"Out of School Life into Life's School."

A LARGE AUDIENCE PRESENT

A Class of Twenty-Five Members which is Remarkable in Many Ways, Starts Out in Life with a Good Record of Duty well Performed—Seventeen Girls and Eight Boys—Beautiful Pictures Presented as the Graduates Appeared on the Stage Seated in a Semi-Circle on the Graduates of the Young Men and Misses' Essay in Full—The School Attendance.

Twenty-five young men and women of the graduating class of 1897 of the Colorado Springs high school, conscious of the fact that their duties in this local institution of learning had been well performed, appeared upon the stage of the high school auditorium last evening to receive their longed-for diplomas, which had been their ambition for so many long months.

Wearily moments of labor and the trials incident to school life were forgotten in the blissful hour of their triumph. The precious goal which had been striven for so long was at last reached and now before their parents, relatives and friends in the vast audience assembled before them, these seventeen "sweet girl graduates" and eight many young men were to be crowned with the laurel wreath of knowledge and go forth into the world as men and women who had accomplished the first labor of their lives with honor and credit to themselves and to the institution which had afforded them the opportunity to drink from the "fountain of knowledge."

The scene was a beautiful and impressive one as the twenty-five young men and women sat in a semi-circle on the stage facing the perfect sea of faces in the audience, parents, relatives and friends who had congregated to testify their appreciation in the manner in which they had performed their tasks, and to wish them goodspeed on their journeys through life.

A Striking Picture. Long before the appointed hour of 8 the vast auditorium of the high school was crowded to the doors and people were standing in the aisles. The stage had been artistically decorated with potted plants, palms and ferns, by the members of the graduating class themselves, and the background of the stage was a picture of a lovely young woman arrayed in spotless white, and handsome young men, made a picture at once pleasing and artistic.

The exercises were opened with the invocation by Rev. Manly D. Ormes, who in fitting words asked the Almighty to look down and bless these young men and women and guard them through the devious pathway of life.

The class quartette, composed of Ethel and Clara Waugh, Pierre Barber and Frank J. Allen, rendered a pleasing song which elicited the heartiest applause from the audience.

Mr. Pierre Tennyson Barber's oration on "Arbitration," which followed, was an effort worthy of a much older man. He handled his subject exhaustively and showed that he had made a deep study of this all-important question.

Miss Carruthers' Talent. Miss Helen Carruthers in her essay "Under the Surface" fully demonstrated that a high school girl has a good insight into the ways of the world which are supposed to be learned only by experience.

Mr. Reid, whose sweet tones are so well known to the graduates of the high school, delighted his audience with a rendition of "Oh, Loving Heart, Trust On," by Gottschalk. Miss Smith accompanied him on the piano.

Mr. Charles Clyde Spier delivered an oration entitled "Blaine's Presidential Contest," which reflected great credit upon the young man. He dwelt upon incidents of the political career of the "Plumed Knight" who dwelt upon, and the great statesman was highly eulogized by his young champion.

Without doubt the piece de resistance of the evening was the essay of Miss Grace Eaton Woods, and it elicited so much favorable comment from the audience that it is published in full. Miss Woods took as the subject of her essay, "Greece of Yesterday and Today," and the manner in which this bright young woman handled her subject completely captured her hearers. Miss Woods will make her mark in the world, as she is bright, studious and ambitious. She goes to the Chicago University next year.

Greece holds the scepter of universal sovereignty in virtue of great names. Let us call the roll. There is Homer, the epic poet, the first of the world's fame for lyric poetry has spread the world over; and Sappho, the first woman famous as a poet, the whom Plato calls the Tenth Muse, whose name Synonides writes: "Of all the poets of the world, of all the illustrious artists of literature, Sappho is the one whose every word has a peculiar and unmistakable perfume, the seal of absolute and inimitable grace."

Among the dramatists we recall the names of Aeschylus, Sophocles, Euripides, men of lofty ideals, whom the world will not forget. In history, Herodotus, Xenophon, and, greatest of all, Thucydides; in science, Archimedes and Pythagoras; in oratory, Pericles, Aeschines and Demosthenes; among philosophers, Socrates, Plato, Aristotle; among statesmen, Solon, Pericles, Aristides. What other nation in ancient or modern times can call such a roll? Yet the fatherland of these renowned men was in a scarcely more fertile soil than the Colorado.

It is also a striking fact that the limitations and very calamities of Greece have served to broaden her influence. Her aggressive life could not be held within her narrow boundaries. Her people pushed out into a multitude of colonies and planted cities in different parts of Europe and Asia that became centers of influence, cities that were not absorbed by surrounding peoples but continued distinctly Greek.

But even through her own efforts could Greece have brought the world to her feet. As Myers has put it, "Greece conquered the world by being conquered." The master hand of Alexander was needed to spread her civilization, to make her language universal, to immortalize her learning, to Rome was left the task of completing the work of Alexander. She brought Greek learning through the west as Alexander had done in the east; and even republic of the west. Switzerland, that little gem with its setting of majestic mountains, is the most beautiful light upon all who have aspired to freedom. But the country which is exciting the most interest and admiration today is a clear and more beautiful Greece. This diminutive land, walled in at the north by mountain ranges and washed by the blue waters of the Aegean and the Ionian, is the most beautiful in Europe. Here Dame Nature seems to have done her best in adding to charms of mountain and ocean an intensely blue sea, a clear and more beautiful Greece. Here the fruits of the tropics flourish as well as barley, flax and wheat. Indeed, it has been said that in Greece nature is in disproportion. It is unusually poor in one section, it is unusually rich in another. The whole country is coursed by mountain ranges and is so closely enfolded in the embrace of the sea that no point in its is ten miles from the mountains or forty miles from the shore.

The people, particularly those of ancient Greece, were to a large extent what the country made them. A race naturally quick and intelligent, the mountains developed in them the spirit of freedom; the sea made them daring and brought in culture from older lands; and the scenery intensified their sense of the beautiful, and was also the very breath of their religion in that the wonderful phenomena of Nature were woven into the most beautiful of myths. Thus the Greeks developed from about 1800 B. C. to the age of Pericles, when their brilliant civilization was at its zenith.

Greece gained a world-wide dominion primarily by the supremacy of her language. Give to a people its language and you shape its intellectual life. It is one of the most wonderful phenomena in history that a land so diminutive should have produced a language that conquered the world. Its copiousness, freshness, originality, its purity, its energy, its grace of expression, "Of all the beautiful things which they created," says Prof. Jebb, "their own language was the most beautiful." It carried everywhere purer thought and a higher civilization. But it rendered to the world its highest service in the almost perfect expression which it gave to the sublime truths of Christianity.

This wonderful language is crystallized into a literature unrivaled in ancient or modern times. Greek poetry, both epic and lyric, still charms the student. "Oblivion," says Lowell, "looks in the past, the intellectual world for centuries, nor is her scepter yet broken. Scarcely less universal was her domination in art. The Greeks were peculiarly an artistic people, while the Jews were religious and the Romans political. This refinement of the Hellenes is nowhere more beautifully brought out than in their architecture. The architecture of other nations was massive, heavy and vague; that of the Greeks expressed simplicity, beauty and above all, harmony and symmetry. It was this that made it the most beautiful in the world. Nor can modern architecture, as many of our finest buildings show, improve on the Greek models.

Greek art further seeks to adorn the temples of the gods by means of sculpture. It grows from the rude, stiff figures in wood and stone until Daedalus puts a soul into the marble and sculpture an art of beauty, while the Jews were purer thought and a higher civilization. But it rendered to the world its highest service in the almost perfect expression which it gave to the sublime truths of Christianity.

Washington, June 10.—The long deferred debate on the sugar schedule of the tariff bill came on abruptly at 1 o'clock today after the senate had disposed of the cereals in the agricultural schedule. Mr. Jones of Arkansas opened the debate to some extent answering Mr. Aldrich's statement on the sugar schedule.

Mr. Vest severely criticized the sugar trust and argued that the rates were a further tribute to its vast resources. Mr. Caffery also opposed the schedule as a whole.

No final action was taken on any feature of the schedule further than the withdrawal of the original senate committee amendments.

Mr. Jones read a statement from an expert accountant showing profits of 39 per cent. by one of the sugar companies of the Pacific coast, which vigorously supported the abolition of Hawaiian reciprocity. It disclosed the comfortable condition of a concern which came here and pleaded the baby act, he said.

Mr. Jones then explained at some length his interpretation of the sugar schedule from a technical standpoint, reading expert opinion to substantiate his claims.

Mr. White's Question. Mr. White of California asked what course was to be pursued as to the Hawaiian provision of the paragraph under consideration. To this Mr. Allison replied that the provision was in the bill as it stood at present and would have to be considered sooner or later.

The committee might and might not submit a new proposal on the subject, but it might be sent to the committee on foreign relations.

Mr. Vest followed Mr. Jones in criticism of the general features of the sugar schedule. It had always been, he said, the Cape Verde Islands, which were to be included in the whole question of the existence of the gigantic sugar trust, which had absorbed the Hawaiian reciprocity, until it was approved by the senate.

Mr. Perkins of California announced his readiness to support the export bounty if made a part of the tariff bill. He argued that goods exported in vessels flying the flag of the United States and documented in customs houses of the United States. He proposed an amendment to that effect.

There was some opposition to this from Mr. Tillman and Mr. Allen, but Mr. Cannon said he was disposed, as a means of securing the support of Mr. Perkins and others of the Republican side of the chamber to accept this new proposition if 75 per cent. of the bounty should go to the agricultural exporter and 25 per cent. to the American vessel.

Mr. Perkins declined to accept this suggestion, saying he was not seeking a subsidy for the vessels, but merely to limit the duty on goods carried in American ships.

The Utah senator, Mr. Perkins said, could either accept or reject the amendment as a whole. Mr. Cannon declined to accept the amendment and Mr. Perkins thereupon withdrew it.

The bounty amendment was defeated 10 to 29.

Mr. Pettigrew gave notice that he would offer his amendment to admit free of duty goods made by trusts in connection with the schedule.

The Hawaiian Provision. Mr. Allison asked that the proviso relating to the Hawaiian Islands go over. He said in this connection that the action of the senate committee relative to the Hawaiian proposition was due to a purpose to exclude Hawaiian sugar. The committee had never considered the question and had let it go over for future consideration. Later, he thought, a proposition on that branch of the subject would be presented. Mr. Allison then moved an amendment striking out the Hawaiian Islands from the duty on refined sugars.

Mr. Jones' Sugar Speech. Mr. Jones, Arkansas, was recognized for a speech on the general features of the sugar schedule. He had small bottles showing the various grades of sugar, raw and refined, and with these illustrated his argument as he proceeded. He asserted that the new sugar proposition would increase the profits of the sugar refiners in every point. It was the purpose of the managers of the bill they should let it be known. He was in favor of a tax on sugar, but he believed it should be made as light as possible and should give no special benefit to anybody.

Early in his remarks Mr. Jones referred to the unfairness of Mr. Aldrich's statement on the sugar schedule, in speaking of the difference between German sugar and the raw sugar coming to this country. The comparison was not a fair one, Mr. Jones contended, as the German sugar that he had referred to was assessed and collected on sugar that is the product of any refinery of sugar in the United States; but the persons or corporations engaged in the business of refining sugar, in whose business there is employed less than $100,000 of cash capital and who are not connected in business by agreement with any other person or corporation engaged in refining sugar, are exempt from such tax. The laws for the collection of tax on tobacco, so far as they are applicable to the subject of this enactment, shall apply to the collection of the tax imposed by this act upon refined sugar. And no person or corporation shall be exempt from the tax on sugar refined at any sugar refinery, who shall not clearly establish the right to such exemption under the rules and regulations to be prescribed by the secretary of the treasury for the execution of this law.

Agricultural Export Bounty Proposition Defeated by a Large Majority—Mr. McEnery of Louisiana Declares that the Sugar Industry in His State Does Not Need Protection.

cent was right. Under that differential the company's profits had justly increased. How could the other side now justify a further increase of the differential? He should propose to raise a duty of 1 cent per pound on sugar testing 75 degrees with an increase of three-one hundredths on each degree above that and a differential of one cent on refined.

"I will not propose this in any captious spirit," said he, "but because I believe it is sufficient and that the people are entitled to know exactly what it is proposed to give the refiners."

An Ideal Duty. The ideal duty on sugar, he continued, was an ad valorem duty.

Mr. Jones read letters from sugar men, criticizing the Hawaiian reciprocity treaty and declaring that its benefits accrued entirely to the sugar interests of San Francisco and Hawaii, while taking millions out of the pockets of the people. Commenting on these, Mr. Jones remarked: "When raspberries fall out, honest men get their due."

Mr. Caffery's Speech. Mr. Caffery of Louisiana followed. The old fight between the producers of raw sugar and the refiner, which in this country was the trust, was, he said, again on. He spoke of the scandal of 1894 over the sugar schedule, produced by the incapacity of the sugar trust. It was to be repeated now. There were consumed in this country four billion pounds of sugar annually, of which one billion was to receive half a cent a pound, as this schedule proposed, that would mean $20,000,000 to the trust. Here, then was the impellent case which brought this great corporation to Washington to look after its interests. They not only control the price, but they advance it, he said.

A statement made by him, he said, would show that under all the tariff acts, the profits of the sugar trust were very large. The trust never lost. All it wanted was sufficient tariff to keep out the foreign producer, and then it had the American consumer at its mercy, to be flooded at its sweet will. The trust had said they would be ruined by any differential under 1/2 cent per pound, and yet they had thrived under such a rate.

Mr. Caffery then took up the sugar production which brought this great corporation to Washington to look after its interests. They not only control the price, but they advance it, he said.

A SUNFLOWER CARNIVAL. It is certainly not too late to promote a successful Sunflower carnival for the season of 1907.

There are those of our citizens who are sufficiently interested and who possess the required executive ability to make anything they undertake a success, even at short notice.

The interruption this year in this annual festival series most certainly seems ill advised.

Possibly the first informal carnival, with the simple native flowers used as decorations, appealed to many, even more than the elaborate parades which followed the initial and unique Rocky Mountain carnival.

Denver's festival this year gives promise now of attaining anything of like character in past history of the city.

The attention of the east was directed toward Colorado Springs after its floral carnival of September 9, 1903.

THE BICYCLE PATH. The proposed cement bicycle path from Denver to Palmer Lake is a splendid conception and an extension from Palmer Lake to Colorado Springs is a still better one.

The completion of such a path would create one of the greatest long distance rides in the country, and it would be the means of attracting riders from all over the west.

AN AMERICAN TALKS IN ENGLAND.

The London Shareholder publishes the expressions of a prominent and well informed American banker.

The gentleman is accustomed to handle large sums and is intimately connected with the management of some of the most important American industrial enterprises.

The business situation in the United States he considered more promising than for a considerable while past.

The uncertainty prevailing in regard to tariff changes and their effects upon the business interests of the community, he considered much exaggerated.

There are those of our citizens who are sufficiently interested and who possess the required executive ability to make anything they undertake a success, even at short notice.

The German Navy.

The German emperor's unique appeal to the people for the new warships which the reichstag is now to vote upon has renewed attention to the German navy.

which his impetuous war lord hopes one day to make to rival that of Great Britain. From such rivalry it is a long way off, and is relatively making no progress toward it.

Nominally, the German navy is only 25 years old, it having originated in the acquisition of the first ironclad.

Prussia began to build a navy with which to rival that of Great Britain when she came on Prussia had one corvette, two side-wheel steamers and 25 small gunboats, and got handsomely thrashed by the British fleet.

She was very little better off for ships in the second Danish war, and got beaten again on the sea, though she crushed Denmark on land.

Since the establishment of the German imperial navy in 1872 considerable progress has been made, and several great ship-building yards have been opened in Germany.

Four of these were completed before 1881, each having 16 inches of armor and six 10.2-inch guns.

Since 1882 many vessels of various classes have been laid down. Two battleships of 11,000 tons each will be unique, and probably of singular efficiency.

The Springfield Republican comments on the coming gold mining convention in Denver and says that it "serves to dispel the popular illusion that the mining states of the far west are silver states almost exclusively."

INSPECTOR ROBY

A Building Supervisor Chosen by Council Last Night.

STLESS SORT OF A MEETING

W. R. Roby Elected to the Position of Inspector of Buildings—American Water Works Association Delegates to Be Shown the City—Charles Pearson for Temporary Police Magistrate—Robert Gale's Case.

With the exception of Dr. Leech, who was attending the High School exercises, and Mr. Woodland, who is on his way to Liverpool, the members of the council were all present at last evening's adjourned meeting. It was early in contrast with the late start proceedings and what little was accomplished consumed more time than thought.

Attorney Gouly was late and the wheels of the city refused to turn until the legal light illuminated the chamber with his luminous presence. The mayor threatened to dock his salary and peace reigned. The important item for consideration was the selection of a building inspector. Under the conduct of Messrs. Atkinson, Reid and Douglass, the examination or civil service system were participated in by six applicants. The standard called for was 75 per centage on an average in the questions asked. Messrs. Harry Berry and W. R. Roby were the only ones to qualify for over 50 per cent. Berry's average was 55 and Roby's 83. A vote was called for and the first ballot resulted in no decision being made as to which of the two eligible candidates should be chosen. The second ballot showed Roby as the choice and he was accordingly appointed to the position of inspector of buildings.

Aldermen Frost and Rouse advanced many good reasons why the papers and marks made by all the applicants should be filed in the possession of the city in order to have them for reference and the settling of any protests that might come up. This sentiment was indulged in by the others and was retained.

The next subject before the board was the entertainment of the delegates of the American Water Works Association. About fifty of these gentlemen arrived in town last night and this morning will scale Pike's Peak on the cog road. Engineer Reid will accompany them and point out points of interest. On their return from Manitou in the afternoon, they will be taken via the Rapid Transit line to Cheyenne Canon and around the city. The local system of water works will be explained to them. Alderman St. John maintained that a system of the wonder-ful system would be a great advertising benefit to Colorado Springs. The others agreeing in this, a committee will wait on the visiting representatives and make things as pleasant as possible during their stay.

Judge Pearson.
In the absence of Police Magistrate Owen, who is in Salt Lake with a sick wife, a substitute was appointed to temporarily fill the vacancy. Charlie Pearson, the talented and popular assistant in the city hall office was unanimously appointed to preside at the manifold cases of the Wandering Willie and other curious characters corralled by the police for a morning hearing. The youthful judiciary is expected to make many assignments for work on the streets.

A west side drainage problem next perplexed the councilmen. Robert Gale, a merchant on the west side has entered a suit against the city for damages sustained by the removal of a drain box so that his property suffers.

There were two or three west end citizens present who were introduced by Alderman Jones. They also complained of the drain. As no steps could be taken in the meeting without an investigation, the question of a remedy was not argued.

Just after the curfew tolled the ninth hour the council adjourned to meet again Monday evening at 7:45.

PATRIOTIC PRIZES.

Awarded Bright Public School Pupils By Daughters of the American Revolution.

The prizes offered by the Zebulon Pike chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, to the pupils of the public schools for the best essay on a topic connected with American history, were awarded yesterday morning by Mrs. W. F. Sluom, state regent, and Mrs. F. W. Goddard, chapter regent. The prize for third grade pupils, a copy of Coffin's "Boys of '76" was given to Ida Johnson, 8 years old, of the Luller school. The teacher of this grade, Miss Shaubolt, is a member of the Zebulon Pike chapter, and has done much to give her pupils genuine interest in the history of their country.

The prize offered by the chapter, "The American Revolution," in two volumes, was awarded to Lela McCann in the seventh grade of the Washington school. This is the same grade which secured the prize last year. The pupils are younger than the average in this city, and the fact that they have received the prize twice in succession points to careful work on the part of their teacher, Miss Blandford.

THAT MASTIFF PUP.

Would-be Protectors of the Friendless Dog Make Marshal Gathright's Life Miserable.

Marshal Gathright's life was made a howling wilderness yesterday by the number of applicants for the mastiff pup which was condemned to death this afternoon if no one claimed him.

A few lines which were inspired by a humane lady of the city appeared in The Gazette yesterday morning, stating that any one could have the mastiff pup at the pound by paying the regular license and fine, and these few lines caused 50 or more tender-hearted men and women to apply for the hapless canine.

Marshal Gathright is in a quandary as to who should have the dog, and says that if any more such items appear in the local press he will leave town for a week.

TORRENTS BROKE LOOSE.

The Storm of Last Evening Was One of the Worst in Recent Years—Manitou Got the Worst Of It.

One of the most severe rain and hail storms which has visited this section for several years occurred between 6 and 7 o'clock last evening, and the damage around Manitou is reported to be quite heavy. The downfall of rain and hail for about half an hour was something terrific. Shrubs were beaten to the ground, and the streets of Manitou for a while resembled geyser rivers. Several small washouts are reported on the Denver and Rio Grande and the Colorado Midland roads between Manitou and Colorado City. In a number of places the water, sand and gravel came down off from the mountains in such quantities that the water courses along the sides of the track were blocked, and the Manitou train from Pueblo, which came through about 6:20 o'clock, passed through two or three streams of water which were flowing over the track to a depth as much as 18 inches. Mountain water rushed over the top of bridges on both the Midland and the Rio Grande of Colorado City. A large amount of gravel and rocks were deposited on the tracks, and the Rapid Transit line between Manitou and Colorado City suffered in the same way. A heavy cloud burst is also said to have occurred near Glen Eyrie.

Colorado Springs got but little of the storm, and the rain here was slight, as compared with the valley from the south, storm came up the valley from the south, and seemed to break about five miles south of Colorado Springs. It followed around Cheyenne mountain and the foothills toward Manitou, where it seemed to make an especial effort to show the people of that resort what it could do. It then passed on the Divide country showing that it was nearly as severe there as it was in this neighborhood.

NEW ENGLAND CAPITALISTS.

A Party of Them Stop Over at Broadmoor—Other Guests at the Resort.

A party of New England capitalists traveling in a private car under the espionage of well known Colorado men, stopped at the Broadmoor this week. The number were:

Courtney Burr, St. Johnsbury, Vt.; E. P. Davis, Jr., Colorado Springs; Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Baker, Denver; J. J. Burns, N. The Center, Pueblo.

Other guests at the Broadmoor are: C. S. Thomas, A. B. Moulton, Denver; J. E. O'Hoolihan, Venice, Italy; Dr. F. B. Owsley, Chicago.

DE WOLF-HOPPER SPECIAL.

An Average of 57 Miles an Hour Between Colorado Springs and Tepeka via the Gulf.

The special train which conveyed the De Wolf Hopper troupe to Tepeka via the Denver and Gulf road, made a remarkable time which borders upon a record.

The train, which was made up of a Pullman sleeper, tourist sleeper, chair car and baggage car, left Colorado Springs Wednesday morning at 12:30 and arrived at Tepeka at 2:30 that afternoon.

Allowing for stops and hold overs in about 12 hours.

The company left Tepeka Thursday morning for Kansas City, where an engagement was opened at the Coates opera house. From Kansas City the troupe will return to New York.

HONORABLY ACQUITTED.

The Mann Brothers of Manitou Were Discharged and Cleared of the Accusation of Burglary.

The preliminary examination of the Mann brothers of Manitou, who were charged with burglarizing William Paulson's store about a week ago, was held before Justice Walker yesterday afternoon.

The complaining witness, Night Marshal Stark of Manitou, was placed on the witness stand and related the story of why he caused the arrest of the defendants on the serious charge of burglary, but no conclusive or incriminating evidence could be produced against them.

The Mann brothers were then given a chance to testify in their own behalf, proving a complete alibi, and the case was suddenly terminated by assistant prosecuting attorney McAllister, who, after listening to their testimony, announced that he had heard enough, and requested Justice Walker to dismiss the case.

This result was what was expected by the friends of the defendants, who had all along believed that there was no foundation for the charges.

It is probable that the Mann brothers will now institute proceedings against their accusers for defamation of character.

MAJOR THOMAS.

The High School Cadets Elect a New Commander and Other Officers—Leave for Camp Today.

At a meeting yesterday afternoon Major Spinney resigned in favor of another and M. A. Thomas was unanimously elected as major of the High school battalion for the coming year. Spinney contemplated finishing his schooling in the east and will therefore be unable to command the cadets in the future.

R. C. Gowdy was elected senior captain and Harry Russell was voted the junior captain. Frank Sill was the piece of senior first lieutenant and Carl Plumb the junior. Clem Morris was chosen as senior second lieutenant and W. C. Cheley as junior after a close contest.

The encampment exercises will be indulged in by about 50 of the cadets, who will leave for Fairmount Lake this morning at 8:45. They will be in camp life for eight days. In honor of the retiring major it will be called Camp Spinney.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION.

High School Athletes Elect Their Officers and a Financial Committee for the Next Year.

The annual meeting of the Athletic association of the High school was held yesterday. The reports of officers and captains of teams were read and showed gratifying results in all branches of athletics. McMahon was elected to act as coach for the football team in the fall.

Professor Clark was again elected president of the association. Spinney was made vice president; Dwight secretary, and Gowdy treasurer.

A financial committee was next selected and the alumni, C. C. Morris, Frank Stone, Harry Stubbs and John Watson.

DENTISTS LEAVE.

The programme of the morning consisted entirely of clinics.

the office of Dr. Chamberlain in the Bank building.

The convention at 4 o'clock proceeded to the election of officers for the coming year. The following officers were chosen for the ensuing year: W. K. Simon of Colorado Springs, president; E. R. Warner of Denver, first vice president; W. T. Chambers, Denver, second vice president; J. Allen Smith, Colorado Springs, secretary; E. W. Varley, Pueblo, corresponding secretary; William Smedley, Denver, treasurer.

THE TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

A Gala Day at the Kinnikinnick Club Matches—A Large Crowd Present—Result of the Games.

Yesterday was a gala day at the courts of the Kinnikinnick Tennis club. The crowd was still larger and more enthusiastic than the matches of the previous day had called forth, about one hundred persons being assembled to witness the play. Strange to say, the crowd, which on this occasion attracted more attention than that of the ladies. In deference to the crowd, Mr. Ferriday appeared for the first time of the season in his white duds and his entrance to the court was greeted with a yell of admiration. The landscape was further enlivened by a picturesque spot of color, which on being duly examined was found to proceed from the red and white blazer of Mr. Dixon Owen.

The weather was all that could be asked for until about half-past 5, when a smart thunder-storm drove players and spectators to the verandah of the club house. Here tea was served and later on spirited dancing was indulged in in the Kinnikinnick hall.

The feature of the morning's play was the semi-finals in mixed doubles which were well fought. The winner for an unhandicapped event. In the afternoon the play opened with singles between Mr. Ferriday and Mr. Storer, resulting in an easy victory for the former for the first time in months. He was playing a strong and steady game and his magnificent drives and smashes called forth enthusiastic applause. After playing out Mr. Storer, Mr. Ferriday proceeded to demolish his next victim, Mr. Partridge, to the tune of 6-3, 6-4, thereby winning for himself a place in the finals.

A half-past 4 the finals in mixed doubles were played between Miss Underhill and Mr. Griscorn and Mrs. Stote and Mr. Gardner. Miss Underhill and Mr. Griscorn won the first two sets, but ran up against a stone wall on the third. Mr. Gardner took a great brace and he and his partner carried off the set 6-4. The fourth set was interrupted by rain and the match was left unfinished.

Scores as follows: Mixed doubles, semi-finals—Mrs. Stote and Mr. Gardner beat Miss Huse and Mr. Owen 6-3, 6-3; Miss Underhill and Mr. Griscorn beat Miss DeCoursey and Dr. Walker 6-4, 6-4.

VILLAGE IMPROVEMENT.

Different Matters of Interest Discussed Last Night.

A meeting of the Village Improvement society was held at the El Paso Hotel last night. Matters relating to the parking of the streets were discussed and also the work done in the various wards of the city by the different ward committees.

A committee was appointed to find a suitable person to act as secretary, who would take an active interest in the work of the city. It was felt that there never was a time when the work of the society was so much needed and when active co-operation on the part of public-spirited citizens would accomplish so much for the city as at the present. Many things which ought to be attended to in the city at once were talked over.

Something New.

Tonight's performance at the Temple theater will be something entirely new to Colorado Springs. It is a play called "The Wonderful Child Artist," by Baby Russell, the celebrated tenor-baronette; Ben Davis, popular comedian; Paul the juggler, and a number of others. In conjunction with this will be Edison's wonderful "Excelsior Crown, Removing Pain and Immediate Root Filling," Dr. L. S. Gilbert, Denver; "Method Showing Combination of Three Colors Vulcanite Rubber," Dr. H. F. Hoffmann, Denver; "Amalgam Contour Work," Dr. J. H. Parsons, Boulder.

Prices will be 25c, 35c, and 50c.

Munyon's Sympathy.

As Far Reaching and Boundless as Faith.

Mr. C. W. Hoffman, Ellsworth, N. D., says: "I am well acquainted with Strike Enemy's India-well-known here, and also among other tribes, and know that it cures many of the most terrible pains in his legs, was unable to sleep nights, and believed that death was only a matter of short time. I took pity upon him, and gave him some remedies, but they did him no good. Finally I got him a bottle of Munyon's Rheumatism Cure and gave it to him. After the second dose he smiled for the first time in months, and said that the medicine was helping him. It took five bottles to cure him. He has been relieved from all pain, and now walks as well as ever. He asked me to write to that white man in the East who made that great cure from pain and said that he was very thankful to me."
