The Four Pillars

MR. W. G. VOLLMER, president of the Texas & Pacific Railway Company is circulating a beautifully written pamphlet, entitled "The Four Pillars of Freedom." With it is a series of excellent newspaper ads for presentation to the public in the nation's newspapers.

The four pillars of freedom, Mr. Vollmer says, are work, save, vote and pray. Work for increased production; save for both government and private thrift; vote, as a sacred obligation to protect our rights and freedoms; pray for the wisdom and courage to do our duty as good Americans, faithful to God and to our country.

These are worthwhile aims to which no American can object and to which every American should adhere in private and public life. The sad fact is, however, that as you read through this fine pamphlet prepared by Mr. Vollmer, it is like biting into the proverbial lucscious red apple and finding the proverbial worm. For unfortunately, as in most cases, Mr. Vollmer has a "gimmick," an axe to grind. And we find it in just one paragraph, which spoils the whole barrel.

For in discussing how to save, Vollmer says: "The various socalled social programs, benefits, bounties and aids should be dis-continued." Which adds up to the brutal fact that Vollmer would kick out the window the entire social security program of old age assistance, unemployment insurance, aid to the blind, to needy children and maternal welfare, a program the congress has just seen fit to extend to include more people and to increase the benefits. It is indeed too bad that some pillar of the business hierarchy cannot advance a completely objective and unselfish program without a hidden motive or political booby trap concealed beneath the flowery wording.

Cigarettes Similar

Which is your favorite brand of cigarettes? Well, it makes little difference, according to the Federal Trade Commission, which has been conducting unrelenting warfare against the cigarette companies charging misleading and false advertising. For the FTC makes a finding there is "no significant difference in the amount of nicotine, acid and throat irritants contained in the leading brands of cigarettes. One case instituted by FTC and appealed by the cigarette company has just been affirmed by the U.S. court of appeals at Richmond, Another appeal is pending in the U.S. court of appeals in Chicago. Others are in various stages of litigation. But if you will notice, the advertising techniques of all brands show a decided change as a result of the FTC orders. Here's what FTC says about all the leading brands of popular cigarettes:

"Testimony of medical witnesses, as well as reports of tests and experiments conducted by chemists establishes that there is no significant difference in either the tars and resins or the nicotine in the smoke from all the leading brands of cigarettes. The testimony of medical experts also establishes that the smoke from all the leading brands is irritating to the mucous membane of the respiratory tract and the differences in the chemical constituents of different brands of cigarettes, so slight that the smoke from one brand of cigarettes is no less irritating than is the smoke from other brands." So there! . . .

Farmers and Controls

Of course the farm organization may assert their independence and rebel, but Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan is still urging controls. This time the secretary declares there is an urgent need for effective use of materials available for control of the corn borer and other insect pests.

Puny Fourth

There was especial emphasis most everywhere this year on celebrating Independence Day, July 4, because it was our 175th birthday anniversary as a nation. Here's how congress celebrated: After unanimously voting to hold a July 4 session to commemorate the occasion, 75 of the 435 House members turned out for the first such session in 10 years, to spend 13 minutes in hearing the Declaration of Independence read. The senate did not meet.

No People's Lobby

Congressman Winfield K. Denton of Indiana probably has hit the nail on the head with reference to price controls. Said the Hoosier representative: "Most people seem to want controls at this time, but unfortunately, many of them want them applied to everyone but themselves. Congress has been besieged by one group after another looking for exemption of their fields of interests from government restrictions. Many groups have protested price control.

THE RURAL SCHOOL

Holcomb's Consolidated School A Model for Rural Communities

often entails special difficulties in providing financing of housing teachers and transportation of pupils, the rural school system has been the slowest to develop.

A model of what the rural community can do to meet its problems is the Holcomb community in Finney county in southwestern Kaasas. For 30 years the community has been building an exceptional rural consolidated school.

The village of Holcomb is situated ight miles west of Garden City, the county seat. It has a population of 200. Transcontinental highway 50 and the main line of the Santa Fe railroad pass through it. The consolidated school is the dominant institution. There are an alfalfadehydration plant, a post office, and two filling stations, one of which carries a small stock of groceries. There is no church, no bank, no general store. For the services of these institutions, the people go to Garden City.

On January 6, 1920, three districts voted for consolidation of a school at Holcomb. On July 23, 1921, another district petitioned to be admitted to the union district. At various times since 1921 additional districts have joined, the latest additions occurred in 1946. These additions brought to nine the total number of districts to come in and brought the area of the consolidated district to 210 square

During the past 30 years the Holcomb school has developed a full curriculum, including instruction in the elementary grades, from the kindergarten up, and in the high school full courses on every subject, including vocational agriculture and vocational homemaking.

By 1950 the school owned 12 buildings and 20 acres of land. The buildings included the main school structure, a grade school, a vocational agriculture building, a teacherage, a bus garage, and seven teachers' cottages.

THE VISITOR to the Holcomb I community soon senses an attitude of community pride in the school and a marked popular solicitude for the school's welfare. The solicitude extends not only to athletics and other extracurricular activities but also to courses offered and to the maintenance of good academic standards. The visitor gains the impression that the community, for all its enthusiasm for athletics, would feel much less disturbed by a "disastrous" basketball season than by a reduction of the school's rating by the state department of education from Class A to Class B. The public created the school and the public has stood behind it.

The Holcomb community was one of the first in the state to place a program of rural school consolidation into effect and it has proven to be an experiment of note to the entire country. In the school's 30 years, there have been 715 graduates of the eighth grade and 361 graduates of the high school.

Faced thirty years ago with conditions that might well discourage a rural community regarding school facilities for its children, the people of the Holcomb district, though the exercise of courage, ingenuity, enterprise, and group loyalty, have met their situation successfully and in a way that may well be an example to many other rural communities.

TAFFY had no chance to answer that one. A maid opened the door for them. She showed Taffy to a bedroom and while Taffy was taking off her jacket Mrs. Horner entered.

"I'm so sorry I wasn't at the front door," Mrs. Horner mourned. "I was all upset this afternoon because the butcher didn't send the kind of meat I ordered. I'm afraid it isn't going to be a very good dinner."

Taffy did her best to assure Mrs. Horner that she was quite comfortable without her jacket. It seemed that the oil burner was out of kil-

No Free Lunch Lesson for August 5, 1951

YOU cannot find the words "economic relations" in the Bible, but you cannot find the word "humanity" in the Bible either. Yet you would not say that the Bible has no message for humanity, and if you say that it has nothing to say about the economic life, it shows you have not thought what the words mean. "Economic relations" is an expres-Dr. Foreman sion for everything that goes into life from a business or money standpoint, everything we buy and use, make or raise or manufacture or sell. Money's not every. thing, but money's into everything. The Bible speaks about life, including the economic aspect of life. Nobody can live for a day without having some kind of economic re-lations, or sin (as a hobo does) by not having them.

No Free Lunch

ONE vital part of our economic life is earning a living. A learned professor of economics said that the whole subject can be put into one short sentence: "There is no free lunch." He meant, of course, that everything has to be paid for, by somebody, some time.
You may get your board "free." but everything on the table costs somebody something, and if you are not paying for it, some one else

Now the Bible teaches that every one who is able to do so, should earn his living. Saint Paul made a rule for his churches: "He that will not work, neither let him eat."

That sounds hard-boiled, but makes sense. The Bible has no use for the hobo, the loafer, the "moocher," the "grifter," the person who thinks the world owes him a living. The world owes no one a living.

The Right to Work

If it is the duty of all of us to earn our board and keep, on the other hand the world ought to give us the opportunity to do so. Alone with the duty of earning a living goes the right to earn a living.

that a basic Christian principle for right living is the value of individual persons. This holds good for economics as well as for all other areas of life.

What happens to the man who cannot earn a living? If he becomes an "object of charity," in a short while he loses ambition and selfrespect. And if he gets no charity, he starves.

So any system or arrangement of society, or any action or condition permanent or temporary making it impossible for a man to earn his own living, is harmful to human persons and therefore sinful. No one, in short, has a right to a living, but every one has the right to earn a living.

The Risks of Riches

So far, you might say that Christianity only says what everybody with common sense can see for himself. But Christianity goes further and says something that most people forget: that getting rich is more dangerous than desirable. The Bible urges us all to earn our own way; but it does not urge us to get rich. Christ warns us that life does not consist in the "abundance of things" a man possesses. There is no virtue in being as poor as possible. Still, on the other hand, the more man's property piles up, the more he is tempted to certain sins: the sin of greed, wanting more than our share, more than we can wisely use; the sin of pride, wanting to have more than any one else in sight; the sin of selfishness, wanting to use what we have for our own benefit exclusively; the sin of hoarding, wanting to fill barns or bank accounts for no particular reason except just to see the pile grow; the sin of materialism, measuring success in terms of The main question is: Why do dollars.

we want it? To have something good, or to do good with it? The big Christian question about every relationship and transaction, economic and otherwise, is a question about people. What is this going to do to people? To me? To those who depend on me? To the community

Pope Pius XII used two words about the economic life which Protestents will agree are of top importance: Make it more human, he said, and more Christian.

How to Wash

Clothes Properly

By Ertta Haley

DOING the family wash is one of the most exhausting jobs that the homemaker encounters every week. True, it may not be as exhausting as was grandmother's, with chopping the wood to heat the water as well as the iron, but still, it takes a big chunk of time out of every week.

It's not impossible to cut the time spent on it in half, as many women have found; and it's even more wonderful to find you have an extra two hours a week for leisure that were formerly spent in laundry

Summer laundry is especially heavy with its many changes of clothes, many of which can be home-laundered rather than cleaned. The best way to approach the problem is to study it from the point of view of what makes the task difficult, and then start making yourself comfortable. Is it hanging the wash which tires you? Is ironing hard on your feet? Do you get bored with a lot of flat pieces to iron? These and many other parts of the laundry chore all offer individual problems. Study them from your own needs and make the necessary adjustments. Soon, with comfort and convenience installed, you'll be able to enjoy the task, and it will be easier and faster to get the work

Make Laundry Center More Efficient

Anyone who has ever tried to do laundry work at the kitchen sink, then shifted to the basin in the bathroom, and thence to the basement knows how wearing it is. Then, too, if you shift ironing from kitchen to living room or dining room, this is time-consuming and full of waste motion.

No matter how limited the living quarters, laundry should be done in an alloted space. The perfect arrangement is a laundry-utility room, but when it's not possible, you might see what can be done with a back porch, an infrequently used pantry, or even a portion of the kitchen.

Plan the laundry space to move clothes from one step to another smoothly. The preparation center is first where you can sort clothes and remove stains. A good height is 34 inches, and width should be 24 inches to 30 inches. An old marble slab gives good surface for sorting the clothes to the sprinkling table clothes, and may also be used for where you may also fold those scrubbing heavily soiled pieces or removing stains. A porcelain-topped | The next center is that for ironing

> Before hanging clothing, arrange articles in the basket to save time in actual hanging, and also sorting the clothing later. Have all sheets together, all handkerchiefs, dresses, shirts, towels and other items in stacks. Shake out each piece before hanging to prevent wrinkles which take time to iron.

Sprinkling properly helps you cut off hours on ironing time. First, dampen garments as evenly as possible so the whole piece takes the same temperature, and one spot does not need more ironing and heat

Most women also get their clothing too damp, and excess dampness requires more ironing to dry it. With a soft spray or sprinkler you can get even dampness and not too much of it. Wrap clothing in plasticlined basket or in sheets of the same material to avoid drying it out.

It's Time That Parents Awaken

A NOTHER SCANDAL concerning teen-agers and drug-taking has broken loose in my native city of San Francisco recently, and the fathers and mothers of a certain group of high-school students are in the usual state of amazement and anger. "Why on earth can't the authorities protect our children from this fearful thing?" they demand. And then, "How do they get it? Who gets it for them?"

Meanwhile, the guilty youngsters, with shamefaced pride, admit that they have been buying and consuming habit-forming poisons, and the two oldest members of the group, boys of 17, assert with winning frankness that drug-taking makes the girls more amenable to sexual approaches. All this on our front pages this week.

Now I would like to count two other questions to the two mentioned above. I would like to ask, first, what sort of parents are so delinquent that their children haven't been efficiently warned against marihuana and heroin, and second, where do the children get the money for drugs? Drugs are preposterously costly, because of the dangers of illicit peddling; 20 dollars do not go far in supplying even one addict. Where do those dollars come from?

Well, it's a great problem. What if all barriers were removed from the sale of these drugs? I am not advocating this but if such a proposal were made to end, once and for all, the smuggling and secrecy, much of the temptation of certain thrill-seeking teen-agers to violate the law would be removed, and it would certainly startle American

We save the fingers of our babies from matches, from the pink pills with the death head on them save them from violent childish rages, from gluttony, from physical and mental uncleanliness, we save their teeth, their skins, we fight laziness and selfishness and dirty fingernails. We study expensive books on the subject of youthful jealousies and fixations.

But only to the extent that they trust us and believe us are our ef-forts successful. Children are all, of course, born with trying personal habits, with no sense of the sacredness of truth or of the possessions of others; they snatch, they hate, they spit, they kick, they scream, they lie, they steal. We coax and scold and train them to be better. The example of good parents, the counsel of a reasonable father, the serious warning of an intelligent mother-these are all they need to make them regard the filthy business of dope-peddling for what it is. The child's protection is at home. But to the young man or woman the moment comes when that protection must be transferred to his own soul and mind. If then his tendency is toward weak, childish indulgence in what he has been told is dangerous and injurious, why, the more's the pity! But this matter should be strictly up to his parents primarily, and to himself as he grows into adult life.

TNFANTRYMEN call Fort Benning mother of the army. But when ne "mad minute" is staged at Benning, "mother" becomes a thing of fury and flame.

Grimy and resolute, high-booted paratroopers, G. I. riflemen, lieutenants and captains learning how to take an enemy hill inch forward under barbed wire in red Georgia clay. Every howitzer, tank, mortar, machine gun, flame thrower and bazooka on the range roars into rapid fire at the same time. The "mad minute" is the thundering climax of the training of U.S. fighting men at the Army's famed infantry school at Fort Benning.

United Nations commanders look to pine-covered Georgia hills for trained guerrillas who can creep behind enemy lines to spread panic, sabotage and death. Fort Benning is now the home of an army branch with a venerated name - the Rangers.

Tough volunteers for crack Ranger companies are relearning an old American specialty - frontier fighting. Chief of Staff Gen. J. Lawton Collins has described their training as a throwback to oldtime tac-

Praying Mantis Is Oddest Friend of Man Its Unending Hunger Is Farmer's Greatest Ally

The Praying Mantis (see sketch below), is one of the oddest of all friends of man.

Three inches or more in length, green or brown, the mantis suggests some prehistoric monster in miniature. In perfect silence, it awaits the coming of each new vic-tim, its spined forelegs folded meekly in an attitude of prayer. Once the victim is within reach these forelegs shoot out, the blades snap shut, and the prey is held as helpless as though it were caught in a toothed steel trap.

Thus the insect that will kill many of the pests that harm American crops is described in the July issue of Coronet magazine.

The mantis is driven by an al-most-unending hunger for living victims. So valuable is the insatiable hunger of the mantis for caterpillars, beetles and moths, that in many parts of the country people place their egg-cases in their gar-

It will eat bumblebees, crickets houseflies, grasshoppers, spiny caterpillars, hornets, cabbage butter-flies, Japanese beetles and even Black Widow spiders.

The mantis is entirely harmless to man. Its appetite is probably the farmer's greatest ally in his battle against insects and bugs. Special care should be taken not to destroy

Mahon Writes Of War Outlook

For the past 11 weeks I have been conducting committee hear ings in Washington on the appropriation bill for the Army, Navy and Air Force for the current fiscal year. I expect to present the bill to the House of Representatives for passage during the second week in August. I think some facts about the bill may be of interest. Because of the confidential nature of much of the testimony, the hearings were not testimony, the hearings were not open to the press However about 2-3rds of the testimony has been printed and is available to men bers of Congress, the press and public. Four volumns containing 3500 pages totaling nearly 3 million words, were required to print the testimony of the 500 witnesses who testified.

A lot of words and witnesses were involved in the hearings The issue before us, however, was the 56 billion dollar appropriation bill for the Army, Navy, and Air Force, one of the largest appropriation bills to be submitted to Congress in the history of the nation Generally speaking, one fifth of the money would be required to pay, feed and clothe the men in service. An additional one fifth would be required to maintain the installations, aircrafts ships, etc. One half of the sum would be used to pay for tanks, airplanes, ships, and weapons of war. Remaining funds would be war. Remaining funds would be used for research and development and many other purposes. We will make savings and reduct ions wherever reasonably possible. It appears that a minimum reduction of at least one billion dollars can be made safely.

Our civilian and military perts are by no means infallible, but it was interesting to note that most of them who appeared be fore the committee were of the opinion that there would not be a global war involving the United States and Russia in 1951 Some of them expressed the idea that the danger of war with Russia would be greater in 1952 and 1953 as the Russian atomic stockpile increases. Many of our military people feel that war between the United States and Russia is inevit able, but our top military leader do not agree with this conclusion The world situation is confusing complex and explosive. My own view is that some incident or un CLEANING foreseen development might pre cipitate a shooting war between the United States and Russia at any time I think the best hope for peace lies in our military pre paredness effort and in the over all strengthening of our nation and the other free nations of the Alterations world We do not know the Russ-ian timetable but we know they seem to understand the language of strength.

What may happen in the Korean war is still not clear but in my opinion it would be dangerous and inexcusable for us to let down our guard or disband our military forces by reason of the cease fire in Korea. The truth is we are not now prepared for war. Our milit ary build up is just getting in high gear. We must be strong over a long period of years if there is to be any real hope for stability and peace. On the other hand we cannot afford to bankrupt selves in reckless and wasteful spending.

During the progress of the hear ings I was invited to go to the Pacific for the atomic bomb tests and also to Europe to confer with Eisenhower but my work here was such that I could not leave Washington at the time Suffice it to say that we have made re markable strides in the field of atomic warfare, and other highly significant developments are in the offing. Of course, Russia is making progress in weapons development, too. For example, the Russian made jet fighter which has been used against us in Korea is comparable to our best

Nitrogen Starved Corn Produces Small Ears Lack of Nitrogen May

Show Up Early in Crop (Second of Two Articles)

The ear of corn and the leaf shown in the photo below tell a plain story of nitrogen starvation. The soil didn't supply the nitrogen the crop needed, so unmistakable signs are evident on both the ear and the leaf.

The ear of this nitrogen-starved corn is short, but the kernels are well-filled and the ear has fair finish. Nature has an uncanny way of regulating the size of the ear to match the amount of nitrogen available when the ears are shooting. This is its insurance for seed another year.

When nitrogen is lacking the middle of the leaf turns yellow and dies. Signs of nitrogen starvation can show on the corn any time from the knee-high stage to maturity. Early hints are skinny stalks and pale green leaves. "Firing" of the lower leaves is another sign, although it is often mistakenly blamed on drouth. You can add more nitrogen for your corn in three ways: (1) By having more well-fertilized deeprooted legumes in the rotation; (2) By using more manure; (3) By using fertilizer carrying nitrogen. The point to remember is that no matter how much nitrogen the corn gets, it cannot build strong roots and stalks and fill out kernels unless it has plenty of phosphate and potash, too. Besides adding nitrogen, well-fed deep-rooted legumes such as alfalfa and sweet clover unlock tightly packed clay soils below the plow layer and let air and water in.

Rundown Pastures Can Be Productive Soil Test Is First Step In 'Face-Lifting' Plan

A "face-lifting" for old, rundown, weedy permanent pastures is rec-ommended by Purdue University agronomists. A good renovation program supported by liming and the use of commercial fertilizer can bring a pasture back to lush, vigorous production, they say. It can double the pasture's carrying capacity and improve the quality of the herb-

First step in the program is a soil test to find out the needs for limestone and for nitrogen. phate and potash fertifizer.

Making a new seedbed on an old sod can be satisfactorily done with a disc harrow or field cultivator, the agronomists say. The operation can be eased considerably by working the soil in one direction and then working it crosswise.

Timothy and smooth brome grass are excellent for supplementing blue grass. How much these grasses increase pasture output depends on the legumes used in the mixture and the amount and analysis of fertilizer. The agronomists say that a good seed mixture should contain two pounds of red clover, three pounds of broadleaf trefoil and a quarter pound of Ladino clover.

The Purdue agronomists stress that a good application of commer-cial fertilizer is essential in pasture renovation. They recommend using 400 pounds per acre of 0-20-10 or 0-20-0 fertilizer at seeding time. The phosphate and potash fertilizer helps get the new seeding off to a good start, and supplies the nutri-ents the legumes need most.

95 Percent of Farm Homes Have Electricity

With almost 95 per cent of today's farm homes now having electricity -an increase of more than 50 per cent in 10 years-farmers today are in equipping their places with everything from toasters and trimmers to thermostats and television.

A recent study of the buying habits of the American farmer showed that electric ranges, dishwashers, refrigerators, laundry equipment, clothes dryers and toasters, and automatic heating systems were becoming standard items in most homes served by rural electrifica-tion systems. More than 100,000 families installed thermostat-controlled heating systems from 1947 through 1949.

The study also indicated a close relationship between electrification and general home improvement on farms. For example, approximately $10,000,000 was spent from July, 1947, to December, 1948, alone for farm-home modernization.

Approximately 4,900,000 of the 5,200,000 occupied farms and almost 15,000,000 of the occupied rural dwelling will soon have electricity.

Skid Carrier

An easy and time saving way to move turkey poults and young chickens from brooder house to range is the skid carrier sketched above. Build the crate to fit a hay sled or other farm carrier and divide it into sections. Carrier is loaded through sliding doors at top, then is skidded to range where two men can lift the top and the birds can scoot away.

Loans to Build Grain Houses Will Continue

The commodity credit corpora-tion program which provides loans to farmers to finance construction or purchase of new farm gt ain storage facilities will be continued in 1951-52. Secretary of Agriculture Brannan announced that the loan program, initiated in June, 1949, and scheduled to expire June 30, 1951, has been extended another year. The program is extendable on a year-to-year basis.

The farm home is no safer than the folks who live therein. Studies show that more farm accidents occur in the home than in any other single place on the farm.

Citrus Fruit Processers

Develop New Cattle Feed

Florida's concentrated citrus fruit processors have found a gold mine from what was once a complete food loss. In doing so, the processers are solving one of the citrus industry's most troublesome problems. The problem had to do with the disposal of hundreds of tons of orange, grapefruit and other citrus fruit rinds, pulp and seeds. The end result has been the development of a new cattle-beef and dairy-feed that is making cattle healthier and increasing the amount of milk per cow.

The new process dries and grinds seeds, pulp and rind of citrus fruit into a dry feed that has the appearance of cereal flakes. During the process, a juice is pressed from the former waste residue and evapo-rated into a citrus "molasses." Aft-

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS ... by Lynn Chambens

Make a Flavorsome Supper with Curried Shrimp (See Recipes Below)

Delicious Seafoods

MOST HOMEMAKERS don't mind trying something different, provided it's good. If it's delicious to eat as well as a saving.

Seafood, cooked properly, is one of the most important of food budget aids. Besides being plentiful, it's available in fresh, frozen or canned form, so you're certain to find several varieties all times. You'll be glad at the opportunity of having interesting meals at budgetary prices with the use of seafood. At the same time, the family will be delighted to get away from menus that are "the same old thing."

Curried Shrimp on Rice is a good way to start off on seafoods because the flavor is intriguing, and the nourishing eggs and milk with shrimp makes this a good main dish, rich in protein:

*Shrimp Curry Au Gratin

(Serves 6) 14 cup butter cup finely diced onion

1/2 cup diced celery tablespoons flour 11/2 teaspoons salt 1 teaspoon curry powder

1/4 teaspoon ginger 1 teaspoon sugar 3 cups milk, scalded

11/2 pounds shrimp, cooked and cleaned 3 tablespoons lemon juice

1 cup grated cheese

4 cups boiled rice Melt butter, add onions and celery and cook until tender, while stirring. Blend in flour, salt, curry powder, ginger and sugar. Gradually add hot milk, while stirring, and cook until thickened, stirring the whole time. Add shrimp, lemon juice and half of the cheese. Heat through. Turn into individual casseroles, containing rice, then sprinkle with remaining grated cheese. Broil to melt

CRABMEAT AND MUSHROOMS make a thoroughly delightful combination especially when the sauce is rich and well-seasoned. Golden brown, French fried noodles are the accompaniment:

Crab and Mushrooms

(Serves 6) 2 cans crabmeat 3 tablespoons fat 3 tablespoons flour 1 cup chicken stock

½ cup cream ½ pound mushrooms 1/2 cup Parmesan cheese, grated teaspoon salt 1/4 teaspoon pepper 1/4 teaspoon paprika 1 cup crisp noodles Melt fat, add flour and stir until well-blended. Gradually pour in the chicken stock, then the cream, stirring constantly. Bring to the boiling point and add crabmeat a n d mushrooms which have been sauteed in butter. As soon as thoroughly heated, add cheese, salt, pepper and paprika. Garnish with crisp noodles or serve in pastry shells or on toast points.

Note: To prepare crisp noodles,

HALIBUT IS an excellent fish to use for molded salad since the flesh is so firm. Either leftover or freshly boiled fish may be used for this: Halibut Salad Mold (Serves 4) 11/2 tablespoons flour 1/2 teaspoon salt 2 teaspoons mustard

2 teaspoons sugar 1 egg ½ cup evaporated milk 5 tablespoons lemon juice 1 tablespoon gelatin

4 cup cold water 14 teaspoon celery salt 1 cup cooked, flaked halibut 1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped Place flour, salt, mustard and sugar in top part of double boiler.

Add egg, slightly beaten, evaporated milk and lemon juice. Stir over hot water until mixture thickens. Soften gelatin in cold water, then add to mixture in double boiler. Add celery salt and halibut. Mix well and let cool. Fold in whipped cream; turn into mold and chill until firm. Serve on lettuce, garnished with olives and pimiento strips. Deviled Sardines

(Serves 4) 2 cans boneless sardines 2 tablespoons butter 14 teaspoon dry mustard 1 teapsoon worcestershire sauce 1/2 cup fine cracker crumbs

1 lemon Drain oil from sardines, Cream butter and work in mustard and worcestershire sauce. Mash sardines and add to butter mixture with cracker crumbs. Place into shells or a shallow baking pan and broil until golden brown. Serve with lemon quarters. Fruits and berries do not have to be canned with a sugar and water syrup, if desired. Fruit juice may be used in place of the syrup, extracting the juice, sweetening it or not, if preferred. Slice your large and luscious fruits for salad. Serve with a simple and delightful dressing made of honey and lemon juice.

Using baking powder biscuit dough, cut rings out of the dough, and bake as biscuits. Serve with creamed fish, chicken or egg and garnish with broiled bacon strips.
