

THINGS WITH MEANING

Fred S. Cox

Signs and symbols have always had their place in Religion. They have played an important part in man's life in many ways. We today use signs, numbers, and symbols much more than we some times realize that we do. Many plant their crops by signs, some of these signs are symbolized. We find some in our almanac. Numbers, are very important in many ways and have had their place in Religion, and are in our Christian Religion. The five senses of hearing, feeling, smelling, seeing, and tasting are an introduction. But let us just use the number five here.

Among the Pythagoreans five was a mystical number, because it was formed by the union of the first even number, and the first odd, rejecting unity; and hence it symbolized for them the mixed conditions of order and disorder, happiness and misfortune, life and death. The same union of the odd and even, or male and female numbers, made it the symbol of marriage. Among the Greeks it was a symbol of the world, because, says Diodorus, "it represented ether and the four elements." It was a sacred round number among the Hebrews. In Egypt, India and other Oriental Nations, says Gesenius, the five minor planets, and the five elements, and elementary powers were accounted sacred. It was the Pentas of the Gnostics and of the Hermetic philosophers. It was the symbol of their quintessence—the fifth or highest essence of power in a natural body.

The early Christians revered the number five, because it represented to them the number of wounds inflicted upon the body of Christ. In Roman marriage ceremonies it was customary to light five tapers and to admit the guest by fires. The Jews classed a bride's attendants by five, five wise and five foolish virgins. The Jewish references to five are many—five gifts to the priests; five things which might only be eaten in the camp; not to eat fruit from a tree until it was five years old. The trespass offerings imposed on the Philistines were five golden emerods and five golden sashes; Joseph wore Benjamin five suits of raiment; Joseph presented only five of his brethren to Pharaoh; David took five pebbles when he went to fight Goliath; there are five articles of belief in the Mohammedan faith—in Allah, in angels, in the Prophet; in the day of judgment; and in predestination. The five duties of a member of the Christian church are to keep Holy the festivals, to observe the fasts; to attend public worship; to receive the sacraments, and to adhere to five words in a language understood by his hearer, than ten thousand in an unknown tongue. The pentagram, or five-pointed star, is an endless complex set of angles; it forms five copies of the capital letter "A"; it is called pentacle, and was said to be a device on the signet of the ancient mystics.

This is reference to only one of the many numbers, signs and symbols that still have a living practice among Christian people.

THE QUITAQUE POST YOUR HOME-OWNED NEWSPAPER

VOLUME XXX

QUITAQUE, BRISCOE COUNTY, TEXAS

THUR., JANUARY 12, 1956

5c Per Copy

The Quitaque F.F.A. boys win again at Turkey Livestock Show. All the animals that the Quitaque boys entered won either 2nd or 1st place in the show.

Murry Wise, with Lucas Lucero showing the gilt for him, won 2nd place in the bred gilt class. Joe Edd Helms placed 2nd in open gilt, 1st in light weight barrows, 1st and Grand Champion in Angus Heifers. Benny Reagan took 1st place in Hereford Heifers. The 1st place showmanship award went to Joe Edd Helms.

Even with the show set up as early as it was, catching our boys with some young pigs and short feeding periods, we think that it was quite a successful show on our part.

This week the boys will have their six weeks quizzes and also their mid term quizzes.

This week will end my career as Voc Ag teacher here in the Quitaque School and I wish to express my thanks and appreciation to all of you for your splendid cooperation and support that you have given me and the Ag Chapter in the last 2 1/2 years that I have been here. I hope that you will continue to give your support to the Ag boys and their teacher for you know yourself that this being a farming community that they are naturally a big and important place in the school system for Voc. Ag and it should be supported in that way.

A more complete obituary will be given next week.

REAL CHALLENGES FACE DAIRYMEN

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. — Reports from 185 Texas counties covering the participation of dairymen in basic dairy practices indicate that milk producers can further improve their efficiency of operations.

The dairymen were asked whether they were keeping private herd records, storing and feeding silage; utilizing summer and winter temporary pastures; feeding hay year-round and raising herd replacements.

Extension Dairy Husbandman R. E. Burlison and A. M. Meekma say that less than 4 percent of the Grade A herds in Texas are enrolled in a dairy herd improvement association and that registered cows on official test represent a very small percent of the total cows in the state.

Participation in another basic practice, storing and feeding silage, was also low. About the greatest hazard to dairying in the state, according to the specialists, is uncertain rainfall. From the feed standpoint, silage, as a feed reserve, or irrigation are possible answers to drought.

More dairymen in the 185 counties followed the practice of utilizing summer and winter temporary pastures than participated in any of the other basic practices. They and all dairymen are urged by the specialists to continue this practice. They point out that the best feed at the lowest cost comes from pastures.

Less than half of the dairymen reporting showed they were feeding hay on a year-round basis or were raising herd replacements. Both practices, say the dairymen, should draw much greater participation.

Miss Helen Strong returned to Quitaque last Tuesday after enjoying a holiday visit with her parents at Sedan, Kansas.

Quitaque P.T.A. Held A Regular Meeting

The P.T.A. met Monday night in the school auditorium in Quitaque for the regular monthly meeting.

The business session was led by Mrs Ralph Carter, President. The following was voted upon and passed. 1. To repair the portable record player for the grade school. 2. To match two basketball games with the Flomot Home Demonstration Club, these games to be played at both schools by the P.T.A. members who played recently. Plans will have to be announced later.

"The Family Creates Skilled Hands" was the subject of the study and presented by Mrs Mary Pittman. Mrs Bill Woods concluded the program with a devotional concerning the fact that nothing is "Ordinary". Rev. Fred S. Cox gave the benediction.

Refreshments of cake, coffee, and hot chocolate was served in the cafeteria by the mothers of the 7th, 8th and 9th grades.

The next meeting will be held on February 13th.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

Conservation strategy for 1956 speedup of upstream flood prevention work, and water legislation for Texas will be the big topics of discussion when farmers and ranchers from all over the state meet in Lubbock January 18, 19, and 20 for the 15th annual convention of the Association of Texas Soil Conservation District Supervisors.

Dr. C. H. Wadleigh, chief of USDA's Soil and Water Conservation Research Branch, the main speaker, is expected to discuss research for better control of wind erosion and better use of water in crop production.

L. L. Males, Cheyenne, Okla. will tell about the first complete upstream flood prevention project in the United States -- the system of small dams and land treatment measures on Sandstone Creek Watershed in western Oklahoma.

Bill Durham Fort Worth Star-Telegram farm editor and a recent appointee to USDA's new Soil and Water Conservation Advisory Committee, will report on the committee's activities. Nolen Fuqua, Duncan Okla., president of the National Association of SCD's, will discuss NASCD problems and objectives.

Mrs Eunice Johnson Halbert of Ford City, first woman to win the state SCD speaking contest, will deliver her prize-winning oration. A full program of ladies activities is scheduled including lunches, teas, style shows, tours of the city and of Lubbock homes, and visits to Texas Tech's museum and art gallery.

Billed as a "working convention, there will be plenty of time for committee work and floor discussion of the many soil and water problems facing Texans. This year's SOIL AND WATER Show a feature of the convention, will present one of the largest displays of irrigation, land-leveling, earth-moving, brush-control, and other conservation equipment for farms and ranches ever assembled in Texas.

Both the show and convention will be held in Lubbock's Fair Park Coliseum. Admission is free, and supervisors are extending a hearty invitation for all interested folks to attend, visit the exhibits, and participate in the convention. Farmers and ranchers of the Plains area will be especially interested in the exhibits of equipment.

Supervisors of the Cap Rock Soil Conservation District planning to attend the Lubbock Convention are: Edwin Crass, Lem Weaver, W. E. Cushing, and Merle McMurtry.

SEWING QUEEN ON BREAKFAST CLUB

WENT TO AMARILLO TO STAY WITH HER GRANDCHILDREN

Editor's Speak

MR. PENNY COULD REPEAT

A short time ago J. C. Penny, founder of the chain store system which operates some 1,650 outlets in all 48 states, celebrated his 75th birthday. Mr. Penny opened his first little store half a century ago, with a minimum of financial resources.

The anniversary caused Godfrey M. Lebar, editor-in-chief of the Store Age to ask and answer this question: "Could Mr. Penny repeat?" Mr. Lebar said, in part: "Certainly retailing has made strides physically in the past 50 years. When we look at the stores we are putting up today, we may well wonder how they could be much improved. But we still don't have enough of them, in the first place, and certainly the last word has not yet been said on how to design stores to meet the public need most effectively. Of far greater significance, however, is the fact that we will have far to go in reducing the costs of retail distribution through more efficient merchandising methods and further operating economies.

"Could Mr. Penny repeat his success today? We haven't any doubt about it. Many young men, now coming up in various lines, will demonstrate, we feel sure, that the gates of opportunity in the field of retailing are still wide open."

What Mr. Lebar says applies with equal force to retailing other than chain. In retailing no one has a monopoly on intelligence, innovation, advertising and promotional ideas, the willingness to work, or anything else. The wise old adage that "nothing is constant but change" fits retailing to a T. Great frontiers of progress remain to be opened and explored.

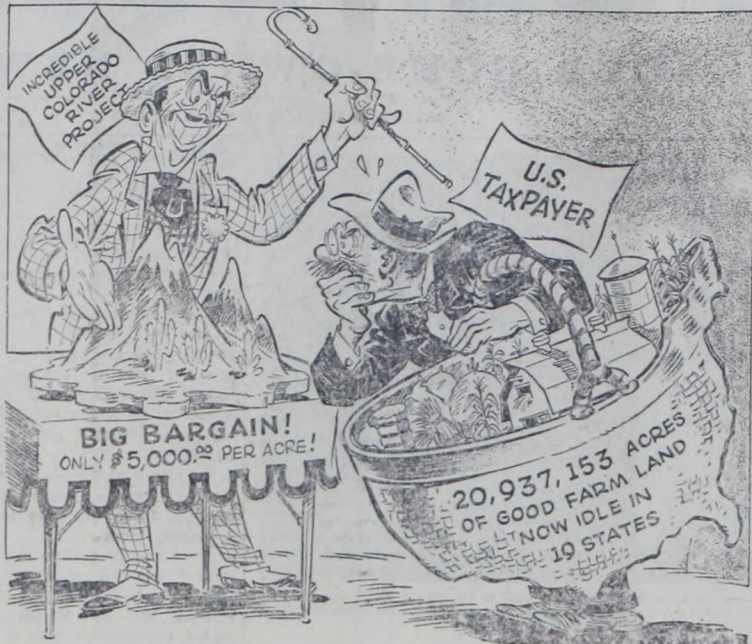

THE HOG SITUATION

Hog prices have declined sharply of late. The Portland Oregonian explains why, in an editorial aptly entitled "Too Many Pigs." The paper says: "The reason the hog market is so low is that there are so many pigs going to market. The reason so many pigs were produced this year—more than 140,000,000—is that prices on hogs were good a little more than a year ago and corn prices, depressed by a total supply of some five billion bu., have been dropping. When corn is cheap and pork high, hog production goes up and hog prices go down."

This year is an example of how the law of supply and demand works in a free market. Almost invariably scarcity makes for higher prices and abundance for lower prices. The producers and sellers of every commodity in general are subject to the law's workings. This year, for instance, automobile dealers have found themselves hard-pressed to dispose of the roaring flood of cars the factories are making, and as a consequence consumers have been offered exceptionally good buys.

Getting back to the hog situation, what should be done? One important help lies in current campaigns in which packers, retailers and others are participating, to promote increased pork consumption, and to publicize the bargain prices now prevailing. Also the government is to buy $85,000,000 worth of pork products—not for storage, but for consumption in the school lunch and other established programs. And, of course, there is talk about government price supports for hogs. The fallacy in that was pointed up by the Record Stockman, of Denver, when it said: "The chief answer lies with slashing hog numbers. Price propping for hogs could only encourage the inefficient hog feeder to feed this winter."

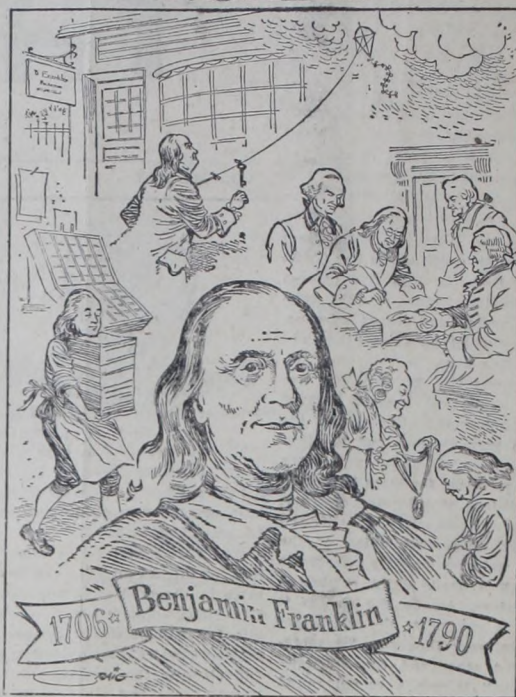

NO BARGAIN AT ANY PRICE!

A RECENT SURVEY, conducted in 19 States in the Midwest, South and Southeast, reveals that there are nearly 21 million acres of rich, idle farmland available for crop production when more food is needed to feed the Nation. At the same time Government plans are under way to take additional acreage out of production because of the huge surpluses of food the Federal Government now has stored in bins around the country. Despite these facts Congress is being asked to approve the incredible Upper Colorado River Project to "irrigate" 583,000 acres of arid mountain land in Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming at a cost to the Nation's taxpayers of $4 Billion in added taxes. Figures for the rich, idle land now available were obtained from the U.S. Conservation Service.

Breeders Know One Out of Five Calves Will Die!

Of every five calves dropped last Fall, one will die before it is six months of age. Faulty management and poor sanitation are often the reasons. But poor nutrition is a contributing cause, too.

Calf feeding may not be sufficiently balanced to maintain calf health some nutrients lacking or a poor balance in all. Good feeding includes these practices:

1. Calves are gradually weaned from whole milk or milk replacements. A safe age at which whole milk or milk substitute may be replaced by a suitable starter—grain mixture and roughage—depends on their vigor. Usually six weeks can be considered a safe age for this change.
2. Calves are turned out to pasture as soon as practicable after four months of age. Continue to provide the usual feed and allow access to salt, water and shade. (While grass is an excellent feed for mature animals, it does not contain enough essential growth-permitting nutrients for calves. As a result, they easily fill their
3. A selection of branded feed with a balanced content is a very necessary diet supplement. Experiments in agricultural colleges and laboratories have repeatedly shown that well-fed calves using a balanced diet grew faster, had sleeker coats at four months, carried more flesh and were larger. Calf losses were negligible.

Assuming proper sanitation methods, farmers who give proper feeding the attention it deserves will cut their calf losses to the vanishing point, says the Agricultural Service Department of Union Bag & Paper Corporation, makers of multiwall paper feed bags.

NO MONTHLY CRAMPS... not even on the VERY FIRST DAY!

Doctor's tests show amazing preventive relief of pain, backaches, nervous feelings.

Women and girls who suffer from the functionally-caused cramps, backaches and headaches due to menstruation—who feel upset and irritable on certain "particular days" every month—may be suffering quite needlessly!

Such is the conclusion from tests by doctors in which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stopped or gave amazing relief of such distress in 8 out of 4 of the cases... even on the very first and worst day of the period!

Yes! Medical evidence proves Lydia Pinkham's mod-ern in action. It exerts a remarkably calming effect on the uterus—without the use of pain-deadening drugs!

The effectiveness of Lydia Pinkham's is no proof to the millions of women and girls whom it has benefited. But how about you? Do you know what it may do for you?

Take Lydia Pinkham's! See if you don't get the same relief from cramps and weakness... feel better both before and during your period!

Get either Lydia Pinkham's Compound, or new, improved Tablets, with added iron! Lydia Pinkham's is wonderful for "hot flashes" and other functional distress of the "change of life," too!

MULLING WITH MULLER
By Edna M. Muller

Now here's something that's really sensible and certainly useful. A hanging beauty box! Attractive in the bathroom, the locale for the majority of women to put on their make-up, you have a place for all those bottles and jars — out of the way of "little hands." The front can be let down to become a make-up shelf. 20x17½ is a convenient size and you'll be amazed at all the items it can hold. A mirrored back will add a bit of glamour and you can decorate the outside with wallpaper, decals, or even a brilliant lacquer.

The first cool breeze that blows in my direction at the end of summer brings the desire to paint, freshen up or do something to freshen up and give our home a new or different look. One of the "musts" for us this year is doing over the playroom floor. No other room takes the punishment this one does so we've practically decided that the All-Vinyl flooring is probably our best buy. This is no light statement — I've been looking them over. Did you know, for instance, that if you hit All-Vinyl flooring a hard blow with a hammer that 15 minutes later you can't tell where the blow was struck? (Not that you make a habit of hammering your flooring, but it gives you an idea how heavy tables, etc., won't leave a permanent mark.) Being factory pre-polished, it has a lasting luster and won't scratch even when bent nearly double which makes it ideal for rounded edges and contour coving. It's scratch-resistant, which makes me very happy, and maybe best of all grease, alcohol and even ink wipe clean with a sudsy cloth. It is so resistant to stain damage and dirt! I can have pre-cut tiles or full 45-inch wide rolls which take care of most needs. My problem now is making a selection from one of the stunning 18 decorator colors.

Janet is a "Model" Girl

In tune with the annual request from the postal department, Janet King, popular midwest model, believes in mailing her packages ahead of the Christmas rush. Budget-minded Janet, visiting a nearby appliance store recently, found one of the bargains this year to be a packet of gift wrapping materials made up by Motorola, Inc. Normally valued at over $2.00, the packet is specially priced at only 89 cents. It contains enough paper, ribbon and labels for at least 20 parcels. When her selection of gifts is completed, the rest is easy. Wrapping gift packages can be fun according to Janet, who finds time in between modeling assignments.

Texan Wins Trip for 4-H Leadership

Don Elledge, 19, of Mabank, has been chosen one of eight sectional winners in the Nation, in the 4-H Leadership program. He will attend the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, as the guest of Edward Foss Wilson, meat-packing executive.

Don Elledge

Don's record will now be considered for higher honors. Four $300 college scholarships will be awarded each of the two high-ranking boys and girls, selected from the sectional winners.

Don has been a Junior Leader since 1949 and for the last two years has served as assistant leader for a club of 20 to 45 members. He served as club recreation leader and on the safety committee. He helped lead project tours and assisted in planning livestock shows, worked with younger 4-H members in their projects, exhibits and records.

Don served as chairman of the National 4-H Sunday program and gave demonstrations on health, first aid and safety. He arranged for his club to demonstrate new farm practices. He helped plan and lead 4-H projects, and taught handicraft at county camp. Don assisted in training younger 4-H members to become Junior Leaders, helped train judging teams, and helped recruit 82 new 4-H Club members.

He is secretary of the county Wildlife Preserve Organization made up of 15,000 acres and helped to organize an auxiliary club of which he was elected president. He was vice chairman of National Achievement Week. He was chosen as chairman of the National Soil and Water Conservation Committee, while attending the Young Outdoor Americans conference in Chicago. He was a delegate to the state Round-Up and chairman of the state Farm Youth committee. Don attended the National Leadership Training Camp, and is a member of the City youth council.

In school Don is a member of the student center music committee, president of college discussion groups, a member of the public relations committee, and writes articles on the state Young Farmers magazine staff. He represented the Mabank High School at the state of Texas Convention of the association of student councils. He led a drive to bring more people to the polls to vote, and helped prepare and present state wide radio programs sponsored by the College 4-H Club.

He has given 281 talks, made 59 radio and TV appearances and has written 119 news articles. He completed 121 projects of which the major ones are, leadership, dairy, forestry, gardening, home improvement, canning, health and safety, recreation and rural arts, autology and soil and water conservation. As state leadership winner, Don was presented a 19-jewel wrist watch.

This program is conducted under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service.

Texas 4-H'er Wins Trip To Chicago

William Kolter, 18, of Wichita Falls, is among 24 of 4-H members in the Nation to attend the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, as a sectional winner in the 4-H Achievement program.

William Kolter

This award, one of the highest honors a 4-H Club member can obtain, is provided by the Ford Motor Company.

His selection as a sectional winner in the program was based on project accomplishment as well as club and community achievements.

William completed 65 projects during his nine years of club work. He raised 575 chickens, cultivated 3½ acres of garden, improved 135 acres of rangeland, and practiced soil conservation on 90 acres. For the past three years, he has been a tractor maintenance Junior Leader. In 1954 he was a state tractor winner, and a delegate to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

William received numerous county, district and state awards on his 4-H projects and activities. Other projects he carried are field crops, in which he raised 180 acres of grain, beef, safety.

This program is conducted under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service.

Doctors' tests show amazing preventive relief of pain, backaches, nervous feelings

Women and girls who suffer from the functionally-caused cramps, backaches and headaches due to menstruation—who feel upset and irritable on certain "particular days," every month—may be suffering quite needlessly! Such is the conclusion from tests by doctors in which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stopped or gave amazing relief of such distress in 3 out of 4 of the cases . . . even on the very first and worst day of the period! Test! Medical evidence shows Lydia Pinkham's mod-

Let electric servants take over the job. Your automatic electric range cooks without watching — leaves you free to play with the kids or attend a meeting. All over the house, electric servants are ready to help at the flick of a switch; they give you time for other things. And whether it's washing the dishes, doing the laundry, or cleaning a rug, electric servants do the job in half the time. Electricity works for such low wages that it's today's biggest bargain. And your electric service company is constantly working to keep it that way.

ideas from other editors

From the Granite State News, Wolfeboro, New Hampshire: The longer this editor lives the less sympathy he has with people who are forever complaining about the way their legislators and Congressmen vote. They state with loud voice and emphatic gestures that the duly elected representatives of the people are a bunch of jug heads who don't know enough to pound sand into a rat hole.

In some cases this may be so but by and large the people in the Legislature and in Congress are level headed characters who are doing their best for their constituents.

But the constituents make no effort to help the representatives. When a controversial matter is coming up for vote, the voter at home hardly ever takes the time and trouble to write a letter to his representative in Concord or Washington giving his views on the matter. When the representative does not vote as the home folks think that he should, they yell and find fault.

But the representative has no crystal ball. His people have not told him what they think about the issue and they have not given him the opportunity to tell them why he voted the way he did—for often he has special information on the situation which may quite logically offset local opinion.

The longer we live the more respect we have for our conscientious hard working representatives who try to do conscientious research work on the great mass of legislation presented to them and try to attend all their committee hearings and be present at a decent majority of roll calls.

In Western folklore there is the story about the sign on the piano in a very tough saloon which said, "Don't shoot at the piano player."

It would do no harm to try to understand the problems faced by our various lawmakers and to give them a bit of aid and encouragement.

From the Whiteside County News, Morrison, Illinois: Rome wasn't built in a day, your home was paid for in dribbles over a period of a quarter of a century, more or less and if everyone had to lay out the cash for a new car all at once then the charges would have to come down considerably and the highways would look like animated junkyards.

In view of the installment plan for exerting ourselves to which our civilization is geared, no one should be discouraged if things do not break his way fast, because it would be contrary to the system. It is only when he finds himself passing up the small gains and counting on a couple of on the giant that the citizen need start worrying about himself.

FARMERS HOME ADM. GREAT PLAINS LOAN PROGRAM

Revised loan regulations sent to county offices of the Farmers Home Administration this week emphasize that the ability of farmers and ranchers to repay the loans they received is the major factor to consider in determining the soundness of a loan, according to Walter T. McKay, the agency's State Director.

The loan policies of the Great Plains credit program which began last August, were reviewed last week by agency officials at meetings in Denver and Amarillo. Special loans made in 145 counties in six Great Plains states enable farmers and ranchers to pay the cost of developing and carrying on the type of farming that provides for proper land use in the area; in addition credit is available for annual operating needs.

Soil resources, past production record of the farm, the applicant's ability and experience, farm plans and similar factors are used to determine the repayment ability of the applicant. A land capability map will be prepared by the Soil Conservation Service for the farm or ranch to be operated with the proceeds of the loan.

Each applicant is expected to carry out farming practices that will make proper use of his land and to take part in all programs designed to develop a sound agricultural economy. However, whether or not a loan is made depends upon whether it finances the type of farming that will enable the borrower to repay the funds advanced.

When needed adjustment in farming practices are to be made a detailed farm and home plan will be prepared and management guidance will be provided by the county supervisors of the Farmers Home Administration to the extent needed. When credit is required only to finance annual operating expenses only a minimum of planning is required and farm management guidance will not accompany the loan.

The credit provided by the Farmers Home Administration will be used only to supplement credit available from private and cooperative lenders.

Loans are made for the purchase of livestock, farm equipment, seed, fertilizer, feed, insecticides, farm supplies, and other farm and home operating needs. Loans are also made to finance soil conservation measures development of domestic and irrigation water system, repair of existing farm buildings, and when necessary, the purchase of additional land needed to provide an economic unit. In cases where it is necessary, to enable the farmer or rancher to continue his operations, loan may include funds to refinance certain chattel indebtedness.

A loan may be made to a farm owner or farm operator if the applicant (1) is an established operator and is primarily engaged in farming or livestock operations; (2) is unable to obtain the necessary credit elsewhere; (3) will have reasonable prospects of success with the assistance of the loan; and (4) will own or have available under satisfactory tenure arrangements a farm suitable for carrying on successful farming operations.

Briscoe and Swisher Counties are included in the 57 Texas Counties in the Great Plains credit program.

Applications for loans are made at the County offices of the Farmers Home Administration (Farmers Home Administration, The local county Farmers Home Administration Committee determines the eligibility of applicants for these loans.

ideas from other editors

From the Seville Chronicle, Seville, Ohio: Much has been made of the effects on the Nation of the years of dread and hysteria forced upon it by the awful destructive power of atomic fission.

Sociologists attribute such widespread phenomena as juvenile delinquency, and fear of motherhood, to the inner worry of people who fear the end of the world by the bomb.

Psychiatrists see the continued rise of mental ills as a side-effect on a race that fears for its future if the ultimate result of growing human knowledge is ever unleashed.

But, do you know anyone who is scared? Somehow we doubt if the average man worries as much about the hydrogen bomb as he does about the foibles of the Cleveland Indians or paying the utility bills. The bomb is just plain too big to fit the average man's imagination.

We let a little personal feeling influence us in this statement. We're blessed with an active imagination, and we admit being concerned about things that seem to worry most people very little. And we've been thoroughly frightened by things we could understand. Poison gas at the beginning of World War II was a threat that appalled us; as a young reporter we were one of the first civilians to go through a civilian defense gas chamber . . . to take off the mask inside for a first-hand whiff of tear gas . . . to cautiously sniff mustard, and to inhale gingerly whatever it was smelled like new-mown hay.

The flame throwers seared us mentally even before the army perfected them in the Pacific. We handled early training casualties with the certain knowledge that man could grow no more cruel.

We winced at the scatterbrains allowed to control 200 horsepower and tons of destructive steel on our streets and highways, and a long drive on the same road with some of them is sheer torture.

But we aren't really afraid of the atom or hydrogen bomb, and we doubt if it is affecting the daily lives or plans of even a small percent of our Nation. Think about it.

From the Suburban List, Essex Junction, Vermont: To my mind too many people live in the past. They will always think about the good old days and the wonderful pumpkin pie that mother used to make. While there may be some satisfaction in thinking about things done in the past, yet in order to bring about progress and a better standard of living the thinking must be for the future.
