Ex-Students Home Coming Is Friday

Banquet Is A Feature

Friday is a big day for all Ex-Students of the O'Donnell High school with several hundred former students expected to attend, according to Gene Gardenhire, chairman of the planning committee for the event.

Activities will get off to a fast start at 2 p. m. Friday when the school system holds open house until 6 p. m. for all former students. There will be undergraduate guides to show the visitors around and explain the improvements. The friendly superintendent, John Morris and his faculty will also be present to extend a most cordial welcome.

Pep Rally At 3:30

At 3:30 the Exes and the students will meet for a program and pre-game pep rally. The tuneful school band will also be present.

Banquet Is Set

Football Queen Is Miss Pearce

At 8 p. m. the evening will be climaxed by the Sundown and the Eagle football game which promises to be a tip top game. Vivid, colorful half time ceremonies will include the coronation ceremonies of the football queen, Miss Carolyn Pearce.

Mr. Gardenhire stressed the fact that all ex students are urged to attend and a formal invitation is not necessary as the group does not have an up to date mailing list of all ex-students. If you have ever attended school here you are invited and urged to attend. Tickets to banquet are $1.75 each and are on sale at both drug stores.

The Country Editor

This is being written Tuesday afternoon when we, of course, have no idea as to the presidential winner. But there are certain observations that hold now, tomorrow or four years from now.

It has been well for O'Donnell this area, our state, and our nation that the two great political parties have gotten the attention of the voters and that the people have been talking issues, policies and personalities as never before since 1928.

It is our hope that this election will be the beginning of a strong Republican party in Texas -- not just the few who have a purpose, but of the rank and file voter. Although voting straight Democratic this time, we will may vote, and work as a Republican four years from now. There could be NO greater misfortune to our beloved America than to have a one party system. We need a loyal opposition party to keep our way of life.

Although party politics have been brisk here, father and son divided, husband and wife divided, old friends on opposite sides, employers and employees with different candidates, NOT ONCE have we seen or heard gossip of any indication of ill feeling or ill tempered words however brisk got the discussion. For this we commend West Texans -- and not being a native, we feel we can judge. Your views have been as wide as your great rolling plains. This is not for favor when we say, if we were being tried before a jury, we would prefer a jury of West Texans.

Again, although at this writing we do not hazard a guess as to the winners, we plan to sleep tonight feeling secure that our new leader is a great man... that's how greatly we admire Mr. Stevenson and Mr. Eisenhower.

Now that the War of 14 Weeks is closed, the Nation will close ranks, no longer being undecided but rather DECIDED that our new leader will have our unreserved support. No American fights a battle which has been decided by a majority.

It is fitting, rather, that we aid the new government in ending the frightful and unpopular Korean war in a just peace, end the increasing spiral of inflation, level our economy off into peace, prosperity and true happiness for ALL of this nation and this world.

P. S. But aint it been FUN... this politics. Next comes Christmas

Sundown Here Friday

Friday nite the O'Donnell high flying Eagles, fat and sassy from a meal of Buffalo meat last Friday nite, will try and take the Sundown Roughnecks into camp. The two teams are evenly matched and the game is sure to be a thriller-diller. With O'Donnell playing ball, we like the Eagles to a tune of, let's say, 21 to 12.

Draw Gets New 350 Barrel Ellenburger Producer

Draw Field Looks Good

Operators were taking potential preparatory to completing the third well in the O'Donnell field near Draw. C. M. Ashby of Dallas was taking a 24 hour test at the No. 1 Garza Land and Cattle Co. Preliminary testing had indicated 350 barrels of oil per day. A previous drill stem test was taken from 9,252-9,367 feet. Tool was open for 3 hours. Gas came to the top in one hour. Recovery was 6,890 feet of oil and 360 feet of heavily oil and gas outdrilling mud. There was no water on the test. Open bottom hole flowing pressure ranged up to 2,640 pounds. Forty five minute shut in pressure was 3,879 pounds. Operators then set 5 1-2 inch casing at 9,367 feet in the Ellenburger topped at 9,305 feet. Elevation is 2,915 feet. Perforations from 9,310 - 9,367 feet were then treated with 500 gallons of mud acid. The project had indicated possible production in the Mississippian, however, there were no shows of oil in the Pennsylvanian.

The field has one producer from the Canyon and one from the Mississippian as well as the dry holes which made only water in the Ellenburger. The new producer is 12 miles east of here and 2 miles south east of Draw.

PALANTINE BRIDGE, N. Y.—The pickle queen of the Mohawk Valley is Mrs. Ada Nellis.

The 13-room house, 100 years old, where Mrs. Nellis lives, has been her home since she went there, a bride of a farmer, 51 years ago. Then the Nellis place was a 100-acre dairy farm, but since Mr. Nellis' death, the land has been sold and Mrs. Nellis has turned her house into a boarding home for elderly people.

Still she makes pickles as in the old days, to serve on her own table, to donate to the church bazaars and to donation sales, to give as presents at Christmas, to help stock the shelves of her four married children. Not one of her three daughters, and they would tell you so themselves, can make pickles half as good as their mother can. It's Bonnie Lee, 10, who lives with Great Grandma, who's going to be a pickle-maker of the old school. Each summer she helps with the pickling.

The drought continues to increase the danger from fires. All citizens are urged to be careful with trash fires and motorists are especially urged not to throw lighted matches, cigarettes or cigars onto highway right of ways.

Curves Eliminated
Between N. C. Towns

OLD FORT, N. C.—The re-location of a road between here and Ridgecrest is taking the hairpins out of a mountain trail, but the job itself is a hair-raising one.

With an army of bulldozers, tractors, trucks and other earth-moving machines, construction crews are making war against a mountain. In leaps that scamper over ravines, like mountain goats, engineers direct the operation by radio-telephone.

The road-building project is based on the "leveling off" principle, which means filling in the valleys, as well as cutting through the hills. And in making the necessary "fills" and "cuts," workers must cope with the movement of millions of cubic yards of stone and soil, frequently working at angles that defy the law of gravity.

In the words of one engineer, "The project would be next to impossible were it not for jeeeps, which we use for operating in all advanced positions, and for the many trips we must make to and from the field office." The radio-telephone system of communications was also rated as "vitaly essential."

When completed this fall, the new road will replace an eight-mile section of U. S. 70, which has 98 dangerous curves and a bad accident record. The new highway will have two 22-foot lanes, no hazardous bends, only 19 curves of the easy-to-take variety, and it will reduce the overall traveling distance by a good two miles under the old route.

The construction firm of W. E. Graham & Sons, Cleveland, N. C., called the road re-location project the biggest ever undertaken on this side of the Mississippi. Pointed out, too, was the fact that the new road will have 10-foot shoulders and a drainage system utilizing heavy-duty culverts up to 54 inches.

AMISH CAPITAL

This Town Has More Buggies Than Autos

ARTHUR, Ill.—On the streets you'll find more horses and buggies than automobiles. The hitch-rack is used every day in the week except Sunday.

For this is the home of one of the larger sects of Amish people in the country. Approximately 1,500 Amish live on the farms nearby. They are prosperous, friendly. They've never gotten in trouble, and mind their own business.

But strangers stare at them because the men are whiskered, wear homemade clothing and flat black hats. The women dress just as severely, and keep their heads covered. They dislike the automobile, and use the horse exclusively.

Hitch Rack Rules

Arthur has entire streets where the hitch-rack reigns. Signs are posted, prohibiting autos to park in these areas. The highways near Arthur are filled with the black-topped buggies of the Amish farmers.

Strangely the Amish have preserved many Old World traits, and yet form a harmonious segment in the area surrounding them. For although Arthur is known as "Capital of Amishland," there has never been any friction between these people and their non-Amish neighbors. They are extreme pacifists.

Make Own Clothes

Mention of the word Amish generally brings to mind a vague mental picture of queer, Quaker-looking people who ride in horse-drawn vehicles and wear plain clothes of their own making.

For nearly a century the Amish lived happily in Pennsylvania, then land shortage drove some of them farther west. Following the Civil war new settlements were made in Canada, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa and Illinois. Since then, many of the sects have modernized and accepted present-day living standards.

But the Amish in the Arthur community are strictly "old order." Although Lancaster county in Pennsylvania still is considered the mother community of the Amish sect, the followers at Arthur are perhaps the purest Amish in existence, and stubbornly resist the inroads of modernization.

Artists Found Home In Mountain Town

LITTLETON, N. H.—Tucked away on a back country road in this White Mountains community, a group of artists have "found a home" for summer activity in New Hampshire and have named it Rock Pool. They have converted and rebuilt old farm buildings into studios and an art shop. During the season skilled instructors demonstrate the arts of ceramics, sculpturing, painting, wood-cutting, and silver-smithing. The visitor to Rock Pool can watch the entire process of creation. For instance, in ceramics the clay is mixed, shaped, baked in the kiln, glazed and decorated in an individual studio with the most modern and complete equipment.

Each artist also holds classes in his own medium and students can learn the art of jewelry making, or take a sketching class with a professional model, or "throw" a vase on the electric wheel.

A new idea in the art world, each of these artists is self-sufficient. Owner Bill Gordon has long been interested in arts and artists in Boston, and it was his idea to convert Rock Pool into an art center. He provided the lodgings and equipment and then turned the project over to the artists, who in return, give a percentage of their summer's intake back to make the project self-sufficient.

Of his project, Director Gordon declared, "It is inspiring to have this new colony here in New Hampshire, and there couldn't be a more logical spot for an art center than this peaceful and scenic countryside with its natural offerings of beauty to the artist."

Commuter Snags Train But Can't Hold It

EUREKA, Calif.—Loafers around the railroad station here tell this for the truth. Seems the station agent heard a loud crash on the platform. He ran out and saw the rear end of a train disappearing around a curve. A disheveled gent lay prone on the ground, surrounded by the contents of his banged-up suitcases.

An owlish youngster stared at the gent, but made no effort to assist him. "Was he trying to catch the train?" the station agent asked the youngster.

"He did catch it," replied the youngster, "but it got away."

Altho Texas ranks 9th among all the states in hog production, the production falls far short of supplying the pork consumed by the state's growing population.

Alcan Highway Travel Called Heaviest Yet

FAIRBANKS—Still another wilderness is falling before the modern motor vehicle. The Canadian government reports that traffic over the 1,520-mile Alaska highway is at least double that for 1951. The tourist is beginning to crowd the wolf and ptarmigan for room.

A lasting monument to the genius of the American army engineers who built it in record time, the "Alcan," as they called it then, winds through some of the finest fish and game country in North America. It traverses the Peace River farming plains, skirts blue lakes and majestic mountain ranges, visits picturesque Indian villages and crosses swift streams of purest water.

Part Gravel, Part Macadam

The Canadian terminus of the part gravel, part macadam, 26-foot-wide roadway is at Dawson Creek, the American at Fairbanks, Alaska. Best way to reach the Dawson Creek jumping-off-place by car is from Prince George, B.C., over a new highway. The old trail was a substandard road from Edmonton, Alberta.

The United States maintained the entire highway until 1946, when Canada took over administration of its 1,220-mile share. Until 1948, the Canadians wisely refrained from issuing travel permits indiscriminately, fearful lest some come to grief miles from help.

Now wooden fills over quaking muskog have been replaced with steel and concrete. New bridges are constantly being built. Filling stations and hostleries plentifully dot the route. Highway patrols prowl constantly.

No longer is a travel permit required, and a motor trip to Alaska is a safe, simple possibility for anyone with a good car and a respectable vacation budget.

Home of Indians, Aleuts

Before the Gold Rush of 1898, Alaska was populated largely by Indians and Aleuts. Visitors from the outside were fur trappers, hunters and fishermen. When Secretary of State William H. Seward bought the territory from Russia in 1867 for $7,200,000, many Americans thought the price too high and called the new possession "Seward's Folly," or "590,000 square miles of icebergs and polar bears."

REVELLE

Town Gabriel Wakes Village Every Morning

BAKTER, Tenn.—This Tennessee town offers little opportunity for alarm clock salesmen. It has its own alarm clock in the person of Charlie Hughes, bugler, who awakens residents around here each morning at 4:30 with Reveille and "Barbara Allen." He climbs to the top of a sawed-off telephone pole and turns loose on the bugle, even before the neighborhood roosters wake up to begin crowing.

With the town of Baxter (pop. 858) officially awakened, Charlie climbs down, walks to the house and puts the bugle back in the cardboard box.

Daily Routine

That's Charlie Hughes' daily routine, and he's been following it for 28 years.

Time was when Charlie did his bugling at 5:30 a.m. But since he got a job as mail handler at the post office, he's been sounding off exactly at 4:30, half an hour before he reports to work.

What started Charlie bugling? "It all happened about 'eighteen-and-ninety-eight,'" Charlie recalls. "It was back in Denton when I was 10 or 11. There was a bugler goin' along the road blowin' his bugle to let the ladies know he was comin' by with groceries.

"I just stood there a-listenin'. Oh, I sure liked the sound of it. I sort of fell in love with the bugle.

"When I asked Dad to get me one, he just laughed. There wasn't any bugles around in those days, but I kept thinkin' about the idea for years."

Dream Comes True

Finally, in 1924, Charlie's dream came true. He saw a bugle advertised in a mail order catalogue. Price: $2.98.

Charlie took the plunge. The bugle arrived on March 15, "nineteen-and-twenty-four." Through the years Charlie has commemorated this fateful date by blowing "a little extra" each March 15. He also blows a little extra on July 4.

"If you want to blow every morning, go right ahead," is what most people say.

He bakes his own corn bread—won't eat "store bought," and won't drink anything but spring water. He eats a black walnut every day because "it's good for a body's stomach."

Charlie lives frugally and everybody agrees "Charlie ain't a spendin' man."

Homemakers often need to change habits in order to get the maximum efficiency from labor saving equipment.

URSA MAJOR

Biggest Bears Are Found Near Iowa Town

MARQUETTE, Iowa—The oldest, largest and most harmless bears in the world reside in north-east Iowa.

These venerable and innocuous ursine giants march high in the hills which overlook the Mississippi north of Marquette. They may be seen by visiting Iowa's only national monument, Effigy Mounds.

Great Bear

Great Bear Mound, largest of the effigies, is 140 feet long, five feet high and 70 feet wide at the shoulders. It is one of the Yellow river group at the north end of the monument. Yellow river mounds have been cleared of underbrush and hiking trails have been built.

A smaller bear mound in the same area has been outlined with gravel to aid the viewer's eye in following the lines of the effigies. Effigy Mounds is one of mid-America's richest archeological treasures. A great deal has been learned about the stone age culture of the mound builders through study of pottery and implements found near the mounds.

A recent discovery which caused quite a stir among Iowa archeologists was the finding by national park service authorities that not one, but two separate tribal groups simultaneously built mounds in the monument area.

Sacred Ground

This has led scholars to believe that the area was a sacred burial ground set aside for all mound building peoples in the section. Apparently all the mounds were burial places.

South of the Yellow river inside the monument is a second large group of mounds called the Pleasant Ridge group. All of the bird mounds are in this group. However, these mounds have not as yet been cleared and the trails to them are considerably rougher.

Facilities at the monument are still temporary. A resident superintendent and an archeologist are on the scene to explain the mounds to visitors, but permanent quarters for national park service custodians have not been built but more are planned in the near future.

Cotton Babies Throng In Goldsmith, Ind.

GOLDSMITH, Ind.—Dr. S. M. Cotton was given a big day recently in this town of 300 population. He celebrated his 50th year as a "country doctor" with the aid of more than 3,000 persons.

Fifteen hundred of the celebrators wore cards on their lapels proudly proclaiming "I Am a Cotton Baby."

The slender, blue-eyed doctor thought he must have delivered "between four and five thousand" babies. Tipton county records show Cotton's name on 4,467 birth certificates.

Cotton was honored at a big dinner in the Methodist Church. Afterwards, the Jefferson Township band led a parade down Main St. to the Old Settlers' Grounds, where the doctor, his sandy hair shot with gray, presided over a picnic.

Macao Oldest West Outpost In Far East

MACAO—Macao, tiny but teeming port on the South China coast where fatal skirmishing between Chinese Communist troops and the Portuguese colony's small garrison has occurred, is the oldest European outpost in the Far East. It was the first haven in all the China seas for Western mariners trading with the hostile Orient.

In their golden era of glory as discoverers of exotic lands, Portuguese navigators extended the Cape of Good Hope passage blazed to India by Vasco da Gama, and came upon Macao, a peninsula at the mouth of the Canton River. The place where they landed is some thirty-five miles from the more recent British colony of Hong Kong.

Portuguese Since 1557

They settled upon approximately three square miles of the Peninsula about 1557. The red, green, and gold banner of Portugal has waved from its heights ever since. Sometimes the Portuguese have had to fight to hold their rich China trading post, as when the Dutch five times attacked it in the seventeenth century, but more often they have persevered through strict neutrality.

Present population of the colony is something over 300,000 people, the great majority of them Chinese. Thousands of picturesque junkies, many now equipped with auxiliary engines, use the harbor of this second largest fishing port of China. In addition to fish, major exports are firecrackers and incense, beloved of the Chinese.

As good sailors, and as trustees for the West, the Portuguese in 1864 built the Guia beacon on Macao, first to light the China Sea. Even while sending their own Jesuit missionaries into the Orient, they gave haven to the Protestant missionary Robert Morrison, who translated the New Testament into Chinese and whose six-volume Chinese-English dictionary unlocked the treasures of Chinese literature.

They allowed the English to build a cemetery, "God's Acre," on Macao. Here Morrison lies buried, and also American clipper ship crewmen and British "hearts of oak" seafarers who died in the hard China trade.

Portuguese have built on Macao charming homes of pastel hues reminiscent of Mediterranean architecture.

Note-in-Bottle Love Affair Dies in Cork

CORK, Ireland—The breathlessly awaited love affair between the Irish milkmaid and the American pen pal she found in a bottle is not to be.

Breda O'Sullivan, 24, told reporters: "There is no romance, and there will be no wedding." "That's right," agreed Frank Hayostak, the 27 year old arc welder of Johnstown, Pa.

He started the whole business when he tossed a bottle with his address in it from a ship taking him across the Atlantic in 1945 as a homeward bound GI. She plucked the note off the beach, and they started to correspond.

Recently he flew from America to meet her. The visited Blarney castle to kiss the famed Blarney stone, as all tourists must. The stone is supposed to impart to those whose lips touch it the gift of moving eloquence.

Redcoats

March Upon Village

SCHUYLERVILLE, N.Y.—A week-long celebration marked the 175th anniversary of the Battle of Saratoga, fought on the site of this village, 11 miles east of Saratoga Springs.

The British opened the campaign of 1777 by seeking to isolate New England through occupying the Hudson Valley. Lord Burgoyne was to come down from Canada through Lake Champlain and Lake George, meeting Lord Howe, who was to march from New York, at Albany.

The plan went awry. Lord Howe marched to Philadelphia. Lord Burgoyne reached Ticonderoga by July 1, but suffered heavy losses. After a series of defeats inflicted by Gen. Benedict Arnold, the British surrendered to General Gates at Old Saratoga, now Schuylerville, on Oct. 17.

Heir Shoots Up Town With Cap Pistols

BRIGANTINE, N.J.—Heir to the Heinz pickle fortune, John LaPorte Given, Jr., was given the heave-ho by this New Jersey town recently for shooting cap pistols.

Given was ordered by Magistrate Robert Peacock either to leave Brigantine or go to jail on a disorderly conduct charge brought by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Born, the defendant's neighbors.

The Borns said Mr. Given had been invited to their home to take pictures of their daughter's birthday celebration. An argument started, they testified, and he went home, got five toy pistols, loaded them with blanks and shot them off around the Born home. He was accused also of using abusive language.

Given left town just five minutes before the deadline. Before leaving, he expressed some complimentary remarks about the town's hospitality.

Mr. Given said he was the grandson of the late H. J. Heinz, and was an heir to some $23,000,000 left by the pickle magnate. A spokesman for the concern said Mr. Given took no part in operating the company.

Private Kremlin Line Is Joke in Hungary

BUDAPEST—The following story is making the rounds in Hungary:

A friend of the premier entered the office of the Red leader. He noticed there a strange looking telephone, with only the listening gear, while the speaking end is absent.

"What a strange telephone!" he exclaimed.

"Oh, that! That's our private line to the Kremlin," the prime minister explained.

Piedmont Police Have File on Each Citizen
 PIEDMONT, Calif.—The police department here has a master file of all occurrences in the town. If somebody joins the Rotary club or a maid quits in a huff, the police enter the events in their file. If someone returns from vacation a day early, the police are likely to pay a call to be sure that the home owners are the ones in the house and not some intruders or burglars. It seems the Piedmont police have a dossier on everyone in town.

The police are popular with Piedmont residents, because the officers use the information they compile upon these residents to help them. As Police Chief William V.
 Pfau says, "We like to know our people so we can serve them better."

The plan works, even to having the cops perform the most trivial services. Once the police were called upon to break into a woman's house and turn her electric iron off. She had left home so quickly that she had forgotten it.

Another time the police were notified that a citizen's roof was leaking. They rushed out with a huge tarpaulin and covered the faulty roof. They are called upon often to perform minor housebreaking jobs—somebody is always losing his key and the police know how to jimmy windows and solve locks without damaging the property too much.

Piedmont, picturesque as a town on the Italian Riviera, clings to a steep hillside overlooking San Francisco Bay. Its citizens, delighted with their police department, gladly foot the bill for an 18-man force—about double that of most cities in Piedmont's small population class.

Bataan 'Death March' Called Merciful by Jap

TOKYO—A former Japanese general, who commanded a division in Bataan, contended recently that the march of American prisoners from Bataan to San Fernando in 1942, during which thousands of Americans died, actually was a Japanese act of mercy.
 The fact that it became known as the "Bataan Death March" was "a victory for American propaganda," Lieut. Gen. Susumu Forioka said.
 His version of the "death march" was told in the Japanese magazine Hanashi.
 The Japanese army, General Morioka said, was short of food for its own men, as well as for the prisoners.
 "If we had left them where they were, 80,000 Americans and 45,000 Japanese soldiers would have starved together.
 "To make a forced march of 45 miles is normal with the Japanese army. We did it often with full arms. That is why it was surprising to us that they called this an atrocity."

Coffee 'Sneak' Becomes
 'Break' in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES—The first municipal recognition of man's inalienable right to drink a cup of coffee during working hours on the bosses' time is working out fine for both the City of Los Angeles and its 15,000 employees, according to Samuel Leask, Jr., administrative officer.
 Los Angeles became the first U.S. city to legalize coffee breaks for municipal workers when it passed an ordinance authorizing employees to take 15 minutes each morning and afternoon at no loss of pay or time to themselves. Previously, city workers had been permitted to take such breaks but the time was deducted from their lunch periods when—and if—employees reported it.

According to Leask, replacement of the coffee "sneak" with the regulated coffee break has been a decided "plus" operation for the city.

"The purpose of making the coffee breaks legal and regulated was to increase work output and thus promote efficiency and economy in the conduct of city business," he said. "After several months of observation, it certainly seems to be working out that way.

"Just like the coffee break in offices and factories, our city rest periods have ended time-wasting 'sneak outs' and other abuses which were costly to taxpayers."

If crookedness and thievery continue, the life insurance companies had better be selling fire insurance policies to some people,

Jako, the Parrot, Identifies Self

BERLIN—Jako, a 40-year-old parrot that disappeared when his master was arrested by the Russians in 1945, has returned to the restaurant of the Kaiser Wilhelm tower.

Jako picked up phrases that it should not have listened to. Among those were the regular scoldings that Rita, the master's dog, received. Jako would sometimes add to its morning greetings, "Pful, Rita, aren't you ashamed of yourself?"

Max Mueller was released by the Russians in 1946 and reopened his restaurant. He missed Jako and decided to get another parrot, but did not like the birds that were offered.

Recently an American woman advertised a parrot that spoke 90 words. Mrs. Mueller went to look at the bird. It was in a bad mood and refused to speak. Mrs. Mueller did not recognize the parrot as Jako. She said, "No, I think I don't want him." Suddenly the parrot turned around and shouted at her, "Pful, Rita, aren't you ashamed of yourself?"
