

Area Residents Want Base to Remain

Shallowater Water Problems Due to Construction Underway on System

Residents in various sections of the city have been without water for a few hours at a time over the last four weeks when construction workers have had to turn off the water to make tie ins on the water mains, (called looping the line), enlarging the present water mains in order to make more available water pressure to the consumer, especially in the summer months when the water demand is so heavy.

Laying of the water line is under the contract of Hudson-Sparks Construction Co. of Colorado City who is also erecting a large 350,000 gallon concrete reservoir near the water tower with plans for its completion in the early spring.

City officials and W.F. Williamson, Water Dept., wish to express their sincere thanks and appreciation to the residents for their patience and cooperation when they were without water for a while the last few weeks. It was impossible to notify residents when the water was to be off, therefore it was an inconvenience to those that had to be without while the tie ins were made.

PTA Meets

A good attendance was reported at the PTA meeting last Thursday night at 7:30 in the high school auditorium when the group reorganized.

Mrs. Kay Lindsey was elected president, Mrs. Ed Wolski, vice-president, Mrs. Cheryl Campbell, secretary and Mrs. Donna White, treasurer. The new officers were installed by Mrs. Pat Cobb who holds a life membership in the organization and is also a past president.

The principals, Beryl Harris, Don Morris and Randy Barnes were introduced by Supt. Charles Hohertz and the principals introduced their teachers. Mrs. Christine Rostbergs room won $5 for having the most parents present at the meeting and Mrs. Sue Logan won the door prize, a slow cooker. Refreshments of cookies, coffee and punch was served.

The group will meet the first Thursday of each month and at the December meeting the third grade students will present Christmas plays. Everyone is invited and urged to attend.

Methodist Women Meet Monday

The United Methodist Women of Shallowater met Monday evening, Nov. 8, in the church parlor. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. R.R. Warren. Prayer was led by Mrs. M.J. Williams. Roll was answered by reading a Bible verse containing the word "rest."

Mrs. Paul Isbell led the devotional. Mrs. Isbell's topic was, "What Does Thanksgiving Mean to Me?" with response from the members.

The third study session of Southeast Asia was brought by Mrs. M.J. Williams and Mrs. Louis McMenamy, with assistance by Mrs. W.C. Vaughn, Mrs. Isbell, Mrs. C.M. Thomas and Mrs. Warren. The study focused on the major religions of Southeast Asia.

Mrs. Louis McMenamy closed the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. C.E. Pair was hostess to the thirteen attending members.

The next regular meeting will be Nov. 22.

EMT's Here Receive Diplomas

Twenty-seven members of the Lubbock Christian College Emergency Medical Technician School and their spouses met at the college to receive awards and diplomas for successfully completing 120 hours of emergency medical training, Thursday, Nov. 4 at 7:00 p.m.

Those receiving diplomas from Shallowater were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cowart. Kathy Jones completed the training but was unable to attend the ceremony.

After the awards ceremony, which was led by instructor Mrs. Bonnie Jackson and Texas Health Department official, Mr. Clinton Vardeman, the President of the South Plains EMT Association, a EMT associational representative spoke to the group on the importance of using this newly acquired knowledge in the service of their community. He also invited the group to attend and join the South Plains Association at the next meeting on November 30.

Following the awards ceremony, the group traveled to the Monterey Shopping Center to enjoy a steak dinner and fellowship at the Copper Creek Mines Steak House.

Communities other than Shallowater represented were: Abernathy, Morton, Idalou, Ralls, Tahoka and Lubbock.

4-H Food Project Group

The Rookies' mothers were guests at their regular food project meeting on October 26. Each girl gave a talk about the foods we need and should eat. The importance of good nutrition was stressed with a balance of the four food groups.

Information about the local and county foods shows were given by the leader, Mrs. Louis McMenamy. The local food show will be on Nov. 11 at 7:00 p.m. at the Shallowater Clubhouse. The County show will be November 20 at 9:00 at Texas Tech University.

Cereal cookies were made and served by the following girls: Patti Middlebrook, Sherri Fairhurst, Deniese Adams, Camie Stanton, Traca Ellis, and Lisa Deavours.

In their meeting on November 3, the Rookies' Food group toured

Garage and Bake Sale Scheduled

Area residents who would like to help the local ag boosters sponsor a successful garage and bake sale by donating anything to sell, from a nickel up, are urged to contact J.W. Hammersly, Robert Seale, Kenneth Carr or to take it to the local school ag shop.

The all day event will be held on Saturday Nov. 20 at the Shallowater Club House.

The boosters plan to sponsor projects throughout the year to raise funds for the ag department in order for the club to be as self supporting as possible.

How about it? Get busy, clean out those closets, garages and storage rooms and donate your surplus goods to the ag boosters for this worthy sale event. It will be greatly appreciated and in turn help your local school in a very worthy and educational department, the FFA group, our future farmers and home owners.

Also all the ladies and girls in the community are urged to don their aprons and cook up a lot of their favorite goodies for the bake sale such as cakes, pies, cookies, candy, etc.

Shallowater Clinic Construction

The Shallowater Clinic is on schedule for construction. New carpet is being laid at the present time. Internal construction is complete. Finish work will be completed in the next few weeks. Expected opening date is December 1, 1976. Equipment and furniture has been ordered and should be there in time for the opening.

W.F. Williamson Attends Water Short Course

W.F. Williamson, Director of Public Works for the City of Shallowater, attended the 28th Annual West Texas Regional Water Utilities Short School, held in Lubbock on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

The school was held at 600 Municipal Drive in cooperation with the Texas State Dept. of Health, Texas Water Quality Board, Texas Water Development Board, Texas A&M University, Engineering Extension Service and the City of Lubbock with sessions held on water and waste water control.

By attending the school, Williamson received 20 hours of credit which is applied to renewing his water and sewer license when they expire, and requires 60 hours for renewal every three years for license in each department.

This was the 28th annual short school that has been held in Lubbock and Williamson has attended every one.

The message seems clear — most South Plains residents would hate to see Reese Air Force Base closed.

Reese AFB is one of four Air Force Training Command undergraduate pilot training bases identified as alternates to the proposed closure of Craig and Webb Air Force Bases.

Approximately 30 area residents made statements to Air Force officials Monday night during a public hearing in Lubbock City Council Chambers. They talked about the friendly relations the air base has enjoyed with its neighboring communities and the importance of the installation to the economic well-being of the South Plains.

But there were a few dissenters in the crowd. Two Hurlwood residents—Mrs. J.W. Randolph and Robert Hoffman—pointed out the noise and pollution problems created by the pilot training base. Their message was equally clear—close down Reese and go elsewhere.

The adverse effects of having an air base in the neighborhood seemed to be overpowered, at least in the minds of the approximately 100 persons attending the hearing, by the benefits South Plains residents have reaped from its existence.

During the introductory remarks, Maj. Ted Duigon noted that the closure of Reese would mean a $27.9 million payroll loss and an $18.3 million estimated loss in retail sales in the Lubbock area. Closing the base also would mean Lubbock's unemployment rate would jump from 3.9 per cent to about 6.1 per cent, Duigon said.

If Reese goes, the Air Force official continued, it would mean a population loss of about 6,000 for the Lubbock area. It also would mean about a three per cent decrease in the county's total school enrollment and possibly a $355,000 loss in federal funds for education, he said.

Leading off the long line of speakers was Lubbock Chamber of Commerce president Vernon "Buddy" Barron, who noted that closing Reese would be detrimental to the economy of Lubbock and the surrounding area. Closing the base also would be detrimental to the mission of the Air Training Command, he said.

Former Lubbock mayor Clarence Whiteside reminded the panel of Air Force officials of a promise made to Lubbock to keep the base open here. Lubbock originally bought the land where Reese now sits, Whiteside said, and leased it to the Army for the base that was first located there. The Air Force wanted the land and made a firm commitment to keep the base here, he stressed.

Cochran County Judge Glenn Thompson, president of the South Plains Association of Governments, pointed out the "domino effect" closing the base would have on the economies of communities surrounding Lubbock. "From a regional viewpoint, closing Reese would have a significant adverse impact on the economy," Thompson told the panel.

Frenship School Board president Don Davis discussed the dollars and cents situation faced by his school system if the base is closed. Reese students make up about 23 per cent of the pupils in the Frenship schools. If those students are pulled out of the school system, it would mean a significant loss of state and federal money for the district, he said.

Lubbock City Councilman Bill McAlister described the friendly relationship that base personnel and area residents have built up over the years. He summed up his presentation by adding, "Reese folks would be missed."

Refusal to Increase Fee Scale May Halt Autopsy Services

by Mary Alice Robbins

A $75 dispute over the cost of performing autopsies may leave Lubbock County without any means of determining the cause of death in some cases.

During their Monday meeting, county commissioners turned thumbs down on any hike in the autopsy fee. Commissioners earlier had authorized $175 for autopsy fees, and they say that is all they are willing to pay—even if it means nobody will perform the service here. Under state law, the county could pay up to $300 for an autopsy.

Despite the county's $175 limit, the Physicians Pathology Service (PPS) has been charging local justices of the peace $250 for each autopsy the JPs have ordered. The PPS is the only group in Lubbock that has been willing to perform autopsies for the county.

Each time a JP ordered an autopsy performed, he has received a bill for $250 from the PPS. As the $75 difference began to mount up, JPs Charles Smith and Wayne LeCroy decided it was time to seek some clarification from commissioners in the matter.

JPs, LeCroy and F.H. Bolen were on hand for Monday's meeting.

"It looks like we're at the end of autopsies unless we can work out a deal with someone to do them," LeCroy told the court.

Both LeCroy and Smith said they believe $75 is a reasonable fee on most autopsies—but neither was willing to predict the PPS's response to the county's decision to hold firm on the autopsy fee.

If the PPS does decide to go out of the autopsy business, the JPs said that some homicides and suicides may go undetected and could be ruled natural or accidental deaths.

According to Smith, there may be alternatives to utilizing the PPS to perform autopsies. He noted that Wichita Falls contracts with a private physician to operate as the county's medical examiner. Although Lubbock County doesn't have enough money to hire a full-time medical examiner, the county should investigate the possibilities of contracting with a local doctor on a part-time basis, he said.

Autopsy Fees . . .

Despite commissioners' decision to remain firm on the $175 limit, the court decided to compromise with the pathology service on the bill for one autopsy. The PPS charged the county $619 for the autopsy and lab tests performed to determine the cause of death of local dancer Marcella Valenzuela. The young woman was found dead in the bath tub at her apartment on Jan. 5.

Commissioners argued that they could not pay the full $619 fee charged by the pathology service because some of the services had not been okayed by the JP involved in the case. The court did agree to send the PPS a check for $394—which would cover $175 for performing the autopsy, $205 for lab tests and $14 for phone bills run up by the PPS on the case.

as presented by Mrs. Stanley Wheeler, chairman of the nominating committee.

Theme chosen for the meeting will be "Girl Scouting—the Way it Was, 1918 and the Way It Is, 1976." Senior Planning Board officers are in charge of the opening flag ceremony. The Rev. Bob Utley, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church will give the invocation.

Mrs. John C. Robertson, Woodrow, chairman of the personnel services committee, will award recognitions for volunteer service. Mrs. Buster Owens of Littlefield, third vice president, will propose an amendment to the bylaws. The treasurer's report will be summarized by Leroy Richardson.

Reservations for the luncheon meeting may be made by calling Caprock Girl Scout Council at 747-2855 or contacting field services chairmen in each area. Cost of tickets is $2.75.

Your Just Desserts

PRIZE-WINNING DESSERTS IN FREE RECIPE BOOK

Twenty prize-winning dessert recipes, selected from over 24,000 entries in the Third Annual Seagram's V.O. International Recipe Contest, have now been assembled in a colorful 16-page book. For a free copy, write to: V.O. Prize-Winning Recipe Book, P.O. Box 5244, Hicksville, N.Y. 11816. In the meantime, you may care to try one of the award-winning creations:

STRUFOLI

- 6 eggs
- 3 cups flour
- 3/4 tsp. salt
- 1-1/2 cups honey
- 6 tbs. sugar
- 3 ounces toasted almonds, chopped
- 3 ounces chopped citron
- 1 tbs. grated orange rind
- 1 tsp. cinnamon

Beat eggs, 1/2 of flour, and salt until smooth. Beat in 1 cup flour more and turn out onto floured board. Knead in remaining flour until dough is smooth and elastic. Set dough in a greased bowl. Cover. Let rest 2 hours. Roll dough into long ropes, 1/2-inch in diameter. Cut in 1/2-inch lengths. Cover with a cloth and let rest 5 minutes. Deep-fat fry in moderately-hot oil (375°F.), turning once, until golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper. In a large Dutch oven simmer honey and sugar 15 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in almonds, citron, orange rind, cinnamon, and strufoli. Pat into 13 x 9-inch pan. Serve by spooning onto plates. Makes about 15 servings.

Mold which may develop on natural cheeses is not harmful, and is easily scraped or cut from the surface.

The fastest speed at which a giant tortoise can crawl is about five yards a minute.

News From The Shallowater Schools

HORSE TALES

A New Face In Elementary

by Suzie De Anda

Miss Diane Bratton is a new sixth teacher at Shallowater Elementary. She teaches Sixth Grade. Miss Bratton originally came from El Paso. She is a graduate student from Texas Tech.

Miss Bratton's hobbies are skiing, growing plants, and playing the guitar. Miss Bratton also enjoys being in the mountains and meeting new people in different places.

Miss Bratton was on the Dean's List in college and a member of Kappa Alpha Rose Court.

When asked what she enjoyed about Shallowater Elementary, she said "I love the kids, everybody is so friendly."

Time To Smile

Any person who is always feeling sorry for himself should be.

AEW

November 14-20 has been chosen for the observance of American Education Week, and "The Schools Are Yours. Help Take Care of Them" has been chosen as the theme.

American Education Week was launched by a proclamation issued by the President of the United States on November 30, 1921. Every president since then has recognized the event with a proclamation.

Outstanding Students Named

The fifth grade "Students of the Month" for October are Mendi Pair and Felicitas Cuellar. Selected by a panel of teachers, the girls were chosen on the basis of their responsibility, effort, and dependability.

Mendi is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Pair and is a student in Mrs. Rostberg's fifth grade room. Felicitas is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ramiro Cuellar and is a student in Mrs. White's class.

Quick Change

by Claudett Lamb

Our sports are quickly changing. Right after our football boys play Stanton Friday night, we change. Monday, our seventh, eighth, and ninth grade girls play Frenship in basketball here at 5:00. Then Friday the J.V. and Varsity play New Deal there at 4:00 and our basketball season is off for another year.

Hall of Fame

by Steven Wilson

This is the last of the football Hall of Fame for this football season. Four players are featured in this article, one freshman and three sophomores, all of whom are very important to the team.

Pete Alvarado is the only freshman on the team which speaks for itself. Pete is not that big as a matter of fact; he is the smallest player on the team. Pete is only 5 feet two inches tall with a weight of about 120 pounds. Pete is a runner and a good one at that. He has played some in the backfield, but he shows the fans most of his ability as a kick returner. He has done a great job at it this year with his lightning speed with three years yet to come. Pete wears number 25, but you may not be able to see that number.

David Coker is a lineman for the Mustangs. It can be said that David is the hardest hitting player on the team. He hits hard all the time not knowing when to stop. David is a big one to stop in more ways than one, he has a big heart and a big desire to win. David weighs in at 205 pounds. This weight is spread over a frame of 5 feet 9 inches. David has given a lot to the team playing on the interior line on both offense and defense. He is better known for his defensive play. David gives it his all all the time and you will see his number 68 for two more years.

Mike "Opie" Hamersley is a backfield man. Opie plays in both the offensive and defensive backfields. Mike is a player who does what is asked of him with pleasure because he enjoys the game very much. He is not exceptionally big, he is quick making for a hard target. Opie sees most of his action in the defensive backfield where he prevents passes being completed. If he cannot intercept the pass, at least the other team will not catch it either. Mike will be around for two more seasons and you can wager that he will be doing his best. Opie weighs around 150 pounds and stands 5 feet 9 inches. You will see him wearing number 22.

Last, but certainly not least, is Robin Krebbs, a rather big fellow. Robin weighs in at 210 pounds while stretching the tape to 5 feet 8 inches. Robin loves the game of football and enjoys playing it very much. He is a very hard hitting player who will always hit for you. Robin is a lineman on both offense and defense. He has two more years of playing to do and he will surely do some playing. This is his game and he works hard for it. He works during the summer just to get ready for it so you know that he loves it. Watch for number 72, he will be out there sticking some people all the time.

Shallowater Athletic Booster Club News

by Dale Jackson

Shallowater Athletic Booster Club met Tuesday night at 7:30 in the High School auditorium. Coming events to be sponsored by the club are:

(1) To sponsor the 7th-8th-9th grade annual basketball tournament in Shallowater, composed of boys and girls teams of each grade level from several schools.

(2) The club will have a concession stand all three days of the tournament. Prices for each game session are $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. An MVP award will be given in each boy and girl grade.

(3) We strongly urge you to attend our last regularly scheduled meeting to be held Thursday, November 18, at 7:30 p.m. in the High School auditorium. We will introduce the High School and Junior High players individually. See you November 18th!
