Rotary News

The O'Donnell Rotary Club met Tuesday with President Truett Hodnett presiding. Visiting Rotarians were Wilton Payne of Tahoka and Noble Price, Bowers Purcell, W. B. Thompson, Joe Spikes, and Bob Wade of Lamesa.

Special guests of the O'Donnell Club were Miss Clara Autry, editor of the O'Donnell High School Annual Staff and Secretary of the O'Donnell Student Council, and Miss Betty Crain, member of the O'Donnell High School Pep Squad. Clara and Betty are seniors at O'Donnell High School.

Twelve thousand Rotary Clubs, who are serving their community in 130 countries observed World Understanding Week March 20-26. Rev. Paul Miller was the speaker for the luncheon of the O'Donnell Club. Rev. Miller, evangelist for the revival at the First Baptist Church and a Marine during World War II, emphasized the responsibility of the individual citizen for his community.

A letter from the Sigurdur Jonssons to O'Donnell tells of the completion of the new Island known as "Black Island." The Jonssons have sent slides of the eruption of the volcano from the sea and the formation of this island. The eruptions have stopped and new life is beginning on the island. Scientists are arriving from the world in Iceland to study the new life forming on the island. And now, off a piece from Black Island, a new eruption has started out of the sea and already another island is being formed. The Jonssons write that the excitement is high as the new islands are being formed. Sigurdur is president of the Rotary Club of Isafjordur, Iceland.

Thought for the week: "The things we do on our feet are just as important as what we say on our knees."

Scout News

The O'Donnell Cub Scout completed their month's study of the "Knights of the Roundtable" at their last meeting. Making plans for the building of a bird house were Troy Mires, Wesley Brown, Robby Furlow, Clark Swinney, Jimmy Amaro, Jimmy Popnoe, and Kirby Nolan.

Parents' Night was the theme of the Monday night meeting of Boy Scout Troop 789. Patrol Leaders Ivan Line and Louie Amaro led their Patrols in demonstrations for their parents and were assisted by Senior Patrol Leader Johnny Boles, and a new member of the Troop, Mark Hardin. Plans were made for O'Donnell Week at Camp Post.

A "Sunshine Scout" is of not much value to his community or himself. It is the "All-Weather Scout" who helps his community and himself. It is by teamwork that America has grown strong and the Boy Scouts of America will continue to help keep America strong as they practice being Good Scouts.

Seriously ill in West Texas Hospital, Lubbock. Mrs. Richardson had been up there for several days until she came home for the week end. Donald Lee Richardson is home from Wesleyan College, N. M., for a few days.

200 Area People 72 Not on S.S.

An estimated 200 area persons age 72 or older who can qualify for social security payments under a recent change have not yet applied, according to Mr. John G. Hutton, social security district manager in Lubbock.

A little-known amendment allows persons now 72 or older to qualify for a special benefit with less work credit than is required for regular benefits. For example, a man who was at least 76, or a woman who was at least 73, in 1965 has to have only about nine months of covered work credited. Also, a widow who was at least 72 in 1965, whose husband either died or became 65 in 1954 or earlier, is eligible if her husband had about nine months of covered work.

This special benefit is a flat $35 a month, Mr. Hutton said. Wife's benefits of $17.50 a month are payable at age 72 to a woman whose husband is entitled under this provision, if she reaches 72 before 1969.

Mr. Hutton advised these persons to get in touch with the Lubbock social security office as soon as possible.

Bill Autry visited his mother, Mrs. Effie Autry at Maybank over the week end.

Cotton Ginnings Are Past 185,000

Lynn county cotton ginnings from the 1965 crop totaled 185,619 up to March 21, according to the U. S. Bureau of the Census, and total ginnings for the nation were 14,912,461.

This was an increase for the county of nearly 6,000 bales since the January 16 report.

This is not the final report, however, delayed this year by the late crop, and the final report will be averaged out to 500-pound bales and adjusted to counties where cotton was actually raised, not where it was ginned. Little change is expected, though.

Lynn maintained its position as 12th in the nation, fifth in Texas and fifth on the Plains in 1965 cotton production.

Following compares 1965 ginnings with 1964:

National FHA Week Being Observed

March 27-April 2, this week, is National FHA Week. The Future Homemakers of America is a national organization of students who study homemaking in high schools. There are about 10,000 chapters throughout the United States and its territories. Any student who is taking, or has taken, a homemaking course in school, may become a member. There are more than 475,000 members. Their motto, "Toward New Horizons," reminds FHA members that their present study and contributions toward home life will influence their community and country tomorrow.

The new program of work for 1965-1969 consists of the overall goal which is the responsibility of the home is to create an atmosphere of unity through love, guidance, and understanding.

Objective I is to help each family member recognize his abilities and strive for their full development. This is carried out by (1) Individuality Counts; (2) Good Health—A Valuable Asset; (3) Jobs, Careers, and You; (4) Morals and Manners Matter; (5) Good Family Relations Through Communications. The second overall goal is each family member has an effect in the home, the community and the world.

Objective II is to participate actively in projects for family, community, and world improvement, which is carried through with (1) Citizenship Challenges You; (2) Your Neighbors Near and Far; (3) Make Your Money Behave; (4) Leisure Time—Constructive Time.

The eight-sided emblem symbolizes the significant purposes of the organization. The name of the organization, and the motto appear around the border. In the center is a house which represents a home where there is truth, love, security, and faith. This home is supported by two hands, suggesting that the future homes of America are in the hands of its youth. The hand on the right represents the husband, father, or brother in the home. The hand on the left is the wife, mother, or sister. Both hands work together to foster and support strong homes of tomorrow. The rays extending to and from the home suggest the influence the home has on the community and the community has on the home.

The Future Homemakers of America was founded in 1945. It is a non-profit group sponsored by the Home Economics branch of the United States Office of Education and the American Home Economics Association. The organization is divided into local, area, state and national levels. The complete activities of the week for the local club will be given next week.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

Inasmuch as the United Nations is largely supported by the taxes of American small businessmen, even before Russia reneged in making payments, it is perhaps well to review the UN situation.

Rep. H. R. Gross, Iowa, recently commented on the fact that only by the barest of margins was Red China kept out of the UN, and Nationalist China thrown out, in 1965. He feels that this situation may not prevail in the next vote.

UN was launched with worldwide hope to found an effective way of preventing the world wide anarchy of war. The charter provided that nations should act in concert to stop aggressive acts between nations, but should not interfere in matters essentially within the domestic jurisdiction of any state. Since that time, however, there has been appended to UN some 14 different agencies such as the International Labor Organization to "promote social justice" and the UN Education, Scientific and Cultural Organization which seeks control over schools all over the world. Thus, it has become quite active in meddling in nation's internal affairs.

Yet as the record since 1945 shows, the UN has been a substantial failure in achieving its main purpose, maintaining peace. This tragic failure is perhaps largely due to failure of world leaders to utilize UN for this purpose.

There is no excuse today for any nation invading another. Unless the UN can agree to this principle, it will always be doomed to failure. Interference in domestic affairs can only lead to trouble and leave the world without an effective peace enforcing machine.

Perhaps the best try in this direction was the action of President Truman in getting a vote from UN to stop Northern Korean aggression, and fielding a multi-national force.

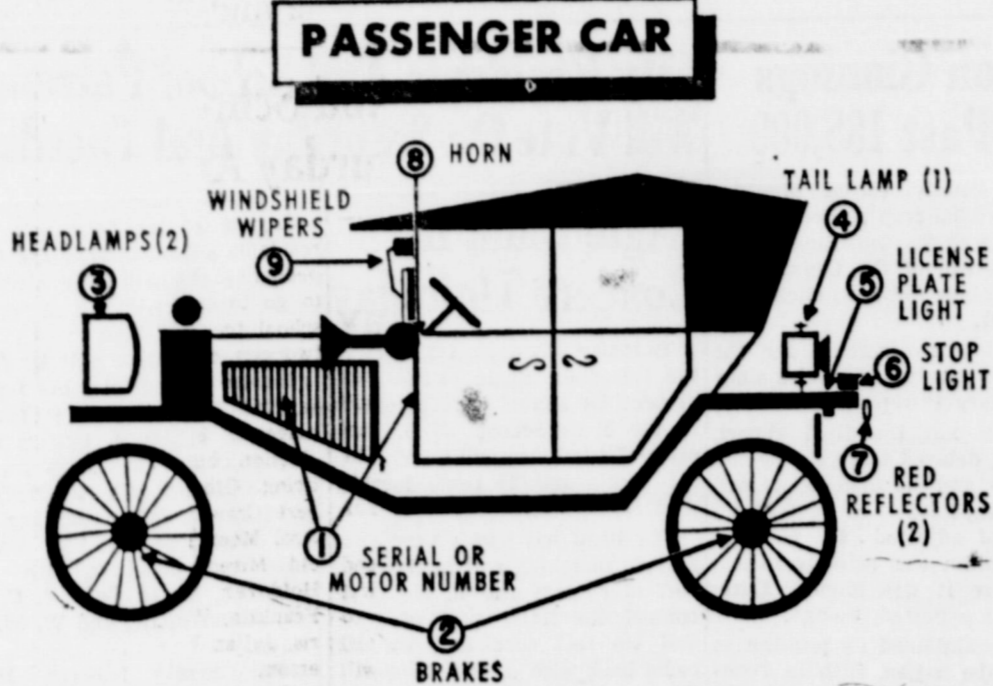

But since that time, action has largely been on an independent basis. President Eisenhower took independent action in the crisis of Suez and again Lebanon. When President Kennedy had a confrontation with Russia over Cuba, only the American navy was deployed. President Johnson has acted independently in both Dominica and Vietnam.

When the Russians moved in to crush the Hungarian freedom movement, the UN abstained from interference on the basis already mentioned that the UN has no business interfering in domestic affairs. Yet it has not hesitated to interfere in other people's domestic affairs, as witnessed by Rhodesia and South Africa.

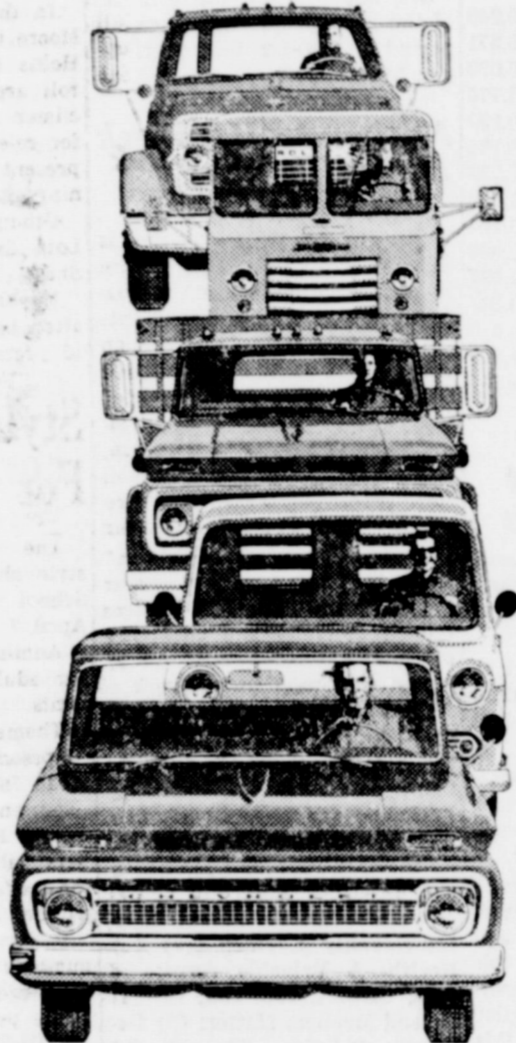

Obviously, a new UN look is needed. All this collateral impedimenta should be junked and the main purpose accentuated . . . that of keeping the peace.

After all, in a stable society, one man may believe he is entitled to what some other man has. He is privileged to argue his case, but if he goes over to the other man's house to shoot up the place, all society acts to stop bloodshed.

There is no excuse today for any nation invading another. Unless the UN can agree to this principle, it will always be doomed to failure. Interference in domestic affairs can only lead to trouble and leave the world without an effective peace enforcing machine.

Futher Acreage Cuts Probable

Memphis, Tenn. (Spl.)—Unless something more is done to reduce the cotton carryover, growers will face further cuts in acreage and the entire economy of cotton areas will suffer heavily. Leading producers across the Belt believe the only solution is to develop better cotton products and to sell them in greater volume, the National Cotton Council points out. This cannot be accomplished without greatly increased funds for research and promotion. A mechanism to permit growers to build such funds is provided in the Cotton Research and Promotion Act, developed by producers. Recently passed by the House of Representatives, the measure would allow growers to vote on establishing a uniform assessment of $1.00 per bale for research and promotion.

Producers point out passage of the bill by the U. S. Senate, and a favorable vote in the referendum, could mean life or death to incomes of farmers and areas dependent upon cotton.

Most areas soon will feel the ill effects of this year's drastic cuts in acreage. There are strong indications this is only the beginning unless something is done to reduce the carryover which is due to hit a record 16.5 million bales this year.

Cotton now is competitive in price with rayon and foreign cotton. However, it is losing out to the higher-priced fibers, such as nylon and polyester. These fibers now have a total market in the U. S. that equals nearly seven million bales of cotton. Over two million bales were gained in the past two years.

New plants with capacity equivalent to more than 3.5 million additional bales of cotton are scheduled to be operational by the end of next year.

In 1961, growers began boosting research and promotion through the Cotton Producers Institute. With a voluntary assessment of $1.00 per bale, they raised $3 million a year. Then CPI's income leveled off and threatened to drop.

Producers were stymied by the problem of how to get a reasonably uniform collection from some 500,000 different farmers across the Belt. Man-made fiber producers do not face this problem; their small boards of directors can provide funds without hesitation.

The Cotton Research and Promotion Act would give farmers the opportunity to unite their actions and funds. This would occur when at least two-thirds of the farmers voting in a referendum, or farmers producing two-thirds of the volume grown by those voting, approve the plan. If a farmer did not want to participate, his money would be refunded without argument.

A group of trustees composed of farmers elected by cotton producer organizations in various states would have full responsibility for developing and carrying out the research and promotion program.

The $1.00-per-bale rate could not be changed unless farmers vote to do so in another referendum. Funds will be collected by a cotton handler and turned over to a Cotton Board named by the Secretary of Agriculture from a list of nominees chosen by pro-
