A. W. Thompson, while she recuperates after an attack of the flu.

Harvey Lane and J. D. Fairley were in Lamesa on business Thursday afternoon.

Mr. R. Cathey of Portales, N. M. is visiting his son, Mr. Charles Cathey, and Mrs. Cathey, and other relatives and friends.

John A. Minor made a business trip to Lamesa Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Mansell returned Friday night from a visit with relatives and friends at Abilene and Rochester.

SATURDAY TRADES DAY A BIG SUCCESS

Customers of our trade territory joined with merchants Saturday in expressing their approval of the change in dates of regular Trades Day. For the past four or five months the fourth Monday in each month has been Trades Day, but it was decided last week to make the event a weekly one rather than only once each month, and to hold it on Saturday, the day when most folks come to town anyhow.

The crowds in town Saturday and the good business enjoyed by local merchants seem to indicate that the change was very much for the better.

Five prizes were awarded in all, four prizes of $25.00 each at eleven o'clock in the morning and one prize of $15.00 in the afternoon. This plan will be followed again this week, according to the Trades Day directors.

Merchants Make Plans

Keeping Saturday Trades Day customers in mind, our merchants have been busy all week selecting and arranging specials for Saturday. We understand that there are a number of unusually attractive bargains in the offering, and we add our invitation to the rest of the town—come to town Saturday and cash in on some saving propositions.

Property Owners Asked To Make Tax Rendition

Cooperation of property owners of the school district is being sought this year by the Board of Education in the matter of tax renditions. It has been the custom of the tax assessor to call on residents personally for the purpose of listing their property, but this year it is hoped that the greater part of this work may be accomplished without this expense.

The financial situation of the district is, as everyone knows, exactly like the situation of the individual family—somewhat cramped. And this year funds from State aid were decreased considerably, making the money question still more perplexing.

Because of this lack of finances the Board has accepted the offer of the tax collector, Mrs. Farrington, to combine the duties of tax collector and assessor with no increase in salary, thus saving a little money. However, members of the board point out that the tax collector and assessor and editing a newspaper keep one person pretty well occupied, and also if Mrs. Farrington closes this office and starts on a house-to-house canvass, both these will be necessary to be delivered until the finishes. For this reason they are asking that all property owners please call at her office in the First National Bank building Friday afternoon, one each day from 8-9 in the morning until 6-9 in the afternoon, and it will be a great help and a much appreciated favor if everyone will cooperate in this as soon as possible.

Twin Jersey Calves Attract Interest Here

A Jersey cow at the Jim Brown farm northeast of town evidently believes that it is up to her to be of all the assistance possible in the Government's cattle campaign.

Sunday morning when Mr. Brown went to the barn, he found the bovines lady proudly surveying two of the prettiest calves one can imagine, and they were as alike as two peas. Mr. Brown said Wednesday that both were nice sized babies, and doing so well as calves. He said that while the mother is so proud of herself she will hardly speak to the other cows on the place.

The youngsters have attracted quite a bit of attention around in the territory.

Wayne Lightfoot Undergoes Operation

Wayne Lightfoot, nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lightfoot of the Pridemore community underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis at Lubbock Sanitarium last week, and is reported this week as recovering as nicely as could be hoped.

The young man had been ill for several hours when the attending physician advised the operation, and he was rushed to the sanitarium just in time to avoid a ruptured appendix.

The index joins with other friends in the hope that his recovery will continue to be satisfactory.

D. F. Hester is reported to be still improving this week.

Singing Convention Draws Good Crowd

In spite of high winds and prospective sandstorms, a good crowd braved the weather and attended the district singing convention at the First Baptist church here last Sunday afternoon.

Out-of-the-county visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Silas Clark and daughter, Leola Marie, of Abilene, and Mr. Murdock, superintendent of the Wylie school near Abilene.

The next meeting will be held at O. K. on the first Sunday in April.

E. L. Barnett dropped in Wednesday and renewed their subscription to the Index for another year. They have read the paper since it was first started, back in 1923, and Mrs. Barnett says she couldn't keep house without it. Thank you, folks.

Local Church Will Entertain Worker's Meeting Tuesday

Teachers, lay leaders, pastors, and other church workers of the various Baptist churches in the Brownfield Association will be guests of the First Baptist church here next Tuesday when the Association will meet. The program to open at ten o'clock.

It has been some three years since the congregation here has entertained this group, and much interest is being manifested by our department of the church. The program will be as follows:

- 10 a. m. Devotional—Rev. Ed Hawthorne.
- 10:15 The value of Christ churches in the world—Rev. W. K. Horn.
- 10:40 The responsibility of the world in Christ—Rev. R. E. M. Draw.
- 11:05 The value and method of Bible Teaching in Christ Churches—Dr. Fry of Lubbock.
- 11:50 Sermon—E. F. Cole, Lamesa.
- 12:30 Lunch.
- 1:30 p. m. Board Meetings.
- 2:10 The value of laymen working together in Christ Churches—John Anderson.
- 3:35 Rev. J. M. Doster of Plainview choosing his own subject.
- 3:40 Inspirational Address—J. M. Hale.

Ft. Worth Goodwill Group Here Tuesday

Along with other South Plains towns, O'Donnell was host for a short time Tuesday to a delegation of Ft. Worth business men, members of the Roundup Club, who visited here in the interests of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show which will be held in Fort Worth, March 16th to 24th.

The group traveled in a big bus equipped with amplifiers and loaded with forty boosters, musicians and speakers. The Roundup Club is an organization of business men of the "Cow Town" who give their time and services toward boosting the Fat Stock Show.

Heading the group was Charles G. Cotten, manager of the Trade Extension department of the Ft. Worth Chamber of Commerce. Other well known members of the boosting group were W. O. Gatton, Bob Calen, Tad Lucas, world's champion woman trick rider, and Cleone Holcom, the world's champion cowgirl. Much for the Roundup Ramblers a string quartet.

Though we had had only a short previous notice that the visitors would be here, it was not necessary to be in front of Davis Drug when the crew was stopped.

Senior Class Play One of Best Staged

(Delayed from last week)

Declared one of the best amateur productions ever staged here, the First Senior Class play met with most hearty approval from patrons of the school and from others who saw their production of "The Mill of the Gods" at the high school auditorium last Wednesday evening.

The play itself was an unusually strong one, and too much praise cannot be given the young actors in the portrayal of their roles. The judges who selected them for their parts and their coach, Mrs. Charles Cathey deserve hearty commendation for their care and work.

Between-act features were clever and amusing, showing considerable thought and effort on the part of the entertainers, and were an important part of the well planned evening.

The sum of forty dollars was realized from the sale of tickets, and will be used to defray the expenses of the graduating class.

Bed To Sister's Beside Wednesday

Dewey Thomas of the Pridemore was called by a long-distance call early Wednesday to the bedside of her sister, Sarah, in Mangum, Oklahoma.

Harris Buried At Pridemore Last Thursday

Funeral services for D. C. Harris, long time resident of the Pridemore community; were held at Pridemore last week, with Rev. A. Lopez, pastor of the First Baptist church here, officiating. He was assisted by Rev. W. A. Tredway, pastor of the Brownfield pastor. Interment was made in the cemetery at Pridemore.

Mr. Harris passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. P. Anderson at an early hour Thursday morning after an illness of several months. He had been a victim of Bright's disease and had been an invalid for a number of years, but his condition had been much more serious for the past month. He was brought into town from the Pridemore home so that he might be nearer medical aid and nursing, and had been with Mrs. Anderson for the past month. Every resource of medicine and care was used for his recovery, and seven children survive their father. They are Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. H. C. Cathey, Mrs. J. D. Cathey, and Mrs. Dan Burdett; Messrs. E. C. Harris, Dewey Harris, and Bedford Harris.

The Harris family came to this section of the country in 1922, and settled on their farm land near Pridemore. The thirteen years which have elapsed since that time, they have been one of the leaders in the affairs in their community. Even though burdened with ill health, Mr. Harris never faltered in his duty as a neighbor, father and a citizen. And his community as well as his family.

The index joins with other friends in extending condolences to the bereaved ones.

Mr. E. Vandiver has our thanks for his renewal handed in down at the Lamesa office.

Mrs. W. T. Huff and Charles Cathey, in Lubbock Saturday, shopping and visiting their daughter and sister Mrs. Merritt Clark.

Miss Jessie Middleton was down from Lubbock over the week end visiting home folks and friends.

National Press Building Washington, D. C.

Washington.—Although it has been several weeks since the Supreme Court rendered its historic, making decision in the gold cases, there is to slackening in the disturbance from the effects of the administration's gold policies, even in the light of the court ruling. While the court held that congress had no power to enact legislation invalidating the gold clause in government bonds, it said in the same breath that collection from the government by a bond holder was another story. Since the government has taken gold out of circulation, collection appears virtually impossible but the assurance is not going to stop bond holders from seeking what they regard as justice.

It is now apparent that the government's action is going to be regarded here and abroad as a repudiation. That is a nasty word when applied to governments and its repercussions likely will be heard for a good many years. While the repudiation of the gold payments will affect comparatively few people directly, the significance of the action in a political way is becoming more and more apparent. The repudiation in its effect on the bond holders may be only temporary, but its effect politically will be far-flung.

I think it is generally considered now that the gold proceeds will become a paramount issue in the next political campaign and it is not impossible that it will continue to be an issue over a period of years. This is so because, admittedly, actual damage has been done to American prestige in foreign lands. It is made to appear, therefore, that there will be a combination of international and domestic influences at work hereafter with respect to this government's gold policies.

Domestically, the issue was born in the presentation in congress of two bills designed to restore, partially at least, the status of this government as regards the gold policies to that obtaining before the devaluation of the dollar. Simultaneously, former President Herbert Hoover, in one of the few expressions made since retiring from office, declared his belief that the return of gold payments was necessary and vital to establishing conditions and re-establishing the United States in world affairs.

Of course, with the abundant Democratic majority in congress, the gold bills will get nowhere very fast. Likewise, Mr. Hoover's expression can and will result only in providing ammunition for New Deal supporters, whose answer to criticism usually is a question whether it is desired to return to the conditions that caused the depression. Nevertheless, I hear considerable discussion in the effect that these ripples must be considered as only the beginning. They will have the effect of causing many people to think about the problem. Discussions will take place in the homes and in the shops. There will be those who contend for sound money of the old style. Equally vehement deniers of the New Deal will arise. Thus, the issue becomes joined and it is not outside the realm of possibility that monetary questions will become as important in 1935 as they were in the Bryan free silver days.

Now as to the practical operation of the gold rulings.

There can be no Operation of doubt that the Gold Rulings situation gives congress power to coin money and regulate its value. The Supreme Court always has sustained this power. So, when congress, by resolution, allowed President Roosevelt to seize all the gold in the country and hold it in the treasury, it accomplished indirectly that which it could not do directly. In this way it forced the invalidation of thousands of private contracts wherein one party promised to make payments in gold. Congress made such payments impossible and those who were to be paid have nothing left but disillusionment. As to the gold payment clause in the government bonds the Supreme court said that congress had no right to enact legislation the effect of which was to void that payment. It would seem, therefore, that some way should be found to force the government to make good. That way lies only through the Court of Claims of the United States, and when that court is denied jurisdiction in suits to recover, the bond holder is left with a right, but that right is unenforceable since the government can be sued only with its permission.

On top of these circumstances, and as a long range prospect, considerable attention has been directed to the relationship between the gold clause decisions and inflation. There is a direct link. This link, without doubt, should be watched by all of those who think of the future of this nation.

Inflation of the credit has been going on continuously since Mr. Roosevelt took office. Without doubt, the government has set no limit to the borrowing which it will undertake in its program for recovery. The Supreme court has said directly that government securities are worth whatever the administration and congress determine them to be with because the dollar can be valued up or down as circumstances warrant. But the value which the President and congress place upon the dollar therefore, becomes an absolute necessity and once it is shaken, if history means anything, it takes a long hard pull to get it back. So, if congress shows a willingness to repudiate obligations as it has shown already, the public sooner or later begins to wonder what the end will be.

Throughout history, wherever and whenever such a condition has arisen, the public seeks to convert this doubtful currency into material things, those of a unitarian value, which it may use, Money, being inedible, is sought to be exchanged for things to eat, to wear, to sustain life and comfort. This is what is meant in expressions "the flight from the dollars," or "the flight from any other currency" about which we have heard so much since the World war.

The situation in congress in the last few weeks has provided a test for President Roosevelt's political acumen.

Up to the President has been far more than a test of his skill because for almost two years he has had a congress so obedient to his command as to merit the description of a rubber stamp legislative body. Now, however, the President is faced with the necessity for political maneuvers of the highest order and upon the results of his tactics largely will depend the future of the Democratic party or he can cause them to disintegrate by the courses he follows.

Some curiosity has been aroused by the fact that for the first time since he became President, Mr. Roosevelt omitted in several instances lately to send administration drafts of bills for congressional consideration. His practice hitherto had been to have the bills drafted in executive departments and submitted with a recommendation that they be enacted in that form. Until some of the factions in congress began to feel their oats this plan worked very well. A change has come over some of them, however, and they are now insisting upon preparation of the legislation themselves.

Another significant development—and this links to circumstances of several months ago—is the presentation by Senator Wagner of New York of a bill to settle labor disputes. This bill does not have administration approval. Indeed, it is quite contrary to some of its phases to the policies which Mr. Roosevelt has sponsored in his dealings with organized labor. It seems important, therefore, that Senator Wagner, who for so long was regarded as Mr. Roosevelt's alter ego in the senate, should deliberately offer legislation to which the administration had not agreed. With further reference to Senator Wagner, who comes from the President's home state of New York, it is interesting, even if unimportant, that Senator Wagner did not support the President in the latter's efforts to force the $5,000,000,000 relief bill through the senate. Since Senator Wagner has been consistently a New Dealer many observers are asking with some logic whether the New Deal supporters have begun to crack up.

It will be recalled that in asking for an extension of the national industrial recovery act for a period of two years, Extension of NRA President Roosevelt's message the fundamentals of the plan he was recommending. He carefully avoided reference to any draft of such a bill. It occasioned some surprise that this was so but closer analysis of the situation should have developed reasons therefor. Most of these reasons are traceable directly to the circumstances I mentioned above, namely, the necessity for tactical skill in maneuvering the political strength available to the President.

Observers here generally are agreed that Mr. Roosevelt can turn on all steam and hold a powerful majority in both house and senate. But, the question is whether this is the wisest course and he take all the time he needs in this connection the expression has been heard several times lately among Democrats who have been regarded as among the leaders that it might not be well to prod stubborn mules too far.

The best information I can gather is that while Mr. Roosevelt did not offer a draft of NRA extension legislation his bill will be forthcoming in a couple of weeks from the senate finance committee that will have had prior approval from the White House. Something of the same course is scheduled for the house side. Thus, the picture becomes complete. The fine Italian hand of the administration comes into view.

The story we get around Washington is that this course of action will be used more and more as a means of avoiding open argument and strong noises on the floors of the house and senate.

RENTAL NOTES

1935 Cotton Contracts
The new cotton contracts will be signed in the agent's office to keep down mistakes as far as possible on the 1935 contracts.

The contracts last year could only go as low as 75 pounds and were eligible to get pay for the reduction. The new ones do not have a limit. In other words any producer who produced cotton during the five year base period 1928 to 1932, as well as other cases in which the producer was not eligible last year, he can in most instances sign contracts this year, regardless of the average.

Raising Lint Over Last Year's Contract

Any producer which is not satisfied with the averages in the old contract can go before his local committee and submit proof for a raise, however in all cases where one contract is raised a like amount must come off of some other or others in that particular district. In other words any that want to get raises on their contracts must see their local committee before March 15th in order to have the contracts filed. All adjustments must be completed before any new contracts are signed up for this year.

Use of Rented Acres

The same as last year applies to the rented acres that it is not to be used for profit either directly or indirectly. Neither can food and feed crops that would normally be grown on other land be diverted to the renter in order to reduce the amount of rented acres for the purpose of producing crops for sale. The rented acres may be used for the purpose of producing food and feed crops for home use only.

Side Agreements Between Landlords and Tenants

No side agreements will be recognized between tenants and land owners whereby the landowner will receive a larger portion of the reduction money than he has agreed to receive under the contract. Any such practice will forfeit the contract and the parties in such cases will of course be obtaining money under false pretenses and such benefits as they will naturally be due back to the government.

Selecting Committeemen for Adjustments on 1934 Contracts

The communities will be asked to have five men to work on the adjustments of raising or lowering of contracts. The three already elected by the farmers of the community will have the privilege of selecting or calling an election and having these parties selected to represent their own wishes. Previously I made a statement that we would have elections in every school district, but due to busy times at present it seems advisable to leave the selection of extra men to help up to the local committees to handle as they see proper.

Change in Size of Farm Under Contract in 1934 to 1935

In case a farm is subdivided after December 31, 1933 (regardless of whether such farm has been covered by a contract in 1934 and 1935) the parties involved shall apportion each subdivision its pro rata part of the percentage of cotton allowed such farm with reference to the cultivated land of such farm. In other words it would be out of line for an owner to rent part of his land out for feed and he take all the reduction moneys of such farm, with out the written agreement of the parties involved and a copy of such agreement be filed with the county committee for their consideration.

Refusal of Parties to Sign Contracts

Producers who desire to sign contracts and if such parties whose signature is necessary to complete the contracts, such parties, desiring to cooperate, shall give the names and addresses of the parties so refusing and the county committee will get in communication with the parties so refusing. The parties desiring to cooperate, and such names to be certified and signed by the county committee.

EAGLES' SCREAMS

Published Weekly by Students of O'Donnell Public School

Editorial Staff

Editor-in-Chief—Jim Ellen Walls
Associate Editor—Doe Kyle
Star Reporter—Mildred Goddard
Grammar School—Melba Harris.

(Editor's Note: School news items were lost last week before they reached the printing office, and for this reason we are publishing both last week's and this week's Eagles' Screams.)

Senior Wheel

Plans are now under way for the Senior class trip to Carlsbad Cavern which is to be one of the main events of the school year. Further announcements concerning these plans will be published later.

In the recent magazine selling contest conducted by the class, Newell Stokes was declared the winner because he sold the greatest number of subscriptions to the Household Magazine. A $5.00 Parker set will be given him.

Watch for the date of the assembly program. The public is invited to attend any or all of them.

Junior Whirlwind
Cast of characters for the Junior class play has been selected this week by the faculty and rehearsal will begin tonight. The play will be presented the latter part of the month.

Presented in three acts, "Closed Lips" is packed full of comedy, fun and tragedy. Minnie Mae McMillan will play the heroine, with Robert Gary opposite her.

Assembly Period Each Wednesday
Nine o'clock each Wednesday has been set aside as assembly hour. The Juniors presented a program last week, the Freshmen this week, and the Seniors will have charge next week.

Sophomore News (Intended for last week)

We regret the loss of two of our boys, Moody Gibson and James Clayton. We have had only 27 Sophs, and at the opening of the school had 38.

Our class entertained in assembly last Wednesday. Evelyn Kirkland led the opening song, Mildred Goddard read "In School Days," Zuel Fritz told a story and Joyosa Mae Maxwell told the life of George Washington.

Grammar School News (Intended for last week)

Seventh Grade: We have just finished our six weeks' examinations and hope most of us will fail to make our grades. We enjoyed a Valentine party at the home of Mrs. Bill Phillips, and also the treat given us by our teacher, Mrs. Gooch, and our room mother, Mrs. Singleton.

Sixth Grade: We have completed our History course, and have taken up Health. The following officers have been elected for our health club: President, Yvonne Westmoreland; vice president, John Holland Stokes; secretary, Guy Thompson.

The chief aim of the club is to learn more about cleanliness and the observation of other health rules.

Second Grade: Those on our February honor roll are Jimmy Schoeder, Virginia Shaw, Second Jane Johnson, Loneta Minor, Valene Buchanan, Frank Stokes, Billie Jean McKee, Donald Cargal, Billie Ruth McKee, Alice Nell Walker, Glenna Fay Mires, Addie Pearl McKibben, Dorothy Ekers, Berta, Mae DeBusk, Doris Payne, Billy Ray Frazier, and A. C. Gumpert.

First Grade: Our room mother, Mrs. E. C. Carroll, gave us a lovely Valentine mail box to post our valentines, and then played the part of the postman, bringing us many, many valentines. After a short program on Valentine afternoon, Mrs. Carroll covered us with candy. We enjoyed the party very much.

ORDER FOR ELECTION

The City Council of O'Donnell, meeting in regular session, hereby designates the Second Tuesday of April as Election Day for the purpose of electing four aldermen and a mayor.

J. M. Christopher and D. M. Estes are appointed judges to hold the election at the city hall on that date.

The ticket is open for the filing of names of candidates for these offices: Cliff Lambert, City Secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Swatt and family were driven from Tahoka Sunday morning by relatives and friends. Mrs. W. L. Redman, who has been with them at Tahoka for the past three weeks, returned home the same day.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to the good friends who so kindly and lovingly assisted us during the dark hours of the illness and death of our precious baby. To each of you who helped to lighten our load we reverently ask God's blessings.
Mr. and Mrs. Virgil James.

JUST SUPPOSE

Just suppose that the newspaper publisher was as hard boiled as some of the other business men in our town. If he was, you would pay for church notices, school notices, cards of thanks, obituaries, extra papers and a thousand other little things.

The merchant charges for a penny piece of candy; did you ever hand the editor a penny for a small piece of paper or an envelope. If you did it probably made 'im feel bad. The newspaper publisher is different, you say. We take the paper and pay for it possibly one year out of two, and those little things don't cost him much anyway. Neither does a penny piece of candy cost much but a million of them makes $10,000.

Give the newspaper man a square deal. Ninety per cent of what he does is for the good of the community and he earns much more than he gets always. Start by coming in and renewing your subscription to "the old home town paper."—Jayton Chronicle

ARE YOU IN THE RED THIS WEEK?

Now we're not asking about the state of your bank account, which, if it resembles ours, is usually in the red. So our question is really not so important as it seems at first.

We have this week corrected our mailing list up to date according to our records, but we wish to give everyone another chance at the old 50c bargain rate before we go back to the regular subscription rate of one dollar per year.

Knowing that we all can make mistakes, however, we also want our subscribers to help us check and double check our files. To do this will you please look at the small yellow label which carries your name and address. It usually can be found in the upper left corner of the front page of your Index. As we mailed out your paper this week, we placed a red check mark opposite your name. IF YOUR SUBSCRIPTION HAS EXPIRED.

So, dear readers, please glance up at the top of the page and if you see a red mark by your name, come in and see us about it. As we have not announced a discontinuance of the bargain rate previous to his date we have decided to continue it FOR ONE WEEK LONGER, lasting thru next week only.

So come in and help us get our locks all in order.

Mrs. W. T. Huff has been ill most of this week, but is reported to be somewhat improved today.

Mrs. Sam Singleton and little son spent Wednesday of last week in Lamona with her mother, Mrs. Guy Simpson.

Mrs. Carl Richter of Hale Center spent Sunday here with her mother and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lee. Mrs. B. J. Boyd.

Dr. O. H. Shepard has been ining a new Ford V-8 since having purchased one from the County Motor Company.

Dr. and Mrs. Ferrell Farnham and Mrs. C. Caldwell and their daughter Betty Rhea, and Mrs. B. J. Boyd returned Tuesday morning from their Texas jaunt.

FEED GRINDING

Is another one of our specialties. Bring your next load to us for better service.

We are handling recleaned barley and oats.

We carry a complete line of stock feeds and laying mash of all kinds, all the time.
