The establishment of a cotton textile plant in the Texas High Plains area is feasible and the prospects for it to be a profitable enterprise are good.

Some 60 persons concerned with the production and utilization of cotton heard highlights of a joint study made by the U.S. department of Agriculture and two national consulting organizations to determine the feasibility of such a plant.

The report was delivered to educators, researchers, producers, processors, and industrial leaders as they met in the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech University Thursday, July 26.

This study was undertaken at the request of the Texas Industrial Commission, the Natural Fibers and Food Protein Committee of Texas, many local residents and interests, including the Textile Research Center; and Roy B. Davis widely known leader in the High Plains cotton industry who has been associated with the research center in recent months.

The report indicated more than sufficient markets for cotton denims, cotton denim blends, cotton twill blends and cotton twills to support a $15 million plant employing some 400 persons.

The Texas Water Development Board has assured that sufficient water exists in the Lubbock area

Shallowater IDS Sets Public Hearing on Budget Next Week

The Board of Trustees of Shallowater I.S.D. will hold a Budget Hearing at 9:30 a.m. Thursday, August 16, in the office of the Superintendent of Schools. The School Budget for 1973-74 will be presented, as well as the Amendment to the 1972-73 budget.

for such a plant. Success of the plant would require experienced management and competitively priced water, electricity, fuels and supporting services. The survey indicated all are available.

Dr. J.E. Simpson, director of the USDA's Agri-business Program, which sponsored and directed the investigations, said that the two national consulting firms had made the investigation under contract with funds supplied by the USDA rural development program.

John Reilly and Chris Chapin of Booz, Allen and Hamilton, the principal contractor, presented data showing ample market opportunities for the denims and twills, availability of labor, water and other utilities, and the general impact upon the region's economy and environment.

It was pointed out that the short staple High Plains cotton is particularly suited for the heavier fabrics such as the denims, with national production of men's and boys' trousers and work clothes approximating $2.9 billion annually.

Hubert Jones and Lary McDowell, representatives of Lockwood Greene Engineers, Inc., gave engineering data on plant design (360,000 square feet), equipment needed (about $8 million), and other costs for an optimum size plant to manufacture cotton denims, seemingly the major market outlet in the foreseeable future.

Dr. Simpson said the final report on the project should be available within 30 days. Industry leaders said it is believed the report will help materially in decision making by the several firms actively considering establishment of a plant in the High Plains area.

James S. Parker, director of the Textile Research Center, presided over the session.

ENGAGED—Mr. and Mrs. Troy Walker are proud to announce the engagement of their daughter, Kay, to Mr. Shelby Saunders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Saunders of Shallowater. The couple plans an October wedding.

Comment

August, 1973

The flowers withered on their stems,
The leaves hung limp and wan,
Within the trees a wistful breeze
Whispered and was gone.

—Anne Mary Lawler.

There are a number of interesting dates in the month of August. Perhaps the most nostalgic is August 14th, the day President Truman announced the surrender of Japan, ending World War II, in 1945.

Hitler committed suicide in the face of Germany's defeat and his imminent captures in Berlin by the Russians on the last day of April. German surrendered on the 8th of May, ending the war in Europe. But the Japanese struggled on, even though President Truman and the retiring Prime Minister of Great Britain, Winston Churchill, gave Tokyo a virtual ultimatum at Potsdam on July 26th, warning that unless they surrendered the nation faced "prompted and utter destruction".

The massive U.S. fleet steamed into Tokyo Bay and sank the remainder of the Japanese fleet. Army and Navy bombers struck hard at many targets. The Japanese fought on—until the first atom bomb fell on August 6th, on Hiroshima. In a few days another was used, and further warnings were issued. These new weapons and the horror of their destructive potential proved decisive. Japan surrendered, almost certainly thereby avoiding hundreds of thousands of casualties which would have been suffered in an invasion of Japan itself.

On the 14th, in 1935—ten years earlier—social security was established in the United States, amid cries from the opposition that it would ruin the nation. Columbus sailed from Palos, Spain, on August 3rd, 1492, in his voyage to the New World. And David Crockett was born August 17th, 1786, in Hawkins County, Tennessee.

A political assassination in 1935 took the life of Huey Long of Louisiana, then the virtual dictator of that state, who was born August 30, 1893, in Winfield, Louisiana. And finally, the worst earthquake known east of the Mississippi occurred August 31st, 1886. It was most disastrous at Charleston, South Carolina, but was felt from Jacksonville, Florida, north to Canada, and west to Iowa.

Nixon's Future

Although Washington Post columnists, predictably, continue to call for President Nixon's impeachment, resignation or appearance before the Democratic-controlled Watergate Committee, the recent testimony of John Mitchell, John Ehrlichman and others cast strong doubts on the earlier testimony of John Dean.

Ehrlichman calls Dean's story pure fabrication. The President's former counsel has spoken even more disparagingly of it. Mitchell says he would have known if the President had been aware of the now-famous bugging operation and also that the President didn't know of the cover-up operation for a long time afterward.

Everyone is, of course, entitled to his own Watergate opinion, or appraisal; the significance of the recent testimony by former higher officials than Dean is, however, that it makes proving Dean's charges almost impossible. And other denials of Dean's story are reportedly on the way.

This does not mean Watergate has not damaged the Nixon Administration deeply and permanently; it does not mean Democrats are not enjoying better prospects for 1974 and 1976 because of it. It does mean that the nation, its money, the stock market and the American image have not been adversely affected.

But it does mean the ruthless, often unethical, effort of a strong segment in this country to drive Mr. Nixon out of office is probably slowed for the time being. This is not to say that this same group, who helped to cover up the Kennedy assassination, until the year 2001, will not continue to take pot shots at Mr. Nixon. The long-term effect of Watergate will be to guarantee that such abuses will not be possible again, which is a gratifying achievement; the nation would have gained nothing further, of course, by the destruction of its President—had he been a Democrat or Mr. Nixon, a Republican—yet unfortunately, Mr. Nixon, the man is the victim of this onslaught of mud-slinging and personal vilification of late by Democrats and liberals.

Healdsburg, Calif., Tribune: "The country is moving ahead toward a cleaner, more ecologically pure balance. It can't be done overnight, as as some woody witchdoctors would have us believe. Matter of fact, we have among us some instant-experts who by their gospel would like to see the country go back to its disease-ridden, often hungry wilderness state of 200 years ago. There's just one problem with this saving every weed, doing away with every pesticide and insecticide, fighting the cutting of any lumber tree, and eliminating fertilizers—200 years ago there were only a few million people in this nation; today there are over 200 million to feed and house. It's interesting to note that so many of the people against anything that might help improve the lot of their fellowman are people who are housed most comfortably, have extraordinarily fine jobs and have nothing but complete security in their future . . . yet often forget about the need for the well-being of other human beings."

Williamsburg, Va., Gazette: "The Treasury Department just sent us 26 pages of nonsense about Savings Bonds, all of it unsolicited. We aren't knocking Savings Bonds, but Uncle Sam could take a cue from business and ask newspapers first if they want promo materials like this before dropping the taxpayer's dollar into something that gets dropped into thousands of wastebaskets in newspapers all over the country."

50th Anniversary of Texas Tech Will be Marked Wednesday

The bells throughout the city of Lubbock were ringing August 8, 1923 when it was announced by Governor Pat Neff that Texas Tech University would be coming to Lubbock.

In recognition of the 50th Anniversary of this outstanding event, the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with Texas Tech University will be reenacting this historical event starting at 11:00 a.m., August 8, 1973. Citizens from Lubbock and all surrounding communities are invited to attend.

According to A.C. Verner, President of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, the ceremonies will be held in the vicinity of the Ex-Students Association building on the Tech campus.

Features of the program will include music by the old-time community band, remarks by Dr. Grover E. Murray, Tech President, concerning the background and importance of the University to the Lubbock area and the reading of the original declaration of Governor Neff by former Governor Preston Smith. The bells will again be sounded on this occasion.

Special guests for the occasion will include college officials, Lubbock citizens and government leaders who were on hand at the original announcement.

Leaders of Lubbock have expressed the opinion that the decision to locate Texas Tech here was one of the greatest single factors in the fast and tremendous growth of Lubbock from a small town of approximately 5,000 to a metropolitan city of over 150,000 with a booming economy.

The anniversary observance committee is composed of Preston Smith, chairman; Mrs. W.B. Blankenship; Arch Lamb, County Commissioner and Jack E. Baker, city councilman.

production industry of agriculture. Graduates are awarded an Associate of Applied Science Degree in Agri-Technology.

Austin, Texas—Texas may be better off under its present type of government than the so-called cabinet form being advanced in preparation for constitutional revision, according to Texas Research League.

League staff members in a new report to the Constitutional Revision Commission point to advantages of the present system and offer these key observations:

- While there is room for improvement, Texas government is not the "administrative jungle" portrayed by critics. There are 174 legal entities which might qualify as state agencies, but fewer than 30 of them control 99 per cent of money and personnel in state government.

- Texas still has one of the most economical big state governments in the nation. Ohio and Missouri rate slightly lower, but Texas spends more in support of its schools than those two states. Major suggestions by the League for economies have been in the areas of education and welfare financing. Overhead administration and control functions cost 1.9 per cent of Texas' total budget, while the national average is 2.6 per cent.

- Major Texas agencies such as the High Department, Education Agency, Department of Corrections and Department of Public Safety rate high nationally. The League found few agencies in other states "clearly superior" to Texas counterparts.

- While advocates of the cabinet theory claim it provided for holding the governor accountable for all aspects of government administration, political realities dictate that he can be held accountable at the polls only once or twice. Further, it is difficult for voters to assess thousands of acts by the chief executive during any four years.

- Whether authority to appoint 20 cabinet officials but no sub-cabinet-level personnel would strengthen the governor in policy-making is debatable. Merit system employment to insulate state employees from the spoils system is considered part of the cabinet theory. This means echelons below the cabinet level are beyond the governor's control.

The present pattern of part-time boards, according to the League, provides opportunity for participating in government by many key citizens, who, in turn, provide a powerful reservoir of support for a governor's policies. The League suggests more fiscal power for the governor and authority to order governmental reorganization subject to legislative veto.

Top 100 Prescriptions Studied—Computers are being used by the Texas Pharmacy Board to determine the top 100 prescription drugs being sold in this state.

Under new state law, H.B. 750, druggists must post the prices of the 100 most prescribed drugs at their counters this fall.

The new law will also prohibit advertising about "wholesale" "cut rate" prices, and limit drug stores to advertising about services, keeping "family records" and dangers of mixing certain types of drugs.

Consumers will be able to check the prices of the top 100 most common drugs at each prescription counter, states Joe Arnette, Texas Pharmacy Board, who is using the computer method to make the state-wide survey.

Auto Rates Cut—True to its promise, the State Board of Insurance ordered an average statewide reduction of 4.3 per cent in private auto coverage premiums, estimating 90 per cent of motorists will save at least $25 million. New rates are effective August 27.

Further, according to Board Chairman Joe Christie, the competitive rating law September 1 will mean further savings for many, Christie said one company has indicated it will ask authority to cut its rates 15 per cent across the board when the competitive rating law takes effect.

Another law passed by the legislature this year, however, may cancel out the savings for some and actually bring a slight increase. The personal injury protection coverage of at least $2,500 for medical expenses and lost earnings or services due to accident, regardless of who was at fault, will be added to all policies automatically unless motorists reject it in writing, reject it in writing.

Christie said even rejections written on "brown paper sacks" will be considered valid. P. I. P. coverage costs $22.00 to $44.00, but many will substitute it for medical coverage which already costs $15.00 to $22.00 a year.

DEAR EDITOR

Dear Sir,

I sincerely hope that this will be only one of many letters of absolute outrage that you may receive concerning your editorial, Suburban Today, Thursday, July 26, 1973, about the alleged failure of the Voluntary Military Establishment. Had you any concept whatsoever as to the high degree of professionalism attained by the soldier, sailor, or airman, then debating troop levels, while an academic question, would at least take on some form of rationale. As it is, to write off my colleagues and I as "shiftless, poor and ignorant," is not only an abominable misstatement of fact, it is downright degrading and insulting. Check your facts; would you not prefer to have OUR nation protected, economically, by a small, volunteer elite of professionals who constantly train and retrain to a fine edge of preparedness or by hordes of young draftees, who waste a great deal of time in growing up to manhood in the service, who don't really want to be there, who are famous for goofing off, shamefully wasteful of taxpayers' money by not caring sufficiently about what they are doing, and in some cases, through deliberate destruction of YOUR property as a protest against forced servitude. You talk about overpay; at this writing my personal pay exceeds the $4200 per annum, recently established as the poverty level for a family of four, by the grand total $2733.60, which puts me well below what I could be making, even as a policeman, or maybe even dog catcher. The point is, Mr. Editor, that I personally stay in the Air Force because I am a well trained, dedicated professional non-commissioned officer of the United States Air Force, dedicated to the defense of the nation, for which no sacrifice has been too great. I here with demand that your paper print a public apology for the unnecessary comments in the article. I am proud to say that I will defend your rights to express your opinion about anything, but to dredge up some of the obvious smear statements you printed in your article is not only unnecessary, but purely offensive; sir, your paper has reached the Nadir of journalism. Consider this letter as notification for immediate termination of my subscription.

THE CHEAPEST THING YOU CAN BUY . . .

Two elements, good roads, and the automobile, add new dimensions to living in America.

- They give the average man a choice. He can live where he pleases and still—
- Live conveniently close to his job.
 - Find a super-market nearby.
 - Get the children to school.
 - Drive with the family to church.
 - Take advantage of outdoor recreation opportunities—golf, swimming, hunting and fishing, tennis, boating, family games.

It has been said, truthfully:
 "Highways improve opportunities for work and leisure."

The versatility and convenience of an automobile supply the key to mobility which cannot be provided by any other means.

Keeping both cars and roads in good repair adds to their usefulness.

In Texas, the Highway Department spends an average of $1,500 a mile per year on road maintenance and service. The maintenance cost in 1972 ranged from $988 a mile for farm-to-market roads to over $9,000 for urban controlled-access freeways.

The overall total was about $95 million.

The cheapest thing you can buy, though, is good maintenance when you're trying to assure a real choice for the average fellow.

SPORTS

by Joe Kelly

They came from all over, many with their families, most with their wives. They laughed, they joked, they told stories. They played golf, they loafed, they watched baseball on television. But mostly they had a good time talking about the past.

These were the former West Texas-New Mexico League stars, who had come back to Lubbock for an oldtimer's game that became a victim of a West Texas rainstorm.

During their playing days, they'd have looked at the sky, prayed for just such a storm and then enjoyed a rare night off. Saturday they looked at the sky and prayed that it didn't rain.

A lot of fans joined them in prayer. Many veteran league watchers had already left their homes to drive to the Hub City. A few managed to get a glimpse of some of the players and to talk with them at their motel. But mostly, the old fan was robbed of a chance to see former heroes.

A lot of the players who had told Jackie Sullivan that they'd be here failed to show. But there were a lot on hand, ready to don their uniforms and prance through two or three innings.

Some questioned that they'd be able to get into baseball pants. Some looked almost as fit today as they did 15 to 25 years ago. Some parting their hair with their hands, some had considerably more gray showing. But, all in all, they looked the same.

One of the newer stars to come to Lubbock was Bob Crues. And, as you might expect, when talked turned to umpires, Bob brought up how he was robbed of his 70th home run in 1948.

It was in Abilene and the umpires were Smith and Frank, two of the better ones. Bob hit a shot that bounced off the scoreboard, located some eight feet outside the park.

"The ball bounced back onto the field, an outfielder retrieved it and I was tagged out between second and third. Everybody in the park knew it was a home run except the umpires."

Later, in the final game of the season, Lubbock played a doubleheader in Amarillo. The Gold Sox had to win the first game to make the playoffs—and they did.

The second game meant nothing. As a result, every time Crues came to bat Don Moore told him what Bob Clofelter was going to throw. Bob dug in, but he couldn't life one over the fence.

"I guess maybe I had a 'bad game,'" Crues said. "I only got five for seven."

Ray Faust, who used to toil on the mound for Amarillo and Lubbock, took great delight in telling everyone about the time I covered a game and wrote that an opposing player hit one out of the park on "a hanging fast ball".

"Never heard of a hanging fast ball", Ray exclaimed. As a matter of fact, I haven't either, but Ray says that he still has the game story that appeared, so my membership in the Goat Club is paid up.

Irrepressible Jackie Wilcox and his wife, Irene, were on hand, along with Mike and Mary Dooley, from Tyler. Jackie, as usual, bubbled joyfully; Mike, as usual, was quiet.

Big Ted Clawitter, former Gold Sox catcher, had a great time remembering old days. Ted, now 61, is retired, the only player to enjoy such status. Ted was stumped when Rip Griffin referred to the need to keep the organization going because of the great camaraderie.

The word stumped Ted, but his face suddenly broke into a big smile and he cracked: "So that's what it was all those years. I wish somebody had told me earlier!"

They came in, those old-timers, to enjoy talking and swapping stories. Players like Johnny Follis, Eulis Rosson, Frank Benites, Carmen Ferullo, Joe Fortin, Milt Ardrey, Floyd Walker, Stan Grzywacz, Oz Engel, Carroll Berryman, Mel Earsley, Art Bowland, Al Carr, Herman Brown.

If the rain had held off, there would have been more of them from Lubbock and the surrounding area. Perhaps next year there will be another chance to see these men, now in their 40s and 50s, or more.

Bill Metzger hosted the whole crew at his home for a buffet dinner after the game was called off. It was a great time and, as the night wore on, there was more and more laughter as incidents from playing days were told and retold.

Then, little by little, the group dwindled. They started saying their goodbyes. They headed home. They expressed hopes of being together again, soon. Honestly, that lump of nostalgia almost choked, it got so big. What a great, great gang.

Garage Sale is Great Success

We have just counted the money made in the Garage Sale and Bake Sale, and it came to $257.08. We were overwhelmed by the enthusiastic response from everyone in the community. We especially wish to thank the ladies who brought goodies for our bake sale. If everyone had responded as you did, we wouldn't have had anyone to sell them to. Thanks for the vote of confidence. We can buy all the skates we need for the years to come. Also Kathy Means deserves a very special thanks for bringing so many nice things to sell especially the toys.

Cynthia Gruetzner and Cres Merrell Exchange Vows in Ceremony

At 6:30 p.m. at Redeemer Lutheran Church, in Lubbock, Saturday, July 28th, Miss Cynthia Marie Gruetzner became the bride of Mr. Cres Edwin Merrell in an elaborate double ring ceremony. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Erich Gruetzner of Route 1, Shallowater and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hugh Merrell of Route 1, Shallowater. Officiating was the Rev. George Ascher, pastor of St. Paul Lutheran Church in Wilson.

The altar was flanked by two large baskets of white gladiolas and on both sides of the baskets set a candleabra decorated with palm leaves. The parents' pews were arranged with pew candle stands decorated in white ribbons and flowers.

Nuptial music was provided by Josef Lynn Olson of Hamilton who played several Bach preludes, Purcell's "Trumpet Tune" and the traditional "Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin" from Wagner and the "Wedding March" from Mendelssohn. Soloist, Wayne Starch of Andrews sang "The Wedding Song" and while the couple lit the wedding candle, he sang Bach's "Jesus, Meine Fruede" in German. The congregation sang the hymn "Let Us Ever Walk With Jesus".

For her wedding, the bride chose an elaborate bouffant gown in acetate and chantilly lace. The basque waist has a sabrina neckline tiered across the front; back tiers create the cathedral length train. The front of the bodice is encrusted with sequins and pearls which is also carried in the tiered full skirt. A long white ribbon bow accented the back. The bridal veil was of bridal illusion in four layers which fell to finger tip length. The bride's mother embroidered the top of the veil cap with strains of pearl encircled with white lace and topped by sequins. The bridal bouquet of white baby roses, baby's breath and long white satin streamers set atop the bride's Bible which was covered by the bride's mother, in what satin, edged in white lace and embroidered with a cross of pearls. The bride, given away by her father, wore, for something old, a gold bracelet which belonged to her grandmother, the late Mrs. Eddie Anton Schoppa. For something blue, she wore a garter, for something borrowed, she carried the groom's Bible, and for something new, the bride wore a diamond drop necklace.

Miss Sandra Schoppa of Route 4, Tahoka served her cousin as Maid of Honor. Matron of Honor was Mrs. Denise Fancher of Amarillo, sister of the bridegroom. Bridesmaids were Miss Roxie Schoppa of Acuff, Miss Emma Jean Gruetzner of Giddings, and Miss Sarah Mickan of Copperas Cove, all cousins of the bride. They all wore formal floor length gowns of bridal satin with the bodice covered in lace over satin. The sleeves were accented in matching lace with velvet ribbon over the empire waistline and around the mid sleeve. The attendants' dresses alternated in the brides' chosen colors of sky blue and mint green. They carried bouquets clustered in blue and green carnations feted by long streamers of sky blue, mint green, and bridal white satin ribbons.

Best man was Lee Anthony Mosty of Center Point, Texas. Groomsmen included the bride's brother, Cliford Gruetzner; Clinton Vardeman, cousin of the bridegroom; Chuck Luck, nephew of the bridegroom, and Rodney Schoppa, of Route 1, Lubbock, cousin of the bride.

Candlelighters were Neal Luck and Kary Craig of Liberty, nephews of the bridegroom. Serving as ring bearer was Stephen Mersiovsky of Giddings, cousin of the bride and Robin Akins was flower girl. She wore a dress matching the bridesmaids and carried a white satin basket embroidered with white lace, filled with white baby roses, made by the bride's mother.

Serving as ushers were, Sylvan Mersiovsky and Calvin Mersiov-sky of Giddings and James Gruetzner of Houston, cousins of the bride; Gary Craig of Liberty, nephew of the bridegroom and Michael Crevier of San Antonio.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Paul Gruetzner chose a formal floor length gown in floral design of rainbow colors, with long sleeves in acetate satin with a white rose corsage in blue and green trim. As the bride processed down the center aisle, she handed her mother a long stem white rose.

For her son's wedding, Mrs. Edwin Merrell, chose a formal floor length gown of beige crepe with long lace sleeves and wore a white rose corsage in blue and green trim. As the bride proceeded down the center aisle, the bride handed her a long stem white rose.

The Grandmothers of the couple, Mrs. Henry Gruetzner of Giddings and Mrs. Ruth Merrell were presented corsages of blue and green carnations with white trim.

The reception followed in the parish hall of the church. Registering guests was the bride's cousin, Mrs. Richard Holder of Route 4, Lubbock. The bride's table was covered with a white satin tablecloth topped with a white lace cloth. Adorning the table was a centerpiece of sky blue and mint green carnations flanked by four white candles to accent the bridal arrangement. Centering the table, and sitting on a mirror, was the three tiered wedding cake separated by dividers of cupids. The cake was surrounded with swans and roses decorated in sky blue and mint green. Topping the cake was a miniature bride and groom and a wedding bell. Serving the cake was the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Charles Luck and Mrs. Sylvan Mersiovsky of Giddings, cousin of the bride. Pouring the punch from the crystal punch bowl was Mrs. Scott Craig of Liberty, sister of the bridegroom. They wore matching corsages of mint green and blue carnations.

Covering the groom's table was a net ribbed tablecloth edged in mint green ribbon with a centerpiece of blue daisies. Adorning the table was a sterling silver tea set and the groom's cake. The groom's cake was a chocolate cake in icing of sky blue and mint green in the shape of an opened Bible. Decorating the cake on the left side was the wedding date and the name of the bride and groom. The right side was decorated with a set of wedding rings and the couple's Bible verse, St. John 2:1-2. Serving the groom's cake was the bridegroom's cousin, Mrs. David Stewart and pouring the punch was Mrs. Eddie Akins of Shallowater. They also wore corsages of blue and green carnations.

Members of the House Party included Mrs. John Mann of Route 1, Lubbock, Mrs. Mike Davis of Lubbock, Miss Phyllis Gilley of Vernon, Miss Jeanette Mickan of Copperas Cove, and Miss Delores Foerster of Route 4, Tahoka, all cousins of the bride.

For their wedding trip to Hot Springs, Arkansas, the bride chose a formal length gown of hot pink, with a scooped necklin enhanced with an empire styled belt which tied around the dress. The short sleeves were accented by white trim lace. Matching white sandals and a corsage from her bridal bouquet completed the outfit.

Following the reception, the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gruetzner, hosted the wedding barbeque in honor of the bride and groom. Barbeque and all the trimmings were served to the wedding party and relatives of the couple at the Slaton V.F.W. Hall.

The bride is a 1969 graduate of Shallowater High School. She attended Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene and Texas Tech University of Lubbock. At Tech, she was a member of the Red Raider Band. Cynthia is presently employed at KLBK-TV in Lubbock.

The groom is a 1969 graduate of Shallowater High School. He is a 1973 graduate of McMurry College in Abilene. At McMurry, he was a member of the Phi Alpha Theta International History Honorary Society, Eta Epsilon Iota Men's Social Order, and named on the Dean's list. Cres farms northwest of Shallowater where the couple will reside.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

That day is coming, in the not too distant future, when you will be carrying another license card in your billfold. Or, perhaps we should add—if you qualify.

Already you are licensed to drive a car, or you'd better not drive. Also you must possess a license before you can pilot a plane, or you'll be in violation of both State and Federal laws.

In both cases you must demonstrate certain abilities and prove that you are knowledgeable of safety regulations and procedures before you can obtain these permits.

Today there are millions of boats operating in the fresh waters of these United States. Yet very few of the owners have even taken, much less passed, a safe driving course.

Such a requirement is coming . . . and sooner than you think.

Stringent safety regulations have already been written into the Federal laws. They are still inadequate, but far better than none at all. These rules are for your good. They were drafted for your protection and will be enforced for your benefit. Strict adherence to them may save your life, or the life of your family or closest friends.

But, instruction is not mandatory; nor is a "driver's license" required of boat operators who operate recreational vehicles.

For many years private groups, government organizations and the Coast Guard thought that safety laws relative to boating were unnecessary. So, voluntary safety courses were offered by the Coast Guard Auxiliary, the U. S. Power Squadron and others.

However, only one out of five recreational vehicle owners enrolled.

So, another boating self-study program soon may be available, with participation as a possible basis for issuance of a license by individual states under Federal guidelines.

Proposed licenses would include everyone who operates a boat of any size—from canoe to cruiser.

Today a ten-year-old is not allowed to drive a car on Texas highways for two very sensible reasons—he is not physically able to handle the machine, and he does not have the experience and judgment to react properly in an emergency.

Yet this same ten-year-old youngster can commandeer a 220 H.P. in-board loaded with kids of all ages and drive on a crowded lake at full throttle and be within the law. Such wild and dangerous acts must be prohibited, as should many other unsafe practices by young and old alike.

Check your area for members of the Coast Guard or the Auxiliary—or any group offering instructions in boating (be they Civic Clubs, Chambers of Commerce, Boy or Girl Scouts, FFA, etc.) and sign up for their training program. Enroll your entire family—and be ready for the mandatory exam that's bound to come.

No-Egg Muffins-- Treat For Low Cholesterol Breakfast

More and more doctors are urging their patients to undertake a low cholesterol diet. High serum cholesterol levels are associated with a high risk of coronary heart disease. By modifying your family's diet to include less saturated fat and cholesterol, you can help in guarding their health. In addition, this diet tends to be more economical.

Following a low-saturated fat diet requires no drastic changes. The simple substitution of margarine for butter is a major step in reducing the daily intake of saturated fat and increasing polyunsaturates. In addition, cut down on eggs (egg yolks are the single highest source of cholesterol in the average American diet), fatty meats, shellfish and high fat dairy products. Substitute lean meat, poultry, fish and skim milk dairy products.

Breakfast often presents the biggest problem on a low-saturated fat diet. The typical American breakfast of bacon and eggs is loaded with saturated fat and cholesterol. Ready-to-eat cereals make a nutritious breakfast when supplemented with fruit and skim milk. For an added treat, No-Egg Muffins are simple to make and delicious. Prepared with Fleischmann's Margarine these muffins have real buttery flavor without the saturated fat. Fleischmann's is made with 100 per cent corn oil. Over half the oil is liquid corn oil which is one of the most effective oils in reducing serum cholesterol levels. These tasty, egg-less muffins can also be prepared with a teaspoon of your favorite jelly inside. Serve hot with additional margarine, if desired.

These tempting breakfast muffins are just one way of proving that sensible eating can be delicious.
