Work on the Tariff Bill Almost Phenomenal.

THE PROGRAMME FOR THE WEEK

Consideration of Metal and Wood Schedule will Precede Debate on the Sugar Rates-Prolonged Discussion Expected when the-Latter Schedule is Reached.

Washington, May 30.—The impression was general about the senate at the close of the first week's discussion of the tariff bill yesterday, that the sugar schedule would be reached towards the close of the present week. The progress so far made while it was much less marked yesterday than on previous days, is generally regarded as little less than phenomenal as modern tariff little less than phenomenal as modern tariff debates go. Senator Vest declares that the present bill is as far advanced now as was the Wilson bill, after five weeks of discussion, while Senator Jones of Arkansas asserts that as much of the present bill was passed over on the first day of consideration as was disposed of in the Wilson bill in three weeks. The Republicans generally concede that good progress has been made, but they are not inclined to felicitate themselves too much until they see what policy is to be pursued when questions of more general interest are reached than have yet been broached.

The Sugar Schedule.

The Sugar Schedule. The sugar schedule in all probability will excite more prolonged and animated debate than any other in the bill. The Democrats are making very extensive preparation for the discussion of this schedule and several set speeches will be made upon it. The indications are that various other questions of general interest will be considered in con-nection with the sugar duty. Senator Petti-grew is contemplating presenting his amendment against trusts in this connection and it is certain that the Hawaiian question will come to the front in an amendment providing for the continuance of the eciprocity treaty with the Hawaiian is-

Hawaiian Treaty.

With reference to the Hawaiian treaty with reference to the Hawahan freaty, there is no longer much room for doubt that provision will be made to continue the present treaty in effect. It is probable that this will be done by a direct declaration that nothing in the bill shall be construed as appropriate the treaty. The Brankle as abrogating the treaty. The Republican members of the committee are contemplating this change. If Senator Pettigrew insist upon offering the trust amendment to this schedule, he will precipitate one of the this schedule, he will precipitate one of the most interesting debates of the session. The Republicans are not yet decided whether they will caucus on the sugar schedule, but there is more or less talk to this effect. Metal and Wood.

There are two schedules to be considered after the conclusion of that under present discussion before the sugar schedule can be reached. These are the metal and wool schdules. The metal schedule is not especially objetionable to the Democrats, containing as it does many of the Wilson law rates, but it is more or less complicated and will necessarily consume time. The wool schedule will develop no little antagonism on account of the duty on lumber. There will be a quite determined effort to restore white pine lumber to the free list.

The Tillman resolution for a sugar investigation probably will be reported to the senate Tuesday. It will be passed without difficulty when taken up, according to the present outlook, but Senator Tillman will find opportunity to make another speech if there is any apparent effort at delay. The senate will not be in session tomorr

IN THE HOUSE.

Simpson et al. Will Continue Anti-Reed Tactics.

Washington, May 30.—The attempt to embarrass Speaker Reed for the programme of inaction pursued by the majority, has become the settled policy of Representative Simpson and other members of the windle of the provider of th bers of the minority and the sessions of the house this week will witness a con tinuation of these tactics.

The conference reports of the sundry civil and Indian appropriation bills are ready for consideration and the leaders would like to dispose of them, but the difficulty now is that many of the members have gone home and at present there is no quorum in the city. This will interfere with the desire of the leaders to rest until Tuesday when the house meets tomorrow, and will compel an adjourn-ment until Thursday. On that day, if a quorum is present, the house will proceed with these two con-ference reports and also the bill carry-ing appropriation for the government printing office.

Volunteer Soldiers' Home. Washington, May 30.—The board of managers for the homes for volunteer soldiers will meet here next Wednesday and after the conclusion of the routine busi-ness, will start on the annual tour of inspection of the homes. The board goes first to the central branch at Dayton, O., thence to the Marion, Ind., branch, the northwestern branch at Milwaukee, the western branch at Leavenworth to the Pacific branch at Santa Mon-

Railway Men Elated Over Opening of the Oregon Gateway.

Salt Lake, Utah, May 30.—Sunday was a day of business at the Rio Grande Western headquarters in this city. The Ogden Gate-way which has been a matter of controver-sy for so many years, and a subject of in-estimable importance to the people of the west, as well as the railroad interests o the entire country, will be opened for the interchange of traffic between the Oregon Short Line and the Rio Grande Western

T. M. Orr, of the Union Pacific said the action was not unexpected, although it was not unexpected, although it was not thought that the order would go into affect immediately. He said the Union Parific had not been officially notified of the action and the officers could not therefore say anything about it now. General Manager Dickinson declined to say anything about the matter.

BLOWN TO PIECES.

Another Horrible Accident Due to Dynamite Occurred in Cripple Creek Yesterday.

Special to The Gazette.

Cripple Creek, May 30.—A horrible accident occurred four miles below here this morning early, by which Frank Curtis and William Carr, two miners, lost their lives. Their deaths were caused by a premature explosion of giant powder but just what time the accident occurred is not known as there were no witnesses to the known as there were no witnesses to the awful catastrophe.

Curtis and Carr have been working on the "Hole-in-the-Rock" lode of the Norman group of claims, about three miles below the Gold and Globe mill, just across the Fremont county line, for some time past, and have been engaged on the night shift driving a tunnel in the hill. Saturday night they went to work as usual, but this morning when the 8 o'clock shift reported for duty, the remains of Curtis were found lying on the dump several feet from the entrance of the tunnel in a horribly mangled condition. The left arm had been blown off below the elbow and the left thigh broken. The rocks on the dump had been disturbed as if the man had tossed about for some time after the

A search for Carr revealed his mangled remains a few feet inside the tunnel. He was scarcely recognizable as he had been blown literally to pieces. It is thought that the two men had been thawing out powder in the blacksmith shop, just outside the mouth of the tunmil, when the explosion occurred. Another theory is that lightning caused the explosion as a severe eletric storm was in progress at the time. Frank Curtis was born in Austrana 31 years ago, and was formerly an engineer on a steamship of the Mallory line. He was also employed on a Red river boat for some time. He has a brother in Bro-maugh, Mo. He was a Red Man, belong-ing to Blackfoot tribe No. 41, of Anaconda, and was also a member of the Min Carr was also a Red Man and member of the Miners' union. He was 23 years old single, but leaves some relatives in Belle Plain, Ia.

Coroner Baker has been notified and will hold an inquest tomorrow. Fairley Bros. have taken charge of the remains and the funeral will be held here Tuesday attended by the Miners' union and the Red Men.

MINING CONVENTION.

Correspondence Received Shows the Great Interest Already Awakened.

Denver, May 30 .- The correspondence a headquarters of the International Gold Mining convention to be held in Denver, July 7, 8 and 9, shows that great interest has been awakened throughout the entire United States, particularly among prac-tical mining people, and those interested in mining enterprises. The delegations thus far appointed from the states are composed of representative men of business and industries.

Delegates named in New York city represent mining and financial organiza-tions. Georgia makes inquiry concerning space for an exhibit from her gold fields. California's delegations will embrac many of the noted mining magnates of the country and that state has under consideration an extensive exhibit of its mineral products, while inquiries and ap-plications for space are coming in from many mining centers of the west. It is now assured that the gathering will be an aggregate representation of the genius and wealth devoted to the production of the precious metals in North America, while representatives of the South American republics have given assurance of their attendance. The exceedingly low railway rates assure an immense gathering from the east and west. The rates to the convention have been fixed as follows: From Chicago, $12.50; St. Louis, $10.50.

and corresponding rates for intermediate points. Returning, to Chicago, $15; to St. Louis, $12.50. Ample time is allowed for excursions to all parts of the west.

SECOND LARGEST EVER LANDED

Details as Given by the Crew of the Alexander Jones-A Havana Journal Criticises Commissioner Calhoun-Correspondents Scored for Partiality.

Wilmington, N. C., May 30.—The Messenger today prints a detailed account of the loading of the tug Alexander Jones and her departure with the John D. Long on a Cuban filibustering expelition. The facts were obtained from a member of the crew of the Alexander Jones, which returned to port several lays ago. His story substantially is as

Thursday night, May 13, the Jones on a cargo of rifles, machetes, fire guns and ammunition at the rapid fire guns and ammunition at the wharf of the Wilmington, Newbern and Norfolk railway in the southern limits of the city. Before she had entirely finished her cargo a report was started that officers were approaching and that the revenue cutter Morrill was getting up steam. Taking alarm at this, the Jones pulled out and started down the river at 10:45 p. m., and in a few hours crossed the bar and anchored outside.

A Schooner in Tow. The schooner John D. Long having meanwhile been loaded with coal and other material at the Wilmington and other material at the Wilmington and Weldon railroad wharf, was shortly afterwards towed out to sea by the tug Jacob Brandon, going past the revenue cutter Colfax. On the schooner were General Nunez and another officer of the Cuban army, a Cuban pilot and Capt. John O'Brien of the tug Dauntless. On Thursday morning, May 20, the fil buster Dauntless hove in sight and came alongside the Jones and the schooner She coaled from the schooner, took a cargo of arms from the Jones, and, with aptain O'Brien in command, headed Cuban coast, about 60 miles away left the Jones between 8 and 9 o'cloc Thrusday night, made a successful land in near Matanzas, and after an absence of 24 hours returned to the Jones, took another cargo of war material and started for Cuba Friday night. On the last trip General Nunez and the 62 Cubans left the Jones and went on board the Danntless and accompanied Captain Observed.

When the Dauntless left with her sec-ond cargo the Jones coaled from the shooner, towed her off Cape Canaveral, Fla., and turned her loose. She sailed back and got into Southport yesterday morning.

The cargo carried out of here was valued at $78,000, and is said to have been the second largest ever landed in Cuba. The member of ferred to says there is no truth in the story that the Jones was chased and fired on by the Spanish war vessel. The Jones never saw the smoke of such a vessel while on her trip.

CALHOUN CRITICISED.

Indirect Attack Upon the Commis sioner in Havana. Havana, May 30.—In a leading article this morning El Diario de la Marina makes a scathing indirect attack upon Commissioner Calhoun by criticising ar-ticles which have appeared in a Washing-ton newspaper over the signature of Mr. Pepper, who, in the guise of an intimate friend of President McKinley and Mr. Calhoun, accompanied the latter to Cuba. El Diario de la Marina maintains that El Diario de la Marina maintains that many incidents of the interior working of the mixed commission, which are wholly private, have been divulged in Mr. Pepper's letter, thus tending to compromise Mr. Calhoun. The paper also resents Mr. Pepper's unfriendly attitude toward Spain in his reports on the Cuban questions of the cuban questions of the cuban questions. tion, expressing disgust that, while he blames Spain for the natural result of the war, he has no word of censure for the Cuban insurgents whose torches are destroying the wealth of the island.

In closing its article, El Diario de la Marina calls attention to the fact that two New York newspapers whose Cuban representatives are scarcely favorable to Spain, maintain bureaus in Havana un-der the same roof with the United States consul general, intimating, without much delicacy, that the correspondents of these newspapers are virtually under the wing of General Fitzhugh Lee and draw most of their inspiration from him.

A BIG CREVASSE.

Levee at Conrad's Point Couldn't Stand the Pressure.

New Orleans, May 30 .- A crevasse resulting from over-confidence and relaxa-tion of vigilance occurred at 6 o'clock this morning in the levee at Conrad's Point, four miles by rail below Baton Rouge, on the east side of the Mississippi on his auditors by his address. Regarding arbitration as a mode of settlinig international disputes, he said:

"We should not allow ourselves to be lulled to sieep by dreams of arbitration as a panacea for all the troubles between nations. I believe that all the secondary questions should be so settled but when it comes to national honor and preservation of our territory and our liberties, I for one am unwilling to place in the hands of any man the settlement of such disputations. I am unwilling to place in the hands of any man the settlement of such questions. I say any one man, because t practically amounts to that, for an equal number of arbitrators chosen by each nation will naturally stand by their own country, right or wrong, which leaves the old arbitrator sole power to cast the scale for this side or that It will doubtless be very pleasing for that. It will doubtless be very pleasing for powerful nations of Europe that are always armed to the teeth, to have us disarmed, to rely upon arbitration to settle the ques-tions, but history has shown that the safest manner for nations to avoid war is to be prepared for it."

BROOKLYN HANDICAP.

One of the Most Sensational Races

Expected Today.

New York, May 30.—As far as could be learned there is every probability of a dozen starters in the Brooklyn Handicap to be run at Gravesen tomorrow, and the owners and trainers profess to be well satisfied with the condition of their charges. The top weight, however, will be an absentee, for the Thompsons have concluded not to start Requital, his work since his defeat by Handspring being very unsatisfactory. The reports that Handspring would be among the missing are vigorously denied by P. J. Dwyer, who states that his colt's condition is entirely satisfactory, his work being the best of the year, and Simms will pilot him. Belmar is next in weight, and his move on Wednesday last was so satisfactory that he will be a great favorite with many, although his stable companion, The Winner, who ran so good a race in the Metropolitan Handicap, is thought to be the better of the pair. M. F. Dwyer will enter Harry Reed and Ben Eder, and they are absolutely fit. The former, however, is in highest favor among those who have been watching the early morning gallops. owners and trainers profess to be well oneck's stable, Sir Walter, is sure to be a popular favorite. Maurice will be a starter in all probability, but his races at Morris Park have been exteremely bad. Lake Shore will go and will doubtless have considerable following on his last race. Marry Privace showed his beals to a race. Merry Prince showed his heels to a face. Merry Prince snowed his heels to a fine lot the only time he has started this year, and his exercises since have led Mr. Belmont to think that he has a chance. From Brighton Beach come reports of favorable work by Mr. Keeene's King Arthur II. Volley and Jefferson are reported to be fairly burning up the track in exercise work and the owners of are reported to be fairly burning up the track in exercise work, and the owners of those light weights declare that the race is as good as won for them. A NETWORK OF CORRUPTION Moral Turpitude of the Berlin Secret Police-Another Sensational Trial Revealed the Betrayal of Important Military Secrets to Russia-Two Men Convicted.

(Copyrighted 1897 by the Associated Press.)
Berlin, May 30.—The trial of Herr Von Tausch, the former chief of the secret political police, charged with perjury, treason and forgery, which began on Monday last, and continued through the week, monopolizes public attention. The proceedings will less tall less for another week. Though last at least for another week. Though a number of revelations have been made, showing the rottenness and moral turpisnowing the rottenness and moral turpi-tude of the Berlin secret police, there is a general impression that much interestining information has been withheld by Von Tpusch and by Baron Von Luetzow, the chief witness against him, especially re-garding the intrigues of high dignitaries to "queer" a number of past and present ministers.

Corruption and Baseness.

The presiding judge repeatedly expressed indignation at the net work of corruption and baseness into which the depositions of the defendants threw light. Von Luezow that the papers of well known city. idmitted that the names of well known cit admitted that the names of well known cli-izens were frequently forged to receipts for money received as compensation for spy services. Von Tausch said the police com-missioners necessarily had to shield the oriminal acts of their subordinate agents; otherwise no police commissioner could ac-complish anything. The president revealed a number of damaging incidents against the owner and editors of Berlin newspapers. Herr Schweinburg, the owner of a Berlin newspaper, was charged with receiving an annual bribe of 30,000 marks from the Discourse series.

It was also elicited that Norman Schumann, who was implicated in the scandal which resulted in Von Luetzow being sen-tenced to 16 months imprisonment in De-cember last, while writing scurrilous arties against members of the present cabi-et and the emperor, was presented by Von-ausch for instituting make believe inquies into the authorship of those articles, and for accusing innocent persons of writ-

Law of Associations Question. The government's virtual defeat in the diet on the law of associations bill has aroused considerable interest in parliamentary circles as to whether Prince Hohelohe and the cabinet will survive it. The resignation of Prince Hohenlohe, the imperial chancellor, Baron Marshall Von Bieberstein, the minister of foreign affairs and Dr. he minister of foreign affairs, and Dr. Von Boetticher, the imperial secretary of state for the interior are still in the emeror's hands, and just now it is said that Or. Miquel, the minister of finance, may be-ome successor of Prince Hohenlohe the em-

Convicted of Treason. There was another sensational trial this reek, the prisoners being charged with treaphable acts in favor of Russia, committed t Thorn, the most important Prussian fort-ess on the Russian border. Fahren, a fortification master, and a court official named Albrecht, were the principal defend-ants. Several Russian ge-betweens fled the ountry in time to escape arrest. The evidence showed that important military se-crets, especially regarding the nature of the equipment of the Prussian frontier forti-fications, had been betrayed. Fahren was sentenced to four years penal servitude and Albricht to six months imprisonment.

Much asionishment is expressed at the refusal of the emperor to attend the gorgeous banquet offered him, in connection with the fall maneuvers by the city of Weisbaden. As the sole reason for his re-tusal, his majesty cited the large expense and luxury of a feast costing 25,000 marks. #### SAN QUENTIN RIOTERS.

Authorities Hope to Have the Strikers in Subjection.

San Francisco, May 30.—The riotous convicts in the San Quentin penitentiary caused no serious trouble today, but they are still defiant and vaguely threaten that they will yet compel the authorities to yield to their demands. Warden Hale is condeen that the backbone of the strike has been broken, and declares that he will soon starve the unruly men into subjection. They are closely watched ev-ery moment, and the guards are instruct-ed to instantly suppress any attempts at organized disturbance. During the regular exercise hours today some of the con-victs, not implicated in the strike, but sympathizing with its leaders, pelted th doors of the dungeons where the men on short rations are confined with potatoes and pieces of bread and in this way managed to give them considerable food be fore the very eyes of the keepers.

Shouting and hammering on the doors were continued all day and those who approached within hearing distance were greeted with the vilest curses. The men declare that they will never submit to discipline again and prison officials are fully aware that it will be a difficult task to restore tranquility. Warden Hale de-clares that there is no foundation in fact for the complaints ragarding the quality of food served. He thinks this charge merely a pretext for the convicts refus ing to work in the jute mill and positively declares that, having quelled the first ou break, he is now master of the situation

THE SUNDAY CLOSING LAW.

The Colorado Sunday closing law has been declared unconstitutional by Judge Johnson, of Denver, upon the ground that it is class legislation.

This is a subject upon which much may be said on both sides and the conclusion arrived at depends almost entirely upon the point of view.

One is strongly reminded of the boy who said there could be nothing very wicked about Sunday fishing, because he caught so many fish. Similarly there will be those who will insist that there is no more moral obliquity in shaving on Sunday than in growing a beard upon the same day. This is, however, a somewhat frivolous view of a serious subject. As we take it, the men who are most seriously threatened by the opening of barber shops are the barbers themselves, and the community is chiefly interested in the matter because it is a step in the direction of extending Sunday labor to matters not strictly necessary and towards doing away with the weekly holiday al-closing has come from the barbers themselves, and the law was invoked to protect the Sabbath observers from their competitors who were more unwise and

It is worth noting that the Colorado court in following the decisions of Illinois, California and Missouri in declaring a Sunday closing of barber shops by law to be unconstitutional contravened equally authoritative decisions of the New York and Michigan courts.

It is not competent to a newspaper to express an opinion as to the relative weight to which the divergent decisions of these courts are entitled. We do believe, however, that the barbers in fighting for their weekly holiday are clearly for the benefit of all the community. Sunday work means increased labor without increased pay in proportion, and entirely aside from any moral reasons should be resisted by all self-respecting

In this particular case, where the law fails, public sentiment should be aroused will zilow a bicyclist to pass over it without fails, public sentiment should be aroused a demoralizing cump. The remedy is cometo determine in favor of the shops which a demoralizing cump. The remedy is cometo ery consistency. Formerly there was marked difference between a new and a are not opened on Sunday.

THE SILVER MINER.

The man who digs for silver in Colo rado has had his setbacks, and they have been hard ones; but he has proven himself a philosopher and made the best of his difficulties.

In June, 1893, when silver dropped to a remarkably low figure, the miner in Colorado was about to give up in despair, and, as we well know, in many camps active mining operations ceased. After the demoralizing panic, work was resumed, cautiously at first, and now, four years after, the silver mining outlook in Colorado was never better, despite the fact of the low price of the white metal.

This is evidenced by the great amount of active development and shipping from the San Juan country, especially surrounding Telluride and Ouray, the extensive prospecting and development in Gilpin and Clear Creek counties, and by the tremendous output, amounting to about fifteen hundred tons a day from

The reason for this renewal of the silver production probably lies in the fact that mining is now being considered as a legitimate business, and it is being carried on according to business principles.

The speculative feature of the mining industry is undoubtedly being eliminated and investors are placing their money in mining propositions only after careful examinations and when conservative figures of values are in sight. It is no longer possible for every would-be miner to take a wildcat scheme to the east or abroad and place it. The man who now desires to sell mining properties must be ready to have a most thorough, scientific and practical examination made of his mine or prospect

We believe that this natural evolution has resulted through economic develop-

The very fact of the low price of silver in 1893, which almost ruined silver mining as an industry, necessitated, by hard, practical circumstances, an evolution in mining methods and economics which has ultimately resulted in the present much better outlook.

Undoubtedly the silver miner in Colorado has had cause for complaint during the past few years, but his energy. courage and perseverance have now brought him to a position where he sees success ahead.

MILLIONAIRES AND JUSTICE.

The decision of the judge at Washington in directing the jury to return a verdict of "not guilty" in the case of Millionaire Havemeyer is being severely criticised. This was to have been expected, and it is interesting to note the grounds upon which the criticism is made. No one appears to blieve that the court was in error in stating the law as applied to this particular case, but a great deal is said in regard to the inefficiency of the courts and of the law when would have been secured easily. Of course his is absurdly wrong. What it amounts o is just a claim that a millionaire who udged guilty because he is a millionaire. So far as this particular case is concern ed, it is of no particular importance, neither are the comments which are made upon it. esent a sentiment that is far too commo Theoretically at least most of us believe in fair and unprejudiced administration of e laws, according equal justice to all and pecial privileges to none. As a practical natter however, very many people desire special privileges for themselves and special exactions for others. It is the people who are most interested in equal government who are making the greatest clamor in this respeci. It is what the world has called the ower classes, the men who have to work the hardest for the poorest wages, who in the past have been the most cruelly op-pressed and mistreated, who are now demanding that the government shall be run in their interests, and not in the interests Boston Advertiser. of the ration as a whole. Members of the miners union, for instance, look forward to a state government in which they shall secure, by force of arms if necessary, the operation of the mines in the interests of the members of the miners' union and the payment of such wages as the executive ommittee of the union may decree. Similarly the American Railway union attempted to establish by revolution a form of government in this country under which the great transportation lines should be run not by the men who had built these roads, nor even by the government for the benefit of the people as a whole, but by the railway mion for the benefit of its own members.

And yet it is precisely this class of men the mer, who have the least both in worldy possessions and in mental equipment and raining for a struggle for existence, who are most vitally interested in preserving the equality of all before the law and the authority of the courts. Whenever special privileges are to be had it may be taken as absolutely certain that the richest and smartest man will get the lion's share of them. There is nothing to be gained in substitutinig a government by any clique for a government by any other clique. The only safe form of government is that which preserves the equality of all as nearly as possible and which is prejudiced against none either because he is rich or because

The Populists of Kansas are again at heir old game of cutting the railway rates in that state, and have submitted a plan to the railway managers of that state for reducing the already low rates. The folly of the proposal is shown not only in the fact that it will absolutely block any new construction ir that state for years to come out also that it will necessitate a decrease The chief agitation in favor of Sunday in the wages paid employes. The railway men are already noting the folly of con sorting with a party whose power is used to their particular disadvantages on every essible eccasion, and the new proposal of he grangers is likely to awaken some very vigorous protests in addition to those al ready on file from their labor union allies

Are We Prepared for War? Hartford Times.

In the senate debate on Cuba, Senator Hawley warned the jingoes that the Unit-ed States is in no condition to go to war with any other country, which is an incontrovertible fact, notwithstanding syident strength of our new navy.

"I declare that we are not fit to under take a war against any but the very weakest nations of the earth, and this is the text upon which I have been preaching these ten or twelve years, more or

I should be glad to have somebody ex tion of belligerency. I have looked at the books, and I am not quite clear about it. I find that now the Cubans may have all the guns they can pay for from this country and all the munitions of war they can pay for. The difficulty comes in land-ng them at the ports at which Spain has exclusive and complete control. I do not see that the declaration of beligerency

I remember that Jefferson said that a distinguished love of peace combined with a defenseless condition is the surest possible invitation to insults."

By way of breaking the force of the senator's words, the Washington correspondent of the New York Heraid remarks that, so far as the military and naval branches of the government are concerned, never since the close of the civil war has the government been in a better position than now to engage in war. He says:
"Work has been actively pushed on

war. He says:
"Work has been actively pushed on "Work has been actively pushed on the coast fortifications for the last year and a half. From Maine to Florida, and on the Gulf, emplacements have been constructed and heavy guns erected. The personnel of the army is also in an efficient condition. The service is armed with improved Krag-Jorgensen rifles and modern guns. The army could be strengthened without delay by the addition of more than 100,000 well drilled militia troops. The weak point in the army is the artillery arm, which is not in numbers nor in drill with modern sea coast guns prepared for war with a strong naval power."

A good deal of work has been done on the coast deference the interest and the coast deference the through carrying out of this plan. It is estimated that there is in the whole of Germany suitable arable land now uncultivated to the tune of several million acres, capable of giving sustenance to as many human beings, and with a possible production in cereals more than outweighing the present imports in that line. Incidentally the agrarian party hope partially, at least, to check the imigration of rural laborers and small farmers, which at present, especially in the eastern provinces, already has led to such unsound measures as the importation or hiring by the season of many thousands of cheap Russian, Polish and Austrian field hands, who are considered a national and hostile fleet from entering the harbors o Boston or New York. Baltimore and Philadelphia are well protected naturally from bombardment by battleships. But from bombardment by battleships. But how about the shores of New England and New Jersey? A strong foreign flee could sail along our coast and do hu freds of millions of damage, unless v could destroy it or drive it away, and as by no means certain we could do it,

As for our military forces, nobody should make the mistake of supposing that because the aggregate of our trained militia is 100,000, that we could such a force immediately. We believe the United States could army of 50,000 reliable soldiers in t within two months from the declaration of war. It is not conceivable that as many as 50,000 of the state troops could be actually got to take the field. The regular forces, and a good many more would all be needed to protect the forts which we are now garrisoning. Certainly General Hawley is right in what he say about the unpreparedness of the United

The campaign in the Spanish Nether-lands lasted 42 years. Then followed the 30 years' war in Europe, ending in the peace of Westphalia. The wars of the Spanish succession, of the Austrian succession, the Swedish-Russian war, and the Seven Years' war followed, averaging about ten years apiece. The French and the American revolutions averaged about seven years apiece. The Napoleonic campaigns covered nearly fifteen years. The Crimean war lasted from 1854 to 1856. over four years of time. Since 1865, with the general introduc-tion of the telegraph, the electric cable and the modern system of railways, was and the modern system of railways, war has become a matter of a few months at most. In 1866 Prussia defeated Austria in seven weeks. Prussia defeated France in about two months. The war between Russia and Turkey began in April, 1877, and was practically finished by the close of that year. The war between China and Janan began about midsummer 1894. d Japan began about midsummer, 1894 and adaptal began about miceummer, 1891 and ended in March, 1895. The present war between Turkey and Greece seems to be practically ended in about four weeks from the outbreak of formal hostilities. It seems to be shown by experience that two important civilized nations in these days of telegraph and rail. ons in these days of telegraph and rail vay cannot conduct wars for any length f time unless the contending countries re separated by the ocean or some other natural barrier.

The present year is the 300th anniversary f the planting of the potato in England The seed brought from America by Sin Walter Raleigh was first planted in 1597 in the garden of Gerard, the botanist. For 20 years the use of the tuber was confined to he so-called higher classes. It was not unti-he close of the last century that it became a common article of food among the masses. To the improvement of no other regetable has been given such solicitous study. In this respect the United States have taken the lead, and the various sorts thich have originated here are acceptable proughout the world as representative of the highest attainment in quality, rapidity of growth and size. In some directions this as led to the loss of distinctive flavor and exture, as in the case of the Bermuda po-ato. Through the general use of the seed our early varieties the tuber now grow of our early varieties the tuber now grown mermids has undergone a radical change The merit of the Bermuda potato was due to its firm, close, waxy flesh, which peculiarly adapted it to certain forms of culin try treatment. So universal has become the use of the seed of American varieties throughout the world that only through the color of the skin, due to difference of soil, is it possible to detect whether a potato is grown here or in a foreign country. The Irish tuber is imported into this country for special uses. Some amateurs think that no other is fit to bake in the skin. Apart from its black covering, due to the peat earth in which it is planted due to the peat earth in which it is planted it in no way differs from our varieties. A few years ago, before American seed was so universally employed in Ireland, the Irish potato, raised from what may be called native chits, was noted for a special savor and texture of flesh. That is no longer the case—(New York Sun.

The difference between the English and he American wheel are very striking. Near, y every wheel made in England has a "gear ase." The gear case is very frequently used in this country. It may best be described as a case covering the chain and sprocket of the wheel, somewhat after the order of the wheel, somewhat after the order of the dress guard seen on wheels ridden by women. Gear cases are thought necessary in England because of the mud at certain seasons of the year and strenuous efforts have been made by interested persons to induce them on this side of the ocean.

It may be news to many yet it is a fact that there are in densely populated Ger-many vast tracts of uncultivated, yet fer-tile land. This is the case not alone in the less civilized and more thinly peopled eastern provinices of Prussia, but even in western and southwestern Germany. Many of the latter have been lying fallow since the 30 years' war of 1618-48 owing to all sorts of reasons, sometimes political, sometimes economic. In view of the unhealth, condition of Germany agriculture since a generation past, nobody has felt like pur chasing or leasing such uncultivated land and putting them under systematic cul-ture. Now, however, the agricultural so-cieties of Germany are taking hold of th matter. Postmaster Dana is to thank for this real benefit. Through his instigation and suggestion and the liberality of the first assistant postmaster general in Washington, D. C., the change has been effected.

Two clerks alternating every week will be taken from the local office and deputized to go to Burlington, Colorado, and come in with the train, at the same time sorting the mail and casing it in readiness for the carriers who will be in waiting at the station. Major Dana has selected Mr. Ray McLain and Mr. Lou Henderson, two of the most reliable men in the office, for this duty.

Assistant Postmaster Jones and Mc Lain will go to Burlington tonight to make the initial trip and perfect arrangements for subsequent work. The carriers' schedule time will be

All nature is a monumentl pile. The rings on the tree tell of the years it has battled with the tempest. The silver hair speaks of the frosts of many winters. The rock-ribbed mountains-the veins amid the granite and porphyry-speak of earthquake throes and the intense heat that existed when God laid the foundations of the earth and the precious metals were laid away for the use of man. In imitation of Nature, man builds monuments of stone or establishes memorial institutions to perpetuate the memory of great achievements. On the battlefield of great achievements. On the battleneid of Themopylae where the brave three hundred died, the Greeks erected a monument to their memory on which was engraven the legend: "Go stranger and tell at Sparta that we died in obedience to her laws." The Greeks celebrated the Isthmian games and the Romans the games of Apollo in commemoration of great events in their history. When our fathers penned the immortal Declaration and pledged to its maintenance their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honors, the event was celebrated by the firing of cannon and the ringing of liberty bell. On that day they laid the corner stone of the temple of liberty. Now each year on the Fourth of July we commemorate the event but we do so in the shelter of the completed temple on whose pinnacle stands the Goddess of Liberty and over whose dome proudly floats the star spangled banner. Today in memory of that part of the Grand Army that has crossed over to the invisible shore, we strew flowers on the graves of or heroic dead—in memory of the men who perished in the hospital or in prison or fell on the field of battle. Those were brave men who fought at Salamis and Thermopylae and the remembrance of them fires the Grecian heart today. But the world never saw Themopylae where the brave three hun-Those were brave men who fought at Salamis and Thermopylae and the remembrance of them fires the Grecian heart today. But the world never saw braver men than those who contended with each other at Shiloh, Petersburg and Appomattox, and the heroism of the Blue and the Gray will be an inspiration to the American youth for ages to come. Today we have brought flowers from conservatory, from garden and field to strew on the graves of the gallant dead. The delicate decorations of leaf and blossom express the tender and beautiful memory in which they are held. Pinks and roses and wild flowers speak more eloquently than any orator in pulpit or platform this day. The lotus flower was worn in their hair by the maidens of Egypt ages before Moses was born. The ivy and rose were bought and sold in the markets by the Athenians and were strewn on tombs and hung on triumphal arches by the Romans. The silver cups of the Pharaohs handed down for three thousand years have lilies on the brim. And He who stood far above all men said; "Consider the lilies." So as we strew flowers on the graves of our beloved dead we believe that He who transforms the dust into the beauty of the lilies can bring up our beloved from lilies can bring up our beloved from dust and clothe them in the taber-e that shall never be dissolved. Flow-strewn before the charlot wheels of the conqueror, flowers strewn in the path-way of bride and groom to the marriage altar, flowers dropped upon human graves as love token for thousands of years, we strew them today on the resting places of our heroic dead.

The bitterness of the war has happily long since passed by. Today in a thousand cemeteries, north and south, the Blue and the Gray have stood side by side, while their tears have mingled and their hands have decorated the same graves. We now know what we did not know in 1851. We know the war was a graves. We now know what we did not know in 1861. We know the war was a necessity. It had to be. A question concerning states' rights and national sovereignty had to be settled. And whether an institution that had been placed under the ban by most civilized nations, should live here forever, had to be settled. They were settled by the war. And now, no matter whether we had spent our days north or south, we all rejoice that we are "one and inseparable," and that "Old Glory" triumphantly floats from sea to Glory' triumphantly floats from sea to sea. We could not see it, but God's hand was ruling the storm.

Round the rim of changing ages, Walketh God in lights and shadows; Speaketh He to lands and peoples Both in sunbeams and in thunders, Oh, the forest pomp of Autumn!

the sifting snows of winter! Oh! the glad, fresh buds of springtime! Oh, the mellow sheaves of summer! And God's plan is still advancing And the end he knows already,

And that plan no man knoweth But the rainbows span the ages. The monument erected at Thermopylae long since mingled with the dust. It was what the 300 did that made them im-mortal. It is not what we say, but what they did that will make our soldiers live in grateful memory. The awful storm burst upon our country. They stepped forward that their breasts might shield us from its fury. There they stood like adamant against the line of flaming fire, if needs be, to die, as when God kissed his servant and he slept with his fathers. Tens of thousands fell to sleep in nameless graves, until the earth and the sea shall give up their dead. Thousands of little mounds at Chicago, thousands of little mounds at Pichmond, thousands of little mounds at Richmond, thousands of mounds all over the sunny south-there sleep the unknown, patriot dead. How much we owe to those who are unknown to us. From below the horizon, from everglade and jungle, from cave and from skin and moccasin, from spear and tomahawk, from thumbscrew and rack, from faggot and torch, our ances-tors have slowly climbed until we enjoy the glorious civilization which is our heritage today. And how much we owe to the nameless unknown heroes who laid down their lives to perpetuate liberty and union for us and for our children.

Year by year smaller grows the Grand Army of the Republic. I see before me the National Guard, the young men who are coming forward to take their places and to battle, if needs be, for the dear, fatherland. But soon you will all e done with the battle of life and I could wish you were all members of the Grand Army of the Lord. During the happy years I spent in the great city of Detroit, I daily passed a monument erected to the memory of the heroes who defended our country against British ag-gression. About and on that monument were soldiers, or what appeared to be soldiers, with guns in their hands. But as the years flitted by, as the seasons came and went, those men still stood at their posts. Summer's heat, winter's cold, the varying changes brought them no pleas-ure, no pain, no joy, no sorrow. Ten thou-sand times rather than be a man of stone incapable of pain or pleasure, would I be a man of flesh and blood, with a heart beating in unison, and, sympathy with that of my fellow man; ten thou-sand times rather would I be a man able to wipe away human tears and to com-fort broken hearts—a member of the Grand Army of the Lord, who as death draws near could say: "I have fought draws near could say: "I have fought a good fight, henceforth there is a crown of righteousness laid up for me, and not

A Number of Improvements at the Popular Resort.

HOTEL AND CASINO NOW OPEN

Messrs. Miller and Kappler, the New Lessees, have Converted the Place Into a Perfect Paradise-The Hotel, all Newly Furnished, is Complete in Every Detail-Restaurant in the Casino Building-Bachelor Apartments-The Grounds.

palatial summer hotels in Colorado, is now open to the public, and a more charming resort than this popular place out at the foot of Cheyenne mountain cannot be found in the west. The transformation scene which has been accomplished in the last few weeks in the beautiful grounds and buildings is marvelous and but for the general contou of the grounds and familiar architecture of the buildings, last year's visitors would hardly recognize Broadmoor as the same place which has given so much pleasure to visitors in the past.

Nearly $30,000 have been expended in improvements since last season by the Broadmoor company and the new lessees, Messrs. W. C. Miller and Otto Kappler The hotel has been newly and completely furnished throughout in exquisite style and the painters and decorators have been at work so assiduously that the interior of all the buildings present a pic ture in themselves.

Those Bachelor Apartments.

One new feature this year which i certain to prove more popular than any of the improvements, is the charming apartment house constructed especially apartment house constructed especially, and for the exclusive use of those men who have so far escaped the life of a Benedict, and who are called by the world bachelors. This gem of a little building is situated to the left of the handsome Casino building facing the beautiful lawn and grove of maples between it and the hotel. It stands on the ground formerly occupied by the pavilion and commands an excellent view of Cheyenne mountain The visitor enters a commodious smoking room, which is a delightful lounging place and equipped with all the comforts dear to the heart of a single man. Then there are 15 daintily-furnished bed rooms and large bath rooms equipped with showers and everything complete, which are absolutely private with their own attendants Absolute comfort and all the luxuries of life are guaranteed to the inhabitants of this charming retreat called the "Back elors' Den."

The Hotel.

If the genial hosts, Messrs. Miller and Kappler, had invoked the aid of Aladdin and his wonderful lamp, when they began refurnishing the interior of the Broad-moor hotel, success could not have crowned their efforts more than has been done Nor could the slave of the lamp have produced more artistic effects and elegand than the hotel presents.

The house contains just 100 rooms, all arranged en suite with steam heat and open fire places, which are always so dear to the hearts of invalids when the evenings are cool. Many of the rooms have private baths and there are 20 more scattered throughout the building for the use of the guests.

The ladles' reception room on the ground floor opening out onto a portico with its large Corunthian pillars is daintily furnished in birds'-eye maple and dec-orated in white and gold, while the open view across the greensward through the vista of trees, with the mountains in the distance, is most charming. All of the rooms afford excellent views of Cheyenne mountain, the lake, entrance to Cheyenne canons, the city of Colorado Springs in the distance, and the scene as the sun sinks to rest behind the mountains, and the long shadows begin to creep across the prairie, is one of the most beautiful in all Colorado.

Mr. William C. Miller, one of the jolliest hotel men in the country, who was long connected with the famous Hoffman and Brevoort houses in New York, is always on hand to welcome his guests, and strangers immediately feel at home in his house. Mr. Page, an old hotel and newspaper man, is Mr. Miller's right bower in the office, and, although he came here only a few weeks ago, his genial manner has already won him a host of friends.

The hotel only opened Saturday afternoon, but already there are about 60 guests, and each mail brings in letters guests, and each mail brings in letters from the east asking for rooms.

The Peristyle. Last summer the guests of the Broadmoor hotel were put to considerable in-convenience, in going from the hotel to the Casino building during rainy weather, but this has now been obviated by the connecting the two buildings. This is called the peristyle and one side is open commanding a view of the beautiful grounds, while leather-cushroned chairs and lounges are placed in convenient places for the use of the guests.

The Casino building has also undergone a marvelous change, and the whole of the interior has been repainted and redecorated, and the restaurant is one of the most complete in the country.

The Restaurant.

Mr. Otto Kappler, who has so long been identified with the Brown Palace hotel in Denver, and who opened the popular Hotel Metropole in that city, has the Broadmoor restaurant under his direct supervision, and every delicacy which the market affords will be furnished. Mr. Kappler will retain his position as stew-and of the Brown Palace, but the greater Then the "Eik hotel stakes" will be competed for in a % of a mile run.

There will be a dash of % of a mile run for the "old soldiers" stakes. In all the menu for today is an exceedingly interesting one and barring poor weather there should be three of four thousand present.

Another feature that is new this year and which is introduced by Manager Updegraff is the electric net gate. By the use of this device the saddle races are gotten of satisfaction in this day of adulterated foods. Mr. Kappler is too well known in the west to need any introduction and the fact that he has been all over Europe the fact that he has been all over Europe in the past year, studying new ideas is proof positive that the Broadmoor restaurant will please the most fastidious, both in cuisine and service.

With all the interior improvements, the beautiful grounds at Broadmoor have not been neglected, and for the past three weeks 50 men have been employed putting the lawns in perfect condition and im-proving the driveways. A steam roller has been in operation rolling down the gravel walks, and the drives are as smooth as asphalt. A beautiful grove of maples and cottonwoods has been planted in front of the hotel and rare plants and flowers are blooming in profusion all over grounds.

Hot Water Bathing.

A new feature will be introduced this A new feature will be introduced this season at Broadmoor, which will prove to be the most popular thing at that favorite resort. It is not officially announced, but it is known that every effort will be made by the lessees to inaugurate a system of hot water bathing in the lake, placing facilities at the very doors of our citizens which they are now compelled to travel miles to secure.

A magnificent tennis court has been laid out in front of the hotel, and saddle horses and all kinds of livery can be had at reasonable prices for those inclined to visit the famous Cheyenne canons and other points of interest. Alpine climbing with reliable guides will be another unique feature. Golf and polo grounds, the regulation size have been laid out for the use of the guests of the hotel. for the use of the guests of the hotel. Weekly entertainments specially arranged for the guests will be provided, and dancing, races, swimming contests, tennis and golf matches will be the order of daily amusements. Concord coaching parties over the mountains will also be arranged very frequently.

The Orchestra.

The management is anxious to secure Stark's famous Vienna orchestra for the concerts in the Casino building this summer and if the requisite amount of money is raised, the famous orchestra will soon arrive for the season. Mr. D. Russ Wood, formerly of the Gazatte has charge of formerly of the Gazatte has charge of formerly of the Gazette, has charge of Casino subscriptions this year and so far he has met with excellent success. Al-ready the merchants and citizens have subscribed readily for season tickets and the indications are that StarEs orchestra will be secured. A subscribers' night will be instituted as it was last year.

Mr. W. H. Cheatham who was married o Miss Stacey at Topeka last Wednesday accompanied by his oride arrived at the Antlers yesterday from Denver where they spent a few days. Mr. and Mrs. Cheatham will visit for several days in the city, and then leave for Paris, Texas. Mr. Cheatham is manager of the Fred Harvey Eating house of that city.

THE CELEBRATED MINING CAMP

day-"A Second Chicago in the Process of Being Unpacked"-There are Picturesque Aspects to the Town-A Most Cosmopolitan and Fascinating Place-A Constant Rush After the Almighty Dollar-Climate Perfect and Unapproachable.

In a recent issue of the London Financial News the following graphic description of Johannesburg appeared:

The misapprehensions that exist as to Johannesburg, its situation, its industries, and the conditions of life there, are scarcely explainable at a time like the present, when our relations with the South African republic are of a more intimate description than ever, and when nearly each third person one meets in the city of London appears to have either visited, or to have friends who have visited, or to have him-self been interested in financial operations which hav had for a basis the celebrated mining camp of South Africa. And yet, beyond the limited confines of the city, there prevail the most extraordinary im-pressions of life on the Rand. These are probably in some degree to be attributed probably in some degree to be attributed to the fact that, in our insular way, we have schooled ourselyes into the belief that 'foreign parts' are mostly bathed in barbar m, and to the other circumstance, which ppears to carry all the conviction of con-rmatory evidence, that Africa is the home of those negroid races of whom only the merest fraction during all the centuries hat have sped have been gathered to th fold of civilization.

In the first place, it appears to be necessary to point out that Johannesburg is the capital of the South African republic, that by rail it is 1,000 miles from Cape Town, that it is 500 miles south of Bula-wayo, and that its nearest and most convenient seaport is Lourenco Marques. If peo-ple were not so absurdly prejudiced against familiarizing themselves with maps one would be saved the trouble of thus in sting on this topographical A. B. C. Un-l the y conquer this reluctance, however he interests of truth demand that one should go out of his way to make it quite clear that Johannesburg is neither a Kaff'r kraal on the Cape Flats nor a Berean suburb of Durban. As to the character of the place itself, the phrase of Poulteney Bigelow, the American writer who visited it last vear adequately conveys it—the town last year, adequately conveys it-the town is a second Chicago in the process of be-ing unpacked. That is probably how it ap-peals to nine out of every ten contemplative persons approaching it in the rail-way train traveling along the chain of Main Reef mines which extends all the way from Elandsfontein Junction to the heart of Jhannesburg itself, although there may be a mental reservation with reference to be a mental reservation with reference to Park station, the most central point for alighting, which does noth appear to have been reached by those engaged in the unpacking process; for it is a railway station of the most rudimentary description imaginable. There are two platforms of red sand roughly banked up, a draughty waitingshed at the north side, and a rambling one-storled wooden erection, which provides accommodation for bar, ticketoffice, waiting-room, and customs depart ment, on the south. At the moment of writing, however, considerable alternations

The new arrival on the Rand will find that, if the streets are not in the majority of instances macadamized or paved, they are, at any rate, systematically laid out, have unusual breadth, and that the ine of the houses is tolerably well kept.
From park Station, if he feels disposed to resist the wiles of the Cape boys who drive the Cape carts and charge the maxmum fare that audacity can extort from innocence, the visitor may walk in a straight line for nearly two miles up a fairy-appointed thoroughfare right on the Reef nto the precincts of the Jubilee and Sal-iry mines, which are located at this at of it, and whose commanding headear and tall, belted chimneys are appar-tn afar off. En route he will pass the rand National hotel, which with Height's ne Goldfields, and the North-Western chably divides the cream of that terr ory and ever-changing patronage which counts for so much with Rand caterers Pritchard street, running at right angles to the path he follows, and a deviation to the right or left in either thoroughfare will place him before shop windows whose contents would do credit to a business thoroughfare in the West-end of London. If he be a connoiesseur in modes he will be able to satisfy himself rapidly that Jonannesburg is only a little behind Paris.
If he have refined tastes in furniture—if Chippendale and Sheraton appeal to him, r rich brocades minister to that love f Oriental luxury which finds a place n most well-ordered and cultured na-ures—he may wander at will through nowroom after showroom and gratify s sense of the beautiful at his leisure, he be an epicure in gastronomy, and enus mean much to him, the hotels menus mean much to nim, the notes named will provide him with nearly all that he can order in Regent street or Piccadilly; and he will discover, probably on his surprise, that there are as competent judges of the produce of Epernay. Rheims and Bordeaux on the Rand as he has left behind him in London. If he be a sociable man, and of his kind gre-garious, there is the Rand club for him, garious, there is the Rand club for him, with lavish appointments, a judicious table, and a generous bar. Briefly, there is nothing you cannot get in Johannesburg which you can obtain in London in the directions indicated. You will have to pay more for your clothes, more for your wines, more for your dinners, more for your furniture, jewelry, house, service, and sometimes a good deal more for the ineffable privlege of making acquaintances; but these are inconsequential differences and details to a man of taste, whose only use for money is that it may whose only use for money is that it may procure him the best of everything, or that which he desires—for men of the most perfect choice in some respects have, to the common knowledge of most of us.

In 24 hours the same shrine claims him; in 48 he becomes a devotee. He realizes that much is to be done, and that the market may not serve for more than a few weeks; and thus, alter the same than a few weeks; and thus, alter the same than a few weeks; and thus, alter the same than a few weeks; and thus, alter than a few weeks; and thus, or more than a few weeks; and thus, aryays anticipating turns for the worse, e spends an hour Between the Chains as he spends an hour Between the Chains as a tonic, and it is only necessary to brace him up thoroughly that he should exchange half a dozen words with George Farrar or have a drink with Barnato. The case of a man occurs to us who went to Africa with no implements but his brains and a note-book. There were no banknotes in his note-book either—only a question in very large rough-hand a quotation in very large round-hand characters from "The Ebb Tide," the book in which Stevenson makes the skiper remark that his wife and children at home wanted money, "and by G— they shall have it!" In a very few weeks the man who carried the note-book out to the Rand landed at Plymouth again with a moderate pile. He was excellent raw material, and the local priesthood of Mammon iniated him into the mysteries In a comparatively short space of time. The brokers, who drive down from their bungalows on Hospital hill, and struggle ate into the night Between the Chain long after the Stock exchange itself has closed; the miners who in active times come into town and hold an outside market on Sunday mornings; the merchants, clerks, artisans, and laborers of every grade and every shade of opinion have only one ultimate object in view-the object which even brings Hindoo priests and church clergymen into the sacred precincts of the Chains. It is quite clear that many must fail of their purpose; but many succeed, and even those who do not carry their troubles lightly, for those blue South African skies and dolorous espair have nothing in the world in com-tinual fight for money, there are pictur-esque aspects of the town which cannot well escape the observant eye. The early morning market, with the scores of huge morning market, with the scores of huge and hulking wagons of the Boer farmers who have brought their produce in for sale; the spans of large-horned bullocks, some of which may very easily have learned by experience what it feels like to walk to Mashonaland and back; the motley crowd of Hindoo hawkers (men and women) struggling at the auction taand women) struggling at the auction ta-bles in the market hall; the wagon load of raw Kaffirs just arrived from the east in search of work at the mines; the Greeks, Germans, French, Poles, Russians, and people of all nations under the sun who crowd the busy walks of life; the weird music of the compounds, whence in the still evenings float the sounds of improvised war instruments and the plainties walls and shous of tries. ounds of improvised war instrument, and the plaintive wails and shouts of tri umph of a thousand savages rehearsing some of the effects of barbaric warfare-all help to make Johannesburg one of the most cosmopolitan and fascinating min-ing camps in the world. If the people who live there would only allow the arts some place in their domestic economy, is they would in part abandon the fetish of the almighty dollar, if they would pave their footpaths, macadamise their road-ways, purify their drinking water, and allow that there is virtue even in a drain pipe, then would Johannesburg become one of the desirable cities of the earth, for the climate is perfect and unanfor the climate is perfect and unap

Mining Laws of Peru.

The mining laws of Peru are very simple, and are based on the old Spanish ordenanzas. According to these all minmineral wealth can denounce it, be i either on public or private land, and the proceedings are very simple. Suppos place, and notifies the neighbors. The prospector has to prepare a shaft or do other preliminary work in order to allow of an inspection, and after 80 days from this notice he can demand to be put in judicial possession of his claim. This is done by the judge together with the gov ernment engineer, or a deputy who may be appointed. These preliminaries fin-ished, the documents and plan are sent to the government office at Lima and approved, or if a mistake has been made it is corrected, then the government orders and the claimant must then pay the reg-les somewhat in dimensions. In placers one pertenencia contains 40,000 sq. m., or approximately 10 acres, in lode claims the pertenencia is a little smaller and varies ccording to the inclination of the lode ertenencia the sum of 15 soles every six months to the school of mines, and re-ceives a receipt which acknowledges him as the only true possessor. At present exchange 15 soles equal about $7 in gold. exchange is soles equal about % in gold. Once in possession and as long as he pays his semi-annual contribution the owner can work his mine or not, the only forfeit being when he ceases to pay the contribution. In general, Peruvian mining titiles are very carelessly drawn up, and this has caused considerable litigation. Any foreigner who contemplates Any foreigner who contemplate the purchase of mining property should have it accurately surveyed and ap-proved. The expenses of denouncing a claim are very moderate, and are almost the same for one or several adjoining

In general the Peruvian mining laws are liberal, and the government is gen-erous in giving well-meaning persons all reasonable privileges. Machinery for mining purposes is im-ported free of duty.

The mining industries of Peru must be developed by American energy and capi-tal. Most foreign companies are rank failures, and those responsible for the failures, and those responsible for the failure invariably try to cast the blame on the country, the government and everyone in particular but their own foolish and pig-headed selves for attempting to carry out work in a distant country on exactly the same lines as can be used in more favorably situated lands. The climate of Peru is healthy and pleasant; labor is cheap and easily managed. Given these conditions, together with the mineral wealth, development is but a question of time.

A Valuable Corner.

There are few more remarkable, inter esting or valuable corners of the world than that occupied by the great Utah hydro-carbon belt, that stretches from northeast to southeast for 100 miles across the Uncompangre and Uintah Indian reservations, terminating on the south in the West Tavaputs plateau. A New Cripple Creek.

San Francisco advices state that all low Yuma, dry volcanic ore, which is rich in gold, has been found recently, and many location notices have been filed. The ore requires to be roasted before the gold can be secured, which is probably the reason why prospectors in search of free gold have gone over this section without discovering the wealth in this ore. Experiment has shown that the ore is easily milled, and it is predicted that Picacho, in San Diego county, will be a new Cripple Creek when the mines are fairly developed.—(Wall Street News.
