Ingenuity of a Bride.

The following letter shows the ingenuity of a young bride, who was obliged to show her correspondence to a tyrannical husband, in writing to a friend:

I cannot be satisfied, my dearest friend, plessed as I am in the matrimonial state, unless I pour into your friendly bosom, which has ever been in unison with mine, the various deep sensations which swell with the liveliest emotions of pleasure my bursting heart. I tell you my dear husband is one of the most amiable of men. I have been married seven weeks, and ave never found the least reason repent the day that joined us; my husband is in person and manners far from resembling an ugly, disagreeable, jealous monster, who thinks that by continuing to secure a wife it is his maxim to treat as a bosom friend and confidant, not as a plaything or a menial slave, the woman chosen to be his companion. Neither one, he says, ought to obey implicitly; but each yield to the other by turns. An ancient maiden aunt, near seventy, a cheerful, venerable pleasant old lady, lives in the house with us—she is the de-light of the young and the old—she is ci-vil to all the neighborhood around— generous and charitable to all the poor. I know my husband loves nothing more than he does me. He flatters me nore than the glass, and his intoxication— (for so I must call the excess of his love) often makes me blush for the unworthiness of its object and I wish I could be deserving of the man whose name I bear. To say all in one word, my dear—and to crown the whole my former gallant lover is now my indulgent husband, my fondness is returned, and I might have married prince without the felicity I find with Adieu; may you be blest, as I am unable to wish that I could be more

The letter may not seem particularly ingenuous to you at first sight, but when the first line, and then each alternate one is read you see where the joke comes in.

Bob Toombs' Brass Band.

Atlanta Constitution.

I suppose every one connected in any way with the University of Georgia has heard of the famous oak in front of the chapel, and in connection with it I will relate an anecdote of Bob Toombs, showing his impetuous, irresistible nature, which so characterized Lim in after life.

Toombs had been attending college two years, and was within a week of graduating, when, in some difficulty, he stabbed one of the students, inflicting a serious but not fatal wound. act he was expelled by the faculty, who soon after were petitioned by the graduat-ing class to allow him to finish with them, as he had so nearly completed his course and had also been given a speaker's place. Toombs himself petitioned them, but both were refused. He apparently submitted, but on commencement day when the vis-itors crowded the chapel and the seniors were vehemently orating preparatory to receiving their diplomas, he stationed a brass band under the spreading limbs of the oak, whose music succeeded in bringing scores of town people, who were not then in the chapel, and also of clearing it of all its audience. Then in as cool a manner as possible, he placed himself in chair and made an oration, such, it is said, as was never spoken by a student before nor since. He never received his any provocation whatever, attempted to diploma, though after his celebrated Bosmurder Detective Joe Arnold on Friday ton speech it was sent to him, but was returned with the answer: "D-n the di-ploma; when it would have been an honor to me I was refused it - now, when I am an honor to it, it is offered to me.' was afterwards reconciled with the fac ulty, and is now one of the staunchest supporters of the college.

"TOM GREATOREX IS DEAD."

In these few words is conveyed the saddest intelligence that has shocked the San Juan country for many years, and as the sorrowful news went from lip to lip, the heart of the hearer was saddened with a heavy weight. Of the population of the San Juan country there are few who did Be lightened by the honor of the press, not know the smiling countenance and manly exterior of the form which now lies cold and inanimate upon the banks of the Rio Las Animas, and of those who knew him where is one who did not respect and love him? As he was loved in life, so he is mourned in death. And is it any wonder that as friends crowded round the coffin and looked down into the calm upturned face and the white hands crossed upon his breast and tried to realize that this was all that remained on earth of Tom Greatorex, is it any wonder that they weep bitter, scalding tears and that they feel that revengeful spirit rise within their souls, which rebel, vainly, but rendered more bitter because they are so impotent to avenge this fearful wrong. To think that he, of all men, should be so cruelly, brutally and unprovokedly murdered by a ruffian of the lowest type, is a thought to make men forget themselves and wish for but an opportunity to give his assassin a death such as never existed in even Poe's imaginative brain. The manner in which the deed was done was all-sufficient -the consequences of that deed are more than sufficient to justify any means of retribution.

Tom was, as we have said before, a natural born gentleman. We often see those who endeavor to be gentlemen from force of circumstances and for appearances' sake, but seldom one who is such in following the dictates of a noble soul. Such a man it was of whom we write today. Generous in spirit, kind of heart, manly in demeanor, strong in mind and jolly in companionship, he was admired in his daily life. An excellent singer, an accomplished dancer, graceful in carriage, handsome in face and figure and engaging in conversation, he was the life of society and an indispensable addition to every gathering. As a penman he was without a rival, and his ability as a bookkeeper is attested by the numerous responsible positions he has held, as county clerk, etc. Thos. A. Greatorex was 29 years of age at the time of his death, and was born in Charleston, S. C., where he lived for some time. The sad end had been so long delayed that the most sanguine hopes were entertained for his recovery, and the favorable reports which came daily gave grounds for that belief, so that the end was all the more unbearable. All the business houses of Durango closed their doors during the time of the funeral. which was very largely attended. The remains were deposited in private grounds across the river, pending the wishes of his relatives. His mother and sisters, who are artists not unknown to fame, are now in Algiers, Africa, whither they went for the purpose of sketching. It may be some compensation for their irreparable loss to remember that he died surrounded by hosts of loving friends and that theirs are not the only hearts that bleed in this sad hour. "If every friend for whom he has performed some kind and loving service would bring a sprig, he would sleep to-night beneath a wilderness of flowers."

Alexander II at Rest.

Nihilism is at last successful and after eight futile attempts to take the life of their Czar, Alexander II, the ninth trial has been fatally and fearfully triumphant. Up to this time the emperor seemed to bear a charmed life and the numerous attacks made upon it served only to infuriate the nihilists and cause the enactment of more stringent laws. Within the last three years five attempts have been made, the three last and most diabolical in design having taken place within the past year. These were the attempt to blow up the imperial train while entering Moscow, the dynamite explosion in the winter palace and the fatal one which we chronicle now. After living as many lives as the proverbial cat, it must indeed be a treat to lay quietly in his grave with no fear that the next moment he may feel the deadly force of the assassin's bullet, or hear the explosion of the murderous bomb. His life, for the past few years, at any rate, could have been nothing but a series of weary, anxious days, such as a condemned prisoner would live, knowing that his doom was sealed; the only difference being that in the case of Carver, who went over to London to try the emperor, suspense was also added. his hand with Scott, Graham and Gordon, The prisoner has the small satisfaction, at the English champions-was victorious. least of knowing just when and how he In shooting off the tie between Scott and would expiate his crime-but the Czar himself the score was: did not know whether his time would be now, the next moment, the next hour, today, to-morrow, next mouth or next year. ### Colorado's Waste-Basket.

The Denver Republican's Washington special says the Utes will be completely removed from Colorado and settled on lands in Utah before the middle of the coming summer. We may regard this as a consolidation of evils-polygamy and Indian troubles. Now if the government will round up "Professor" Theodore Bazoo Comstock, Higginbotham, the Muldoon, M. O'Brien-Moore Jeremiah-Barlow-Luddy and close-herd them on short grass in Utah, that territory will become noted as the nation's waste-basket. When this great good is accomplished, telegraph the News at its expense.

Pre-Emption Does Not Pre-Empt.

In a recent interview Colonel Henry Page, agent at the Southern Ute agency, said that the people in the southern por tion of the state wrongfully think that when the Indians leave their old lands in regard to the late shooting are incorrect that they are thrown open to settlement we are not responsible. We did not give under the pre-emption act. He said that this was not so, as a clause in the treaty stipulates that the abandoned lands shall be disposed of in accordance with existing laws governing the sale of government | versions of the story, which are likely to lands, and shall not even be open to mineral location.

The Leadville Democrat publishes a long article concerning a row which it says occurred at Durango, in the dancehall of Bill Moran (Nutshell Bill) and says that in the progress of the disturbance much shooting was done, and that two women, inmates of the dance-hall, were wounded. Their names were Broncho FRANK W. GOVE, Nell and Dora Taylor, the latter being tatally hurt. All this is news to us, and we think that Durango will be startled also. The facts are so precise that they naturally lead to the belief that it was at least an actual occurrence, but we believe that our esteemed Leadville cotemporary was misinformed.

It seems that Roussakoff, the Nihilist assassin, had some ammunition left, as a bomb was found in his pocket. #### Farmington Matters.

The Durango Record has this to say of the recent Farmington shooting affray:-We have received a letter from Thomas 80-94 Nance of Farmington, giving his version of the late shooting affray in that vicinity. As its publication would lead to a reply from the other party, and as we cannot af ford to devote our columns to criminations and recriminations, and the ventilation of this feud, we are obliged to deeline its publication. If any one gets killed, we shall note the fact, as we did in the last case, without comment. We haven't the time, if we had the desire, to investigate the matter, and do not wish to sit as a jury on the case, or to lend our column; to its interminable discussion. We determined, weeks ago, to remain neutral, and not to take sides in the quarrel, which position we have maintained up to the present time, and shall continue to

NOTICE OF FORFEITURE. Rico, Ouray county, Colo., Jan. 8, 1881.

To Wm. Moore and Alex. Blair:

You are hereby notified that I nave expended one hundred dollars in labor and improvements upon the George Washing-ton Lode, situated on the north side of Horse Creek, on the south side of Elliott mountain, in Pioneer Mining District, Ouray county State of Colorado, as will appear by certificate filed in the office of recorder of said county in order to hold said premises under the provisions of section 2324 Revised Statutes of the United States, being the amount required to hold the same for the year ending Dec-ember 31, 1880, and if within ninety days from the service of this notice by publication you fail or refuse to contribute your proportion of such expenditure as co-owners, your interests in said claim or lode will become the property of the subscrib

Eugenie Girout, the French girl, who was accidentally shot by Wm. Painter, in Durango last January has died. "Those who die, pay all debts."

Railroad laborers in Mexico get 28 cts. a day, but if they belong to the variety that worked on the Pinkerton toll road last summer, it's too much.

A gentleman has written to our county clerk, saying that he wants to invest $1,000 in Dolores county warrants. This is encouragement in a substantial form.

Cahn Bros. are enlarging their store building and getting ready for the spring the Uncompangre river, where he had trade. H. Cahn has gone east to pur hidden himself in the bushes. He was chase an immense stock of goods. They will need them.

George R. Hurlburt was sunning him self on the streets Thurday. He has carried the mail between Rico and Evans' place on the Miguel for the past five months, and has never missed a trip or lost a day until Thursday.

We have at last got a good tailor, in the person of Frank Held, who opened up in the building just adjoining the Log Cabin saloon. We have seen a good deal of his work and pronounce it excellent. Don't throw away your old clothes, but take them to him and he will make them as good as new. See card.

Illustrations of Durango have been sent to Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper by J. J. Reilly, artist. It shows up the citizens with blood in their eyes and navy six-shooters on their hips. Farmington is in the background with a pitched bat will bring undertakers in abundance.

We omitted to mention the arrival of W. C. Gilmer last week, but he is back, all the same, and will devote his time and attention to contracting and building for the summer. He has a card in this issue. Billy has spent some time at Ojo Caliente in company with Ed. Robinson. Ed has gone down to Santa Fe to see some oldtime friends, but will return soon.

One of the finest specimens of silver ore ever taken out of a mine was brought in from the Paymaster mine, San Miguel, last week. It is very beautiful and is as rich as it is pretty. This mass of combined beauty and wealth weighed 553 pounds. It has been shipped to Denver, where it will be on exhibition for a time, when it will be shipped to New York. It will remain a brilliant monument to the mineral wealth of the great San Juan.

We are pleased to note the arrival of Dr. A. J. McDonald, who came in Thursday evening, and will commence at once the practice of medicine. The Dr. was at the Uncompangre agency as post surgeon for two years and was at Whipple barracks, Prescott, A. T. for a time. He resigned his position in U. S. Reg. Army after a stay at Fort Mojave, A. T. and comes among us with a good reputation. There is a good field here for such a man.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE. Fell By the Wayside! BUSINESS DEPARTMENT J. M. SEMPLE.

Presumable Lynching of Jack Roberts, the Murderer. DIED .- On or about March 16th, at some point between the lower line of the Ute reservation and Dnrango, Colo., one cowardly assassin, known on earth as Jack Roberts. His death resulted from unknown causes, probably from under-taking to balance on the ragged edge of thin air. Funeral services of the deceased will extend over a period of several days, Rev. Drs. Buzzard and Coyote officiating.

The news that Jack Roberts had been captured was brought in to Durango by letter from the south, stating that the prisoner would be turned over at Cox's ranch on the payment of the reward. No sooner had the news been circulated than forty men mounted and armed started for the place indicated with the money. The from Durango, where he has been during men have returned, but they had no prisoner. It is reasonably supposed that The News will be on sale at Durango they got their man and "lost" him on the in the news stands of A. McLafferty and road, and that poor Greatorex's death is they got their man and "lost" him on the avenged. We earnestly hope that this is

and He Takes a Walk. After being imprisoned in the jail of Ouray county for five months, C.D.Knappen, who killed Pat McDonald at Rico on the 28th of October last, escaped from custody on last Sunday night. It seems that the jailor had gone to church. We would respectfully remind him, with all possible regard for his moral and spiritual welfare, that "you must watch as well as pray." The following letter explains the OURAY, March 20, 1881.

DEAR RAYMOND:—Midnight—The sher iff just called at my office and informs me that Knappen has escaped from the jail. He sawed through the building, took two pair of blankets with him. It is thought that he had help from the outside. Parties are after him but it is so dark that I have little hopes of his being over-taken. It is very cold. We will send a man out on the buck-board in the morning to try and head him off if he tries to get out by wagon-road. Descriptions will be sent in every direction. He has een very uneasy since he found he was likely to be returned to your county. He does not seem to hanker after Rico. Will post you if we get any news of him or his

Sheriff will keep men out in different directions. It is possible he may try to cross the trail to Lake. All, I think, depends upon whether or not he has a guide. Yours in haste,

GEO. E. BLAKE. On the next morning the escaped prisoner was captured about two miles down taken back to Ouray and remanded to jail, where he will probably remain until sent to Rico to await his trial, which takes place next July.

We are happy to chronicle the fact that our young but rising friend, Dr. A. H. Mundee, has been honored by being appointed as one of the executive committee of the Citizen's Protective Union of meal go to the Dolores House. Colorado. The object of the organization is to impede the progress of the temerance movement throughout the state. While we cannot say that the project is a laudable one, still the honor conferred by the selection is not the less appreciated.

The proprietors of the Coliseum theatre at Durango, have published this notice: From and after this date all persons who wish to gain admittance to the auditorium of the Coliseum, must leave their weapons at the front bar, where checks will be given for them.

This is a good move. The many killings that have occurred in Durango make tle and skull and cross-bone border. It it necessary that something must be done

The Dolores House will be re-opened soon, as Mr. Enderich, the owner of the place, is perfecting arrangements to-day. Provided that Mr. E. does not conclude to run the hotel himself, it is more than probable than Mr. J. W. Winkfield will manage it this summer.

Samuel W. McCormack has been appointed by the governor as commissioner of this county, to take the place of A. K. Prescott, who was appointed but found ineligible for reasons previously stated Mr. McCormack's commission has been
