Federal Crop Insurance Reduces Farming Risk

With all the violent weather that has plagued Texas farmers in recent weeks, more thought should be given to federal crop insurance, believes an economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Federal crop insurance can reduce production risks for farmers as their costs continue to rise sharply," points out Dr. Wayne Hayenga. "Such insurance protects working capital committed to crop production."

Although crop insurance provides only limited coverage, it does cover out-of-pocket production costs in most cases, notes the Texas A&M University System specialist.

"About 90 per cent of all federal crop insurance is of the 'all-risk' type," says Hayenga. "This type of insurance is available in 84 Texas counties from the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, with coverage limited to cotton, sorghum, corn, peanuts and citrus. Its main purpose is to protect farmers from a total crop failure. It covers losses, when Bowerman, Home Extension Agent, and Mrs. Louis McMenamy, leader.

Wonder what kind of turbulence may be in a cloud formation?

The Shallowater Volunteer Fire Dept. is providing residents of the area the opportunity of attending a meeting on weather watch awareness, which includes severe weather and what to look for in a cloud.

The meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m. Monday, June 9 in the community club house and all interested persons are invited and urged to attend.

A representative from the National Weather Service will present slides on different formations of clouds and what may or may not be severe weather in the formations.

The meeting is free and Fire Chief Floyd Epperson feels this is a necessity to citizens at this time of year when tornado season is upon us. Chief Epperson wishes to extend a personal invitation as well as all members of the Fire Dept. to keep this date in mind. Your attendance will be of great value and worth the time and effort to be present.

The civil defense director, J.D. Young, has done an excellent job during bad weather to watch the clouds and listen to the police radio and be prepared to alert the residents in case a bad cloud is approaching. Mr. Young, city police, chief Epperson, assistant fire chief Kenneth Shropshire, and the fire department members are to be commended for their concern in keeping residents alerted on weather conditions.

Cotton Farmers Keep Herbicides in Wide Use

Texas cotton farmers are continuing to rely more and more on herbicides (chemical weed killers) to take care of their weed problems.

In 1974 more than 89 per cent of the state's cotton crop, or almost 4.4 million acres, were treated with one or more herbicide applications, reports Dr. Dave Weaver, cotton weed control specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Weaver surveyed county Extension agents in all the cotton growing counties to obtain the data on herbicide use.

According to the survey, preplant type herbicides were used most widely, with almost 56 per cent of the acreage receiving this type of treatment.

Cotton acreage treated with either preemergence or post-emergence herbicides varied only slightly, with preemergence herbicides used on 17 per cent of the cotton and postemergence herbicides, on 15.4 per cent of the crop.

Herbicide use was highest in the South Plains where more than 1.9 million acres were treated. More than 650,000 acres were treated in the Rolling Plains, with just over 550,000 acres treated in North Central Texas. Almost 400,000 acres were treated in South Texas, primarily in the Rio Grande Valley and Coastal Bend.

In his survey Weaver also queried Extension agents on the "hardest-to-control" weeds in cotton. Forty-three different species of weeds were listed, with Johnsongrass winning "hands down." Of the 163 county agents completing the survey, 136 or them pointed the finger at Johnsongrass as the top villain.

Other cotton weeds that were often mentioned as hard to control included silverleaf nightshade, morningglory and nutsedge.

"Due to the development of more effective herbicides and the high cost of farm labor, herbicide use in cotton will continue to increase," believes Weaver.

Texas Taxes

By BOB BULLOCK
State Comptroller

Austin—In 1941 you could buy a brand new automobile for $600. For $800 you could get the biggest, fanciest car the dealer had.

Good used cars might run as little as $25.

There were less than two million vehicles registered in Texas and only 20,000 miles of paved highways for their use.

That was 34 years ago and the total state government budget for the year was less than $166 million. The state was just coming out of the depression and, as usual, the Legislature was looking for new tax money.

That was the year the first motor vehicle sales tax was levied. The initial rate was set at one per cent.

Today, with more than nine million vehicles in Texas, the motor vehicle sales tax ranks as one of the major taxes handled by the Comptroller's Department, ranking behind only the general sales tax, gasoline, cigarette and oil production taxes.

The rate has been raised several times during the past 34 years. The current four per cent rate was set by the Legislature in 1971.

In the coming year we will take in more than $200 million in motor vehicle sales taxes—more than the entire state budget of 1941.

The four per cent tax is figured on the sales price of a vehicle when there is no trade-in. Where there is a trade-in the four per cent is figured on the difference between the sales price and the trade-in.

Earlier this year when the national car manufacturers started giving cash rebates to new car buyers we had to adopt rules to fit the situation. We decided simply that the amount of the rebate should be deducted from the sales price in figuring the tax. This

THE OUTHOUSE

Much has been written and even more has been said on the subject of the outhouse. Sometimes called a privy, toilet, or outdoor toilet, and of course other names we can't mention here, it has been the brunt of many jokes, pranks, and acts of downright meanness. But forget all that if you can and let's take a sober look at it in this brief narrative.

The outhouse for a standard household was usually a "two holer" measuring about 4' X 5' in floor space. The simple structure was usually of rough lumber, unpainted. There were four walls, a wood floor and a roof. There was only one door and no windows. Across the back wall was a bench with closed-in front, standing about 18" high. In the top of the bench were cut two round holes about 10" to 12" in diameter. Directly below the bench was the pit into which wastes were deposited.

The basic theory and construction were simple but most people added improvements as they could. For example, fold-down lids were sometimes attached to cover the holes when they were not being used. When the lids were open they served as back rests. Some of the structures were made of brick or stone and some came complete with fancy door knobs and hinges, some even had their own kerosene lanterns. Nails were sometimes driven into the walls to serve as coat hangers. Wire hangers were fastened to the wall over which the catalog was hung (real roll type toilet paper was not a readily available commodity but the mail order catalog was a tolerable substitute). I am told that some folks cut the crescent moon shape above or in the doors but I honestly never saw an outhouse with it.

Ash cans or lye containers were standard fixtures in many outhouses. The lye was used to chemically treat the wastes and cut down on the odor somewhat, a process much like that of chemical toilets found at construction sites today.

When "inside" toilets or bathrooms in houses were becoming popular there were many skeptics who thought the idea would never catch on. Many did not even like the thought of indoor facilities. As one old rancher was heard to say one time, "I'll be darned if anybody is gonna do that in my house".

ruling followed policies adopted by the Internal Revenue Service.

Mobile homes, motorcycles and trailers are considered motor vehicles for the purpose of the motor vehicle sales tax.

The motor vehicle sales tax law also includes provisions for a four per cent tax on motor vehicle rental and leasing. This tax on rental and lease charges will bring in about $4 million of the total $200 million in motor vehicle tax revenue.

The actual collections of the motor vehicle sales taxes are handled by the 254 county tax assessor-collectors. For performing this service for the state, the county is allowed to keep five per cent of its total collections.

Since the motor vehicle sales tax is a major source of state revenue our department watches closely for changes in the state and nation's economy which might have bearing on the automobile industry and its sales. Along these lines, during the past year we saw a general depression in new car sales offset by continuing demand and good price stability on used car sales.

Certainly neither the times nor the motor vehicle tax are as simple as those good old days of 1941 when it all started.

Home Town Tales Retold

by Mack Stanley

A kangaroo, who was on the lam from a city zoo, hippity hopped into a small town bar and ordered a scotch and soda. The bartender mixed the drink, served his customer, then stood there staring at him.

"I wish you wouldn't stare at me like that mister," the kangaroo said. "It makes me nervous. What's the matter, anyway?"

"Nothing's the matter sir. It's just that you're the first kangaroo to come in here and order scotch and soda. All our other kangaroo customers, and most of the reindeer too, drink Martinis."

Coach O'Dell of Dumright says any time he gets up in the morning and don't find his name in the obituary column is the beginning of another great day for him.

When Uncle Oscar went back to Little Rock, he was surprised by how much the city had grown, and how busy and bustling it was.

After walking around downtown for a while, his first observation was: "I never saw so many cars with Arkansas tags."

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin—The 64th Legislature is deep into its last final week of activity, with all of its remaining Big 3 assignments still incomplete.

Conference committees have drawn the jobs of adjusting differences between House and Senate versions of these measures:

—The $12 billion all-time record appropriations bill for 1976-77. There is really little controversy, and the budget will be ready for final approval by adjournment deadline Tuesday.

—Public school finance reform. There is plenty of controversy here, with the outcome likely to remain in doubt until near the final gavel. Gov. Dolph Briscoe shows every sign of being determined to veto any measure which overspends revenue in sight.

—Utility regulation through a state commission. Again, there are strong differences between the House and the Senate majority. House leaders insist they have compromised enough in getting their bill passed and want nothing weaker. They are backed by a well organized citizens group which has served notice it will have the House bill or nothing. Conference reports can be passed by a bare majority, and they are subject to no amendments.

Oil Increasing

For the 39th straight month, the Texas Railroad Commission has set a wide open 100 per cent statewide oil production allowable.

Commission Chairman Ben Ramsey said indications are Texas production is "beginning to stabilize and possibly show a slight increase."

The big East Texas field, a deviation from the all-out production pattern, will be held to 86 per cent.

Appointments

Governor Briscoe has appointed former State Rep. Menton J. Murray of Harlingen to the Texas Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, replacing Paul Leonard of Fort Worth who resigned.

Briscoe also announced his intention to appoint Joe R. Carroll of Snyder to Texas Water Rights Commission. Carroll will succeed Otha Dent of Austin who resigned before expiration of his term.

Courts Speak

The Third Court of Civil Appeals turned down Atty. Gen. John Hill's request for rehearing of an effort to stop a $45 Southwestern Bell Telephone Company intrastate long distance rate hike.

Hill's motion to modify judgment to prevent the increase going into immediate effect also was rejected. The Attorney General has promised to appeal.

Texas Supreme Court turned down a suit by Amarillo, Berger and Pampa against Canadian River Municipal Water Authority over distribution of costs for operation and maintenance of an aqueduct, dam and reservoir.

Plainview, Lubbock, Brownfield, Levelland, Tahoka, O'Donnell, Slaton and Lamesa sided with the Water Authority.

Ag Opinion

A bill which would permit distribution of state owned textbooks to pupils of non-public schools "probably" is constitutional, Attorney General Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

Domestic relations courts may appoint masters in chancery, but only in exceptional cases for good cause.

An educational and recreational fund administered for benefit of state prisoners may be invested or spent for prisoners' benefit in any manner consistent with purposes of the trust, law and proper prison system management.

A bank holding company may own a majority of the stock of more than one bank without violating the constitution or laws.

Charges Refused

Charges that $500 million in erroneous payments were made to Texas welfare recipients due to clerical errors were challenged by State Welfare Commissioner Raymond W. Vowell.

Vowell disputed statements of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare concerning mistakes of state and local welfare officials.

HEW said another $500 million was spent in error because recipients provided incorrect information on factors determining eligibility for aid and size of payments.

Vowell said 70 per cent of welfare mistakes are due to recipient error or falsification. He said efforts are being made to cleanse Texas welfare rolls of ineligible recipients.

Short Snorts

A new form of health and accident protection will be available December 1 through Health Maintenance Organizations. Governor Briscoe signed the bill into law.

Comptroller Bob Bullock issued checks totaling $19.9 million to Texas cities in the second round of monthly city sales tax payments. Payments were up from $16.1 million in April.

The Senate refused to lower the misdemeanor penalty for possession of small amounts of marijuana.

The House voted to raise the state inheritance tax exemption from $25,000 to $60,000 for a revenue loss of $57.5 million if the Senate goes along.

It was everything expected and more, the 60th annual Southwest Conference track and field meet. And wasn't the weather something else! Almost ideal conditions—sunny, not too warm, virtually no wind, blue skies and lazy, floating clouds.

As a result, the athletes really extended themselves. There were strong races, close competition infield events and records. It was a sparkling climax to the week's activities.

Texas, of course, won the championship, again, but not before Baylor put up a good fight. In the end, though, the Longhorns simply had more quality.

"We did it with 15 men," SID Jones Ramsey said long after the meet. "If Cleburne (Price) hadn't had so many injuries and hadn't run off so many, it wouldn't have been close."

Also, had Baylor been able to pick up a few more points in events it had counted on, it would have been closer.

Don Oliver, the Baylor SID, was pulling for the Aggie pole vaulters, only to see them fall by the wayside. And the Aggies actually hurt the Bears when an A&M high jumper won the event in which Baylor had been a strong favorite.

Actually, the meet was decided on the 220-yard dash, which made the three-mile run (as exciting as watching cement harden) and the mile relay meaningless in the title battle.

Congratulations, Vern Hilliard, on your recognition Saturday. The only regret is that it comes in conjunction with your retirement, although you'll be staying around.

Vern has developed a beautiful facility at Tech, one which the university and community can be proud of and which is a credit to this area. It was my first visit to the new track and everything about it is first class. Some day it may well be named Hilliard Stadium, certainly a fitting tribute.

In further tribute to Ralph and his crew, some of the SIDs, sports writers and others were sitting around the media room Saturday night. "Well, what can we criticize about the meet?" one asked.

"Well," another replied, "we could have gotten the results a little faster. And the field mike didn't work too good."

"Right," said the first man, "but that's the electronic man's responsibility. And the field phone man could have gotten the results to the pressbox faster."

There was, thereafter, silence. There was nothing that the pros could criticize. What better tribute to a smooth operation?

The faculty fathers wrestled for days and came up with little, apparently. You never really know what goes on behind those closed doors, which might just be a good thing.

It's obvious that the polygraph (lie detector) provision was retained and one of these days it might actually be used! I still think it's a sad commentary on collegiate athletics that any conference must authorize its usage at all.

Moments after the mile relay had been run, Ralph Carpenter forced a wan smile of enthusiasm and said:

"Well, that's all of that. Bring on the All-America Game!"

Lest you all get the wrong impression, Ralph is looking forward to the AA contest. But it, like the SWC meet, is a demanding thing and the brunt of the work falls on him, George Roster and the SID staff. And it's a lot of work.

As usual, one of the highlights of the weekend was the Friday night barbecue at Vann's Catering. Gathered were the athletic directors, faculty representatives, coaches, sports writers, meet officials and a few invited friends.

Everything is informal and off the record, but no mention would be complete without underlining the playing of Cowboy Kyle and the impromptu singing of Sam Allen.

Sam Allen! Young tads will have to go to their record books to find out who he was. Oldsters and real track buffs know. In the early 30s, he was America's premier hurdler.

I still have a program from the Princeton Invitational in about 1933, when Allen ran away and left everybody else. He was a young collegian from Oklahoma Baptist and he was in the company of such men as Fenske, Venske, Bonthron, Lovelace, Cunningham and others.

I had lost all track of him until he showed up Friday night. He still looks trim for his age and distinguished with a silver thatch atop a broad, friendly, smiling face.

Sam Allen shouldn't be a stranger to Lubbockites, although he spends little time here. He's an evangelist singer now, travels all over the country. We're glad that he's living here. He's another former athletic great to swell the many we have here now.

The Roundup—Ed Mooney, former Tech and Detroit linebacker, says that he's retiring . . . Tim Tillery, formerly a neighbor, coach, sporting goods store owner, was a visitor and an official. He lives in Waco and misses Lubbock . . . Curtis Kelley, Dunbar football coach, grinned broadly and said: "I finally got my quarterback! But I didn't even say a word about it at the banquet." . . . Ken Dowell, brother of former Tech football and pro star Mule Dowell, has been Tech's representative on the Cotton Bowl Athletic Assn. But Ken is moving to Los Angeles. "I'll probably be back," he said . . . Joe Holmes was judging at the finish line. I hadn't seen Joe in ages, didn't know that he'd had a second heart attack and had retired. "But I beat Vernon by six months!" Joe said with a grin. "We played together in high school, started coaching against each other and both wound up at Tech. I beat him coaching, too!"

What is "backsliding"? This is an old term used in religious circles showing the regression of a Christian believer. The term is taken from the Bible and is given to a person that has turned from discipleship.

Listed below are some characteristics of "backsliding".

1. Selfish-Absorption, Prov. 14:14a, "The backslider in heart shall be filled with his own ways..."
2. Religious Indifference, Matt. 24:12, "And because iniquity shall abound, the love of many shall wax cold."
3. Unfitness for the Kingdom, Luke 9:62, "And Jesus said unto him, no man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God."
4. Bondage to Forms, Gal. 4:9.
5. Divine Displeasure, Heb. 10:38.
6. Loss of Spiritual Enthusiasm, Rev. 2:4, "Nevertheless I have somewhat against thee, because thou hast lost they first love."
