Streets Here Are Being Reworked

Working and complete regrading under the supervision of Doak, city councilman. Huge tractors are being used. Where necessary, the streets are widened, and dirt banked in the center. Deeper ditches permit water drainage where it has stood for several days. Sections of the city's streets became impassible during the rains. Cars became stuck and holes were made deeper. Work being done now should do with such traps, so city officials believe.

Cotton 'Warehouse' Will Be Erected By Arch Underwood

Six Acres Land Purchased Across From RR Station

Erection of a cotton "warehouse" in O'Donnell across from the Santa Fe railway station by Archie Underwood of Lubbock is assured, according to local sources considered reliable.

Purchase of six acres of land from T. R. Tune is part of the transaction, and workmen are already at work on the ground. Preparations are also being made to run a spur-line track.

No statement could be secured late Wednesday night (before press time) from Mr. Underwood, who was given by all as the authority to question.

E. R. Edwards, manager of the Union Compress in Tahoka, was questioned, but could give no particulars for publication, and referred such questions to Mr. Underwood.

Asked whether it was true that a cotton compress would also be erected, Edwards said he had not been informed.

"It is certain, however, that a cotton warehouse will be erected in O'Donnell, but to what extent work will be done, I cannot say," he said.

Underwood built the Tahoka compress about one year ago, and the business has shown a rapid increase.

That O'Donnell is a logical site for a cotton compress has been believed by many persons for years, due to its location in one of the largest cotton growing areas in West Texas. Not only does O'Donnell serve the south part of Lynn county east and west, but covers a wide portion of North Dawson and Borden counties.

AAA Checks Are Expected Soon

TAHOKA, Nov. 26 (Special)—Acting AAA Secretary Clinton Walker says that he expects the soil conservation checks to begin coming in soon after the first of December, certainly before Christmas. None have been received as yet.

Parity checks for the year 1941 in the aggregate sum of $370,717.99 have already been received and distributed among the farmers. These checks represent 1475 farms. Mr. Walker estimates that about 89 per cent of the parity payments have been received.

Negro Given 99 Years In Pen For Lubbock Assault

A sentence of 99 years was handed down by Judge David A. Blair, 72nd judicial district court, Tuesday against Oscar Beachem, 37-year old negro who was charged with assault to kill and robbery of Oran Wilson Jr. at Lubbock.

The negro's attorney, appointed by the court, filed notice of appeal.

The negro's attempt on the life of Wilson occurred several weeks ago when the young man was with Miss Yvonne Westmoreland of O'Donnell, a student at Texas Tech. Miss Westmoreland fled for help, and the negro was apprehended soon after by officers.

Two Ladies Teams Bowl Friday Nite

Prepare, you bowling enthusiasts for competition that is competition—two ladies' teams will tangle Friday night! That is news because it's the first time such an event has taken place in O'Donnell.

Mrs. Frank Liddell's five will meet a team corraled by Shorty Wright, so announces Guy Thompson, alleys manager, and the games are to start promptly at 8 o'clock. Visitors, especially women, are invited.

In men's competition, team changes just "ain't". The high-ridding Motor Parts kegglers still continue on their winning ways, gradually pulling away from other teams, while the so-called others mess each other's standings up. All but the Whitsett five which still cannot find winning combinations, although sporting some of the best bowlers in town.

Monday night, the Motor Parts grabbed another three-game set from Whitsett, for the third straight time, while on Tuesday night the Corner Drug clung tenaciously to second place by beating Cicero Smith two out of three.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

By Edward C. Wayne

Strike Situation and Japanese Crisis Prove Washington's Toughest Problems; Winter Closes In on Eastern Front As Russia Reports Taking Offensive

EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

STRIKES:

At Showdown

Congressional passage of the Neutrality act changes was a victory for the administration in that President Roosevelt stood his ground on his labor position, declining to meet a growing demand for legislation outlawing strikes, and laws setting a ceiling on wages.

Yet the narrow margin in the house (20 votes) also was considered a severe rebuke to the President for his attitude, and there were signs in the press and in congress that legislators, and editors were getting ready to kick over the traces.

Crucial situations had faced the President, both over the strikes in captive coal mines owned by steel companies, largely occupied in defense work, and in the threatened railroad strike.

There had been little evidence that the White House was getting anywhere in either struggle, though the President had made manful efforts to dissuade John L. Lewis and his U.M.W. from going overboard.

It was this situation more than any other which had caused the defection of many administration supporters during the Neutrality act voting.

The President made manful efforts.

The "closed shop" issue in the mine strike, never very popular in circles not closely allied with labor unions, caused the outburst of anti-strike feeling to be particularly severe.

RUSSIANS:

On Warpath

Long on the defensive, and having lost many thousands of square miles of territory, Russia had assumed the offensive all along the vast front. Moscow was reporting considerable success against the Nazis, and reported that the Germans had been suffering from frostbite, that they were exhausted and discouraged, but admitted that back of the front there were evidences that another offensive was being formed.

Those who believed Hitler would order any withdrawal because of the weather were having to revise their opinions. The Russian drive against the Germans was meeting with the same rugged resistance the Reds themselves had offered against the Nazis.

Successes were reported in the far north, where Kubyshev dispatches declared 20 German transports had been sunk in what was to have been a major invasion attempt in the Murmansk sector.

Also 2,500 Italians had been reported "eliminated" in the Crimean sector, and victories also were claimed by Russia in the Donets basin area.

The Finns were being hurled back in front of Leningrad, and the general Russian tone was one of confidence, yet watchfulness, the latter being stressed because Red headquarters figured the Germans still had at least one more huge attack up their sleeves.

VICHY:

To Join Hitler

Hardly unexpected at this time, and with the hostage-shooting matter being what it was, had come the report that Vichy was planning to "go the whole hog" and throw in with Hitler's "new order."

It had been known for a long time where the sympathies of Darlan and Laval had been, but Petain was supposed to have been more or less on the fence.

History one day might recount, observers felt, that there was some strange and mysterious connection between the fatal plane crash which killed General Hutziger and the decision to join the Axis.

Hutziger, minister of war, had just been to Africa, presumably conferring with Mystery Man Weygand and was on his way back home to a momentous meeting of the government when his plane fell and he was killed.

Many wondered what bearing this would have on the situation in Nazi-Vichy relations.

KURUSU:

Last Try?

Most observers of the situation in the Pacific believed that with the arrival of Saburo Kurusu in Washington the last stage of the difficult effort of Japan and the United States to avoid war had been reached.

During his plane trip to this country there had been little of encouraging press comment, and the state department had again and again repeated its gloomy outlook.

Officials of the cabinet, particularly Secretary Knox of the Navy, had expressed this same view of depression over any chance of a peaceful settlement.

SABURO KURUSU

Still Kurusu had arrived, had been greeted with smiles by American diplomats, and the conversations were on.

Basic difficulty of solving an equation where Japan was at war with China and both Britain and America had declared this war an act of aggression and had been giving and promising aid to China was openly apparent.

Japan was urging the United States:

"Leave us alone in China!"

The United States was demanding of Japan:

"You let China alone!"

These points were poles apart.

ARK ROYAL:

Finally Sunk

Most famous of the British aircraft carriers, Ark Royal, sunk several times according to Berlin dispatches, finally has been sent to the bottom, and it was London, not Berlin, which announced it.

It sank 25 miles off Gibraltar, while in tow of other warships after a U-boat had torn a terrific hole in her side. Pumps were unavailing to repair the damage, and practically all of the 1,600 aboard her had been removed save just enough men to handle the towing lines.

Finally, when she was nearing shallow water at last, she suddenly turned over on her side like a "tired child" and went to the bottom. Only one man of her crew was reported lost.

It was regarded as probable that many of her planes had been able to fly ashore and make port. Thus went to the bottom of the Mediterranean the third aircraft carrier Britain had lost, the largest and newest, launched in 1939, of 22,000 tons.

TURKEY:

An Offer

Axis sources were reported to have made Turkey an offer of Thrace as a last inducement to get the Turks to join the triple alliance.

The sudden interest in Turkey or the part of Germany, as borne out in reports from both Berlin and Bern was rather a puzzle to some while others saw in it the possibility that Germany might, now that she was somewhat bogged down in Russia, be seeking a Turkish route to Russian oil wells.

Three possibilities were seen—that Turkey had already decided to throw in with the Axis—that increased pressure would be brought to bear on Turkey (in line with Bern's view of the situation) and third, that Germany might be satisfied to have Turkey neutral and aloof but fearing that American and British pressure from the south might turn her from her neutral course to a pro-British stand.

LIFE:

A picture of what life was like in Serbia following the collapse of resistance against the southward plunge of the Nazi war machine was painted by the refugee Yugoslav government.

Reports reaching it were that about 8,100 hostages, including intellectuals, priests and students, had been executed in three villages.

The executions had been maintained, said Premier General Simovic, had been carried out at the rate of 100 to 1, in retaliation.

Our Sky Fighters in the Pacific

Looking something like a football cheer leader, a signal officer aboard a U. S. navy aircraft carrier in the Pacific gives the "go" sign to a fighter plane (at right) about to take off from the flight deck. Photo at left was made from a plane which had just left the flight deck of an unnamed U. S. aircraft carrier some where in the Pacific. It gives you a bow-on view of the floating airdrome.

'Somewhere on the Eastern Front'

An ammunition dump in a forest somewhere behind the German lines in Russia is shown in lower picture. Men are stacking giant aerial bombs near a bomber base, whence Nazi planes go out to blast Russian positions. Above: Long lines of Russian war prisoners, carrying their worldly possessions in a sack, are being marched to an internment camp somewhere on the eastern front by the Nazi army.

Coal for Strike-Bound Yale

Picket at gates of powerhouse of Yale university, New Haven, Conn., moves aside when truckload of coal arrives for the strike-bound university. Maintenance employees at the university struck an hour before the state board of mediation was scheduled to meet with the C.I.O. to discuss settlement of union shop dispute. Inset: Phillip Murray, C.I.O. president who, on the same day resigned from the national defense mediation board because of an opinion rendered on "captive" coal mines of the bituminous coal industry.

'Plaything'

The German caption says that these are Russian children playing about the remains of a Red army bombing plane, shot down somewhere in occupied territory. The red star, Soviet insignia, may be seen on the fuselage. What strange "playthings" war has brought to children!

Giant Flying Ship Nears Completion

First of a fleet of giant four-engined flying ships built for American export airlines, non-stop Transatlantic air service, nearing completion at Vought-Sikorsky aircraft, Stratford, Conn. The planes have a top speed of 235 miles per hour and a maximum non-stop range in excess of 6,000 miles and accommodations for forty passengers.

Notes of an Innocent Bystander:

From James W. Barrett's book on Joseph Pulitzer, the great newspaper publisher: "A journalist in JP's (Pulitzer) conception, is a statesman as well as a writer... The basis of it was something more profound than persistent curiosity about people and things. JP, of course, was the most incorrigible busybody of his day and age. His habit of asking questions about everything under the sun and demanding accurate as well as immediate answers was an amusing and often annoying trait, but it was only a mechanism through which an eager, prehensile mind was kept supplied with working material. He had an objective which he refused to put aside. As long as he lived, he wanted to inform and mold public opinion—not just for the sake of profits, but for the sake of progress in the direction where he thought America ought to be heading."

Our Incurable Busybody Dep't.: Doesn't Army Intelligence think that Great Britain has a severe case of brass-hat poisoning? ... Aren't the members of the Supreme Court row all pulling one way—at each other's hair? ... Did you know that the President changed the nickname for Morgenthau to "Six Per Cent Henry"? ... What two Cabinet officers are suffering from make-up poisoning? (Their friends make up the stories, and they do the poisoning). ... What invention can drop a sandbag down a chimney at 20,000 feet? And what Sec'y of War would like to do it to what Washington columnist?

Why do the Supreme Court Justices call their edifice "the Mausoleum" when it isn't that lively? ... Hasn't photography helped the British censors more than it has Hollywood? Wouldn't this be an aid to Britain: To mail the photostats to your friends and let His Majesty's gov't keep the originals? ... What Canadian official, who believes the war can be won by lowering wages, will shortly be elevated by a kick in the tail light?

What size tank is giving the Generals a bigger headache than the Privates who steer them? ... What Ambassador turned in an honest day's work recently? ... For what Cabinet post are there more volunteers than for the Marine Corps? And which Sec'y of State is vastly amused? ... Isn't it true that Jesse Jones loaned his brother $1.50? Any-way, isn't Jesse wearing his brother's gold watch? ... Don't they call Sec'y Ickes "personality plus" since his secretary said good morning to him? ... Who defined a liberal as a guy who will forgive anything but a contribution to his campaign? ... Aren't the officers of the Pacific Fleet split squarely on the question of whether it will take three weeks or a month to "solve" the Jap navy? ... What prominent Britishers have the jitters since the Gov't's inquiry into foreign-owned bonds. The only thing in which Noel Coward was small fry ... And isn't it true that certain self-called Americans brag about their ancestors landing on Plymouth Rock—and act as though they had just crawled from under it?

Man About Town: Memos of a Midnighter: Fishermen have told authorities that they've actually seen U-boats off the New England coast ... That lovely Red Cross nurse in those new posters (she's marching with four men of the armed forces) is Hazel French of the Powers Pretty-Pretty Plantation. Hazel won the nod over all the models who wanted the assignment because of her beautiful brown orbs ... So what happened? The artist painted her eyes blue ... There have been five new ditties with the title of Zanuck's hit, all ending with: "How green was my valley—how blue was my heart."

That's going to be quite a scandal over the refugee racket, dearie ... It'll involve naturalization and immigration high jinks which have a pretty terrible stench. It'll wreck some prominent politicians ... Are the authorities following up the sensational charges about the Metropolitan's new star, a woman? Allegedly quite friendly with Quisling, Goering, et al ... How good's that talk about Marshall Field bidding for the Times and Post after his Chicago paper is launched? ... Anything to the rumor about his PM pricing ads, changing its format and taking a 3c?

Chicagorillas, who were imported into Philly and N. Y. years ago to help in circulation wars—are now being recruited for action in Chicago—in case, etc. ... Add comical ironies: A B'way guy who pulled almost every major sin on the statutes, and never served a single day—is now in the Bastille for getting caught in a floating crap game! ... The colyum certainly hopes that Japan will select as her friend the Fleet-minded American Navy, instead of the fleet-footed Italian Army.

 Of particular interest this week was the betrothal announcement of Miss Freddie Marie Worley of Lubbock and Burl Koeninger. Mrs. L. E. Worley of Canadian and Mrs. Gracie W. Bownds gave candlelight tea Sunday afternoon to announce the engagement of their daughter and sister, Miss Worley, to Mr. H. Koeninger of O'Donnell. INSTALLMENT THIRTEEN By JOSEPH McCORD WNU Service

THE STORY SO FAR: Larry Cutter started pretty Jacqueline (Jack) Anthony, public stenographer at the Hotel Raynear, by telling her she can realize her globe-trotting ambitions by marrying him. Before their marriage, they signed a contract providing that Jacqueline may continue her present mode of living for six months, after which she could tear up the contract. Jacqueline warned Larry that a detective was watching him. When her father, Vince

Anthony, became ill Larry invited him into the country to live. A week later Jacqueline accompanied Larry to see Vince at the farm. She was shocked when he said Larry loved her. Now continue with the story.

Jacqueline marveled at her own composure. She didn't at all like the way Vince said that. It was impossible not to fear that he knew more than he admitted. . . . that he knew everything. But she must hide it . . . until she knew for sure.

not lived up to the letter of our official agreement." "What do you mean by that?" "There was a clause in it . . . number four, if my memory serves me. You didn't like it and I appreciated how you felt. But you did sign the agreement as it stood. What have you to say about that?"

Almost at once, his eyes encountered a woman sitting by herself on a small settee, one arm resting on the marble balcony rail, apparently studying the busy lobby below. She was modestly attired in black. A small hat of the same shade was perched jauntily on her decidedly blonde head. Rather noticeably made up, he decided. But attractive.

"He's one in a thousand. Ten thousand!" Vince was enthusiastic. "You don't need to know him long to find that out."

Jacqueline swallowed a sob and blinked rapidly to keep back the tears. Never had she felt so thoroughly humiliated, so . . .

He approached her slowly. "Miss Morris?" She turned with a start, her red lips parting in a friendly smile. "It's Mr. Cutter, isn't it?"

"Indeed he will not!" Jacqueline straightened her small shoulders with a righteous air. But she collapsed rather completely, color coming back into her cheeks at the sight of Larry strolling toward her leisurely.

"Jack!" Larry's voice had changed suddenly. There was a note of tenderness in it she never had heard. "We're not going to quarrel, dear. Look at me."

"Very well. And, since you are here, we may as well talk. First of all, have you had any luck?" "Not a bit, I'm sorry to say. I haven't overlooked any bets so far."

Vince nodded understandingly. It did not escape him, however, that Jacqueline had forgotten to say "Mr. Cutter."

"Rather. I thought I was on the scent the other day. It was a wall safe. Looked promising. It's an old-timer and I didn't have much trouble getting into it."

"I think so. I'm looking forward to coming up here and spending some time . . . help your father keep out of mischief. You really should arrange to take your own vacation up here. That dinner was just a fair sample of what goes on here every day. Wasn't it, Vince?"

"They told me out in Chicago that you could deliver the goods."

"You certainly had a lucky break when you landed that job as secretary," Larry told Miss Morris.

"But I have to work," she ventured smilingly. "And I think we should be starting back to the city before so very long . . . before it gets dark."

suppose there is no great wrong in doing it again. I'm not sure when I will see you again . . . or how."

"I merely suggested that he needed a secretary," she explained. The idea was a new one to him, but . . . Well, I'm good in my own line."

"Whenever you say. The days are long now . . . but there will be no moon tonight. Unless it's very late."

"You don't care how you spend your money, do you?"

"I've been afraid that you would draw a blank. I've been making some plans of my own. I think I'll sit in the game. Maybe two heads will be better than one."

"After some desultory conversation, Jacqueline again mentioned the desirability of starting for the city. Larry rose to his feet at once and said he would get the car ready."

"Not this time," Larry's mouth tightened in a grim line. "I've waited a long time for this chance. I expect to recoup before I'm through."

"I've been followed here. Got a tip not long ago . . . Checked up on it."

"After bidding the group good-by, and with a lingering kiss pressed on Vince's cheek, Jacqueline allowed Larry to assist her into the roadster. She promised brightly that she would come back again some day."

"Local cops?" "Yes. That's why I wasn't so anxious to have you meet me here. You can guess who started that."

"They haven't showed their hand yet and I'm going to beat them to it. I'm leaving here tomorrow. I'll see that it's well advertised. After a few weeks . . ."

"The sun was sending its long level rays against the house as the car rolled from the yard."

"I get it."

"That's why I want you to stay on the job. You may get a break. And I may fall flat. If anything happens, you know what to do."

Larry was not inclined to be talkative, for which Jacqueline was thankful. For the first time in their acquaintance she was decidedly ill at ease with him. It was impossible to forget what Vince had told her. Larry had raised a barrier between them. He broke one of their longest silences to remark:

"I'm sorry if I have hurt or offended you, dear. But you do love me. I know it and so do you. You needn't be afraid. I won't forget again."

"The ride to the city was made in silence. When they reached the Courtland street house, all Larry said was, 'May I see you and tell you good-by before I leave?'"

"Just what has friend Vince been saying?"

CHAPTER XI Larrimore Cutter left an elevator at the mezzanine floor of the Raynear and stood for an instant looking about him.

"Same to you." He walked swiftly away. (TO BE CONTINUED)

WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES One day from 10 o'clock until after five, the heads of many women's national organizations met at the Labor Department auditorium. I think it was one of the most interesting that I have ever attended.

STRANGE REPORT A strange report comes to me from New England. It appears that volunteers are reluctant to go to work unless they can do some work which is distinctly a war-time occupation. They do not realize that improving social services in a community is basic defense work. Every time any volunteer takes a course in nutrition or child care, and sees that the community as a whole is better fed, she has done something which will be invaluable if we are attacked, and useful in the future as well.

WAVE OF ECONOMY I received a rather pathetic letter from a woman who runs one of the small specialty shops in New York city. She sells dresses and millinery, and I imagine such things as costume jewelry, bags and accessories of all kinds. She is worried for fear that a wave of economy will sweep over our people and that small businesses such as hers will be ruined.

What The Farmers Must Do To Get AAA Payments

To earn his full 1942 A. A. A. payments, a Lynn county farmer must do three things.

First, he must devote at least 20 per cent of his land to soil conserving crops or land uses exclusively throughout the program year.

Second, he must plan within his acreage allotments.

Third, he must earn his soilbuilding allowance.

These three points were emphasized by Vernon C. Willhoit, chairman of the Lynn County A. A. A. committee, this week.

A farmer falling below 20 per cent minimum requirement will earn only a proportionate share of his cotton, wheat, and peanut payments.

The soil-building allowance may be earned, as in previous years, by carrying out approved soil-building practices, the AAA official explained. Payments for planting within allotments are: Cotton at 1.25 cents per pound; wheat at 10.5 per bushel; and peanuts, 7.25 cents per 100 pounds.

Crops meeting soil-conserving classification include sudan, millet, and annual ryegrass for pasture; seeded cover crops of which a good growth is left on the ground; summer fallowed acreage protected from wind and water erosion; planting forest trees, and Austrian winter peas or vetch grown for seed.

Land uses include approved terraces constructed on idle cropland, and sweet sorghums, oats, rye, sudan or millet cut green for hay, provided a strip one rod wide is left standing between each five-rod strip harvested, Willhoit explained.

A series of educational meetings will be held in the various communities in the near future at which time the 1942 program, Food-Freedom movement, and marketing quota referendum will be explained.

Every farmer in the county is urged to attend at least one of these meetings.

Reasons Given For Cotton Price

Cotton acreage allotments, strengthened by marketing quotas, which made 85 percent of parity loans possible, is the triple reason for increase in the price of cotton this year, according to John C. Key, vice-chairman of the Lynn county AAA committee.

Collapse of foreign markets, a drastic drop of from 6.2 million bales to 1.1 million bales in exports, and enough cotton on hand at the present time to fill an extra year's needs, highlight the cotton situation, he said.

The loss of foreign markets is partially offset by the fact that the domestic consumption of cotton for the 1940-41 season is the highest on record. Consumption was approximately 9.6 million bales, or about 2 million bales above the preceding year, the AAA official said.

Since the export slump is due primarily to naval and war blockades, there is little reason to believe that the export market will increase to any great extent, he declared.

For the fifth consecutive year, cotton farmers of Lynn county will vote in a national cotton marketing quota referendum Saturday, Dec. 13. Voting places, located at strategic places in the county, and names of referendum officials will be announced in a short time, he said.

Last year, Lynn county cotton growers voted 93.6 percent favorably on quotas. Texas farmers approved quotas by 88 percent.

No Silk Worms In United States

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 25—The current shortage of silk brings to mind the fact that Cortez imported silkworms and mulberry seed into Mexico back in 1522. Nothing much came of that.

Attempts have been made to start a silk industry in the United States since the days of the first settlers. The U. S. Department of Agriculture carried on experiments in silk production for some years but discontinued them in 1908 when the venture failed to show promise.

Brazil has some success in producing silk but even there the production is far below domestic needs.

The main barriers to silk production in the United States are the large amount of hand labor required in caring for silkworms and the expense of the reeling process by which the cocoons are unwound and the strands blended to form threads.

Increased use of cotton and of the silk substitutes, such as rayon and nylon, are expected to take the place of silk in the domestic field. So far no substitute has been satisfactory for parachutes and powder bags for large calibre guns.

SEW AND CHATTER CLUB MET

"Five mornings a week, nine months a year, we mothers of Texas get our children ready for school. In our home and a million other Texas homes, that's one of the first and most important duties of a mother's day. Sometimes Dad finds out what a job it is when he has to do it by himself."

All of us want our children to have the best education possible. Most of us look to the public schools for this.

Fortunately, Texas has the best public schools in the South. Helping to build and operate them is the Texas petroleum industry which pays 24 million dollars a year in taxes for school purposes.

These petroleum taxes pay an average of one-fourth the cost of educating our children. Altogether, they meet the entire expense of schooling nearly 400,000 Texas boys and girls.

In addition, oil has contributed substantially to the 70 million dollar permanent school fund. Oil is also responsible for much of the 30 million dollar permanent university fund, which has made possible the expansion of the University of Texas and A. & M. College.

Furthermore, taxes on petroleum products add another 11½ million dollars a year for the schools of our State.

Our children get a better education today because of the Texas petroleum industry.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D., Dean of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for November 30

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

CHRISTIAN LOVE

LESSON TEXT—John 13:34, 35; I Corinthians 13:1-13. GOLDEN TEXT—We love him, because he first loved us.—I John 4:19.

Many important things enlist the interest of the Christian, but we need to beware lest we neglect what Jesus declared to be the first and great commandment—that we love God; and its necessary sequel—that we love our neighbor. If love is forgotten (and who can deny that it often is in our day?), the very foundations are shaken. We need a revival of Christian love.

I. Love—A Mark of Discipleship (John 13:34, 35).

Do you want to know whether a man is a Christian? Find out whether he loves his brethren. Such is the test Jesus gives in these verses.

1. Commanded. It is the will and purpose of God that the followers of Christ should have a real love for one another. It is not to be a matter of impulse or chance, but the love God has for us should constrain us to love one another. Thus is love

2. Exemplified. God has loved us. He does love us. How infinitely much is wrapped up in these simple words! He even gave His Son to die for us because He loved us (John 3:16). How then can we withhold our love from Him and from one another?

II. Love—A Christian Grace (I Cor. 13).

In a world where hatred prevails, and is in fact glorified, this chapter needs to be read and reread. We find that love is

1. Essential (vv. 1-3). Life has many excellent gifts and men quite properly seek after them. How do they compare with love, and what do they amount to apart from love? Glowing, angelic eloquence; the far-seeing eye of the prophet; the attainments of knowledge and culture; mountain-moving faith; liberal-hearted charity; martyr-like self-sacrifice—without love they are all as nothing. Apart from Christ and His love operating in our hearts and lives the worthiest attainments of men are vain and empty. Love is the very essence of a satisfying and useful life.

2. Effective (vv. 4-7). Does love really work, or is this just a fine-sounding but obsolete theory? It works.

Think of the things in life which irritate and depress us; then put opposite them the qualities of Christian love as given in verses 4 to 7, and you will agree that what this world needs most of all is love.

Remember that talking about love or reading about it or studying it in the Sunday school will not make it effective. We must put it into practice. Why not start now? You will be surprised at the results.

3. Eternal (vv. 8, 12). Many gifts are only temporary in their usefulness; in fact, almost everything that man makes or does (apart from his service for God) is transient. Even so vital a matter as prophecy shall one day find its end in fulfillment. Hope shall eventually find its longing expectation satisfied. Faith will be justified in seeing what it has believed. Childish things will be put away by the full-grown man, knowledge will increase and darkness disappear.

But love—love is eternal. It never fails, and will never fail. God is love and God is eternal. From all eternity and unto all eternity love continues. Therefore, we agree with Paul who in the verse preceding this chapter (I Cor. 12:31) says that while you may covet the best gifts, here is the more excellent way—love.

Let us be clear about this. Love is not a substitute for regeneration, and certainly regeneration is no excuse for lack of love. Read John 13:34, 35 again, and remember that if we are Christ's disciples we will count it a high privilege to keep this first and great commandment of love.

Dependence on God

Poverty in any shape helps to stir in man a sense of need, a disposition to consider himself as dependent. . . The real puzzle of life consists not in the fact of widespread poverty but in that of widespread affluence; in the fact that so many are sufficiently endowed with "goods" as to believe they can live by them, and so cease to look for their true life to God their Father.—E. Lyttleton.

Death Becomes Transparent

And so the empty tomb becomes the symbol of a thoroughfare between life in time and life in the unshadowed presence of our God. Death is now like a short tunnel which is near my home; I can look through it and see the other side! In the risen Lord death becomes transparent. "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?"—Dr. J. D. Jowett.

Meet the Pot Roast—Juicy and Tender (See Recipes Below.)

Savory Meals

Pep up the personality of your meals by serving meats more often as the weather becomes frost-nipped and colder. Meats are synonymous with good, wholesome, hearty meals because they're satisfying and filling. Meat sets good tone to the meal and rounds it out to give you a sense of completeness when you've finished eating.

Meat is honest and straightforward both in flavor and purpose. Its abundance of vitamins and minerals really come through and give you sustaining energy. All in all meat contains nine out of the thirteen food essentials of a normal diet.

First is protein and meat's proteins are complete. They help to build or repair body tissues which you wear down every day and keep you on good maintenance level. It has iron the oxygen carrier, copper, iron's partner and the builder of hemoglobin.

Meat has phosphorus that helps calcium in building good teeth and bones and helps give you energy. Meat has fat, too, producer of more energy and heat.

As for vitamins, meat is an important source of four: vitamin A, the resistance and growth vitamin; thiamin (vitamin B1) which helps the body translate sugars and starches into energy; riboflavin, of which meat is the top source, that helps prevent nervous disorders, and finally nicotinic acid, which prevents a nervous digestive disorder known as pellagra.

Fortunately for economy's sake, the lower-priced cuts of meat are just as good for these minerals and vitamins as the higher-priced ones. Today's column gives you tricks and tips on how you can use them for savory meals and have them juicy, tender, and full of flavor. First call is for pot roast which you can make just as desirable as the best steaks and chops:

*Pot Roast With Vegetables.

Wipe meat with a damp cloth. Brown in hot fat and add one or two small onions sliced to meat while it is browning. Season meat with salt and pepper. Combine 1/2 cup catsup with 1 cup hot water and add to meat. Place in a roaster or cast-iron skillet or pot, cover tightly, and allow to simmer gently 45 minutes to the pound. Add more water if necessary. Whole carrots and onions may be added to the meat and cooked with it the last 45 minutes of the cooking period.

LYNN SAYS:

You're going to sell nutrition to your family not just because of its virtues but by attractively garnished, well-cooked food. Here's how:

Whenever possible serve the vegetables with the meat, as browned potatoes, whole carrots, browned onions. These can be placed around the meat for effective coloring.

Radish roses with parsley brighten almost any kind of meat platter.

Spinach, chopped, seasoned and mixed with white sauce can be made into nests or mounds and served around meat.

Baby beets may be scooped and filled with green peas served around the meat or on a platter by themselves.

Ham can be scored in circles for a change by using a small cookie cutter and a maraschino cherry placed in each circle. Circles look best if they overlap.

Bananas or pineapple slices broiled make a tantalizing accompaniment to baked ham, roast beef or lamb chops.

Slices of orange topped with a smaller slice of jelly is excellent for meat platters.

LaGuardia, Penniless, Came to the Right Place

A few years back, Fiorello LaGuardia, New York's peppery mayor, was addressing a group of Salvation Army workers before a large audience. The mayor gave a long and fiery speech in praise of the organization. At the finish, the plate was passed. When it came to LaGuardia, he reached into his pocket for money. A blank look came into his face when he could not find any. He fumbled desperately in all pockets. Sensing his predicament, the commissioner of the Army said in a loud voice: "That's all right, the Salvation Army is the right place to come to when a man hasn't a nickel!"

Self-Esteem A man is valued according to his own estimate of himself.—Turkish Proverb.

Household Hints

If food burns in a pan, shake a generous amount of soda into it, fill with cold water and let stand on back of stove until pan can be easily cleaned.

Crocheted bedspreads can be washed, but they should be carefully spread out on a clean sheet to dry and not hung on a line.

When pressing men's suits always press over a damp cloth.

A teaspoon of baking powder in the water in which meat and vegetables are cooked will help make them tender.

Keep in mind that rubber darkens silverware, so never let anything with rubber on it remain in the silver drawers. Use cord or ribbon to hold silver together in its case—never fasten with rubber bands.

Leftover mashed potatoes can be fashioned into small cakes and used for holding creamed foods, shaped into flat cakes and browned, or then can be used for covering meat, fish or vegetable "pies."

Wise and Otherwise

THRIFT is so often the practice of pinching pennies so that someone else in the family can squander the dollars.

If every man were taken at his own valuation, there wouldn't be half enough halos to go around.

The simplest and most ordinary things are often the most difficult to grasp, says a writer. Such as the soap in the bath.

The more you gad about, the less chance there is of your being home when opportunity knocks at your door.

So many of the people who flatter themselves that they are dreamers are merely sleepers.

Wealth's Secret The secret of wealth lies in the letters S.A.V.E.—Greek Proverb.

YOU ARE AN INFLUENTIAL PERSON

The merchant who advertises must treat you better than the merchant who does not. He must treat you as though you were the most influential person in town. As a matter of cold fact you are. You hold the destiny of his business in your hands. He knows it. He shows it. And you benefit by good service, by courteous treatment, by good value—and by lower prices.

MOUNTING DEER HORNS

Many deer hunters like to save the horns of small bucks for coat and gun hangers. Such horns are usually removed by sawing a small section of the skull from the buck's head and fastening the horns to a thin wooden shield with short screws which often pull loose when a coat or gun is hung upon the rack. The horns will remain solid if they are fastened to the shield with small stove bolts. Drill two small holes on opposite sides at the top and bottom of the bone scalp and two corresponding holes through the shield, countersinking them at the back to prevent the screw heads from damaging the wall. Insert the bolts from the back, tightening the nuts at the front. The bone scalp can be covered with a thin coating of some mouldable wood preparation of the same shade the shield has been stained.
