Enrollment going down

Enrollment in the Iowa Park school system continues a downhill slide which started in 1974, according to a report given trustees Tuesday night by Supt. Faris Nowell.

He gave the second-day enrollment figure of 1,968, and that is the first time since the year 1968 Iowa Park schools have had fewer than 2,000 enrolled.

The superintendent pointed out that more students are expected to report for classes this fall than are now enrolled. Some families do not enroll their children until after the Labor Day holiday, some are still on vacation, and several homes in the city are sold but as yet unoccupied, Nowell pointed out.

With the third through sixth grades the smallest of the 13 grades in the school, larger classes are indicated in the first and second grades, according to figures given by Nowell.

Kindergarten, which has mostly one-semester students, 59 are enrolled; 138 in the first grade; 148 in the second; 118 in the third; 126 in the fourth; 145 in the fifth; 133 in the sixth, 168 in the seventh; 177, eighth; 209, ninth; 198, tenth; 176, eleventh; and 173, twelfth.

Valley View campus now has 278 pupils, down from the 298 last year and 357 reported in 1974.

Junior high enrollment dropped from 371 last year to 345.

The high school has its largest enrollment in recent years, 756. That is an increase of 20 over the 736 reported the second day last year, just above the 754 in 1975, and well above the 1974 figure of 742.

SURVEY REPORTS

More traffic signs wanted

Absence of traffic signs at intersections is a major concern of Iowa Park residents, who have replied in surprising numbers to a traffic hazard survey being taken by the city.

The survey is being taken via cards enclosed in water bills sent to between 2,200 and 2,500 households.

By Wednesday morning 203 persons had responded to the survey, said Billy Thacker, city code enforcement officer.

A response from between eight and nine per cent of those contacted in Iowa Park is far better than the response received from similar surveys taken in other cities, according to a state traffic officer.

"Boy, that is unbelievable!" said Bob Draper, regional traffic safety coordinator. "National figures indicate 2 per cent is a fair to high return. That's about what we got to a similar survey in Wichita Falls."

From the 203 persons who have responded to the survey in Iowa Park 69 cited the need for traffic signs at intersections in their neighborhoods.

Thirty-seven persons complained of cars being parked in or near streets while 32 complained of trees, bushes or weeds blocking drivers' views.

Chug holes were listed as problems by 27 persons, and 19 persons listed locations where more emphasis should be placed on the safety of children.

Speeders were listed as a major hazard by 17 persons.

Draper said the high response does not necessarily indicate there are many traffic safety shortcomings here, but it does show a great interest among citizens.

"The people apparently feel it's a worthwhile program and something will be accomplished," Draper added. Results of the survey will be used by a traffic survey team to make a study here in the next few months.

Through the Iowa Park Citizens Traffic Safety Council, Draper said he hopes City Ad. Gene Britton will name a team to study the various problems brought out.

The problems will be corrected as money becomes available, Draper said.

In many cases, however, corrective measures will be relatively inexpensive and simply involve trimming tree limbs at intersections and filling chug holes.

If there are reasons why some of the problems cannot be corrected, persons who made the complaint would receive some type of answer since they took the time to respond to the survey.

Hawks open 1977 campaign here Friday against Lawton

A young and relatively inexperienced Iowa Park football team opens its 1977 season in Hawk Stadium tomorrow night, not only with hopes of evening their won-loss record against Lawton High, but improving on the 1-19 record compiled over the past two seasons.

With an 8 p.m. kickoff time, the Hawks will renew a rivalry which began four years ago against a team representing the largest school the Mean Green will face all season.

Going into the kickoff, the Hawks are 1-2 against the Wolverines. They defeated Lawton 19-8 in their initial meeting back in 1974, but have lost 0-12 and 1-35 the past two years.

The Wolverines are said by Head Coach Pat Tone to be a "well drilled team offensively and defensively, just not as strong as they were last year." He said they were neither as fast or as large as the '76 squad that humbled the Hawks in that season opener.

Because of the difference in their team's makeup this year, the Wolverines will be running a different offense than they have in the past, using lots of reverses and counter action plays, Tone said.

Though Lawton may not be as large overall, there is still some size on the squad. The left tackle is estimated to weigh 270 pounds or more.

Tone, speaking to the Booster Club Monday evening, commented on the improvement of his players in workout, evidenced by scrimmages against Grapevine the first week and Bowie last week.

"We felt we made a lot of progress, though we still have a long way to go," he pointed out.

Several players were limping, due to sore knees and muscles, he admitted. Chris Bowerman, who was to be the team kicker, possibly will be out for the season with a bad knee. The same with Ray Willingham, tackle who saw a lot of action last year and might have been the team punter. Center Richard Johnson is being held out for observation, with dizzy spells.

Others limping included fullback Kip Fuller, tackle Burl Scott and end Eddie Cannedy.

On their two-deep chart, coaches have six seniors listed as starters on offense, three juniors and two sophomores. Defensively, six seniors are slated to start, two juniors and three sophomores.

Offensive starters tomorrow night possibly will be: Richard Dietrichson or Jeff Taylor, split end; Billy Ray, strong tackle; Tommy Ross, strong guard; Sid Waldrop, center; Blaine Kidwell, quick guard; Paul Arrington, quick tackle; Eddie Cannedy, strong end; Gary Blackerby, halfback; Kip Fuller, fullback; Troy Thompson, tailback; and David Wright, quarterback.

Defensively, probable starters are: Arrington and Waldrop, ends; Ross and Barney Scott, tackles; Randy Gibson, middle guard; Billy Maupin and Pat Cooke, linebackers; Keith Hillard, Andy Sitgreaves, Jeff Nolen and Terry Daniels, secondary.

On offense, Fuller and Thompson have been the main ground gainers in the two pre-season scrimmages.

Wright has established a high percentage of pass completions, with the help of sure-handed receivers Blackerby and Cannedy. They might be called on more, should the ground game bog down.

City wins first round in gas rate battle

The city of Iowa Park won its first round in a fight with Lone Star Gas Company over rates charged here.

Though only a temporary and minor round, Lone Star's appeal to the Railroad Commission (RRC) for interim rate relief was denied, according to a ruling received yesterday morning by Mike Hubbard, city attorney.

Last winter, Lone Star filed a request for a rate increase. The city, disagreeing with the utility company that rates should be based on intrastate prices, computed different rates to be charged, and passed an ordinance establishing the rates.

The city council argues that Iowa Park is served by an interstate gas line, subject to curtailment, with natural gas coming here from Oklahoma, and therefore rates should be set on a basis established by the Federal Power Commission and not by the RRC.

Information received Wednesday is only on the utility company's interim rate relief appeal before the RRC. Another hearing was held before the RRC on the rate itself, and the city has yet to hear result of that meeting.

The city also is awaiting word from a federal district court in Austin, where Iowa Park has filed an injunction against the RRC, claiming it has no authority to set utility rates for cities served by an interstate line.

Trustees will study elderly tax exemption

Trustees of the Iowa Park school system are going to take a hard look at tax exemptions for citizens 65 years of age and older.

The topic was discussed briefly at Tuesday's called meeting of the board, and it was decided to make a study and come up with a decision in the near future.

Tax Assessor/Collector Bill Steger was asked what it would cost the district if the exemptions were approved. He said his "fairly accurate" estimate was that it would cut about a million dollars from the district's values, and that would mean $18,000 fewer tax dollars revenue annually.

In response to a question from Board Chairman C.E. Myers on how many eligible persons are now having to sacrifice to pay their school taxes, Steger said probably 50 per cent.

Then he added "In the past our office has tried to accommodate those who have trouble paying, by letting them pay it out over a period of time."

"I feel like we've got a lot of people over 65 who need help," stated Jessie McCullough, who had requested the subject be put on the meeting agenda.

Steger recommended the board study the proposal and make a decision by October.

He said whatever the board does, it would not affect the tax statements which would be sent out in October, because the school budget and tax rate has already been set for the year.

The city adopted the $3,000 tax exemption for persons 65 years of age and older some three years ago. It has been brought up in school board meetings several times, but never any action taken.

In other business, trustees approved hiring Ron Moore, who will teach two classes at high school and work the rest of the day at Kidwell Elementary. Supt. Faris Nowell said he would relieve help problems not only at the high school, but junior high and elementary as well.

Board members heard a request from the Iowa Park 4-H Club to lease a school bus to the group for a trip to the State Fair in October.

Board members approved amending of the 1976-77 school budget, which is required before the end of the fiscal year.

With more money being received than expected, and some costs also up, the budgeted deficit of $37,000 was cut to $10,000.

Total estimated income, was $2,717,540 which, when added to the $409,892 carryover, gave a total funds available figure of $3,127,432 for the year.

Total expenditures were $2,728,084, reported Harold Cowley, business manager.

Pool to open for weekend

The Bicentennial Swimming Pool will be re-opened for the holiday weekend, according to George Taylor, manager.

The pool was closed all this week due to opening of school. Following the three-day Labor Day holiday weekend opening, Saturday through Monday, the pool will be closed for the winter.

Ex-students plan reunion

Bill Guthrie was appointed chairman in charge of the registration booth for ex-students which will set up at the football stadium Oct. 7 when the Iowa Park Hawks will play the Burk Burnett Bulldogs during homecoming.

Registration for the reunion will start at 5:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria and the banquet will be served at 7 p.m.

A work session and planning meeting was held Tuesday in Texas Electric Reddy Room under the direction of Harrel Sullivan, president. During the meeting, invitations to ex-students of Iowa Park High School who live out of Iowa Park were stamped for mailing.

Chairmen of the reunion have been named by the president to include: Allen Shewmake, food; Mrs. Leo Cook, registration and refreshments at the reception Saturday preceding the banquet; Danny Parkerson, entertainment; Mrs. Gus Rich, decorations; Mrs. Homer Blalock and Don James, publicity.

The classes of 1917, '27, '37, '47, '57, '67 and '77 will be given special emphasis during the activities.

Reservations for the banquet can be mailed to Ex-Student Ass'n, Chamber of Commerce, Box 146, Iowa Park, Texas. The cost will be $3. Reservations, with the money, must be made by Oct. 5.

Price-Riley nuptial vows are exchanged Saturday

Nuptial vows were exchanged Saturday evening in First Baptist Church by Miss Angela Anitakay Price and Terry Wayne Riley. Officiant for the double-ring ceremony was the Rev. Kenneth Flowers.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Richard Luna, and the late Curtis Price and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G.W. Riley of Kamay. Nuptial decorations included a wrought-iron arch covered with greenery flanked by handsome sunburst arrangements of daisies, roses and mums, the arch forming the background for a prayer bench which dominated altar decorations.

The outer altar was marked with the unity candelabrum entwined with gypsophila highlighted with white satin wedding bells and spiral candelabra bedecked with the same accents. Special attention was directed to the three-point candlestick when mothers of the couple lighted the two outer candles preceding the ceremony. These burned during the service and were extinguished by the couple after they had used them to light the center taper to symbolize their oneness. Before lighting the candle after they had been introduced as Mr. and Mrs. Terry Wayne Riley, they presented long stemmed roses to their mothers.

Wedding music contributing special meaning to the service was provided by Mrs. Bill Bates, organist, and Miss Kathy Richards, soloist.

For prelude numbers, Mrs. Bates played "Liebestraum" by Liszt, "O Perfect Love" by Barnaby, "Arioso" by Bach, "To a Wild Rose" by MacDowell and "I Love Thee" by Grieg.

For mothers of the bride and groom to be seated, the organist played "Traumerie" by Schumann. She accompanied Miss Richards for her benediction solo "The Lord's Prayer" sung while the couple knelt on the prayer bench, and played the wedding marches conforming to tradition.

A recording of "You Are My World" was played immediately following the giving of the bride in marriage by her brother, Mike Price, and her stepfather, Richard Luna.

The bride wore a formal gown of white organza accented with cluny and Venice lace. The lace and seed pearls lent beauty to the slightly raised bodice with a sweetheart neckline, sheer bishop sleeves cuffed with frilly ruffles. The delicate lace ornamentation was repeated on the hemline ruffle of the full skirt and for the borders of the train and bridal illusion veil which swept to chapel length.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Miss Romona Price and Miss Cindy Riley, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. They were attired in long yellow knit sleeveless dresses with scooped necklines overlaid with white tissue knit embossed with yellow roses. Smart handkerchief-type tiers formed the skirts and mint green sashes encircled the waistlines.

Mint green picture hats completed their attire and they carried colonial nose-gays of yellow daisies arranged with mint green satin ribbons.

Francie Myers, the groom's niece, the flower girl, was attired in a long frock with empire waist and cap sleeves fashioned of the same material in the attendants' gowns.

Chuck Luna, brother of the bride, was ring bearer. He wore a three-piece yellow suit with a green shirt and carried the rings on a yellow satin heart-shaped pillow covered in white lace centered with a cluster of daisies and mint green ribbons tied in love knots.

Rici Luna, another brother of the bride, the train bearer, wore a three-piece green suit with a yellow shirt.

The bride's chosen colors were reflected in the formal suits worn by the men who took part in the wedding and these contrasted with the all-white tuxedo worn by the groom. Larry Tennant, the best man, and Rickie Riley of Houston, brother of the groom, the groomsmen, wore yellow tuxedos and Randy Myers, brothers of the couple, the ushers, wore mint green tuxedos.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Luna were hosts for the wedding reception held in the Fellowship Hall and Mr. and Mrs. G.W. Riley gave the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at El Babo's in Wichita Falls.

At the reception, the refreshment table was covered with yellow satin and centered with a silver candelabrum holding four candles and the maid of honor's bouquet.

The snowy three tiers of the wedding cake were brightened with yellow icing roses and lifted taller with filigree dividers. A cluster of yellow satin wedding bells with sprays of lilies of the valley spilling from them was the top ornament for the confection.

An extra white sheet cake holding the miniature bride and groom from the bride's parents' wedding cake and the crystal punch service further appointed the table.

The gift table was covered in white net over yellow and held a white tree decorated with white, yellow and mint green net puffs, doves, bells, roses and lilies of the valley. A miniature bridal couple holding two simulated gold wedding bands stood at the base of the tree.

Mrs. Carl Pool directed wedding guests in signing the bride's book resting on a table draped with white net over yellow which held an anniversary candle and the

Sunday tea starts new year for Alpha Epsilon Omicron

A tea was held Sunday afternoon in the home of Mrs. John Conklin to inaugurate the year's activities for Alpha Epsilon Omicron chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

Mrs. Gene Bond, president, explained the theme of the yearbooks for the new year "Light Another Torch," and Mrs. Danny Holman discussed the color scheme used in the books. Mrs. Wilbur Garrels distributed the program books.

Mrs. Ron Fullerton, social chairman, announced a mystery dinner and rush party scheduled for Sept. 15 and a Las Vegas party planned for Sept. 24 at the KC Hall.

It was voted to sell caramelpies at the annual Whoop-Do sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Oct. 8.

Mrs. Garrels and Gayle Cleghorn led the rituals. During the affair, Mrs. Garrels was honored at a surprise "grandmother" shower, the gifts including items that she would need when the grandbaby visited her.

Refreshments were served from a table laid with a white cloth accented with gold and brown embroidery and centered with a bouquet of zinnias in assorted colors.

Others attending were Mmes. Bobby Attwood, James Owens, Travis Bradford and Miss Lavonne Stogner.

THE CHRISTIANITY OF THE APOSTLES

NEW TESTAMENT REFERENCES

When the apostle Paul arrived at Rome, he had an interview with certain Jews there, who desired to hear what he believed; "for", said they, "as concerning this sect, we know that everywhere it is spoken against" (Acts 28:22). The members of this sect "were called Christians", a name which was first used - probably by their opponents - at Antioch (Acts 11:26). By their inspired leaders they were called "disciples" (Acts 20:7), "saints" (Rom. 1:7), "brethren" (Gal. 1:2), "brethren in Christ" (Col. 1:2), "joint heirs with Christ" (Rom. 8:17) "believers" (1 Tim. 4:12), "children of Abraham" (Gal. 3:7), "Abraham's seed" (Gal. 3:29), "a peculiar people" (1 Pet. 2:9), "children of light" (1 Thess. 5:5), "children of God" (1 John 3:10), "sons of God" (1 John 3:1), "the elect of God" (Col. 3:12), etc.

This "sect" was composed of two classes, Jews and Gentiles. The former had discontinued observing the abrogated Mosaic law, which was "a shadow of things to come" (Heb. 10:1), and had acknowledged that Jesus of Nazareth, whom they had crucified, was the Messiah for whom they had been looking (Acts 2:36). They had confessed that only through him could remission of sins be obtained (Acts 2:38), and, in accordance with the predictions of their prophets, they looked for him to sit upon the throne of David, and restore the kingdom of Israel (Acts 3:20, 21).

The latter class, the Gentiles, had "turned from idols to serve the living and true God, and to wait for his Son from heaven" (1 Thess. 1:9, 10) for the purpose of ruling the world in righteousness (Acts 17:31). They expected at that time to "reign with him" (2 Tim. 2:12) "on the earth" (Rev. 5:10), in "his kingdom" (2 Tim. 4:1), to sit with him in his throne (Rev. 3:21) and to have "power over the nations" (Rev. 2:26), in accordance with God's promises. Being but "heirs of the kingdom" of God (James 2:5) they had not begun to inherit it. They believed it to be a kingdom which must be entered "through much tribulation" (Acts 14:22), and, therefore, they patiently suffered persecution, that they might be counted worthy of it (2 Thess. 1:5). They did not believe this kingdom to be the Church, for they were told that no "unrighteous" persons should enter it, and even "flesh and blood" could not inherit it (1 Cor. 6:9; 15:50). They therefore looked forward to being changed from mortality to immortality (1 Cor. 15:51-53) at the Second Appearing of Jesus Christ (Phil. 3:20, 21).

Believing that "the wages of sin is death" (Rom. 6:23), and that "death passed upon all men" (Rom. 5:12), the members of this "sect" recognized the apostolic truth that eternal life, or immortality, is the "gift of God", obtainable only through Jesus Christ (Rom. 6:23; 1 John 5:11). As enjoined by the apostles, they sought immortality (Rom. 2:7), and endeavored to "lay hold on eternal life" (1 Tim. 6:12); consequently they did not believe that they were naturally immortal, or in the present enjoyment of eternal life. "The dead in Christ" they believed to be sleeping (1 Thess. 4:14), "in the dust of the earth" (Dan. 12:2), with no power to praise the Lord (Psa. 115:17) until the resurrection: an event necessary to prevent the faithful dead from perishing (1 Cor. 15:16-18).

This "sect" did not look for the conversion of the world before the Second Appearing of Jesus Christ, because they were told that "the mystery of iniquity", which was then working, would, when ripe, be destroyed by the coming of Christ (2 Thess. 2:7, 8). No greater proof of the extensive growth of this false system can be found, or is needed, than the denial of the foregoing truths throughout Christendom. There is a class of persons, however, who maintain the belief of the apostolic "sect everywhere spoken against". They do not adopt a name invented by the enemies of Christ, but they make use of a word synonymous with one of the names given by the spirit of God, viz., "brethren of Christ" (Heb. 2:11, 12; Col. 1:2), which, in its Anglicized Greek form, produces the name "christadelphian". Amid indifference and misunderstanding, in a world which says, "Where is the promise of his coming?" (2 Peter 3:4), they try to bear witness to the truth. Having received the message themselves, they have the responsibility of "watchman" (Ezek. 33:7-9) to pass it to others. This it is their one desire to do, for they are confident that they have the greatest treasure in the world, the Gospel, which is "the power of God unto salvation" (Rom. 1:16), and the way to eternal life.

tall with four tiers and two sets of Grecian pillars and each tier was decorated with garlands of apricot icing flowers. A cluster of white satin wedding bells on top completed the picture.

The groom's table, also covered in white satin, held the chocolate cake edged in green icing and the champagne fountain.

The registry table held a bud vase filled with apricot carnations, and the bride's book with a feathered pen.

Reception assistants were Mmes. Ken Klinger, Tommy McCluer, Jerry Thomas, Ted Lively, David Kays, Paul Panter and Miss Joyce Tech.

After a wedding trip to San Antonio, the couple will live at 500 Fillmore in Wichita Falls.

The bride was graduated from Iowa Park High School and Midwestern State University and is employed by L.O. Nelson Office Supply. At MSU, she was in Gamma Phi Beta and was Kappa Sigma Sweetheart.

The groom was graduated from Rider High School and attends MSU where he is president of Kappa Sigma fraternity. He is employed by the United Electric Co. and Rice Auto Parts.

Out of town relatives attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gebhart of Millersburg, Pa., Mrs. Mim Gebhart of Halifax, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Klinger of McPherson, Kans., aunts and uncles of the bride.

flowering boxwood garlands touched with white satin bows. Pews were marked with white satin bows, Hahns ivy and sprengeri fern.

The Rev. W.C. Harting, pastor, officiated the double-ring service to unite the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.W. Alleman and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon B. Shirey.

John Zacho, organist, and Kelley Martin, soloist, provided the musical setting for the wedding. The organist played the preservice music and "Trumpet Voluntary" by Clarke for the processional. He accompanied the soloist for his solo "Wedding Song" and for another solo "Wedding Prayer" by Dunlap following the Wedding Address taken from Isaiah 63:7. For the recessional, the organist played "Psalm 19" (Marcello).

When presented in marriage for both parents by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of ivory sheer organza and Venise lace. The lace covered the slightly raised bodice with a scoop neckline and the cap sleeves. The full A-line skirt was trimmed in rows of lace which flowed into a chapel length train. She wore a picture frame hat of sheer organza enhanced with Venise lace and satin ribbon and carried a bouquet fashioned of a white orchid, mums and English ivy.

Mrs. Ronnie Gafford of Iowa Park was matron of honor. She wore an apricot poly-sheer crepe gown styled with a keyhole neckline, a criss-cross drape forming a high neck and cap sleeves and an A-line skirt. She wore a matching picture hat and carried an orchid with carnations. Bridesmaids, dressed like the honor attendant, were Mrs. Kim Trickey of Mineral Wells and Miss Liz Hunt of Dallas.

Patrick Shirey was his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Allen Robb and Charlie Martin and the ushers were Rod Jay and Ronnie Gafford.

The bride's parents hosted the reception in the Clipper Room of the Trade Winds which was also the setting for the rehearsal dinner given by the groom's parents Friday evening.

The swagged white satin cloth on the bride's table extended to the floor. Featured in the center was a tall silver candelabrum filled with white candles, apricot carnations, daisies, poms, gladioli and sprengeri fern. The bouquets of the bride and her attendants complemented table appointments. The bride's cake towered

Balis-Marshall wedding vows are recited Saturday

Miss Betty Ann Balis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garry D. Balis of Burkburnett, became the bride of Raymond Thomas Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry T. Hatch of Iowa Park Saturday afternoon.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Lamoin Champ in the First Baptist Church at Burkburnett. The couple recited their vows in a candlelight setting complemented with asymmetrical arrangements of white stock, pastel carnations and daisies.

The bride, wearing a formal candlelight gown of silk organza, was escorted and given in marriage by her father. The empire waist of the gown featured a sabrina neckline edged in delicately-patterned Venise lace and long, sheer sleeves. She wore a high camelot veil with matching lace and carried a dainty cloud of baby's breath, pastel carnations and daisies.

Miss Julie Hamilton, soloist, and Miss Betty Haynes, pianist, were the wedding musicians. "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by Miss Hamilton. The pianist provided accompaniment and played the familiar marches.

The bride's attendants wore long formal pastel-colored crepe gowns embossed with suede flowers. They carried single Killian daisies in colors coordinating with their gowns.

Mrs. Bill Lindenborn, sister of the bride, the matron of honor, wore lavender, and Miss Susan Balis, another sister, was maid of honor and wore yellow. Bridesmaids wearing blue, green and pink, respectively, were Miss Margaret Ellett, Miss Paula Palinski and Miss Anita Smith.

Patrick Sullivan attended the groom as best man and Bill Lindenborn, Rocky Cook, Mike Jones and Randy Edgemon were groomsmen. Patrick Cummings and Wendell Wood served as ushers.

Candles were lighted by Garry Balis Jr., brother of the bride, and Archie Layfield III. The bride's parents were hosts for the wedding reception at the First National Bank in Burkburnett and the groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at Underwood's in Wichita Falls.

For the reception, the room was decorated with streamers and large bells suspended from the ceiling where three tables were given special emphasis in decorations. Bouquets of carnations and daisies in the shades of pink, blue, green, lavender and white added color and beauty to the setting.

The bride and groom are graduates of Burkburnett High School and he attended Iowa Park High School one year. They are at home in Burkburnett.

Out-of-town wedding guests were Mrs. Laura Olivia Bennie of Rising Star and Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Balis of Vernon.

shaped cap borne on a stalk since very early times. The Greeks and Romans were fond of them and they are today the chief food of the natives at the tip of South America. They are considered a table delicacy rather than a main food in most countries. They can be eaten creamed, baked, fried, broiled, stewed or served in soups and salads. Cream of mushroom soup is one of the most important ingredients in many casseroles prepared by American cooks.

Mrs. Meadows and her husband, who is a CPA, have lived in Iowa Park three years. Their children are Charlotte 7, Caryn 5 and Chris 3.

She grew up in McAllen and was graduated from Mission High School. She received a BS degree from Pan-American University at Edinburg and taught school at McAllen. She has been substitute teacher at Iowa Park and has recently opened a child care center here. She likes to cook, sew, decoupage and do hand-work.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

Probably the biggest headache we have here at the newspaper, is trying to decide what events taking place in Wichita Falls and surrounding communities we can publicize, when and if there is room.

It's an unusual problem to an editor of a weekly newspaper because most weeklies are no so close to a large city. But in a suburban community like ours, usually a few families are involved with everything that goes on in Wichita Falls.

And when those things are taking place, we like to give reports about them, either due to interest or because local people are involved.

But there is a point which must be made, hopefully to achieve reader or publicity chairman understanding.

First of all, we are a small weekly. In fact, much smaller than we should be.

You see, a newspaper must base the number of pages it publishes on the amount of advertising it runs. Revenue from the advertising not only pays for advertising space, but news coverage, building, equipment, transportation, taxes and hopefully, though hardly ever, a thing called profit.

No, circulation does not pay for news stories. In fact, it pays little more than cost of mailing, subscription files and the sort. Traditionally, the reader of a newspaper has the best buy he can find anywhere.

But the point is, Iowa Park has a business community, that advertises anyway, one normally finds in a more isolated town of about 2,500. Yet we are attempting to cover a town of 7,500 population and trade territory of over 10,000.

So, news space is competitive and is based on importance and numbers of people involved. But basically, it is local. That's why you seldom read anything about something not taking place in our trade territory. There are exceptions, of course, but not often.

What brought this all to a head was the tremendous push we've had in the office during the past week for publicity about events in Wichita Falls and the area.

Folks, there's just no way we can cover or give publicity to the Wichita Falls Symphony Orchestra, the 1977 Fall Slow Break Basketball League, the State Department of Public Welfare's new name change, the Skate-A-Thon, the American Red Cross, Red River Rodeo, the American Heart Association, the Backdoor Theatre, etc., etc.

There is a twice-day daily, door-to-door shopper, six radio stations, four television stations, five school newspapers and Sheppard AFB paper to give area and national publicity.

What we do is cover Iowa Park, Holliday, Kamay, Kadane Corner, Valley View and the Wichita Valley area. That's our primary job, and we work our best to do an adequate job of it.

Owners respond to warnings

More than half the Iowa Park property owners issued complaints for tall weeds and unkept lots have corrected their violations, according to municipal officials.

Under the supervision of Billy Thacker, the city's new code enforcement officer, the city sent out 86 complaints against property owners this summer.

Most of the complaints warned property owners that they were in violation of Ordinance No. 98 which prohibits "allowing weeds, rubbish, brush and other unsightly matter to accumulate on lots..."

Property owners were warned in letters that they have 10 days to correct the situation.

Of the 86 complaints sent by the city, 53 of the property owners have corrected the violations, according to city tabulations.

Thacker said anyone with complaints of overgrown lots should contact him at city hall.

Hawks improvement in scrimmage

Iowa Park's Hawks made considerable improvement during the week between scrimmages with Grapevine and Bowie, according to Head Coach Pat Tone, and comments of sideline viewers who traveled to Bowie Friday.

The first unit, though losing the battle of statistics, tied the Jackrabbits in touchdowns, 2-2.

In the scrimmages, first offensive units oppose first defensive units, and then second units of the varsities face each other.

Depth appears to be a problem for the Hawks, as indicated by the second unit scrimmage, which consisted of 20 plays on offense and 20 on defense.

The second unit was out-scored 1-0, and the statistics indicated the reason.

Bowie is not to be taken lightly, when considering the performance of the teams. Though the Jackrabbits are in AA classification, they have almost as large a high school enrollment as Iowa Park, besides being in the state playoffs last year.

In first-unit competition, the offense was given the ball for two, 20-play series, and the defense has the same number of plays to hold their opponents.

Iowa Park scored once in each series, both on running plays by junior fullback Kip Fuller. The first was a three-yard run and the second a four-yarder, both off right tackle.

Fuller carried 12 times for the evening, gaining 42 yards. Sophomore tailback Troy Thompson, who broke on a 46-yard scamper in the second series, finished the night with 58 net yards on nine times with the ball.

Senior quarterback David Wright connected on six of his 11 pass attempts, four-for-four in the second series, for 67 additional yards.

Both Bowie touchdowns came in the second series, and both were long aerial bombs covering 40 and 43 yards respectively.

Iowa Park had seven first downs to 10 for Bowie, and 154 yards offensively to Bowie's 210.

The varsity's second offensive unit was held without a first down, a minus 19 yards rushing and one pass completion of six attempts for 13 yards, giving the group minus six yards total offense.

Bowie's second unit racked up four first downs, 57 yards rushing and scored once on a three-yard plunge. Bowie failed to complete a pass, but had one of the four aeriels intercepted.

Iowa Park's junior varsity was outscored 4-0. Bowie scored once on the first series, twice on the second and intercepted a pass for another TD.

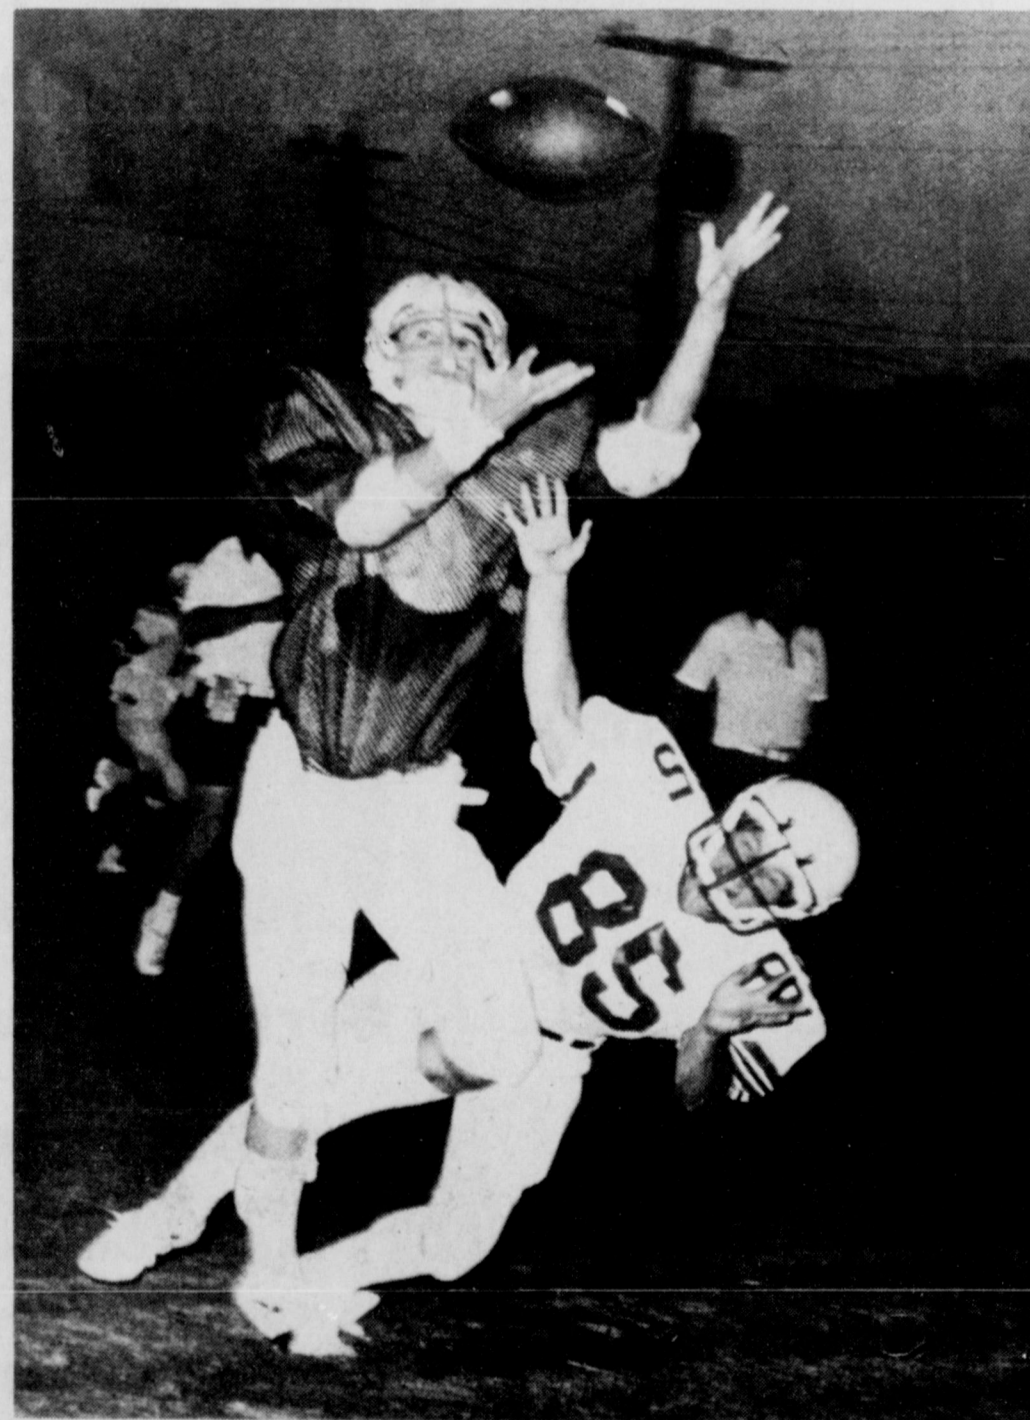

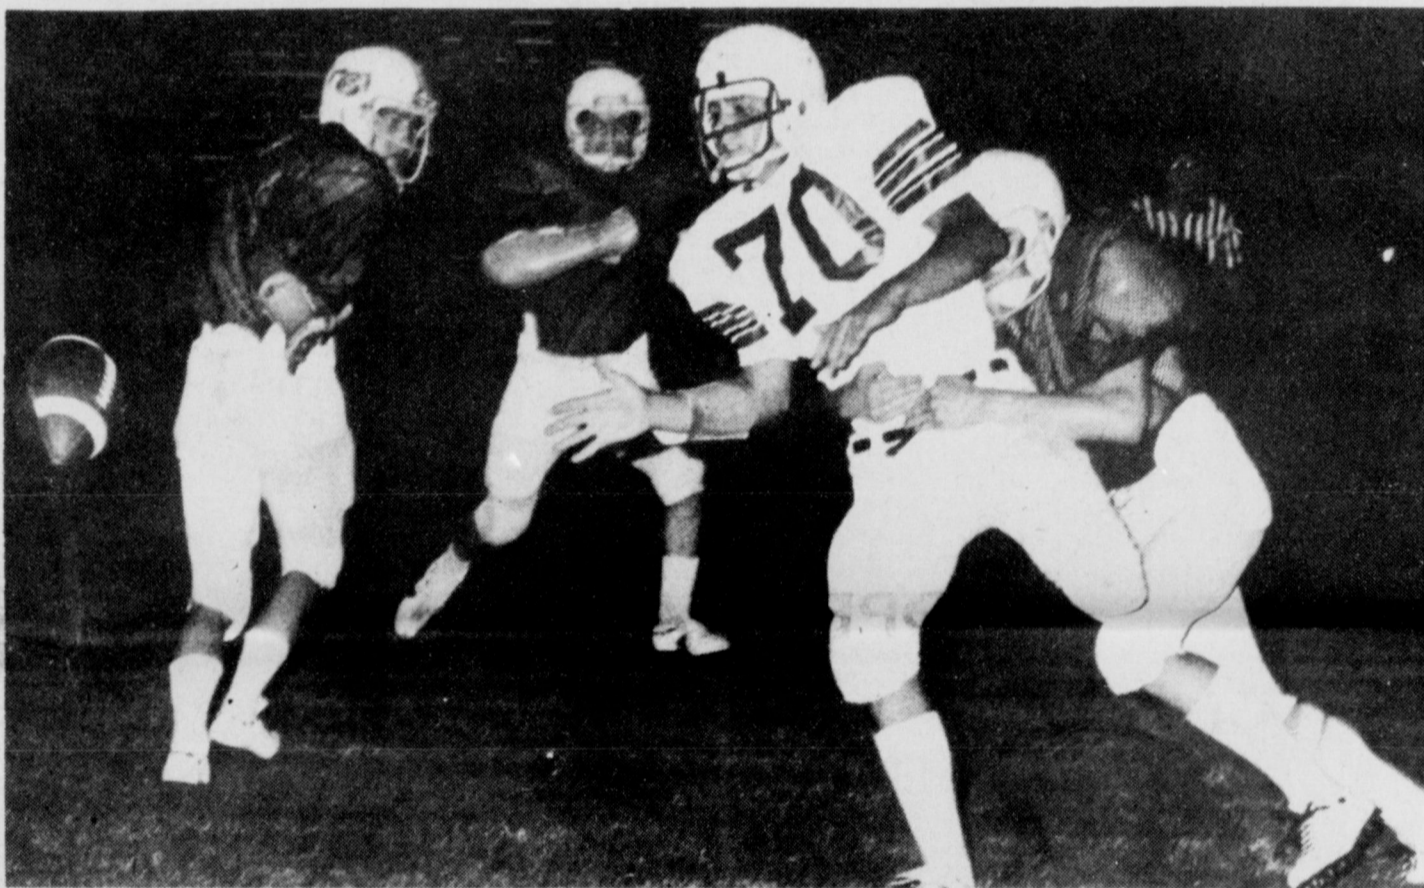

But the freshmen Hawks emerged victorious, outscoring their hosts 2-0.

"We felt we made lots of progress," commented Tone afterward. "But we have a long way to go. The boys made a lot of improvement since the Grapevine scrimmage. And we did a lot of experimenting on plays, so we could have done even better had we gone with those plays we knew would work."

"The players did a good job close to the goal line, offensively," he pointed out.

School budget over $1-million

A new budget of $1.1-million was adopted by Holliday school trustees during a called session last Thursday night.

With large jumps in the costs of insurance and utilities, according to Supt. Ray Coe, the proposed budget was adopted at $1,157,360.

Largely due to the air conditioning of classrooms, $35,000 is set aside for electricity. Expenditures for natural gas was set at $10,000.

The largest single category is salaries which is estimated to cost the district $518,234 during the coming year.

Payments toward the school's construction and renovation project will total $300,000, with another $84,000 going into debt service.

Broken down by departments, this is district's proposed budget for 1977 - 78:

Instruction $384,894; Library $16,150; Principals $52,200; Transportation $57,176; Co-curricular $58,600; Debt service $84,000; Construction $300,000; Administration $98,225; Maintenance $106,115.

In other action Thursday night the school board accepted the resignation of Phil Anderson.

New teachers whose contracts were approved were Barbara Waldschmidt and Connie York.

Mayor Jim Darr, Alderman Charles Parker and Water Supt. Hershel McDaniel met with the board to discuss sanitation services when the city outlaws trash burning effective today.

City and school officials agreed trash at the school would be collected daily and the school would pay the city $100 monthly for the service.

The board voted itself into executive session for half an hour for what board president Lonnie Brackeen termed personnel matters.

When trustees reopened the meeting to the public they voted to draft a job description for the school maintenance man.

In other action Thursday night the board amended the 1976-77 budget and decided to purchase an evaporative cooler for the girl's athletic dressing rooms.

The full board was present Thursday night, and visitors included Jim Walker.

Citizen cooperation needed

The City of Holliday will embark on a mammoth project today and its success largely depends on the cooperation and patience of residents here.

Today marks the day trash burning is to cease and weekly garbage collection at residences begins.

First, we should dispel any misconceptions that the move to outlaw trash burning was instigated by the Holliday City Council or municipal staffers.

If the truth were known, those folks at city hall dreaded to see this day come because they will be the ones to catch the heat if collections don't go as smoothly as we all would like.

It was the Texas Air Control Board with threats of fines that forced the city to impose the new method of collecting and disposing of trash.

Persons may protest when the additional $2.50 charge for garbage collection appears on their monthly water and sewer billings. However, most estimates of what the new program will cost the city run between $5,000 and $10,000 annually.

Nobody knows for sure what it will cost since it's a new undertaking.

We do know the city must purchase or hire out a bulldozer to regularly pack the disposal pit at the landfill. The city has had to hire additional personnel and the cost of maintaining and operating the garbage truck for fulltime operation will be additional large expenditures.

But probably the biggest hassles will come during inclement weather when alleys are impassable. That's when a little patience and understanding with city crews will be in order.

In fact, everyone will need to exercise a little patience, especially during the first few weeks of the new program while the inevitable kinks are ironed out.

New trash program initiates

A ban against trash burning and a new program of weekly residential garbage collection was scheduled to be implemented today in Holliday.

Although the new system of collecting and disposing of garbage was to be instituted today, it will be about three weeks before the council adopts the new ordinance which will spell out the dos and don'ts of future trash disposal.

Holliday councilmen spent about four hours in a special meeting Monday night discussing the issue.

About half their time aldermen spent with Mike Hubbard, an Iowa Park attorney, who is drafting Holliday's new trash ordinance.

Hubbard is expected to have the ordinance drafted in time for a public hearing at the council's next regular meeting set for 7 p.m. Sept. 13.

The council, absent only Alderman Fred Maier, gave Hubbard a list of about a dozen items they want incorporated into the new ordinance.

Here is a list of the provisions expected to be contained in the new ordinance:

- Prohibition of all trash burning in the City of Holliday.
- Limiting households to 120 gallons of trash each week with containers not to exceed 30 gallons.
- Violators of the ordinance may be fined not less than $10 nor more than $200.

- Trash containers must be made stationary.
- No rocks, cement chunks, large board or other heavy materials will be removed from trash containers.
- Alley collection except in times of inclement weather when residents should carry their trash containers to the front of their homes on their day for collection.
- Alleys must not be obstructed, and city will have authority to clear any obstruction.
- Residents will be charged $2.50 monthly.

- Business and commercial users will be charged residential for once-weekly collection, and $2.50 for each additional pickup as needed.
- Industrial users will contract with the city for services.

Holliday residents can expect to have their trash collected in the following locations, according to days:

Monday - South of railroad tracks and east of Main including Whiteaker, Easy and FM 1954.

Tuesday - South of railroad tracks and west of Main to West Ave.

Wednesday - North of railroad tracks and east of N. Main to Stone Addition.

Thursday - North of railroad tracks and west of N. Main to Garland Ray Addition.

City crews were instructed to empty 50-gallon barrels used for burning during their first coverage of the city.

In other action Monday night Mayor Jim Darr was forced to cast a tie-breaking vote on a related issue.

It was a 3-2 decision to put Junior Akers in charge of trash collection. Akers also was to be placed on indefinite probation.

Aldermen Charles Parker, Melvin Bills and the mayor carried the vote which was opposed by aldermen Ben Ezzell and Red Denney.

School enrollment continues to grow

Holliday's public education facilities may have been expanded just in the nick of time, judging by early enrollment figures.

Holliday's combined enrollment has increased by about 100 students since 1974, according to figures supplied by school officials.

After two full days of classes, the elementary school here, with grades kindergarten through sixth, has 310 students on its rolls.

High school and junior high have a combined enrollment of 338 students.

Wednesday morning Holliday's enrollment stood at 648 students.

A year ago at this time Holliday's combined enrollment was 597.

At the beginning of school in 1975 Holliday had 553 students on its rolls, and in 1974 enrollment stood at 541 during the first week of the school year.

Although enrollment now stands at a healthy 648, elementary principal Dan Owen predicted the classroom population here won't peak until around February.

Owen explained February is a "settling down time" when fewer families are moving because of job changes.

Big Red season opener Friday

Eagles shoot for 6-in-row win over Nocona

If history proves correct the Nocona Indians will be in for a good thumping when Holliday's varsity Eagles invade redskin territory for tomorrow night's regular season debut.

Holliday's regular season opener is scheduled for 8 p.m. Friday in Nocona.

Somewhat of a trend has been established for the perennial clash between the Eagles and Indians.

The Eagles have a five-year tradition of skunking the Class AA Indians in both teams' first rattle out of the gridiron box.

Nocona hasn't scored on the Eagles since 1972, and Holliday has been widening its margin of victory each year.

It was back in 1972 that the Eagles initiated the trend by edging Nocona 6-0. Holliday jumped out front 22-0 the following year.

In 1974 the Eagles nudged out the Indians 12-0, but in 1972 - the best year ever experienced by a Holliday gridiron squad - Coach Don Lucy pushed his birds to a 26-0 victory over the Indians.

The Eagles came back in the bicentennial year for a landslide 27-0 decision over Nocona.

Hard work pays off

When football fans are admiring those sharp, new uniforms the Eagle cheerleaders are wearing, the cheerleaders probably will be thinking about how their hard work paid off.

As the parents of a cheerleader will attest, being the queen of Friday night spirit sometimes can get expensive.

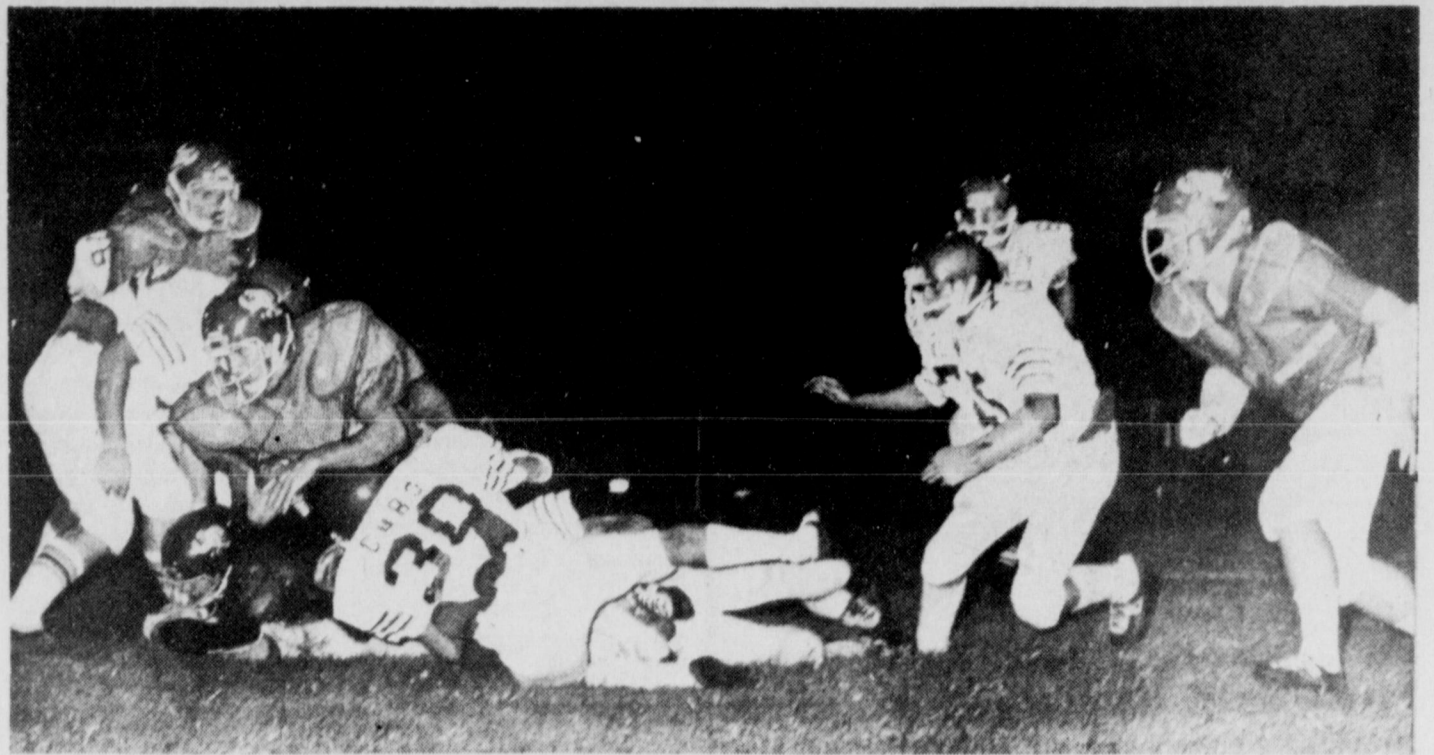

By undertaking several projects during the summer this year's batch of varsity cheerleaders raised enough money to purchase new uniforms and finance their attendance of a cheerleading school, said Kay Lucy, sponsor.

Traci Anderson, a senior, will be head cheerleader. Amanda Wood and Donna Ruth also are seniors.

DeDe Leonard will represent the junior class on the sidelines, while Vanessa Forester and Kim Addison will be the sophomores in the crew.

Penny Parnell and Kristi Lucy will be the freshman cheerleaders.

TUMBLING DOWN - Holliday fullback Larry Ayres is brought to the turf after making a good gain during last Friday's scrimmage against Olney. The Big Red Machine opens regular season play tomorrow night in Nocona.

Eagles dominate second scrimmage

Holliday's varsity Eagles racked up eight first downs and a TD against Olney in the final pre-season scrimmage.

Fired by an enthusiastic hometown crowd, the Eagle touchdown came during the first half of a two-part scrimmage staged in Holliday's newly revamped gridiron facility.

The touchdown came on a 17-yard scamper by running back Jay Wright.

Holliday's scoring drive was inflated by a 31-yard gain by Sonny Henson and a 35-yard sprint by Wright.

Fullback Larry Ayres garnered most of the tough nickle-and-dime yardage. Quarterback Steve Lucy called the shots with improved confidence.

Holliday picked up five first downs and the TD during its first 20 offensive plays.

When the ball was turned over to Olney, the Eagle defense pushed the Cubs 12 yards behind the line of scrimmage during the first three plays.

The Cubs were held to a lone first down during their initial 20 offensive possessions.

Gerry Graves picked off a stray Cub from his corner safety position.

Neither team scored during the second bout, although Holliday's offensive unit made three first downs.

Olney made no first downs during the second go around.

The Eagle defense forced a Cub fumble, and Bimbo Stone came up with an interception.

In the junior varsity scrimmage, Holliday made five first downs to Olney's one conversion.

The only score in the JV scrimmage came on a 30 yard pass from Porter to Joey Kincaid.
