Call for Republican State Convention: Headquarters Republican State Central Committee

papers in the past were certainly in accordance with what he believed to be right. Nothing could add to his reputation at the present time so much as to join once more in the contest for good government and good citizenship, local, state and national under the banner of the party which he served so long and whose recognition of his character and personal ability is only one of the claims which it has for his service and loyalty.

Another leader in the Silver Republican ranks is a man elected to office by the Republicans of this county and who still holds possession of that office. It is customary in these later days for a man elected under one party name who may after change his political views, to feel no compunctions at retaining the honors and the emoluments obtained from the party which he has abandoned. So Teller served for a time as United States senator. So this man keeps the position which a stricter sense of political honor would have compelled him to resign. He has used all the influence that he possesses to break up the party which honored him, and to place in power not so much his own faction of that party as candidates of other parties wholly alien and hostile to his own. He is at the present time a candidate for re-election, and his only hope lies in such an arrangement of the political factors as may enable him to trade the vote of his Silver Republican associates for the support of Democrats and Populists.

A third man owes his influence not so much to his personality as to his position. He is one of the very latest converts to the silver cause, and for that reason, only one of the strongest advocates of Silver Republicanism to the last ditch. He was an advocate of McKinley's nomination. He was president of the first McKinley club organized in Colorado. He was a Republican, open, outspoken, zealous throughout the campaign. He was proud to claim the honor of personal acquaintance with the Republican leader, who is now the national chief and of a birthplace in the same state. It was not until after the election showed a majority in this city and in this county for Bryan that this man began his advocacy of the silver cause. There are others.

These men may succeed in preventing the reunion of the Republican party this fall. These men may succeed in defeating the Republican candidates at the coming election and securing the success either of a fusion ticket, or as now seems more probable, of one of the factions of the anti-Republican forces. These men may succeed in keeping themselves out of the rank of the Republican party for a year or more, but they will not succeed in doing this very long. These men are Republicans. Their followers are Republicans. They all belong in the Republican party. Their sentiments are Republican; their training is Republican; their political sympathies, their political experience, their political acquaintance are all Republican. The more they see of Democracy and of Populism, the more they are disgusted with them. The more they see of Republicanism as exemplified by the party now in power in the nation the more they are drawn toward the party of their old love. Each success of the McKinley administration heralded in the daily papers brings a thrill of pride and patriotism to their hearts. You cannot make Democrats or Populists out of these men. You cannot make anything of them except Republicans, they belong in that party and that is where they will be before long in spite of themselves. There is no question now nor in the future of the "repentant sinner" business. These men will not get fatted calf when they come home. They have done what they have believed to be right. Sooner or later they will again do what they believe to be right and will take their places under the old banner and on an equal footing with those who have stood by the party in its hour of distress. This may not be exact justice, but it is good Americanism.

This year is a critical time in the history of the Republican party in this county. These men know it. There is no slight ground for believing that the silver cause can be advanced in the very least degree by the result of the next county election. Personal vengeance may be satisfied, personal ends may be attained, Republicanism may be injured, Democracy and Populism may be helped, good government may be impaired, incompetence and extravagance in public office may be promoted. What will the Silver Republicans do? Will they return and be welcomed as the Silver Republicans of other counties are, or will they wait to return with the disgrace of successful Democracy or Populism on them?

Even the New York Journal is falling into line. A year ago that journal insisted that the free coinage of silver was the only medium to gather in a harvest of prosperity. It has published a full page article showing a highly prosperous condition in New York and it predicts increase and continuation.

The four carnival papers issued by the Gazette under the name of poster and selling for 10 cents, by mail 15 cents, has proven a great success. The 22 pages embody all the news and illustrations of the gala week. The number of papers left is small, and all those who have not handed in their lists should do so at once.

But what about the casino at Broadmoor? Now is the time to act, so that the people of this city may have the famous old resort ready to throw open its doors early next spring.

Opinions of the State Press: The fact that the Republicans of Colorado without distinction as to which party they belong, have united to march together in this fall, causes great consternation in the Democratic camp. All enemies of the Republican party are greatly alarmed at the situation. Fusion is the name which they give to the result of joining in hand this state over to the Democracy. It was a soft snap, and the vigorous kicks registered by the Denver News, at the prospect of Colorado going to the Democrats, which they foolishly lost, are natural. Prosperity is enjoying like an on-rolling wave to this country and to Colorado. The silver issue will take care of itself, and in no way can it be a factor in this fall's elections in Colorado. Last year there was a tremendous pressure brought to bear, on the argument that Senator Teller was in danger of being re-elected. Now that he is safe in the senate where he can fight for 16 to 1, there is no possible excuse for the Republicans of Colorado continuing to play cat and lend a hand to anti-Democratic elements.

Gold Storage of Coal: Philadelphia Record. One of the humorous features—perhaps the only one—of the coal miners' strike is contained in the following dispatch from Denver, Colo.: Railroad men are greatly interested in the discovery which is alleged to have been made at La Junta, Colo., that the Santa Fe Railroad company is shipping coal to eastern ports in refrigerator cars. According to the report, four refrigerator cars were side-tracked at La Junta for repairs. The cars were marked and sealed, and the contents were billed as perishable fruit, which has right of way over all other class of traffic except mail and fast passenger service. It was necessary for the workmen to enter the cars in order to make the repairs. The seals were broken and the cars were found to be filled with coal from mines of Colorado and New Mexico. Refrigerator cars are said to have been going out of the state on a very extensive scale for two or three weeks past. The ingenuity of man is everywhere apparent, and this latest scheme of shipping coal on ice, or in refrigerator cars, is quite worthy of the celebrated Sam Slick. The inventor of this scheme, it appears, not only prevented the cars from being side-tracked, except on account of an accident, but got them billed through with right of way over other traffic lest the cargo should melt or be spoiled on the way. The apparatus worked well; one was imported into Philadelphia in 1865, and was exhibited in operation many times. It consisted of a kind of kettle in which water containing ammonia was placed. The spout was connected by a tube to a sort of "still" or condenser, consisting of a tin coil for holding water and the vessel containing the substance to be frozen, the tube was coiled in this coil into a "worm." When the water became heated in the kettle on the range the ammonia was driven off in the form of gas and condensed in the worm. The kettle was then removed from the fire, and as the water cooled the ammonia returned to the gaseous form, passing from the condenser and was reabsorbed by the water in the kettle. In the act of passing over the ammonia absorbed heat from the water surrounding the worm tube in the coil; the result was that in about half an hour a small quantity of ice was produced. This process has been greatly improved upon, and is now very extensively employed in making artificial ice on a large scale. It is customary to calculate the cost of the ice by the number of tons of coal burned and by the amount of ice produced. Edison and others have been trying to discover a method of extracting mechanical power from coal without wasting it in the form of heat, and furthermore, so that coal stored for a length of time in refrigerators, may be found to possess entirely new and unsuspected properties? Heat is a mode of motion, said Tyndall, and colder philosophers have said that matter at the absolute zero of temperature will entirely change its characteristics. We know that the diamond is chemically pure carbon, and efforts have been made to crystallize black opaque carbon into transparent diamonds by the aid of intense heat. No one has yet thought (so far as we know) of attempting to do this by the aid of intense cold. What a remarkable discovery it would be should it be that coal put into cold storage, even for a deceptive purpose, should crystallize into the diamond form of carbon! While we admit we do not anticipate such a result from the experiment of shipping coal in refrigerator cars, the subject is an entertaining one for a passing thought, and the conception has a pleasing effect upon the mind at this season for the idea of putting coal into cold storage in the middle of August is certainly novel, as it also seems an appropriate time to try such experiments!

MINES, STOCKS AND INVESTMENTS.

Colorado Springs Mining Stock Association.

Colorado Springs, Aug. 23.—Business opened in pretty good shape this morning at the Mining Stock association and prospects for an active week appeared to be bright.

The prospects continued to be but little noticed, but the unlisted stocks are finding considerable favor.

One of the most noticeable features of the call was the continued strength of Moon-Anchors, which opened at 97, about 4 cents over Saturday's close.

The sales of Elktion amounted to 2,000 shares and the price was from 95 to 97 1/2. The opening transactions were consummated at the higher figure and the price gradually tailed over to 98 cents at the close of the call, about the last 1,000 shares closing at that figure.

Isabella made a very fair showing all things considered, about 7,500 shares at 20 1/2. It is now apparent that there will be no dividend during the next quarter and this makes the continued strength of the stock most surprising.

Jack Pot continued steady at about 9 1/2 and had 5,000 sales while the same can be said of Specimen, which had a credit of 4,500 shares at 4 1/2 and 5.

Union had over 11,000 sales at from 23 1/2 to 24, closing somewhat weaker than it opened. In the first part of the morning it looked as if the stock was going to advance considerably but towards the close it fell off but the variations in price were at this time important.

Among the prospects Fanny Rawlings and Argentinum-Juniata were the most important, over 15,000 shares of the stock changed hands and with the opening figure at 2 1/2 and the close at 2 1/2, it is seen that there was but little variation in price.

Another fairly active stock was Kimberly, which had a credit of 18,000 shares at 3 1/2 and 3 1/4.

Paso Gold was strong and advanced from 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 during the call. There were a number of other traders among the unlisted stocks but apart from Anchorage-Leland, which had a credit of 1,500 shares at from 97 1/2 to 98, none are particularly worthy of mention.

Messrs. King and Dawson's letter was dated at Juneau. They report having had a very pleasant trip and feel very hopeful of success.

Colorado Springs Board of Trade and Mining Exchange.

Colorado Springs, Aug. 23.—Business at the Board of Trade and Mining Exchange opened up with greater activity today and started the week off with flying colors.

The total sales for the morning amounted to over 250,000 shares, but was principally due to the heavy trading in one stock, which alone had a credit of over 400,000 shares.

The star seller this morning was Cleveland, which had a credit of 405,000 shares. The general tendency of the stock was downward, and the variation was as much as from $2.75 to $5 per thousand.

The higher figures were obtained shortly after the opening of the call and then a general decline set in which did not end until the stock had reached $3 per thousand, which was paid for about the last 100,000 shares which closed the call.

Other heavy sellers in the cheap class were Daisy Bellard, with about 32,000 shares at $6.25 and $7 per thousand, Shannon, with 25,000 shares at $4.50 and $5 per thousand, and Champagne, with 15,000 shares to its credit at $2.25 per thousand.

Among the stocks selling at higher figures than these Republic was prominent with 4,000 transactions at 3 1/2. This remark will also apply to Kimberly, which sold to the extent of 10,000 shares at 3 1/2 and 3 1/4, and Little Cut Diamond with 5,000 shares at $2.50 per thousand.

Shipping Mines. Bid. Ask. Sales. Anaconda 42 42 1000

GOLDEN FLEECE REPORT.

Directors Do Not Feel Justified in Resuming Dividends—The Present Condition Explained.

The board of directors of the Golden Fleece Mining and Milling company here-tofore submit a statement of the operations of the company for the six months ending July 15, 1897.

Cash on hand July 15 1897 $89,733.05. Total liabilities of the company, $5,283.00.

The liabilities are represented by bills payable held by the largest stockholders of the company, on account of advances made by each stockholder for the completion of the purchase of the Governor Pitkin claim.

It is expected that arrangements will be made with reference to the extension of the same until the property of the company is in better condition.

The directors regret to say that they do not feel justified in resuming the payment of dividends at this time.

First—To the fact that large ore reserves which were thought by the best judges to represent very rich ore, were found to contain low grade ore.

Geo. W. Pierce, Esq., Secretary Golden Fleece M. and M. Co.

Dear Sir:—During the first half of 1897, development work in your property has been pushed with all possible expedition at all points where the probabilities seemed to warrant the hope of encountering profitable ore chutes.

Small bodies of profitable ground have been discovered, the results in the main have been disappointing in that the limited discoveries have not kept pace with the stoping.

During the last half year the 200 foot west drift from the Pierce shaft has been advanced 22 feet, at a cost of $919.23, or $4.59 per foot.

The star shaft from the Pierce shaft has been advanced 22 feet, at a cost of $919.23, or $4.59 per foot.

The further exploitation of the property is being vigorously and systematically pushed, and with the large area of virgin ground still remaining unexplored in this fissure so phenomenally mineralized at other points, there is more than a reasonable prospecting chance upon which to base the hope that its results may prove profitable.

Very respectfully yours, W. A. Akers, Manager.
