A PHYSICIAN'S APPEAL

Friends and Patients:

I have spent 27 years, the best of my health and strength in serving you and your loved ones. I have brought your children into the world,
and I have made the last moments easier for other members of your family. I have spared neither time nor expense, nor my own welfare in caring for your needs.

On my books are thousands of dollars of unpaid accounts. Dollars which I need to make my own life easier
and more pleasant.

Many of you are expecting to receive cotton checks from the government in the near future. I have never pushed collections, for I have always trusted my patients enough to believe that they would pay when they had the money, but now I am expecting you who are indebted to me to take care of this indebtedness. If you cannot pay all, pay at least a part of your account. I have waited months, and in some cases years; now
I expect some small payment for my time and work.

If you are indebted to me, please see me either at my office or at my residence, and make satisfactory arrangements.

MORE SAFETY
in the tread

● The safest tread is the one that can stop your car the quickest.
Goodyears stop quicker than any other tire. 16% quicker than the second best. Up to 77% quicker than others. Tests on wet pavements prove it. Why not buy the safest tire?

MORE SAFETY
in the plies

● Goodyears give you safety in every ply—because every ply is built with patented Supertwist cord—and every ply runs from bead to bead. Ask to see a Supertwist demonstration and see for yourself why it means more safety
in every ply.

MORE MILEAGE

● Bus fleets know mileage. And bus fleets using Goodyear Fires report 97% more mileage than they got five years ago. Goodyears for your car have the same improve-

age possible.

UNTIL WE LEARNED BETTER

Until we learned better, we used to mix wood and steel in our car bodies and wheels.

It was the best way to make bodies—then. But the state of the art has advanced.

Of course, it is more expensive to make an all-steel body than to make a wooden frame and nail steel panels on to it. The better way involves an initial expenditure of several millions of dollars for new dies, which renders a change very costly. Cars, especially large expensive cars which are produced in small volume, cannot afford this, because the dies cost as much for one car as for a million. That alone explains why all-steel bodies are not used in all cars.

But our basic policy from the beginning is to make a good car better, regardless of cost.

For example, when we discarded wood-steel body construction, it was not because we lacked wood. We still have some thousands of acres of the best hard wood in America. Economy would urge us to use up the wood first, and then adopt the better all-steel body. But we decided that quality was more important than expense.

We weighed the reasons, for and against, before we made the change. We could see only one reason for retaining a mixed wood-and-steel body—nailing the metal on, instead of welding an all-steel body into a strong one-piece whole. That reason was, it would be cheaper—for us.

Our reasons for adopting an all-steel body were these: A wood-steel body is not much stronger structurally than its wooden frame. In all American climates, wood construction weakens with age. Every used car lot gives evidence of this. Rain seeps in between joints and the wood decays. A car may have a metal surface, and yet not be of steel construction. Under extreme shock or stress the steel body remains intact—dented perhaps, but not crushed.

Steel does not need wood for strength or protection. Wood is fine for furniture, but not for the high speed vehicles of 1933.

In the Ford body there are no joints to squeak, no seams to crack or leak.

The all-steel body is more expensive—to us, but not to you. By all odds, then, steel bodies seem preferable.

Wheels also have become all-steel. No one argues that an electrically welded one-piece steel wheel, such as the Ford wheel, needs to be "strengthened" by adding wood to it.

The one-piece all-steel body is the strongest, safest, quietest, most durable body made. That is our only reason for making them.

TEXAS, A BIG STATE

Texas is so large that Texasians are nearer to the state capitals of 15 other states and to Chicago, Ill., than it is to the city of El Paso, in its own state. The other fifteen states are: Oklahoma, Arkansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana, Florida, Indiana, and Kansas.

This geography was worked out by Representative George Moffet of Altoona, in his contention that Texas is so big and diversified that population should not be used as the sole basis for representative redistricting.

THE BARN GREW

A farmer near Eldorado, Ill., says Elmer Kessler, a novel experience. A few years ago he built a new barn using green willow posts at the corners and along the sides.

Nothing unusual was noticed for some time, but the following year the floor which had been laid on the ground was three feet above it. He discovered the willow posts were alive and growing.

Last year the barn was on stilts nine feet high and he put in a new floor and surrounded the posts with siding and now he has a two-story barn. Last week there was seven inches between the new floor and the ground. In a few more years he can add another story and the barn will have three stories.

And the farmer has a cow. The cow became used to jumping into the barn door every day while the barn was growing up. She now jumps into the second floor to a stall and he expects that when the barn is a full three stories high she will be able to make the third story. —Camp Point Journal.

SUMMER SANTA CLAUS

When the cotton farmers get their cotton money they will be the first time they have ever been visited by a summer Santa Claus. The role is such a new one for Uncle Sam to take toward the cotton farmer one can hardly believe it to be true. However, here is a thought: Uncle Sam has played Santa Claus many a year to many people, notably numerous Eastern manufacturers. It has been called a tariff instead of a processing tax, but it worked the same way. The only change is in the recipient and the name, but thank FDB for both changes.

Uncle Sam has been playing Santa Claus for a long time, only the inland farmer didn't know it.

TEXAS LAW TO REGULATE MANUFACTURE, SALE, OF BEER GIVEN APPROVAL

Austin, July 24. —A Texas law that would regulate the manufacture, and sale of beer, passed by the 43rd legislature to apply in event the voters at a special election on August 26, legalize 3.2 per cent brew, was approved as constitutional by the state attorney general's department.

Under the terms of the law, effective on September 15, as to regulatory features only in event a constitutional amendment is sanctioned by the voters, local option elections in political subdivisions dry when the state voted prohibition in 1919 may be held at any time after July 1.

Several counties had ordered a vote on local option for the same day the constitutional amendment is submitted to the electorate. The question whether the law could make such authorization before it had been determined whether beer could be sold anywhere in the state, was submitted to the attorney general by Mac Taylor, Jr., civil district attorney of Dallas County.

Elbert Hooper, first assistant attorney general upheld the law in every respect.

Texans will vote on the same day whether this state favors repeal of national prohibition.

FOUR IMPORTANT STEPS AHEAD OF COTTON FARMERS SAYS O. B. MARTIN

Warning cotton farmers against plunging their cotton acres retired in the acreage reduction campaign into new and unusual summer and fall crops, O. B. Martin, director of the Texas Extension Service, outlines a general four-fold plan for revamping farm systems to fit the new situation acreage reduction has forced upon Texas.

"The safest, surest, and most profitable uses for this land have been demonstrated over and over again in almost every community in Texas," he says. "The Extension Department offers nothing startling and magical as a general guide to farmers at this time, but the same plan that has brought success to many farmers in the past and which is now a logical necessity."

"The first part of the next step ahead for Texas cotton farmers is using 25 acres of land more or less, and with proper livestock and equipment making most of the family food and feed requirements at home. This is what saved us in the best three years and its continuation will make us money in the better years ahead. The immediate need in Texas is for quick feed and pasture crops.

"The second part of the step ahead is closely linked with the first. Living at home these last few years naturally gave surpluses of farm and home manufacture for sale. It meant extra farm income and it will continue to give extra income. The home pot sort of boiled over with surpluses of hams, and bacon and cheese and syrup and the like, which could be sold.

"The third part of the step is to farm the remaining acres in cash and other crops for all they are worth. Good yields always pay better than poor ones and they always will. I believe the immediate future will see a premium paid for better use of land and more efficient farming.

"Finally, with home requirements taken care of, surplus acres offer the opportunity for feed production to sell through livestock. Texas has always needed a livestock balance to its cotton farming and the chance is now here to get it."

Mrs. T. A. Wimberley and Mack Wilson were in Lubbock on business Monday. Mrs. Wilson went up to have her eye treated, and it seems somewhat improved at this writing.

Mrs. Ome Brewer and little son, Jerry, returned to their home in Fort Worth Saturday after a visit here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Gibson.

Mrs. W. R. Gibson accompanied by her daughters, Mrs. Guy McGill and Miss Gladys Gibson are in Christoval this week, having visited their daughter and sister, Mrs. Earl Lawhan at Miles.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Womack were in Lubbock Tuesday.

George Shumake, Jr. made a business trip to Levelland Wednesday evening of last week. He was accompanied by his father, Mr. George Shumake, who spent a short time here with his family.

Messrs. and Mmes. B. J. Boyd, and Marshall Whitsett were in Lubbock Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Oscar Petty has been quite ill for several days, suffering with rheumatism. He is under the care of a local physician and is doing as well as could be expected.

"You made a mistake in that prescription I gave my mother-in-law. Instead of quinine you used strychnine."

"You don't say?" then you owe me twenty cents more."
