Golden Age Center Meets

A beautiful sunny day, January 14th, was the setting for Pot Luck dinner and an afternoon of games at the Golden Age Center. This is also the occasion that a nurse comes by to take everyone's blood pressure.

Those attending last Monday were: Henrietta Andrews, Herb and Maude McClellan, Rebecca Westerfield, Jerry Lile, Jessie Spivey, Charmain Lyle, Aline Henderson, Kelly and Jim Kate Garrett, Elmer Adcock, Pauline Winger, Faye Cluck, A.R. and Beulah Bort, Joan McClellan and the January hostesses Vivian Green and Jenny Hart.

Greyhounds win doubleheader

The Gruver Girls and Boys continued their outstanding district play Tuesday night when they won a double header at Darrouzett. The Gruver Girls paced by Morris with 14 points and Potts with 12 points, won their game 40-29. It was a tough game with Darrouzett almost catching the hounds at the end of the 3rd quarter.

In the Boys game, Kelon Morley had a 30 point game to pace the Greyhounds, followed by Kip Pittman who had 7 points. Final score of this game was Gruver 56 and Darrouzett 30.

Remember the Greyhounds play in Gruver January 25 against Booker. Games will begin at 5:30.

The Varsity will not have another game until February 1 when they travel to Higgins.

Services held for brother of local man

Graveside services were held for Gibson Pettus Kenney, 82, Friday, Jan. 18 at 11 a.m. in Dalhart Memorial Park Cemetery with Rev. Jim Terry, Pastor of Central United Methodist Church in Dalhart officiating.

Mr. Kenney was born in Georgetown and had lived in Amarillo for 64 years.

Survivors include a brother, John Edward Kenney of Spearman and a sister Bessie Brown of Riveria.

History book may be republished

Volume I of Hansford County History, published under the auspices of the Hansford County Historical Commission in 1979-80, is being considered for reprint in a small number, if there is enough response. Cost per book will be $60.00, and must be ordered and paid in advance by Feb. 15, 1985, no later. Date of delivery will be about 60 days following that deadline, probably in May.

Those reading this who may know of anyone interested in Hansford County History are urged to relay the message of the reprint of Volume I Hansford History.

Books may be ordered by sending checks/money orders to: Hansford County Historical Commission 30 S. Townsend, Spearman, TX 79081. (If there is not enough response, money will be returned to those ordering.)

TSTI interior design classes

The Interior Design Technology program at Texas State Technical Institute-Amarillo will begin offering afternoon classes in addition to the currently offered morning classes for both part- and full-time students.

The afternoon classes, held from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. each weekday, will be offered for the first time during TSTI's Spring Quarter.

Early registration for Interior Design Technology and 21 other technical/vocational programs at TSTI will be held on January 21-25, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the campus Resource Center. Regular registration for Spring Quarter classes will be February 27, from 8:30 to 7:30 p.m., also in the TSTI-Amarillo Resource Center.

Gerald Ford to speak at WT

WTSU--Gerald R. Ford, the thirty-eighth President of the United States, has agreed to speak for the inauguration of Dr. Ed Roach as seventh president of West Texas State University on February 9.

President Ford visited the campus of West Texas State in April of 1976. His return at this time will highlight an already impressive investiture ceremony scheduled to begin at 2:00 p.m. in Amarillo's Civic Center Auditorium on Saturday, February 9.

"Enthusiasm on campus is running high since the announcement of President Ford's selection," said Lila Vars, director of development and internal chair of the inauguration committee. "The presence of a speaker of such national prominence throws a spotlight on West Texas State University at a most opportune time, when we're celebrating both a proud heritage of 75 years and a new beginning under the leadership of Dr. Roach."

T. Boone Pickens, chairman of the WTSU Board of Regents, said, "I'm very pleased that President Ford is coming to West Texas State. President Ford and I have visited together in the past, and I know he shares the concerns we have for WTSU and for the future of higher education in our nation."

Nearly 218 million vehicle miles are travelled on Texas highways on an average day.

Fasching Party

An old-fashioned Fasching Party, sponsored by the European Club, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, February 9, in Quality Inn Central, 601 W. Amarillo Blvd.

Fasching, a traditional European pre-lenten celebration similar to Mardi Gras or a carnival party, is observed throughout most of Europe and the world. The fest will include a dance, music, good food and fellowship, according to Chuck Kitsman, club president.

Highlight for the evening will be the best costume contest, he said. The fest will be open to the public.

Reservations may be made by contacting Ruth Holman, 383-8978, or Linda Sanz, 359-7626.

Summer youth employment program

The Summer Youth Employment and Training Program will make jobs available for eligible Panhandle Youth between the ages of 14 and 21 this year. There will be various job and training opportunities for students and out-of-school youth throughout the area between June 1 and August 31, 1985.

Amarillo residents may apply for these jobs at the Texas Employment Commission, 1206 West Seventh, 372-5521.

Residents of all other Panhandle Counties may apply at the nearest office of the Texas Panhandle Community Action Corporation or by appointment. These offices are located in Wellington, Clarendon, Pampa, Dumas, Friona, Bovina, Tulia, Hereford, Dalhart, and Amarillo. Rural youth may call 806 372-2531 for appointment.

Persons interested in these jobs are urged to apply immediately.

Panhandle Choir to begin rehearsals

The Panhandle Chorale, under the direction of John G. Slawson, will begin rehearsals for their spring production, "The Creation" by Franz Joseph Haydn, on Thursday, January 24 at 7:30 p.m. in room 205, Hughes-Strong Hall, on the campus of Panhandle State University, Goodwell, Oklahoma. Rehearsals are scheduled each Thursday evening throughout the semester and will culminate with a performance of the work in late April. Anyone interested in singing in the Panhandle Chorale should either come to the first rehearsal or contact the conductor, John Slawson, at PSU, (405) 349-2611 EXT. 260, for more information. There are no auditions for membership in the chorus. Vocal scores for "The Creation" will be provided at the first rehearsal.

Letters to the Editor

January 5, 1985

I recently visited with Judge McClellan as part of my duties as the new director of the Perryton Family Service Center. He recommended that I send you a copy of an article that appeared in the Perryton Herald recently.

We also discussed plans for a new counselor, who our agency is now in the process of hiring. The funds for this additional counselor were provided by the four counties served by the Perryton Family Service Center; Hansford, Hemphill, Ochiltree, and Lipscomb. This new counselor's duties will be primarily to serve the four counties with general adult mental health services.

Plans are for this new counselor to be located in an office in Spearman (probably in the courthouse) at least one day a week. Other days will be spent making services more accessible by being located in the other counties other week days. Hopefully this will make our services more accessible to your readers. We anticipate hiring this person within the next 60 days. I will send you an announcement at the time these new services are begun.

I hope that our agency can serve your county and town in the best way possible. Thank you for your continued support of the Family Service Center.

Sincerely,
Mark Fannin, M.S.

As a scleroderma patient who has suffered alone for too many years with a disease that few people have ever even heard of, I am attempting to locate others who suffer from scleroderma (systemic sclerosis).

My New Year's resolution is to correspond with as many scleroderma patients as possible. Doctors tell me there are 300,000 of us. Perhaps your readers can assist me in locating others like myself. I can be reached at 21 Brennan Street, #21, Watsonville, CA 95076.

On the go with Joy

Several weeks ago, I began a series of stories about the Ronald McDonald House in Amarillo and I gave a recipe for Peanut Butter Sandwiches that 3 year old Julie Nash invented. Last week, I had a chance to visit with her, her mother and brother, when I delivered several items to the McDonald House that had been donated by Gruver citizens. This week, I thought we would give you the story of Barbara Nash and print Jonathan's recipe for Yellow Easter Eggs. Barbara's story will be found elsewhere in the paper but to bring it up to date, more information is available. Since Jonathan (about 6 years old now) is deaf, and requires special school, they have moved from Booker to Amarillo and have virtually become residents at the R.M. House.

Barbara wanted me to be sure and give everyone her sincere appreciation for the items donated to them.

Here is Jonathan's Recipe:

YELLOW EASTER EGGS (Deviled Eggs)

Make eggs hard. Cut eggs. Fork the eggs. Put yellow sauce and green sauce in and put on eggs. Red salt on top. Eat. (Now doesn't that sound simple and delicious? JH).

THE RONALD McDONALD HOUSE: "IT FEELS LIKE WE'RE HOME"

"We move in with our pillows and suitcases, and we feel like we're at home!" That's how one resident described the atmosphere at the Ronald McDonald House of Amarillo.

And, according to resident manager Sharon Dodd, that's exactly the feeling she and her volunteer staff try to generate to the residents. "This is their home for a short time, and we want each family to feel the sense of comfort and togetherness that they would find in their own personal homes," she said.

For temporary resident Mrs. Barbara Nash, of Booker, Texas, and her children Jonathan and Julie, the Ronald House has been more than just a brief respite from hotel rooms and hospital corridors. Five-year-old Jonathan has been attending the Regional Pre-School for the Deaf at the Amarillo Speech and Hearing Center since early January. That means a five-day-a-week round trip drive from Booker to Amarillo, including a late-night drive on Thursday nights to accommodate a sign language class.

After a month of daily trips, the social worker at the school put Mrs. Nash in touch with the director of Social Services at Northwest Texas Hospital, who contacted the Ronald House about the situation. As a result, Mrs. Nash and her children no longer face the late-night drive on Thursdays -- they spend the night and the next day at the Ronald House on a regular basis.

Mrs. Nash said she was really excited when she learned of the facility in Amarillo. "We stayed at a Ronald House in Denver when Jonathan had ear surgery a few years ago," she said. "And we now, too, how it is to stay in hospital rooms and hotels for long periods of time."

As a result of her experiences is a resident at the Ronald House, and in addition to Jonathan's weekly visits to the allergy doctor, ear surgeon and speech therapist, Barbara Nash has added another weekly duty to her schedule . . . as a Friday volunteer at the Ronald McDonald House of Amarillo. "They've done so much for us I just want to show my appreciation, and this is the best way I can say thanks -- by giving back some of that time and care to others," she said.

Although the Nash's represent only one faction in the reasons families use the Ronald House, their evaluation of the facility is not unique. Departing residents often leave with much more than they came with . . . new friendships among other residents and staff, and a genuine appreciation of the concern offered by others.

among their friends. "They are really interested in Jonathan and Julie, and really try to make us all comfortable," she said. "Some of the volunteers take time each week to sit with Jonathan and learn how to sign with him. That's genuine concern and caring."

As another resident reported, " . . . it's one burden off our shoulders, knowing we'll have a place to stay at night. And knowing we're that close to the hospital where our baby is, well, it makes it a little easier to go get a little rest."

According to Mrs. Dodd, the families who stay at the Ronald House are all unique in their situations; some families face a child's fatal illness, many are Residents can relax with a cup of coffee in the sunny dining room of the Ronald House.

Families often keep in touch with resident manager Sharon Dodd, updating her on the outcome of their children's illnesses, or offering additional financial support to the facility.

Mrs. Nash said that her husband, Brad, is relieved that she and the children do not face that late-night drive every week, too. He makes the Thursday trip to Amarillo with his family once a month.

According to Mrs. Nash, the volunteers at the Ronald House give it much of its home-like atmosphere. She and her children have become familiar with most of them, and now count them parents of premature infants, and some have been brought to the facility as the result of traffic accidents resulting in critical injuries to their children.

"We do our best to make each resident as comfortable as possible," she said. "We offer as much comfort and concern as they can accept, but we always respect the family's privacy, to whatever degree they want or need." And, Mrs. Dodd said, "As long as our families tell us we've been of some help to them -- as long as they are made to feel 'at home' -- we know we're doing it right, and living up to the purpose of the Ronald McDonald House."

Comfort and reassurance keys to Hansford Hospital OB program

It looks like a regular bed with tasteful, flocked sheets and oak headboard. In reality, it is a sophisticated birthing chair, specifically designed to handle all obstetric requirements of both normal and complicated childbirth. It is the Birthing Genesis, produced by The Birthing Corporation of Spokane, Wash.

The birthing room provides a medically-safe environment for birth. In contrast to the standard system of transferring from a labor room to a delivery room and recovery room, the birthing room allows the family to remain together in one room throughout childbirth. This is an important part of family-centered care, which focuses not only on the mother's medical needs, but on the emotional and social well-being of the entire family unit. Reducing stress helps the mother to cope with labor, and allows greater family participation in the birth.

The bed also helps the mother because she can change its shape to produce the most comfortable positions. Because the bed forms a birth chair, she can see her baby being born, and use the sitting position which makes birth easier.

The baby and mother remain together in the bed during the bonding period, when the parents get acquainted with their new baby.

Birthing rooms have become very popular with parents who want safe, quality maternity care in a peaceful, caring environment. It is particularly appreciated by mothers who are at increased risk, we are already concerned about possible complications. Recognizing the special benefit of the birthing room's reassuring environment to these mothers. The Birthing Genesis, which has all the capabilities of a delivery table for anesthesia, forceps deliver and all obstetric procedures. Now even high-risk mothers are able to enjoy the supportive atmosphere of the birthing room, from which previously they were almost always excluded.

For more information about the new birthing alternatives of today call Carol Stavlo at 659-2535 or Carol Fletcher at 659-3761 (work) or 659-3172 (home).

Farm Bureau Leadership Conference Jan. 27-29

AUSTIN -- More than 700 state and county Farm Bureau leaders will meet here Jan. 27-29 for the annual Texas Farm Bureau Leadership Conference.

Registration will begin Sunday, Jan. 27, at the Hilton.

Gov. Mark White is scheduled to give an address to the legislative dinner, Jan. 29, at the Hilton. State officials and legislators are invited for the event. S.M. True, TFB president, will outline the farm organization's legislative objectives at that session.

Rep. Stan Schlueter of Killeen, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, will speak at the Tuesday luncheon. Monday dinner speaker will be Vaughn Gray, Austin, executive vice president, Southwest Food Industry Association.

True will open the meeting Monday at 10:30 a.m. with a talk on 1985 goals of the organization. Warren Newberry, TFB executive director, will outline the purpose of the conference at that session.

Farm Bureau leaders invited to attend the conference include county Farm Bureau presidents, the chairmen of the commodity, state affairs, membership and young farmer and rancher committees, along with the 16-member TFB Water Study Committee and the newly-formed TFB Farm Labor Committee which will hold its initial meeting.

As charged by the TFB Board, the water committee will present a preliminary report of its water study during the Monday luncheon. TFB State Director John Baker of Temple is the committee chairman.

County leaders from 13 state commodity divisions will participate in the conference. Those divisions include beef cattle, cotton, dairy, feed grains, peanuts, pecans, rice, sheep & goats, soybeans, wheat, poultry, forestry and hay and forage.

The 14th commodity division, citrus, will not meet at this time. There are 202 county Farm Bureaus in Texas which have at least one commodity represented in a state division.

The state and county Farm Bureau leaders will tour the State Capitol on Tuesday, Jan. 29, and visit with their respective legislators.

The county FB presidents will meet during the conference to review the legal and corporate structure of the county and state Farm Bureaus. Part of the session will involve training of presidents as spokesmen and leaders of their respective counties.

These exams will be conducted free of charge and are for all ages.

The legislative (state affairs) committee will be briefed on the TFB's program for participating in the 69th session of the Texas Legislature. TFB's state legislative priorities for 1985 include water, property and sales taxes, farm labor, education, agricultural appropriations and highways.

TFB's national congressional goals involve a new farm program, reducing the federal deficit, tax reform, immigration reform, trade expansion and consolidation of farm credit boards.

The membership committees will meet during the conference to plan for maintaining and recruiting members.

The young farmer and rancher committees will be briefed on the responsibilities for motivating young farmers and ranchers involvement in legislative activities.

The 13 commodity divisions will meet the afternoon of Jan. 28 and morning of Jan. 29 to discuss issues relative to their particular commodity.

Cost-effective tuition policy needed

With state appropriations to Texas public colleges and universities soaring, and tuition rates remaining constant, students in Texas and around the nation have enjoyed the benefits of a heavily subsidized education. A more realistic, cost-effective tuition policy is needed to avoid drastic cuts in education services according to the Texas Research League.

A study by the Austin-based public policy research group reveals that tuition collected in 1983 covered less than 2% of the $2.4 billion appropriated by the legislature for higher education support. Tuition and fees in Texas public universities are the lowest of any state in the nation in virtually every category.

The League also points out that the median income of families with a student in college was $31,739 (1982 figures), well above the median income for all families. This suggests that a substantial part of the college population has sufficient financial resources to pay a larger share of the cost of their education.

However, with higher tuition rates, many students will require additional financial aid in order for them to pursue a college education. Thus a two-tiered approach to tuition rates—charging a higher rate to those with the ability to pay and using some of those increased revenues for additional loans or grants to those in need—is one of several solutions to the tuition dilemma.

Other remedies include charging higher tuition for graduate than for undergraduate study, and higher rates for students attending UT and TAMU, since those universities offer a richer variety of courses than other public universities.

Whatever solution is chosen to address the funding problem for Texas colleges and universities, an overall tuition policy related to cost is more desirable than a tax increase which would impact more heavily

The first Texas Highway Department tourist bureaus were established in 1936 to aid travelers planning to attend Centennial events and to stimulate additional travel within the state. Today the department operates ten tourist bureaus at key entry points along State highways, the Judge Roy Bean Visitor Center at Langtry, and the State Capitol Visitor Center in Austin.

J.W. Buchanan appointed to 3 committees

AUSTIN — State Representative J.W. Buchanan, D-Dumas, has been appointed to three committees in the House for the 69th session of the Texas Legislature.

He is a member of the Natural Resources and House Administration Committees and he will serve as the Vice Chairman for the Committee on County Affairs.

This will be Representative Buchanan's third appointment to the Natural Resources Committee and his second appointment to the Committees on County Affairs and House Administration.

Representative Buchanan's office will also be mailing out a questionnaire soon to all the registered voters in his district. It will contain several questions regarding matters of interest to his constituents which will come up for consideration during the 69th session of the Legislature. Your response is vital as it will inform Representative Buchanan of the feelings of the people he represents.

Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. Holds Line On Gas Rates

Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line company (PEPL), the Wholesale Supplier of Natural Gas to 75 utilities in five midwestern states, announced today that it will hold its wholesale rates at current levels for the six months period commencing March 1.

In its periodic purchased gas adjustment (PGA) filing made with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC), PEPL said that maintaining the current rate level results from offsetting deferred gas purchased costs* that would otherwise have created a rate increase by a reduction of approximately $62 million in the cost of purchased gas through negotiations, now in progress, of contracts covering production which was deregulated on January 1.

PEPL has about 1,000 contracts involving newly deregulated gas, accounting for about 32 percent of its supply.

*Deferred costs are amounts previously paid to producers but not included in rates at the time the gas was purchased. The deferred amounts fluctuate from one PGA period to the next. FERC Regulations permit such costs to be recovered in subsequent PGA periods.

The flat rate level for the March-September period keeps in place the benefits of the 17 percent reduction PEPL has made in its rates since June, 1983.

K.E. Kalen, President and

Chief Operating Officer of PEPL said: "We are pleased to be able to continue our efforts to be responsive to the needs of our markets. Avoiding an increase at this time should help in maintaining our sales levels. We are confident that the current negotiations with producers will provide favorable results and demonstrate that deregulation is establishing market-sensitive wellhead prices."

Fugitive of the Week

PASADENA, Texas — Edward Harold Bell has been running from the law for the past five years.

Bell, now 45 years old, is wanted for Failure to Appear in Court on Charges of Murder and four counts of Indecency with a Child.

This week, Bell has been selected as the first fugitive to be featured as Texas Most Wanted. A $1,000 reward is being offered by the Texas Crime Stoppers Advisory Council for information leading to Bell's capture.

A former diesel mechanic, construction worker and pharmaceutical salesman, Bell was originally apprehended August 24, 1978, just a short time after he allegedly shot and killed Larry Dean Dickens, 26, of Pasadena.

Police reports indicated Dickens was at his mother's house and saw a man exposing himself to children in the neighborhood. Dickens, who was the father of a young daughter, went outside and grabbed the keys to the suspect's truck in an effort to detain him for police.

It was a brave act that cost him his life.

The suspect pulled out a pistol and began shooting at Dickens, who staggered into the garage of his mother's home and collapsed on the floor with his wounds. Witnesses say the offender then pulled a rifle out of his truck, walked into the garage and — ignoring pleas from Dickens' mother that his life be spared — shot the young man in the head at close range.

A short time later, police apprehended Edward Harold Bell.

Bell is described as a white male, 5'11", 220 pounds, with brown hair and hazel eyes. He forfeited a $125,000 bond when he failed to appear in court on January 8, 1979, to stand trial.

Anyone with information about Bell's whereabouts is asked to call the Texas Crime Stoppers program. Callers do not have to reveal their identities.

Texas Most Wanted is a weekly cooperative effort between Crime Stoppers and the Department of Public Safety and is designed to enlist the support of citizens in determining the location of dangerous fugitives.

Cash rewards are also offered on a regular basis for information leading to the capture of other wanted felons.

Help Your Heart

Heart Attack Warning Signals

During a heart attack, your body usually sends out warning signals that your heart is starving for oxygen. An uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing or pain in the center of your chest for more than two minutes is one signal. Chest pain that spreads to your shoulders, neck or arms is another. Dizziness, fainting, sweating, nausea or shortness of breath may also occur. Sometimes the signals may subside, only to return later.

Help your heart! Learn to recognize these signals and take fast action. Remember that each year 350,000 Americans die from heart attacks before reaching the hospital. So don't ignore the warning signals. Act immediately.

If you are having chest discomfort that lasts for two minutes or more, call the emergency rescue service. If you can get to a hospital faster by car, have someone drive you. Find out which hospitals in your area offer 24-hour emergency cardiac care. Select in advance the facility nearest your home and office and tell your family and friends so they will know what to do. Keep a list of emergency numbers next to your telephone and in a prominent place in your pocket, wallet or purse.

If you are with someone who is experiencing the warning signals, and if they last for two minutes or longer, insist on taking prompt action. Expect the person to deny the possibility of anything as serious as a heart attack. Call the emergency rescue service, or get to the nearest hospital emergency room with 24-hour cardiac care. Give mouth-to-mouth breathing and chest compression (CPR) if it is necessary and if you are properly trained.

Gulf Refund Application

The U.S. Department of Energy has announced a deadline extension until March 31, 1985 for receiving refund applications from resellers, retailers, and consumers of Gulf Oil Corporation petroleum products purchased from August 19, 1973 through January 31, 1976.

Applications will be accepted beyond the previously announced deadline provided they are post-marked by March 31.

Purchasers of Gulf Oil Corporation petroleum products either from Gulf directly or from a firm that sold Gulf products during the above period may be eligible for a refund.

Refunds would be paid from funds obtained by the Department of Energy from the Gulf Oil Corporation as a result of a consent order.

The amount of refunds will be based on the volume of purchases. Because refunds are paid at the rate of $1.22 per 1,000 gallons, however, small consumers may not find it worthwhile to file applications. Different application requirements apply to the different types of applicants.

Complete information on how to apply for a refund may be obtained by contacting:

Tri City Porcelain Art Club Meeting

The Tri-City Porcelain Art Club met at La Dee's Collectibles in Berger Saturday, January 19 for their regular monthly meeting.

After the business meeting, the members enjoyed a short demonstration on painting bisque eggs given by Mrs. Roy McDowell of Fritch. Many lovely, handpainted eggs were on display. Methods of placing patterns on eggs were demonstrated and the use of enamel on bisque was discussed.

gold on hand painted china, and discussed methods used in achieving the finished piece.

Following these discussions members enjoyed a luncheon served by hostesses Mrs. Waymon Edwards and Mrs. J.W. Pipkin of Spearman.

Present were: Mrs. Jerry Blankenship and Mrs. E.T. Waller of Stinnett, Mrs. Clara McDowell and Mrs. Jacob Flick of Fritch, Mrs. Veta Allaway of Gruver, Mrs. Harlan Getman of Berger, Mrs. Willard Davis and Mrs. Joe Traylor and the hostesses of Spearman.

Stinnett voters okay plan to join Palo Duro authority

By David Johnson
NEWS-HERALD CITY EDITOR

In what was considered a "great" turnout, Stinnett voters Saturday overwhelmingly approved a proposition to join the Palo Duro Water Authority.

The 340 citizens who voted also set the minimum and maximum tax the Authority can levy at 1 cent and 6 cents, respectively.

The proposition to make Stinnett a member of the Authority passed by a vote of 326 to 22.

Voters cast 298 ballots in favor of setting the tax limits and 32 against the proposition.

Immediately after the polls closed at 7 p.m., Stinnett Mayor Ron Griffin said, "I'm extremely pleased and I think it will ensure that we will have water for generations to come. I really figured it would pass, but I didn't know it would be by that much of a margin."

Both propositions had to pass in order for Stinnett to become a member of the Authority.

The Authority's victory came to no surprise to other city officials in Stinnett, who said last week the lack of controversy in this issue indicated most people were in favor of the idea.

Ten of Stinnett's 1,500 registered voters cast absentee ballots prior to the election.

Stinnett's membership in the Authority means the city will have permanent rights to buy a portion of the water supplied by a lake the Authority plans to build 9½ miles north of Spearman.

Spearman and Gruver are already members of the Authority. Sunray, Cactus, Dumas and Perryton have yet to vote on joining.

These towns were offered the first chance to become members because they will be the closest towns to the lake.

If any of these towns turn down their chance to join, the Authority will make the offer to other cities, such as Canyon, Lubbock or Stratford, which already have asked for water from the proposed lake.

Prior to the election, city officials in Stinnett strongly urged citizens to vote in favor of joining the Authority. They said the two wells that supply Stinnett water from the Ogallala Aquifer will run dry in 10 to 15 years because the level of water in the aquifer is dropping.

They told voters Saturday's election would be their only chance to find another source of water for Stinnett.

During a town meeting held Tuesday to discuss the issue, Stinnett City Councilman Buck Formby said, "I don't think we can afford to turn it down. This is a once in a lifetime chance."

City Manager Bruce Titus summed up the feelings of the mayor and councilmen when he said, "We think in the next 10 or 15 years we're going to be desperate for water or we're going to run out of water. This (election) is the only chance you'll ever have to get a new water supply."

None of the citizens of Stinnett voiced public opposition to the Authority's plans. Several did, however, raise questions about the amount of taxes they would have to pay as a result of being a member of the Authority and how much their water bills would rise when the lake began supplying water.

Authority General Manager Johnnie Lee told them a tax of 1 cent or 1½ cents per $100 in assessed property valuation would be needed to pay off bonds that will be sold to pay for constructing a dam, water purification facility and distribution system.

A tax of 1½ cents would mean property owners would be taxed an extra $1.50 each year if their property was assessed at $10,000.

But Lee had to explain that when voters cast ballots Saturday, they would be voting not only on whether or not they wanted to join the Authority, but they would be asked to set the minimum and maximum taxes that can be levied by the Authority at 1 cent and 6 cents, respectively.

Lee assured citizens the Authority's tax would not be as high as 6 cents. He said the Authority's taxing limits are established by the State of Texas and the state requires the limits to appear on ballots and be voted upon. He also said all members of the Authority would be taxed at the same rate.

City officials told citizens Tuesday night that water bills would someday rise in Stinnett if the city began receiving water from the lake, but they did not know how much the rates would rise.

Final construction plans will be made when the Authority knows who all of its members will be. Then, cities are expected to know more about future water rates.

Lee said Tuesday that if Stinnett approved the two propositions in Saturday's election, another election would be held in Stinnett in approximately six months so voters could approve the sale of bonds to fund construction at the lake.

If any member cities do not approve the bond election, they will not be allowed to receive water from the lake and will be asked to withdraw their memberships to the Authority, Lee said. If that happens, other towns will be offered a chance to join.

Lee has maintained Stinnett would not have to build new storage tanks or purifications system to accommodate their new water source, because all water distributed from the lake will be treated at a plant near the reservoir and enter Stinnett's existing storage tanks ready to drink.

Fun & Fitness

Reviewing the Ariel 4000

From its biomechanical possibilities, the "Ariel 4000" exercise system represents the application of a high speed computer and the sophistication of "on-line-motion" analysis.

The computer system makes it possible to obtain velocities, accelerations, forces and work for the movement of many complex muscle patterns and their contributing external forces.

By determination of the forces produced during a muscle action and the speed at which those forces occur, the complexity of a movement pattern may be broken into its basic parts.

Once broken into the basic components, a movement may be analyzed and modified to match a more biochemically sound method of conditioning.

The basic device consists of two stations. One is for leg flexion and extension, which can also double for the same ranges with other leg and arm movements. A second device will allow for large muscle groups normally used in such activities as bench presses or squats to be evaluated and worked.

Measurement of resistance, velocity, work and fatigue provide instant feedback of the characteristics of any movement, while at the same time allowing for changes in the exercise program to be improved. By using a feedback loop, the computerized machine has the ability to adjust the external variables of a given exercise pattern to match the program most effective to the subject.

In the past, the major complaint of isokinetic training machines has been that they are very limited in terms of range of motion and other dynamic capabilities. The Nautilus and Hydra-Fitness machines do possess dynamic movement capabilities, but in a very limited range of movement patterns. The other alternative is free weights, but these are controlled by the inherent limitations due to gravity. What has been needed in the past to evaluate complex movement patterns has been a combination of several devices in addition to free weight.

The "Ariel 4000" seems to be the electric fusion of bio-feedback, fitness strength machines and computer technology. Its application in rehabilitation and physical therapy are enhanced by the extensive amount of data produced.

The application of such a device in research could mean that treatment effects can be closely observed in parameters once only possible through devisive methods with questionable validity.

Safety is no accident. The Texas highway department is one of the few in the United States that invested more than $1 million in highway safety research last year, in addition to more than $13 million in highway safety construction.

There are more than 70 thousand miles of designated highways in the Texas highway system, of which nearly 41 thousand miles are Farm-to-Market Roads.

More than 1,100 safety rest areas, roadside parks and scenic turnouts are located along the Texas highway system.

STRATEGIES

A financial game plan for retirement.

DEVELOPING A PLAN

There is an important way you can help your financial strategy now and at retirement time.

It's with an IRA. Individual Retirement Account from First National Bank in Perryton.

You can help now because it's the biggest tax break ever. Every wage earner can subtract up to $2,000 yearly from your gross annual income with an IRA. Married couples with a non-working spouse may deduct up to $2,250 or when both work up to $4,000.

PROTECT YOUR INVESTMENT

Of course, at the First National Bank in Perryton your IRA is protected up to $100,000 by the FDIC. And, we charge no maintenance fee.

REACH YOUR GOAL

Then an IRA helps you later because your money draws interest at the highest rates available until you start making withdrawals at retirement. It is remarkable how much momentum an IRA can gather as you head towards retirement. If you start before 30 it can accumulate more than a million dollars.

If you have a business, ask us about Keogh and SEP.

The NACCCA Story

The decade 1933-1942 was a critical period in American history. The Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) played a big part in bringing our country and its people back to normal during those difficult times.

The billions of trees planted, the millions of acres of land reclaimed; the parks, bridges, dams and fire trails built; plus all the other projects are still much in evidence today.

Equally important, the CCC took millions of unemployed young men off the streets, gave them hope, helped them to be self-supporting and build self-respect and taught them how to be good citizens. Many learned to read and write, obtained diplomas or learned a trade. A large percentage served their country honorably and with distinction in World War II. Many went on to be an outstanding credit to their country and communities. The CCC will always be close to the hearts of those helped by it.

The experience gained and the benefits derived during the nine years of the CCC should be studied carefully. The unique program coped successfully with a grave national problem, which, fifty years later, is once again a source of great national concern.

About four million Americans—mostly male—were associated with the CCC. Today, about two million are still with us and most are part of the growing Senior Citizen population. They are increasingly concerned about the mounting problems facing both young and Senior Americans. They are still concerned about the depletion and abuse of our country's natural resources.

That is why, five decades later, those associated with the CCC are building the National Association of CCC Alumni. These grey heads, through organized effort, intend to revive, and preserve the comradeship, nostalgia, history and accomplishments of the CCC while at the same time, doing something tangible to solve today's problems.

National Headquarters is located in Virginia on the outer fringe of the Nation's Capital, for quick communication with congressional staff and Federal government administrators.

NACCCA, through its national headquarters, regions, chapters and members, will support national, state, and local legislation and programs dealing with the problems of young and Senior Americans as well as those problems related to our environment and resources.

By means of conventions, reunions, chapter meetings and other gatherings, NACCCA will provide the added pleasure of just getting together, renewing old friendships and talking over old times.

Reference files are being developed at National headquarters to help members locate old CCC buddies and provide various kinds of data about the CCC.

AN NACCCA Journal is published as a principal means of contact between and among the members and their National headquarters and providing timely news and information.

A number of projects are under consideration including a National CCC Museum/Library/Headquarters. A 1983 commemorative stamp has been approved honoring the CCC 50th Anniversary, first offered at a Post Office in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia near the location of the first CCC camp. NACCCA took part in the national regional ceremonies organized by the Franklin Delano Roosevelt National Centennial Committee. NACCCA cooperated with the U.S. Forest Service in suitable nationwide ceremonies held in memory of the establishment of the CCC. There will, of course, be other projects as time progresses.

The voice of the members governs at all times and particularly at the National Conventions when resolutions and By Laws amendments which determine the policies and programs of the association are processed by the delegates. A National convention in held biannually NACCCA IS A NATIONAL ORGANIZATION and was established as a non-profit organization in August, 1977. Articles of Incorporation #823879 were filed with the California Secretary of State on 16 August, 1977. It was also registered with the Virginia State Corporation Commission on August 1, 1980.

Information regarding NACCCA rules and regulations, eligibility, election and duties of officers, conventions and meetings; committees, etc., are fully covered in the association's By-Laws. Copies of these documents will be furnished upon request, to any qualified individual desiring to review them.

Membership is open to any individual associated, in any capacity, with the original Civilian Conservation Corps (1933-42), and with subsequent similar type programs such as the YCC, YACC, California conservation Corps and other State programs patterned after the CCC. This includes enrollees, military personnel, state forestry personnel, educational advisors, hospital personnel, educational advisors, hospital personnel, district headquarters civilian personnel and ALL associated with the membership of the organizations mentioned above. Membership is also open to any widow, widower or other close relative (at the discretion of the Board of Directors) who wishes to obtain a membership in memory or in honor of a CCC veteran.

When any group of ten or more members and/or potential members express a desire to form a chapter, and the necessary initiative and leadership are present, chapters are encouraged and supported. More than 114 chapters are already in existence with more in the planning and development stages.

REMEMBER-RETURN-RE-LIVE

While NACCCA is dedicated to the preservation of the past, our fundamental purpose is to utilize our wealth of experience and talent in a viable campaign to seek out, identify and initiate actions to make the sunset years of the life of our members the most rewarding--the most productive and the most satisfying of all.

We are concerned, not only with the immediate problems of the Senior American, but also with our young who are just beginning their journey into a future already shadowed by the clouds of economic uncertainty and impending shortages and depletion of the energy sources that keep this nation prosperous, productive and powerful.

We recognize in the unfortunate stratification of our society, that youth may have its day, but not always its say, and so does not enjoy equal status or equal opportunity. Economically, many are in about the same position we NACCCA members were in 1933. A revitalized CCC could be the answer and should be given most serious consideration by our representatives in the Congress and by the Administration.

Each member of the NACCCA has the opportunity to promote and contribute to an organization which is dedicated to the well being of all its members and which provides each individual:

(1) the opportunity to participate in a movement to conserve the natural resources of their country.
(2) to help the youth of America with their problems much as they were helped fifty years ago.

(3) to participate in, and contribute to, an organized effort to solve the mutual problems of Senior Americans.

(4) the opportunity to locate old friends and to recall the days of their youth with those who shared them.

(5) to become active as an interested contributor to life in America today, rather than become a statistic in another file of retired, do-nothing, older citizens.
