Mrs. Jane Oldham proudly displays the beautiful hand crocheted bedspread that won her a blue ribbon and a $5 prize at the Panhandle South Plains Fair last week. In colors of baby blue and tangerine yarn, the spread took Mrs. Oldham six months to crochet in her spare time. She has been crocheting as a hobby for 20 years and had crocheted a spread for herself and both of her children when the family's trailer home burned a year ago. Mrs. Oldham stated she was "real pleased to have won a blue ribbon" since this was her first time to enter in the fair.

Box 5486, Lubbock, Texas 79417 or phone (806) 762-4616.

STEER WRESTLING — To jump from the back of a horse running 35-40 miles an hour may seem rather suicidal to the uninitiated, and to them it probably would be. To a professional steer wrestler in rodeo, it is merely a way to make a living and a pretty good one at that. In fact it may be his whole way of life. The steer wrestler will be the big burly cowboy with the huge arms and shoulders you'll see warming up his horse in the arena before the start of the Texas Tech Intercollegiate Rodeo October 26-27 in the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum.

KELLY'S HEROES

By Joe Kelly

It's much easier to see a game in person, as I've said before, than to listen to it on the radio, no matter how good the announcer—and Jack Dale is good, probably the best.

But, you don't see the action. Thus, it is hard to tell what really is going on. Is the defense hitting that hard? Is the pass protection that bad? Is the line blocking that poor? Just what is happening on the field, really?

Ergo, when Texas Tech's offense failed to move the ball with any consistency, it was murder to listen. And, when the Raiders finally got a first half drive going, and then fumbled, I shut up the chart book and waited for the second half.

What brought the disgust on was Tech's offense. It had the ball at the 50, one play gained nine and then, fumble. Two more series and punt, then Mike Mock falls down and it's 7-0, North Carolina. Another short drive starts, fumble—aw, to heck with it.

I was comfortably esconced in my favorite chair, with Keith Jackson and Frank Broyles obviously talking and the camera showing A&M and Michigan, the other TV showing the rain falling in New York, and then Baltimore beating Boston.

Ray Boyd's dulcet tones were filling the radio airwaves and then Dale was describing the action on the field. It was a three-ring circus, but center ring was in Chapel Hill, N.C.

The Raiders went on to win, not impressively, but it was a victory. As usual, their defense was tremendous, while the offense left a lot to be desired, an awful lot.

Indeed, the offense was supposed to be the strong feature, with four out of five line starters returning. Oh, sure, the injury bug hit, but depth also was a plus factor for the Raiders.

What has happened to the offense? Tech averaged 400 yards a game in 1975 and 379 yards in 1976. Through four games the Raiders are averaging only 302 yards a game. A week ago Tech was fifth in rushing offense, seventh in pass offense, in the conference.

Aside from the New Mexico game, which really was like playing Santa Barbara, Tech has scored only five touchdowns. You have to be worried about a team that is not more productive than that.

Sure, the record is 3-1, and that's great, but a lot of tough games remain, games against offensive-minded teams. And it starts with Arizona this week.

Sure, Rodney Allison has been hurt, but even before that he wasn't throwing the ball much and it showed up in the statistics. Tech has some great receivers and they aren't being utilized. As a result, the running game is hurt.

The playoffs have started (by the time this sees the streets) and it looks like a great one. The Phillies and Dodgers opened Tuesday and the Yankees and A's followed.

Both playoffs may well go the distance, with the World Series following. The Dodgers won fewer games than any other team, but you can't sell them short. I'll stay with the Bums. Kansas City has momentum, but the Yanks are series veteran and I'll go with them, too.

As for pro football—and a friend asked when I was going to say a word about the Dallas Cowboys—the Pokes appear to have what it takes to go all the way into the Super Bowl.

There may have been better teams than the Cowboys, but you'd have a hard time convincing folks around here. They have a super offense and a defense that is almost unbeatable. The Cowboys have been impressive and there have been few better games than the overtime victory.

Last weekend wasn't good to the Southwest Conference, with Tech's victory the only one in three tries. Southern Cal beat SMU as anticipated and Michigan humiliated the Aggies.

The A&M loss was the hardest for conference supporters to swallow. Here was the nation's No. 5 team being wiped out by the Wolverines, convincingly. That isn't supposed to happen among top-ranked clubs and it was tough for SWC fans to take.

How good is Texas? No one knows. The Longhorns got a real break in the schedule with softies such as Boston College, Virginia and Rice in the first three games. All three probably belong among the Low 10 ratings.

What will happen when the Steers face a team that is strong defensively and can score? The next two games may tell the story. They face Oklahoma this week and Arkansas the following. After that we should know much more about Fred Akers' team.

Meanwhile, the new coach Lou Holtz has the Razorbacks rolling, and Houston has rebounded. In fact, that was about as exciting a game against Baylor as you want to hear and the Cougars came from behind to win—showing an explosive offense in the process.

SMU, TCU and Rice are pretty sad. The funny thing is that all they might do is win unexpectedly and knock a team out of the running. Stranger things in the conference have happened.

I'm sure that sports fans are really excited that Ralph Nader has turned his attention to sports—with the consumer in mind, of course. Before it's over, he may do for sports what he has done for the automobile industry. Isn't it a thrilling prospect?

Sell Cottonseed For Cattle Feed

COLLEGE STATION — Cottonseed sold this year to feed cattle and not to offset ginning costs may make growers more money.

Dr. Delmer I. Davis, a livestock specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, thinks so.

He says a cow-calf man may pay cotton growers more for their seed than a ginner.

The gin price for cottonseed closely is related to the market price for lint, and the projected market price this year about equals production costs.

Davis says whole cottonseed require little processing to be fed, contain about 20 per cent natural protein, and provide from 20 to 25 per cent more feed-energy than most commercial grain cubes containing 20 per cent protein. Up to five pounds of cottonseed can be fed each cow per day.

He says feed-energy is critically short for a lactating cow on nearly all native ranges during the winter, the time when producers must provide supplemental energy and protein.

Whole cottonseed are also usually a good source of phosphorus, a mineral deficient in all Texas ranges. Producers must provide it as a supplement if calf growth and cow reproduction are to be maximized.

Davis says a cattleman should consider feeding whole cottonseed when its price per pound does not exceed the price for two-fifths pound of cottonseed meal containing 41 per cent protein, plus the price for three-fifths pound of sorghum grain containing 10 per cent protein.

Because the feeder usually cannot buy cottonseed direct from the gin, Davis recommends that the cotton grower retain ownership of the seed even after the ginning so that he may sell them later. Such direct selling, says Davis, means more profit because it eliminates a middleman.

Despite the advantages to feeding cottonseed, Davis says the cowman ought to be aware that the seed are harder to handle than wheat or shelled corn, require more storage space, and do not move as easily through an auger. The oil in the seed can also turn rancid if they are stored too long, particularly in a hot summer.

New Film is Gripping True Story

Shiokari Pass, a new film from the producers of The Hiding Place, will be shown at First Baptist Church on Sunday, October 9th. The one hour color release from World Wide Pictures will be shown once beginning at 7:00 p.m., as the evening worship service.

Shiokari Pass is unique among World Wide Pictures productions. Although it has an English soundtrack, it was originally produced for showing to Japanese audiences. It was filmed entirely in Japan with a Japanese cast and crew, and depicts the delicate beauty of that country. The drama of the story unfolds against a backdrop of Japan's spring blossoms, snowcapped mountains, and whispering native music.

A true story, Shiokari Pass is based on the international best seller by Ayako Miura. Nearly two million readers have been touched by this story of the abiding love of a young couple at the turn of the century.

Credited with creating a deeper understanding of the Christian faith among the Japanese people, the film tells of the love of Nubuo for Fujiko, and of his willingness to be guided by his personal faith, no matter how great the cost of commitment.

From its gentle opening to its gripping, unexpected conclusion, Shiokari Pass is a profound demonstration of the power of love in one life.

Boyd Pearce, pastor of First Baptist Church, extends an invitation to each member of the community to attend this special showing and added, "Shiokari Pass is the kind of film that will be enjoyed and remembered by the entire family."

A memorable experience for the entire family from WORLD WIDE PICTURES

National 4-H Week Oct. 2-8

COLLEGE STATION — National 4-H Week Oct. 2-8 provides Texas youth an opportunity to become involved in their communities while furthering the 4-H effort across the United States.

More than 100,000 boys and girls throughout Texas are among the 5.8 million youth across the nation enrolled in 4-H activities, points out Dr. John Pelham, state 4-H and youth leader with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Also, special interest 4-H groups involve more than 37,000 youngsters, primarily through television programs.

Young people between the ages of 9 and 19 are members of the 2,050 organized Texas 4-H clubs who will try to increase membership and leadership during the week long national observance.

"National 4-H Week is scheduled annually by the Cooperative Extension Service to bring public attention to the values of 4-H as an informal, youth educational program that stresses the development of practical skills, leadership and citizenship," emphasizes Pelham.

But youngsters aren't the only ones involved in 4-H. Volunteer adult leaders number just over 15,000 in Texas. And there are more than 6,500 teen leaders helping younger members in project groups and special activities.

"The 14 Extension Service districts in Texas will have different activities planned during National 4-H Week to attract new members as well as to expand the involvement and learning experience of current members," adds Pelham.

Mustang Athletic Booster Club News

By Dale Jackson

The Mustang Athletic Booster Club held their weekly meeting Tuesday night, October 4, in the high school auditorium. A good turnout was enjoyed with representatives from the Lions Club, School Board and all four football coaches in attendance.

A game film of the 29-26 win over the Farwell Steers was shown and narrated by Coach Wolski.

Our fine freshman running back, Marcus Lara, No. 40, suffered an injury to his left knee in this game and is presently confined to Methodist Hospital after having corrective surgery to repair outside torn ligaments. Marcus will be lost the football team for the remainder of the season. He is a fine young player and will come back strong. Everyone and all wishes a very speedy recovery to Marcus.

Mustang Booster Club President Doyce Middlebrook, would like to announce that all remaining athletic Booster Club meetings will henceforth begin at 7:30 instead of 8 o'clock.

The pep rally for this week's game will be at 2:45 p.m. Thursday instead of the regular 2:30 time on Friday for this week only, as school will be turned out Friday.

Our Junior Varsity game this week will be against the Frenship Tigers, Thursday, October 6 at Frenship starting at approximately 6:30. The Mustang J.V. team did a very fine job against the Farwell J.V. Steers last week winning by a score of 16-0.

The Mustang Varsity plays the Frenship Tigers here in Shallowater, Friday October 7, at 7:30. We believe our young men will play to win this week against Frenship.

"Fearless Frederick's" pick for this week's game is: Shallowater 21, Frenship 20.

Go, go, go Mustangs!

Extension Update

From Georgia Doherty
4-H Helps Youth Mature

Activities in 4-H are not programs constructed to help youngsters pass the time, but to mold adults. 4-H is the youth phase of Extension Service educational programs.

In 4-H, working together for a common goal prepares today's young people for working relationships in the business world. These community efforts also establish the brotherhood that many Americans are striving for all over the world.

The challenges 4-H youngsters face give them a chance to place new ideas into the lives of their families and communities. 4-Hers also learn through their experiences and gain wisdom that will benefit them in later years.

Whether 4-H members are competing in food or livestock shows, method demonstrations, or country fairs, they are working toward the maturity they find in their adult leaders.

To start the journey that can lead to fun-filled as well as rewarding experiences, contact the County Extension Service to learn all about the 4-H program; call 763-5351, Ext. 235.

Weight Bumping On Moving Day

If you are planning to move in the near future and are having a moving company do it for you—beware!

"Weight bumping" on moving day is a technique that cheats the customer.

To increase load weight, and thus their charges, some moving companies add weight to the load they are moving. Nine percent of the companies use this tactic, according to an Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) monitoring survey.

One way to overcharge the unsuspecting customer, says ICC, is to add several hundred pounds of bricks to the load before weighing it. This might happen to customers who do not follow their household belongings to the weighing station.

To prevent "weight-bumping," make sure the truck is empty before loading begins, and follow the mover to the weigh station to know the correct load weight.

Sheridan's Ride

by Jack Sheridan

Rex Webster went to the symphony concert at the Civic Center Theater Monday night. Maybe, he went on Tuesday, too, for the repeat concert (new location, two concerts each this brand new season).

Well, that's nothing new, Webster going to a Symphony concert, particularly the Lubbock Symphony, for he is a charter member of the orchestra and his genial face, his big frame, has been gracing the bass section for some 30 years plus now.

Only, this week it was different. For Rex and his charming Madge were seated in the audience, watching, looking and listening. For this gifted and intelligent, good looking, energetic man, business man supreme, churchman dedicated, family man above reproach and Lubbockite to the pride of the community, civic leader and apparently tireless fountain of youth and power stepped down, finally, from his place in the roster of musicians and now becomes one of us, an ardent auditor and devoted fan of the orchestra he gave so much to and continues to do so.

It is astonishing that no public comment was made about Rex Webster's "retirement" at the Monday concert. I hope it was noted on Tuesday. They should give him the largest plaque, this accolade of all accolades for his service over these many years. That orchestra, under its founder-conductor William A. Harrod, and the likes of Rex Webster, has come a long way down the pike since its inception and this city can take time to praise and express deeply-felt thanks for such as Harrod and Webster who have created and worked to give this city and this area our one shining jewel in the cultural treasury. Without Harrod and the Rex Websters we would be a poverty-stricken area; they have minted and guarded, curried and slaved to bring the orchestra to its eminent place today. I say God bless the Rex Websters and watch over them; they are indispensable.

The concert Monday found itself in a new setting, the charming, delightful and acoustically superb theater in the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center. Because the seating capacity is less than the long-time home of the Symphony, the gargantuan Municipal Auditorium, the concerts for this subscription season have been scheduled in pairs of which Monday's concert was the opener. Tuesday was the repeat and this pattern will be followed for the Van Cliburn winner concert on Nov. 14-15, the return of gifted young violinist Eugene Fodor, Feb. 13-14, 1978, and the remaining two concerts, the joint appearances of Texas Tech University music duo, Kyung W. Shin, baritone, and Judith Burganger, pianist, March 6-7, and the traditional "fun" show, the annual Pops Nite set for April 24-25.

Now, what about this opening pair of concerts. Well, it's good to report that the orchestra was in fine form, even Ron Dyer capturing audience attention at the percussion stand. It was a rich, rewarding and totally pleasant evening Monday.

The ladies in the audience were one-hundred-per-cent for the guest soloist, Lenus Carlson, a handsome, youthful and powerful baritone, and not a few of the male members of the audience sat back in total envy, too.

Carlson, on his way up and fast, turned in a superb performance, ably backed by Harrod and his colleagues, and he gave us a group of selections that most amply demonstrated his outstanding abilities. Resonant, sensitive, most aware of the demands of each selection, Carlson gave us a rare and provocative "See the Raging Flames Arise" from "Joshua" by Handel, a work not too often heard, but heard this week to high advantage from the stocky young singer.

We had a delightful "Ford's Monologue" from "Falstaff" by Verdi and the lilting, delight, the Count's aria from "The Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart. (Which, incidentally, will be performed by the Texas Tech Opera Theater in November, under the direction, of course, of John Gillas).

The lengthy, familiar "Soliloquy" from Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Carousel" concluded the listed program selections, but the best was yet to come. Carlson gave us the bonus—he did the "Toreador" from "Carmen"—and he did a masterful job. His voice is pure, strong and his tonal shadings are really quite something for one so young as he. He was a welcomed man in Lubbock and it is to be hoped that among the repeaters on that solo spot that Lenus Carlson will return.

It was not all Lenus Carlson Monday night. No, indeed. For the orchestra performed beautifully and less about eight members from its Auditorium strength of last year, it gave us music to remember. The program opened with the French Military March by Saint-Saens, and the old, beloved rouser, the Overture to "William Tell" by Rossini.

But the highlight of the orchestra's part of the program was a beautifully delicate and sensuous reading by Harrod and group of the Mendelssohn "Italian" Symphony. This was music that walks down the street with you for days after the performance. It was the highlight. Emotion and color, fire and movement were excellently done in the performance of the finale from the 4th Symphony in F minor, by Tchaikowsky. It's an old war horse, but always welcome. And welcomed it was the other night. I hope you caught either the Monday or Tuesday concert. If you did, you are proud of the Lubbock Symphony Orchestra and its new home setting. I know I am.

We have "The Ballad of the Sad Cafe" on stage at the University Theater at Texas Tech this weekend and a whole raft of good things coming up through this and next month in the entertainment scene. Stay with me, I'll try to keep you posted as we go.

"THE ELECTRIC SAVINGS MACHINE"

Here's how heat pump pumps

Think of it as a two-way electrical wonder, an amazing machine that cools your home or office in summer . . . then automatically reverses itself to heat in winter.

Think of it as a savings machine that costs less to operate than other electric heating, cooling systems now on the market. You know that all air — even frigid arctic air — contains heat. The heat pump just puts this simple principle to work. In winter, it squeezes heat from outside air and pumps it inside. In summer, it extracts unwanted heat from the inside air and pumps it outdoors.

Or consider something already in your home that accomplishes the same thing as a heat pump: your refrigerator. It removes heat from the interior of the box and expels it. Like a refrigerator, the heat pump's basic components are simple — electric motor, compressor, condenser, evaporator, and blower system. Unlike a refrigerator, the heat pump has a reversing valve that lets it change the direction warm air is pumped — inside in winter, outside in summer.

It is an automatic and so now Coach Averitt will be able to handle this.

All the students and faculty would like to thank the school.

Oddities at Fair This Year

By Melissa Epperson

Fairgoers this year experienced a new sensation. In this edition, I plan to clue, you the reader, in on some of these new additions to the fair.

The first one of these unusual people I encountered was 'Baby Suzy.' This young lady was, to say the least, adipose. In case you are wondering adipose means grossly over-weight. She was said to weigh 800 pounds and was supposed to be only 4'1". Needless to say, I was a little shocked to see her sitting there in that hot tent. Now for the shocker! She was wearing a bikini.

Another of these oddities was the 'Abominable Snowman.' This person was probably the funniest oddity at the fair. This story was relayed to this reporter by others who visited him. He was said to have humongous feet. One of our more enterprising students inquired if he had ever started an athlete's foot epidemic. I was afraid to ask.

As I ventured on down the midway, I came across Hercules the giant horse. Being a horse-lover I couldn't pass this by. As I put out the required fee to see this spectacle, I wondered if this was really worth the time and effort. When I got inside I knew that it was worth all the time I had spent. This was the biggest I had ever seen. For those of you who know what I am talking about he was 19 hands tall. For you poor souls who do not understand, he was about 7 feet tall at the shoulder.

Also, in this tent was a tiny cow. Now most of you think I mean a calf, but this was a full grown cow. It was about 2 feet tall at the shoulder.

Another oddity in the 'cow field' was the giant steer. The advertisement said it was large enough to be 10,000 hamburgers on the hoof. Can you imagine the hamburger buns you would need? This could pose a problem to the cookout enthusiasts.

The last oddity that was presented in this year's fair was, and I quote, "A teensy, weensy, horse." This horse was maybe 2 to 2½ feet tall. He was reported to be very fat and Chestnut brown.

This concludes my story on the oddities that you had to pay to see. Of course there were the "people oddities" that could be seen by just standing still for about 5 minutes. One can see a years worth of oddities for the price of a fair ticket.

J.V. Brand "S"teers

By Cindy Jackson

The Mighty Mustangs met the Farwell Steers last Thursday night. The Mustangs had prime rib roast that night.

The first half was a defensive battle because the Mustangs set up a bob wire fence line and what a job they did. The first half ended 0-0.

Finally the last play of the third quarter Ronnie Rosas intercepted a pass and ran all the way for the first touchdown. Robert Sanders slide a quick pass to Angel Maldonado for the extra point and that made the score 8-0.

Then again in the fourth quarter Rufino Maldonado bursted out and did a zig zag special all the way to the goal line to score the second touchdown. Robert Sanders connected with Angel Maldonado to score the extra point. The final score was 16-0.

One new player was injured in the sidelines and didn't see much action. We hope "she" recovers.

Junior High Splits Victory

By Donna Evans

The tough 7th grade came out on top for their third win of the season. They won the game against Farwell, 24-0. Ronnie Glenn came out on top scoring the most points. He ran in two touchdowns and two extra points. Right behind was Kelvin Taylor with one touchdown and one extra point.

The 8th grade didn't have as much luck this time. They lost 14-6. Ruben Washington made the touchdown for the 8th grade team.

Come out and watch these two teams play Thursday when they play at Frenship.

Mustangs Defeat No. 2 Team

By Robin Truelock

Last Friday night the Mustangs conquered Farwell 29-26. Farwell was ranked No. 2 in Class A in the State. API ranked Farwell No. 2 and UPI ranked them No. 4. Mustangs gave Farwell their first loss of the season.

The first score for the Mustangs was made by (end) Clay Dixon with a 70 yard touchdown pass from (quarterback) Andy Blackmon. Rodney Jackson made 6 more points for the Mustangs. Following was a 30 yard field goal made by Curtis Lester just before the half.

When the Mustangs returned to the field Pete Alvarado ran 90 yards kick off return for another touchdown and Curtis Lester made the extra point.

The last touchdown of the night was made by Rodney Jackson and another extra point from Curtis Lester. This was making the final score 29-26.

The Mustangs total offense was 256 yards and 13 total first downs. Andy Blackmon had a total of 172 yards offence. Rod Warren's punting average was 36 yards.

Outstanding on offense were Clay Dixon, Roddy Thomas, Robin Krebbs, Harold Hance, Stacy Hohenberger and David Coker. Outstanding on defense was Barry Randolph, Andy Blackmon, Tim Reep, Curtis Lester, Rod Warren and Lane Giles who also intercepted a pass.

Coach Wolski felt like the teamwork, leadership, and whole game was better than ever. He also felt good about the win.

The next game is here, Mustangs vs. Frenship, Oct. 7. Come and support the Mustangs and watch them beat the Tigers.

Senior Spotlight

By Tony Heinen

The spotlight darkens on Lance Lee Morris. His sometimes proud parents are Don and Billie Morris. His birthday is March 5 so he can't wait to be of legal age.

His favorite subject is government because he likes to argue. His favorite things include his Mustang and river floating. And most of all experienced women.

He is a member of the Mighty Mustang band (maybe). He also held an office in the fourth grade as a young Clark Kent.

He has been on the honor roll his freshman and sophomore year. He also obtained a grade high enough to be on it half his junior year.

He has enjoyed the band trips most this year.

He plans to attend Tech and get a degree in Computer Programming. He hopes to use his knowledge in running a big Whites store. Which might make his pockets heavy.

His favorite foods include: pizzas, hamburgers and the cafeteria food.

After that last favorite food we hope he lives through his senior year.

The Sr. spotlight glooms over Lee Parsley. His heartbroken parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Parsley. He was found on the doorstep on Oct. 5, 1960.

His favorite things include mature women and cold Colorado Kool-Aid. He also adores his car, which is an heirloom of the family since the Dark Ages.

His hobbies are hunting various objects from "chicks" to birds. He also likes working everything over from boards to boards.

The offices that Lee has held is the reigning Korn King and was Student Council representative for his first and second year. (That was before anyone knew him.) He is now the director of finances for the Sr. class. He was also a member of band 1, 2, 3 and the first week of 4. Prior to Mr. Nutt's knowledge, Lee was the outstanding Freshman bandmember. He was elected the Wittiest last year and has been on the honor roll all of his last years.

His graduation plans are to attend Texas Tech and major in campusology.

We asked Lee about his comment of the Sr. year, "It started out with a bang. I am an avid supporter of the Mustang Band."

Lee's favorite foods are anything that doesn't eat him first. So Lee will probably have a long and prosperous life.

Senior Photos

By Robin Truelock

Sixty-two Seniors had their photos made last week. Each senior will receive their pictures at the end of this month or in November.

Football Spotlight

By Terri Stanton

The Football Spotlight shines on our first two junior players, Andy Blackmon and Larry Bartlett.

Andy Blackmon is a 6'1", 180 pound safety on defensive. On offense Andy has two roles to fulfill; quarterback and back. Andy gives his all the entire game, no matter what position he is playing. You can usually see Andy killing his opponent or jumping up and down after a great run!

The other spotlight shines on Larry Bartlett. Larry stands at 5'9" and tips the scales at 189 pounds. Larry is an end for the Mustangs. His quick hands allow him to catch the ball anyway it comes.

Be sure and come to the game Friday night, at Todd Field to see the Mustangs kill Frenship! Watch for these two numbers, 10 and 15. They'll be out to Cage the Tigers!
