Christmas Trees Source of Income

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 20.—Christmas trees have become a 10-million dollar industry in the United States, according to C. W. Simmons, farm forester for the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, who points out that the Texas Christmas tree market may be a source of additional income to owners of farm timber. Cutting of Christmas trees on a commercial basis should be done primarily to improve the condition of the remaining trees, he says. Pines, eastern red cedar, yuccas, and liveoaks are among the Texas trees suitable for Christmas use.

BOWLING LEAGUE

Smashing down the pins when it counted most, the rampant Blocker aggregation of bowlers rammed two defeats down the throats of the league-leading Whitsett druggists Tuesday night. "Rammed" is stating it mildly.

The druggists salvaged one game out of the three sets, but to the gloe of those teams which have trailed since the season started, were not so far ahead that any shouting could be heard.

For the edification of anyone interested, and not because the Whitsett team asked that they be printed below are the results:

Game Reserves Are Being Set

AUSTIN.—Game restoration in Texas was given added impetus this week with the announcement that a fourth Pittman-Robertson project has been approved by the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey and the State Game Department will proceed immediately with the leasing of five large areas upon which turkey and deer will be raised. Acreage in the new project totals 115,000.

Five game areas are to be set up in as many localities in the state, the executive secretary of the Game Department announced, and under the supervision of the director of wildlife restoration turkey and deer will be planted where necessary. Caretakers will patrol at least three of the areas. Two are being set up for turkey restoration, a pair for turkey and deer and one for deer only.

The areas: 20,000 acres in Angelina and Polk counties for turkey restoration only; 35,000 acres in Robertson county for deer and turkey; 14,000 acres in Colorado county for turkey only; 20,000 acres in Calhoun county for deer and turkey and 25,000 acres in Red River county for deer only.

The various areas are to be leased by the Game Department. From 50 to 70 turkey will be released on each of the areas set up for them and from 40 to 50 deer will be placed on each of the sections set aside for the restoration of white tails.

The caretakers on each of the areas will not only patrol them to prevent hunting of the seed stock, but will also improve the cover and food supply for both deer and turkey.

Hunting will not be allowed on any of the areas for several years while the seed stock is populating them. It is believed that not only will the areas under lease be restocked, but that as much as 100,000 acres surrounding each of them will receive the overflow of game, making more than a half million acres to be benefited by the program.

The Angelina-Polk project is intended to save the pure strain of eastern wild turkey left in the State. No other birds will be planted there. Colorado county has plenty of deer, but needs turkey. Deer and turkey will be trapped by the Game Department in areas where they are more plentiful.

The project is being financed with the aid of federal funds, which the Game Department matches with one-fourth as much money as is allotted under the terms of the Pittman-Robertson Act. Other Pittman-Robertson projects being conducted by the Game Department are State-wide quail restoration, antelope trapping, and a project under which State-wide research as to the needs of wildlife in the State is being carried on.

Freaks continue to show up in Texas woods and fields. Ed Brown, recently killed a white crow. Gerald Liberty of Big Spring killed an albino deer early in the season. John Nunn of the State Highway Patrol possesses a black prairie dog which he shot recently.

Van A. Hamilton, Palestine newspaperman, has no love for alligators. He recently shot two ducks over a lake near Palestine. Before he could reach the birds an alligator scooped one of the ducks into its mouth and disappeared. Hamilton was able to retrieve the other one.

Typical Indian Grave Reproduced at West Texas Museum

LUBBOCK.—An Indian grave typical of the Plains region has been reproduced at West Texas Museum, using a thirty-five year old male skeleton found in 1933 near Lamesa by OCC boys. Associated with the burial were two elk horn scrapers with metal cutting edges, ten brass bracelets, a handful of trade beads, a metal spoon, two brass rings and an iron pipe that may have been used as a pistol barrel. A few fragments of rotting leather was all that remained of his clothing. The skeleton has been articulated, repaired and put into the original flexed or embryonic position in which it was found. Metal objects and trade beads indicate that the burial is recent, probably not more than 50 or 75 years ago. All skeletons found in the clubhouse ruins in the Northern Pan-

Tech Students Have Varied Occupations

LUBBOCK.—Every man is his own weather prophet, but few get paid for it. Or so Bill Fuller, sophomore engineer at Texas Tech, thinks. He earns enough to pay for his room, board, clothing, haircuts, and amusement by observing weather at the Lubbock municipal airport when not in class.

Other oddities on the full employment list for men students are those of training horses, grooving trees, painting street lights, setting pins in a bowling alley, and sampling cotton.

Most usual means of part-time support among Tech's 811 working men students is common labor. Waiting tables, clerical work, 'jerking soda,' and acting as bell hops are also means of making school expenses. Eight butchers, eight bakers, six cooks, 22 newspaper employes, and 11 orchestra members are also included in the list.

A total of 195 men students receive aid from the National Youth Administration fund. The college employs 340 others.

handle are flexed and usually are placed with their faces to the east, said Museum authorities. Average salary per month for all working men students is $19.80, average hourly wage, 32.77 cents. Each works an average of 3.5 hours per day.

Recruit Sits Out Leave And It Lasts All Night

REGINA, SASK.—The disconsolate figure of a young recruit, sitting on a curb with his face cupped in hands, aroused the interest of the policeman on the beat. Half an hour later the constable returned. The young soldier was still sitting in the same position.

"Thinking the youth might be ill, the constable inquired if anything was wrong.

"No, I'm all right," the recruit said. "I just got all-night leave."
