

THIRD GRADE CHRISTMAS PLAY—The PTA will meet Thursday, December 1 at 7:30 p.m. in the School Auditorium. The program will be Mrs. Mary Warren's third grade Christmas Play. Each year we are amazed and delighted with Mrs. Warren's Christmas productions. And this year is no exception. Neighbors Pull Teague Cotton

Friends and neighbors of Norman and Betty Teague gathered at their farm last week, with boll pullers, and harvested all their cotton crop in a matter of hours as a good will to Norman who recently suffered a heart attack and was hospitalized in the CCU unit at St. Mary's Hospital for several days, before he was moved to a private hospital room to spend more time before he could return to his home.

The goodness and love of everyone in the Shallowater community is overwhelming and when there is someone who needs help the offers to assist in some way overflows.

Around 45 persons arrived at the Teague farm to aid in harvesting the cotton and when lunch time came, Walter and Glenda Hutton of Huttons Drive In, Butch Pair, Newman Lusk and Doyle McKennan furnished hamburgers for the hungry group and the Shallowater Coop Gin furnished coffee and cold drinks.

Men assisting in gathering the crop were Don Enger, Doyce Middlebrook, Jimmy Foerster, Gus Marr, Bill Burgett, Bryan Burgett, Glen Burgett, Hank Woodruff, Alvis Lemons, R.W. Woodruff, John L. Taylor, Sabas Ortiz, Granville Igo, Alfred Barron, Jesse Valverde, Alvie Reed, Bill Shakelford, Joe and Ann Randolph, Jackie Randolph, Jack DuLaney, Domingo Anaya, Pat Lupton, Sonny Lupton, James Taylor, Fred Guana, M.J. Williams, Junior Jackson, Lonnie Johnson, Dude Stanton, Danny Stanton, Jay Stanton and three of his hands, Robert Beasley, Bartola and Frank Cuevas.

The cotton was formed into modules and John Shipp is giving of his time to haul them to the gin.

Norman re-enters the hospital today (Thursday) where he will undergo further tests and treatment. We wish you good luck Norman for a complete recovery, and know that you feel, as everyone else does, there's no better place to live than Shallowater.

At the Thursday night meeting, 12 members, and 6 guests, Mr. and Mrs. John Richmond and son Mark of Lubbock, Harry King with the local Emergency Medical Service, Darrell Greenway and Truman Ellis were present.

The Club also welcomed three new members, Ricky White, Bill Short and Don Dugan.

Local Men Attend School

Matt Gonzales and Lupe Trevino, both employees for the City of Shallowater, attended the 29th annual West Texas Regional Water Utilities Short School, held in Lubbock on Nov. 8-10 at the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center.

By attending the short school, the two men are able to apply the 20 hours of credit they receive on renewing their license. Gonzales has a license in water and Trevino took the examination for water license and will be notified at a later date as to whether he passed the test or not.

Gonzales is a 10 year employee of the City and Trevino has been employed since around the first of the year.

Coach Reflects on Past Football Season

We started the season on a good note. We beat Sands 75-0. This was a big win for us. I thought that we would start rolling. Then, the next week we played Ralls. I felt like we should have beaten Ralls. We made one big mistake and it cost us the ballgame. This was my biggest defeat since I have been coaching. The next game was with New Deal. The Lions out played us. They were much stronger than we were.

Hale Center scored early in the game and we had to play catch up football; but we didn't catch up.

Farwell was the biggest win of my career. They were rated no. 2 in the state and we were going up there. It was an exciting game. We had some good breaks and won that game. This is when our injuries started. We lost Marcus Lara for the season. We sure missed him.

We came back home to play Frenship. We played them a good game. They finally wore us down and beat us. We played with them until the fourth quarter.

During workout for the Seagraves tilt the next week, we lost Lane Giles; this hurt us. We played No. 1 in the state and that is exactly what they are. They are much better than they have been in the past. In this game, we got Stacy Hohenberger hurt and later on in the week we found out that Andy Blackmon was out for the year. This was a big blow for us. Andy was not only our Quarterback, but was our leader.

In the Plains game, we had six starters out and that hurt us. After we got going, we moved the ball and did a better job. We lost that one by two points.

We went to O'Donnell the next week and we were leading them 9-0 going into the fourth quarter. Kids got hurt and we couldn't stunt on defense and they had two good drives and beat us 12-9.

Stanton started off quick and showed us why they are number twenty in the state. We came back the second half and played better.

Over-all it was a disappointing year. I felt we should have won 5 to 7 ball games. On the other hand, I personally won. I have seen a lot of boys turn into men. That is a great reward to me. The most improved player this year was Rod Warren. The team and the coaches are really proud of Rod. He improved week by week. I hope we all improve like Rod did by next year.

I would like to thank Shallowater fans for their support this year. We had a good Booster Club led by Mr. Middlebrook and Mr. Jackson. I would also like to thank the School Board and the Administration for their support. I owe a big thanks to Mr. Nutt and the band, pep squad, and twirlers.

Thank You Cheerleaders for all the hard work you have done for us. You are the best. Thanks to Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. Mills for being their sponsors.

Moody Planetarium to Show "Star of Bethlehem"

LUBBOCK—The Star of Bethlehem has become a compelling tradition among Christians who accept the event as signaling the birth of Jesus of Nazareth.

The event 2,000 years ago was a phenomenon noted by a single writer who wrote of the brilliant star which led three wise men from their home countries to seek a tiny child born in the town of Bethlehem in Judea.

Possible explanations for the phenomenon will be explored in a Moody Planetarium show beginning at 3 p.m., Saturday, at The Museum of Texas Tech University.

"Star of Bethlehem" will be repeated at 3 p.m. on each Saturday and Sunday through Dec. 18. The Museum will be closed Dec. 24 and 25, but the Moody Planetarium show will be shown during the holiday season at 3 p.m., Dec. 27-30.

The star is recorded in the Bible only by the book of Matthew, which mentions it four times in the second chapter.

Except for the moon, astronomers of the time called almost any object appearing in the heavens a star: a comet, planet or meteor, as well as an actual star.

By looking at historical records and computing the actions of several known celestial events, the "Star of Bethlehem" tries to unravel the mystery of what could have been seen 2,000 years ago.

Planetarium shows cost $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Preschool children are not encouraged to attend.

Plainview Queens Classic Tourney Scheduled Thanksgiving Weekend

Brackets for the Second Annual Plainview Queens Classic Basketball Tournament scheduled for Thanksgiving weekend, November 24-25-26, 1977, were recently announced by the sports committee of the sponsoring Plainview Chamber of Commerce. The field includes three of the five state champions in schoolgirl basketball plus the defending collegiate champion Wayland Flying Queens and a host of "name" teams in the college division. The Plainview Queens Classic is the first all-womens basketball tournament of its kind in the nation.

The high school bracket has defending champion Nazareth, the Class B state champion, meeting newcomer Hale Center, the District 4-A titlist, at 4 p.m. on Thanksgiving Day. Class A semifinalist Phillips plays newcomer Silverton of District 5-B at 9 a.m., AAA state champion Canyon meets newcomer Floydada of District 4-AA at 12:30 and AAAAA state champion Dallas South Oak Cliff takes on Region 1 finalist Slaton at 7:30. South Oak Cliff lost to Nazareth in the finals of the Classic last year.

The Wayland Flying Queens, who beat Baylor 82-64 in the finals last year, play the University of Nebraska at 5:30, 1977 National AIAW Tournament qualifier Missouri meets Long Beach State at 10:30 a.m., 1976 participant Kansas State meets up-and-coming Houston at 9 p.m., and Louisiana Tech plays hold-over Texas Tech at 2 p.m.

The tournament was an overwhelming success last year, attracting about 10,000 fans over a three-day period.

"We're expecting a terrific tournament this year and feel it's a real feather in our cap to have three state champions and a state participant in the high school field," said Bud B. Cason, chairman of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce sports committee.

"The college division should be extremely tough this year with the addition of more prestige-name schools that really have great programs for womens basketball," he added.

"Without question, the Plainview Queens Classic has to be one of the finest tournaments in the nation and is unique in that it has a college-high school format."

Cason added that ticket prices will be reduced some this year so that fans, especially those with families, may see the games at a more reasonable rate. Tickets are priced at $7.50 for a tournament pass for adults and $4.00 for students. The tournament pass will entitle the holder to view all 24 games of the Classic. Daily passes will sell for $3.00 and $2.00 and session passes will be $2.00 for adults and $1.50 for students.

"This is our way of saying thank-you to the thousands of fans who helped us get the tournament started in such a great way last year and to encourage even greater attendance this year," Cason explained.

Special discounts will be given to area basketball teams who come in a group accompanied by their coach. The special discount tickets and advance tickets may be obtained by writing the Plainview Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 340, Plainview, Texas, 79072.

Dr. English to Give Gallery Talk

LUBBOCK—Those were the days! With daytime office hours, evening hospital rounds, and nighttime calls to the country over unpaved roads in a Model T Ford, Dr. O.W. English began his practice of medicine in Lubbock.

Dr. English will recall events of half a century ago when he gives a Gallery Talk at 4 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 20, at The Museum of Texas Tech University.

The Gallery Talk is sponsored by the Heritage Projects Committee of the Women's Council of the West Texas Museum Association. Dr. English will relate his remarks to a special exhibit at The Museum, the doctor's office as it appeared in the early 20th century.

"The office at The Museum was a little before my time," Dr. English said. "I didn't use a horse and buggy, but I did make calls in the country."

When Dr. English or others of the Lubbock medical community made calls to Shallowater or Wolfforth or some other small community, residents in need of medical attention would gather in one place to save the doctor time. There were, however, emergencies.

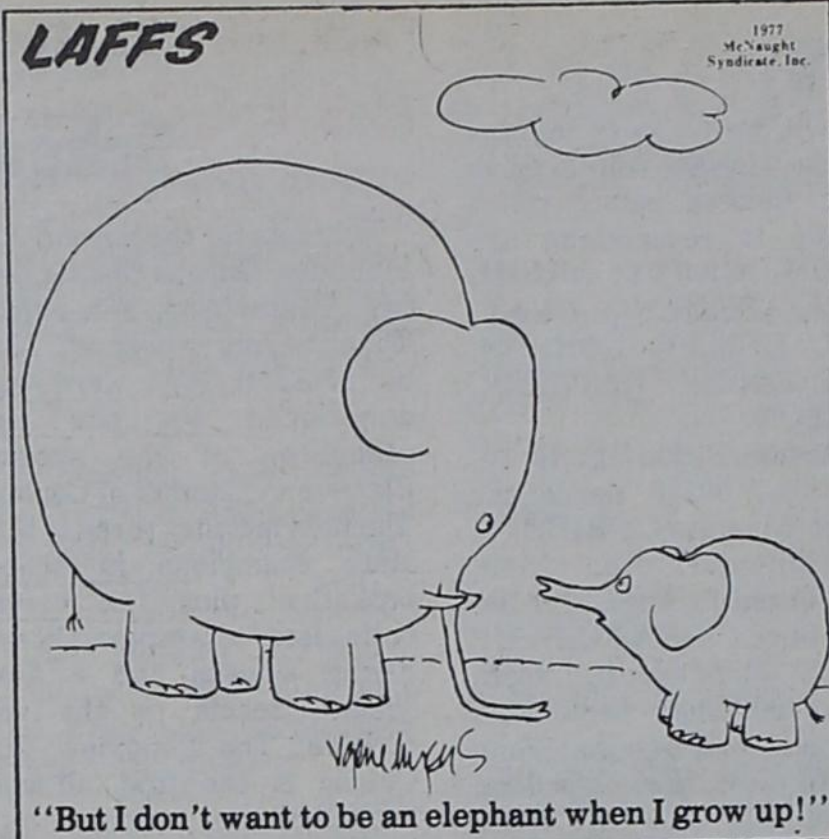

Dr. English remembers being called to the country—8 or 10 miles from Lubbock—to attend to a young boy stung by ants. Although he brought the child to town, there was no remedy. The bites proved fatal, and the memory lingers in Dr. English's mind.

He recalls another bad night. He, his wife and their two small children were together in the Model T when the car stuck in a sand bar.

They walked through a dust storm to a farm house about a mile distant only to find no one at home. They returned to the car, but the night was cold, and they decided to try again. This time the children were crying when a farm woman admitted them to her small home. Although they couldn't stay in the house, they did find some shelter, sleeping on cottonseeds in a shed room. When morning came, the farmer used his tractor to pull the doctor's car out of the sand bar.

The memory is still vivid as are other memories of what it was like to practice medicine in the early days of Lubbock County. Dr. English will share those memories Sunday with the public. There is no charge for the Gallery Talk.

Micro-Mini Tractor Pull Set

The South Plains Lions Club has arranged for a micro-mini tractor pull to be held in Lubbock on November 19th. This will be the first time such an event has been held in Lubbock. Five classes of tractors ranging from three to five pound superstock will compete for cash prizes and trophies beginning at 6 p.m. in the auditorium of O.L. Slaton Junior High School.

These tiny gasoline powered tractors have pulled over twenty-two times their own weight down the 16 foot track. This is a family oriented program for both spectators and participants. Contestants of all ages bring their finely tuned machines to test their ability against all others in the weight division.

The contest has been sanctioned by the Texas Micro-Mini Tractor Pull Association and will be run under its guidance and regulations.

Admission is $2.00 for adults, and $1.00 for children age 8 and over. Children under 8 years of age will be admitted free. The proceeds will be used by the South Plains Lions Club to support its youth activities.

KELLY'S HEROES

by Joe Kelly

Texas Tech took charge from the opening kickoff, rolled to a 6-0 lead and let the defense blunt the opposing attack. That's the way a good football team is supposed to act.

As it turned out, the offense continued to attack and, before the half arrived, the Red Raiders were well on their way to making a rout of the SMU contest. Indeed, a 35-7 lead at the half is a pretty good rout and Steve Sloan was able to play a lot of reserves.

Talking with Dr. Wallace Hess Sunday, he pointed out that SMU helped Tech with a lot of penalties, but "we would just as soon not have seen a lot of them. They were the kind on which you get injuries, and we did."

How bad are the injuries? Currently it looks as though four injuries will result in four less players being available for Houston Saturday. And that hurts.

It became obvious that the Raiders, for maybe the first time this season, were really blocking as a unit. They moved the ball consistently and rolled up their biggest yardage of the year.

Tech did it against a good team. The Mustangs present a real challenge to the defense with many sets and many options. The Raiders did their usual outstanding job on defense, effectively shutting down SMU until the game was well under control.

This week the co-champions of the conference clash in a top game in Houston. The Cougars are coming back strong after the loss of Danny Davis and it will take another great effort by Tech to win.

It might be that the Raiders will receive a bowl bid after the game, regardless of whether they win or lose. It probably won't be a so-called major bowl, since the Raiders probably will be no better than fourth in the conference.

Still, to paraphrase Gertrude Stein, a bowl is a bowl is a bowl, and the exposure helps any team. As indicated last week a lot of possibilities exist, but it still appears to be Texas and Notre Dame in "our" bowl in Dallas.

Alabama is headed for the Sugar Bowl and, once Bear Bryant decides which team he'd like to play, the others will fall into line. Bear, however won't influence Notre Dame.

Look at the bowls. After the biggies—Rose, Cotton, Sugar, Orange—there are the Gator, Bluebonnet, Sun, Fiesta, Liberty, Tangerine, Hall of Fame, Peach and maybe one or two I may have missed.

It takes two teams to fill each bowl, so that's a total of at least 22 teams that are needed. There may be that many teams of top quality right now, but only 20 teams are ranked each week. Thus, those teams, minus Kentucky and Colgate, should be assured of bowls.

Tech climbed back to 18th last week in AP, ought to move higher this week (this is being written on Sunday). That should be a big boost to the Raiders, who were observed by only the Tangerine Bowl against SMU (but the Tangerine had three men present).

The Rose Bowl is a closed corporation, with the Pac 8 winner playing the Big 10 winner. And Southern Cal's demise weakens the Trojans from going anywhere else, although the No. 2 Big 10 team might well be considered.

You have Oklahoma a cinch to go to the Orange Bowl, so five teams are set. Arkansas, possibly the No. 2 SWC team, might be opposite Alabama, with A&M going to the Bluebonnet. Penn State will be in a bowl without doubt, either Orange or Sugar, and Pitt is a possibility.

The Gator might well go with Florida or Florida State, to get home appeal, against maybe North Carolina. That would make it a regional bowl, not to be desired, so Tech might be a possibility there.

Nebraska and Iowa State also can lay claim to a bowl, with the Huskers popular because they always bring a large crowd with them. Clemson has to be figured, too, despite the loss to Notre Dame.

The Fiesta might go with the No. 2 Pac 8 team, for regional appeal, against a southern or southwest team. And don't forget the Sun, which has been coming up with good teams of late.

The possibilities are endless. Right now, though, Tech's main task is beating a good Houston team in the Astrodome and that will be no easy chore. The Cougars are coming back and played Texas a tight game.

In Alois Blackwell the Cougars have one of the best running backs in the nation. Delrick Brown is maturing at quarterback and the Houston line has been doing a good job. Once again Tech's defenses will be sorely tested.

The encouraging thing to Tech fans, though, is the way Rodney Allison is coming back. He makes the offense go and the offense against SMU left little to be desired.

It's probably the top game in the conference, with Texas getting Baylor, Arkansas facing SMU and A&M playing TCU. If the Raiders can defeat their conference co-champions, by 11 p.m. Saturday we might know what post season activity is in store. We might know anyway.

Services Held for Mrs. Bob Crump

Funeral services for Mrs. Bob Crump, 86, of 2507 52nd St. in Lubbock, were held at 10 a.m. Thursday in Second Baptist Church in Lubbock with the pastor, Dr. Hardy Clemons officiating, assisted by Dr. Dudley Strain of First Christian Church. Burial followed in the City of Lubbock Cemetery.

Mrs. Crump died Wednesday afternoon in a Lubbock doctor's office of an apparent heart attack.

Mrs. Crump was born on August 8, 1891 in Blanket, Texas, moving to Lubbock in the early 20's where she taught in Lubbock Public Schools. She met and married Bob Crump of Shallowater in December, 1931 in Blanket, Texas where Mrs. Crump was born. Crump moved his bride to the Crump homestead in Shallowater where they resided until approximately 11 years ago, when they moved to Lubbock to make their home at the above address. Mr. Crump died in 1972.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Novella Hart of Lubbock and Mrs. Mary Lou Koehler of Portland, Oregon, four grandchildren, one sister, Mrs. Ernestine Rogers of Midland and two brothers, Macon Richmond of Blanket, Texas and Bryan Richmond of Bongo.

Pallbearers were Tommy Bramlett, Horton Shipley, Walter Lupton, Walter Lupton Jr., R.W. Woodruff and John Shipp.

Study Club Meets

The Shallowater Study Club met at the Carriage House in Lubbock on Tuesday where they enjoyed a Thanksgiving luncheon.

Twenty three members, one new member, Mrs. George Rece, were present. Devotional was given by Mrs. Cecil DuLaney.

The hostess was Mrs. F.W. Farris.

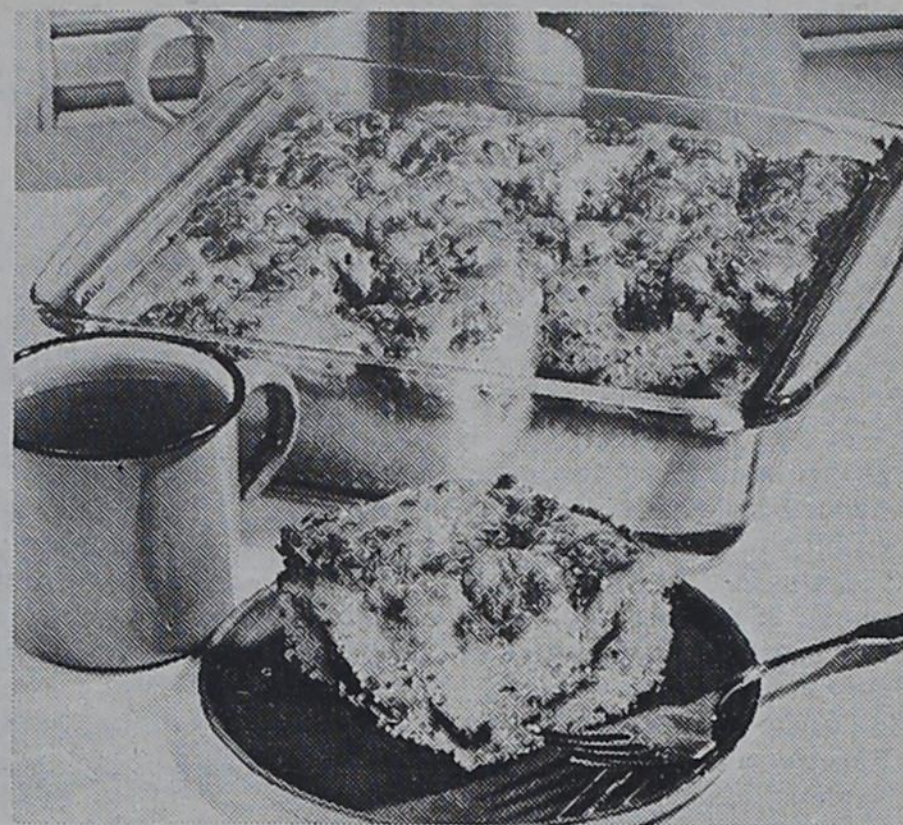

It took astronauts about three days to get to the moon; at that rate, it would take 878,000 years to reach the closest star, Proxima Centauri.

Thanksgiving Coffeecake

With Thanksgiving past and winter ahead, watch breakfast faces light up with the delicious aroma of Thanksgiving Coffeecake. Leftover cranberry sauce sparkles like rubies in the warm downy bed of cake.

Serve it fresh from the oven. Using enriched self-rising flour, it takes practically no time at all to make. Homemade coffee cake can be ready just as quickly as an "ordinary" breakfast. Convenience is built into every cup of self-rising flour, because the salt and baking powder are already added.

Goodness comes from every portion, because enriched self-rising flour contributes the B-vitamins — niacin, thiamin and riboflavin — plus the minerals, iron and calcium, to the cake.

Thanksgiving Coffeecake

- | | |
|------------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| 2 cups enriched self-rising flour* | 1 cup cranberry sauce |
| 1 cup sugar | 3 tablespoons enriched flour |
| 2 eggs, beaten | 1/3 cup brown sugar |
| 1 cup dairy sour cream | 1 teaspoon cinnamon |
| 1 teaspoon grated orange peel | 2 tablespoons softened butter |

Stir together 2 cups flour and sugar. Blend eggs, sour cream and orange peel; add all at once to flour mixture. Mix until smooth. Pour half the batter into a greased 9 x 9-inch baking pan. Spread cranberry sauce over batter; cover with remaining batter. Stir together 3 tablespoons flour, brown sugar and cinnamon. Cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Sprinkle over batter. Bake in preheated 350° F. oven 40 to 45 minutes or until golden brown.

*Spoon flour into dry measuring cup; level. Or follow directions on bag.

Signs Can Speak Louder Than Words In 4-H Public Speaking Program

CHICAGO—"One Little Indian" stands poised at the podium in an auditorium filled with people. She begins her speech, but doesn't say a word.

Margaret Salazar, an 18-year-old Isleta Indian, is giving her speech in Indian sign language. She is one of 1,200 young people who participate in the national 4-H public speaking program in the Southern Pueblos area of New Mexico.

When the Indian program began in 1971, Verneda Bayless, extension agent in Albuquerque, taught six little girls how to say the Lord's Prayer in Indian sign language. Now children in all ten pueblos of the Southern Pueblos Agency are researching topics, preparing visuals, and presenting programs for youth and adults in their local communities and across the state.

Margaret Salazar, now a teen leader of the Isleta Ranchito 4-H Club, gained self-confidence, acquired the ability to speak convincingly in public, and developed leadership skills and talents through the 4-H public speaking program. Because of her achievements, she was awarded a trip to National 4-H Congress in 1975.

Young people, like Margaret, enrolled in the public speaking program, are recognized for their accomplishments through awards sponsored by Union Oil Company of California. The company offers recognition for 4-H'ers at all levels of participation: six $800 scholarships nationally; all-expense paid trips to the 56th National 4-H 18-year-old Isleta Indian Margaret Salazar gives a speech in Indian sign language. Margaret's activities in the national 4-H public speaking program, conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service and supported by Union Oil Company of California, won her a trip to the 54th National 4-H Congress in Chicago. Other awards in the program include scholarships, U.S. Savings Bonds and medals of honor.

Congress in Chicago, Nov. 27-Dec. 1, for 24 sectional winners; two $50 U.S. Savings Bonds, one for the winning boy and one for the winning girl, per state; and four medals of honor in each county. Winners are chosen by the Cooperative Extension

by Jack Sheridan

I've got a confession to make. I stayed home by myself all this weekend, stepping aside from my usual movie catching on Saturday afternoons, just staying by myself, doing some work on my autobiography, doing chores and, for once, watching what the television tube has had to offer. And, believe it or not, it has been rich fare this weekend.

As I write this column I am also listening, watching "live" from Lincoln Square, New York City, the Metropolitan Opera's presentation of "Rigoletto." It brings new voices and tried and true voices in this favorite opera of melodrama and heartbreaking tragedy. Cornel McNeil is doing the hunchbacked jester, a little weak of voice it seems too, a superb lady, whose name I cannot seem to catch off the screen, who sings her Gilda as a lyric soprano and not in the used-to-it form of the coloratura of Roberta Peters and Lily Pons. Superb.

The Duke is Placido Domingo and he is a tenor of the highest rank. It is a superb performance and it proves the value of television and, especially, Public Television, for what I am watching is a "replay" of the live performance earlier this week. "Rigoletto" in my living room, what a joy! The Met will later this year, through PBS, bring us "Thais" and "Cavaleria Rusticana". That, in itself, is worth the pledge of support to KTXT-TV, Channel 5, to keep up this superb public service for the whole family.

Now, on the television kick, let me say that much of my seclusion weekend is being devoted to the Home Box Office service, which operates in Lubbock off of the Lubbock Cable-TV installation. When you can have "Inside the NFL," popular night club performance doing their "thing," and such not-so-old movies as the Academy Award winning "Network," "The Outlaw Josey Wales" and upcoming "The Sting," uncut and uninterrupted, then you've got it where it is.

Sometimes, even though I manage to hit most of them, I miss a film in its hardtop opening in this city, for one reason or another. I missed "Josey Wales" and I missed, for some forgotten reason, "The Sting" as well. Well, HBO will give them to me as it did another "miss-ee", "Taxi Driver" that hard-bitten, shocking film that moved into my living room last weekend.

There are foreign films, innovations on HBO that really make the investment worthwhile. And that goes for Lubbock Cable TV, too. There are programs that are not available to the public on the little screen through the local TV outlets. These can be realized through the additional outlets found in the cable service. I depend on cable, as I rely on Home Box Office. The cost is minimal, compared to regular box office prices at the local houses and I urge you to think about these advantages. You'll find they are most worthwhile, both of them, Cable TV and Home Box Office.

I postponed my attendance at the Lubbock Theatre Centre's "Life With Father" this past weekend, but I shall, and I hope you do, too, catch the repeat performance scheduled for this Friday and Saturday. I'll let you know next time around.

There is yet another couple of outings that I shall be mentioning next week, the Texas Tech University Theatre's production of "Elizabeth I," the "virgin queen" which opens Friday and runs through the 22nd. And the second concert of the Lubbock Symphony Orchestra which will have been given its two performance dates in the Civic Center Theater Monday and Tuesday before this can appear. The program that founding musical director-conductor William A. Harrod has arranged is a delightful one in anticipation and to be further anticipated is the appearance of the Russian-born pianist Alexander Teradze, who has just come up covered with roses as the winner of the recent Van Cliburn Piano Competition in Fort Worth.

Well, that about brings it up to date. Except for some comment on movies around town. My favorite and highly recommended choice for you is the revival, in stereophonic sound, of Walt Disney's unquestioned classic, "Fantasia." This is a MUST, if you have never seen and heard it or if you have and have forgotten the superb genius of Disney, Leopold Stokowski and the Philadelphia Orchestra, then run, don't walk, to the South Plains Cinema I-II at the South Plains Mall. The whole family. This is what is meant when people speak of "classic." It was, is and shall remain so.

At Showplace 4 they are unspooling an innocuous little comedy, lightweight, low budget film, "You Light Up My Life," which has gained attention mainly because the title song has soared to the top rank No. 1 on the charts. The song is what it's all about. The film is a shallow, mildly amusing little piece that can thank the tunesmiths for putting it into the public and box office consciousness.

Coming up Friday at the Fox 4 complex out on 19th Street is a film to be anticipated. "Bobby Deerfield" with marvelous Al Pacino and Marthe Keller (she was the lead in "Black Sunday" and "The Marathon Man") and on the heels of the week's television four-day marathon showing of "The Godfather" Parts I-II, Pacino is hot. I've always predicted that Pacino, a sensitive, knowledgeable actor, will win his Oscar one of these days, given the right time, place and role and I stand on it. I wait for "Bobby Deerfield."

If "Mr. Billion" is still holding forth at Showplace 4, and you want a laugh, go see it. It's a silly little film but it has its moments, enhanced by a cast including Terrence Hill, Valerie Perrine, Jackie Gleason, Slim Pickens, William Redfield, our own Chill Wills and others. It's a lightweight comedy, chase and all, but fun, I think.

"A Piece of the Action," with Sidney Poitier and Bill Cosby is fun, a followup to their successful two films before, a little message, laughs. It is at the Fox 4 complex. Last week, so get there if you want to catch it.

Not much to say for "Damnation Alley." It's a preposterous story of what happens after the nuclear holocaust and a band of hardy souls trying to reach the only untouched area, of all places, Albany, New York. You see this one at your own risk! I'd go for Home Box Office, if I were you.

The average population density of the Amazon River Basin is only about two people per square mile.

Extension Update

Home Safe Home
 Is your home really safe? Most people view their homes as a haven from hazards of the outside world. However, more people are injured at home than anywhere else. They fall, get burned, asphyxiated, poisoned, shot, electrocuted, and bruised.

To reduce the risk of home accidents, follow these precautions:

- Learn proper use and care of household appliances and equipment.

- Maintain heating and electrical systems to prevent fire and shock hazards.

- Arrange furnishings to permit easy, unimpeded movement from room to room.

- Provide ample storage space to help keep things out of the way when not in use.

- Keep stairs and traffic ways free of tripping hazards.

- For climbing, use a sturdy step stool or stepladder rather than chairs or other makeshift steps.

- Wipe up spills immediately and wear shoes that give good support and traction.

- Avoid dangling clothing near stoves, heaters, and machinery.

- Make a special effort to protect small children and the elderly or handicapped from all home hazards.

Spot on Senior

by Ruben Gomez

This week, our spotlight shines on that great senior named Tony Heinen. Mrs. Norma Heinen is Tony's mother, and believe me, he is the sunshine of her life. He came to her on May 19, 1960 which makes him a Taurus.

Tony tell us that his favorite subject is Ag. Mechanics because he can learn how to work with metals and woods using the right tools.

Tony likes many things, from repairing his house to snow skiing and watching girls play basketball.

His hobbies are hunting, fishing, woodworking, and playing the banjo—at which he tries to be good.

The Student Council is proud to have Tony as their President, and he is also President of the Mustang Band. He has also been on the honor roll his freshman, sophomore, and junior years, but, I wonder if he will make it his Senior year?

Knowing everything because he is a senior, and trying to break his Senior ring on some Freshman's head, is Tony's biggest enjoyment this year.

After graduation, this Heinen plans to go to college and major in clock and bell repair. Maybe after he does this, he can come back to Shallowater High and fix the bells that don't work. His real ambition is to be a farmer. When we asked him for a comment on his Senior year, he said, "I can't wait to get out of this prison."

Bufs Trample The Mustangs

by Robin Truelock

Last Friday night the Mustangs met the Stanton Buffaloes for their final game. The boys went out fighting, but didn't put it all together. The final score was Stanton 48, Shallowater 6.

Billy Glenn made the six points for the Mustangs and the extra points failed. Stanton had 12 first downs to the Mustang's 8. Total offense, Stanton had 225 and Shallowater had 171.

Billy Glenn was leading ground gainer and Rod Warren was leading tackle.

Coach Wolski was proud that the injured came back into the game ready to play.

Ponies End Bufs Perfect Record

by Terri Stanton

Nov. 10 Stanton came to Shallowater undefeated, but they left defeated by the Mighty Ponies 8 to 6. Kevin Taylor ran in for the touchdown and also scored the two extra points. The Ponies played an excellent game and they should really be proud of their successful season. Coach Welch should also be congratulated on coaching the Ponies to a fine season.

The 8th grade didn't have such a great night. They were beaten 48 to 0.

We appreciate all the boys on the Junior High teams.

Season Ends

by Melissa Epperson

This story marks the close of the football season, the football spotlight series, and the end of a high school football career for some people. These people are the Seniors.

With the sound of the final gun of the Stanton game another era has ended. The Senior players will never play in a high school football game again.

This week we'd like to honor these players.

Senior Spotlight

by Melissa Epperson

Shelly Adams, whose hobby is running into the back of cars, is our Senior Spotlight for this week. Shelly is the daughter of two proud parents, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Adams and was born on June 27. Her parents should be proud of her because she is presently cheerleader, and was both Football and Homecoming Queen candidates. She is a member of the band, FHA, and Pep Squad, she is also the 3rd vice-president in FHA.

Shelly also enjoys working at the Whistle Stop Bar-B-Que and loves hooking rugs. Home and Family Living is her favorite class because she enjoys cooking.

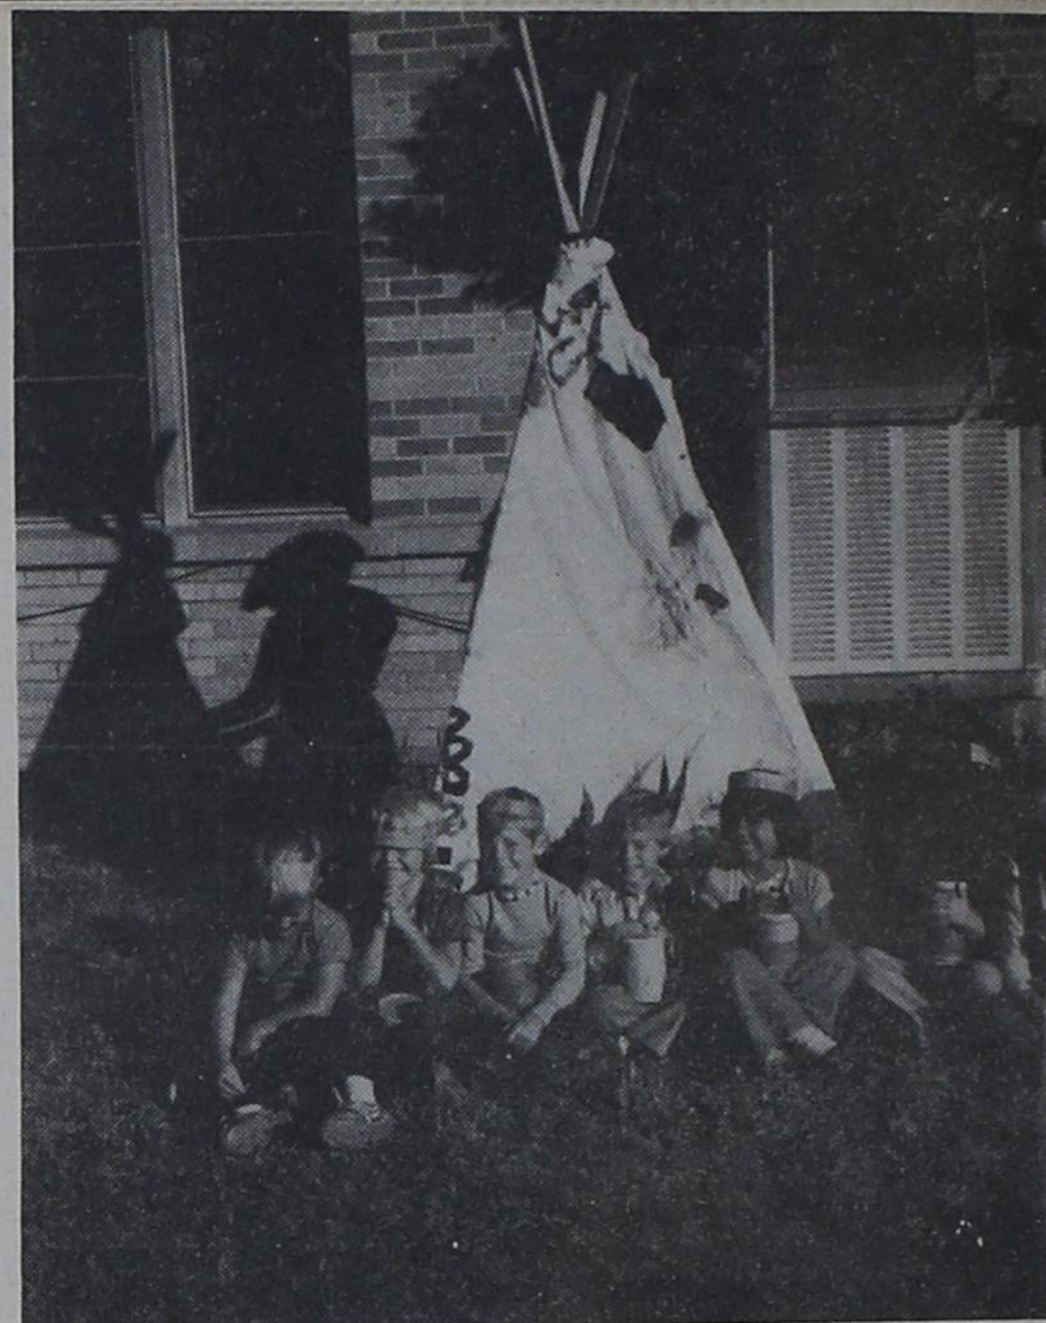

She enjoys her Senior year most because she doesn't have to study hard and she's taking classes that she enjoys.

Shelly plans to work after graduation as a salesperson in either a plant shop or in a clothes store.

Shelly's comment about the Senior year was, "I'm looking forward to the end of school when we start having banquets," (so she can take her favorite thing along with her, Russell Martin.) Good Luck in your career choice.

The ice cream sundae is said to have originated about 1897 in the Red Cross Pharmacy, in Ithaca, N.Y.

INDIANS, INDIANS—Mrs. Bates' kindergarten classes are studying Thanksgiving. In studying this, they went back to the roots of Thanksgiving which took them to the Indians. They studied the different tribes of Indians from the different parts of the country. They studied the Pueblo, Woodland, Northwest, Navajo, and Plains tribes by making Indian headresses, drums and a big teepee so they could go in and see what it was like inside. They also made bead necklaces. To study the Eskimos, they made igloos out of sugar cubes.

Next, they studied the Pilgrims. They made hats and bonnets and read about the Pilgrims coming to America. The students are also going to read about how the Indians helped the Pilgrims farm, and about the first Thanksgiving.

Bufs Stampede J.V. Successful Chili Supper

by Cindy Jackson

The J.V. played their final game of the season. Luck didn't roll our way; the Bufs stampeded ahead to win 56-8.

The last score of the season was scored by a bomb, thrown by Steve Oakley to Huey Wooten.

We want to give a special thanks to everyone on the J.V. team. They had a great season. We might not of won all the games but our team won't be forgotten. They hit hard and had determination that was unmeasurable.

We would just like to say we are proud of everyone on the team.

by Donna Evans

Last Friday night the FHA had a successful Chili Supper. They had around 150 people to attend the supper.

The revenue from the supper was to help pay for part of the Sweetheart Banquet that will be held in February for all FHA members.

The FHA members appreciate all the people that attended and for their support. A special thanks to Mrs. Lillie Byers for her great help during the supper.
