

Blood Drive Scheduled in Shallowater's First Baptist Church November 22nd Donating Blood is Gift of Life

Until recent times, the sight of blood or loss of blood has been associated with tragedy and death. Now in the light of modern knowledge, the traditional attitude has disappeared and this magic fluid is considered an instrument for saving human life.

Blood is the magic gift of life; there is no substitute for it. Scientists don't know how to make blood; it does not come in packages at the drugstore like soft drinks and aspirins. When people need blood, they depend on other people for it; they have to depend on people like you.

Giving blood is usually easy. In fact, giving blood is good for a healthy person; it stimulates a healthy person's bone marrow to produce more red cells. Sure, there is something about the idea of giving blood that causes the inexperienced donor's stomach to flutter; imaginary butterflies may reside in one at the initial encounter. It really is quite a simple procedure, and it gives you a good feeling to know you are helping.

The Blood Drive Committee is encouraging more persons to try to give. More and more volunteers are needed because state and federal regulations are making it more difficult for commercial donor's to sell their blood. Too often, the commercial donor's blood is diseased. It appears that eventually these donations will be banned altogether. Yet, the blood needs are increasing as more and more persons have heart surgery, other types of surgery, and medical problems requiring transfusions of whole blood or its components. Hopefully, more people in our country will become aware of our Blood Program, become interested in it, and desire to support it in whatever way possible. Give if you can, and if you can, it will be much easier to ask another to give.

The Blood Services Unit will be in Shallowater at the Fellowship Hall of First Baptist Church, Friday, November 22, 5:00 to 8:00 p.m.

M D to Conduct House to House Campaign in Shallowater November 18th

The Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc. will be conducting their annual house to house appeal for funds in Shallowater on Monday, November 18th.

Hundreds of thousands of volunteer marchers will join in on a combined effort to raise the money needed to support critical research and patient service programs.

Dystrophy, a tragic disease for which there is as yet no known cure, means an early death for its victims, two thirds of them children. Your help can bring the precious gift of hope, and perhaps even life itself, to these youngsters.

Join in with other Shallowater residents to support this campaign and help MDAA bring the much needed comfort to those less fortunate.

Cotton Harvest Slowly Gaining Momentum on South Plains of Texas

The South Plains cotton harvest slowly gained momentum during the past week as stripping and picking operations increased, according to Paul R. Dickson in charge of the USDA's Cotton Classing Office in Lubbock. "Harvest of the current crop is at least two weeks later than normal due to the unusual amount of moisture in October", he added.

The USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service reported 751 samples of cotton had been classed through Friday, November 8th.

On this same date last season the total was 174,000.

"Quality of this early cotton varied widely depending on conditions of the fields at time of harvest", Dickson said. The predominant grades so far are 41, 51 and 42. Grade 42 was assigned to 28 percent while Grade 41 was assigned to 24 percent.

Predominant Staples were 31 and 32, each amounting to 20 percent of the samples classed this week. Forty-six percent of the

Shallowater Board of Education Report

The board of trustees of the Shallowater Independent School District met in regular meeting November 11, 1974. Board members present were Jay Stanton, president; Donald Martin, secretary; Melvin Stewart, Newman Lusk, Bob Grice, Walter Hutton, and Butch Pair.

The Board finalized the purchase of 6.35 acres for an agriculture farm from C.C. Vance. The farm is located one mile east of the school.

The school will be accepting bids on three acres of land situated where the Negro school was located, west end of 12th Street. The bids to be opened November 25, 1974 with the Board reserving the right to refuse all bids.

The Board also approved the installation of a PBX communication system. This will most likely be installed within the next month.

At the meeting Monday, the board approved and amended several school policies.

They approved the Sick Leave Policy as submitted by CTA with the exception of Paragraph No. 6 to read as follows:

Also, regularly employed full time professional personnel are allowed two (2) days additional leave to the above for sickness or for personal reasons without salary deductions of any kind. These absences, if charged against personal leave, are to be approved (in advance, if possible) by the employees immediate supervisor. These two days may accumulate up to a maximum of ten (10) days, but they are not transferrable to another school district. The unused balance of these sick or personal leave days will be reduced to zero (0) upon continuous absence from teaching in the Shallowater Schools for more than one (1) contract year.

The Board approved the leave of absence policy, maternity leave policy, and jury duty policy.

The Board approved to amend policy No. 4.26 - Inspection of Student Files:

Current policy of the Shallowater Independent School District allows inspection of permanent records of students. The inspection of the permanent records of a student may be requested by the parent of that student. The request should be made to the building principal.

Also, students who are 18 years of age may request to see their permanent records through their principal.

The Board approved to amend policy No. 3.11 - Substitute Teachers Pay as follows:

The rate of pay for substitute teachers is set at $17.50 a day. When a substitute teacher has worked continuously in the same position for five days, on the sixth day, the rate of pay will be increased to $20. The $20 rate will then apply so long as the substitute stays in the same position continuously. If the substitute has a justified absence during this continuous service, the $20 per day will continue to be paid upon their return to the same position before the regular teacher returns. The increase rate of pay for substitutes who stay in one position for more than five days is justified by the responsibility for grading papers, making reports, and other duties normally taken care of by the regular teacher.

The Board approved to amend policy No. 5.20 - School Trips - for school sponsored trips not to exceed 150 miles.

Tech's Carol of Lights Set for December 6th

The traditional Carol of Lights program at Texas Tech University, heralding the Christmas - New Year's holiday season, will be presented Dec. 6 in the Science Quadrangle.

Dr. Grover E. Murray, president of Texas Tech, will preside over the program. Barry Wood of First Baptist Church will lead the invocation.

The Texas Tech Choir and the Oakwood Baptist Bell choir will be among the performing groups; and Dr. Gene Hemmle, former chairman of the Department of Music at Texas Tech, will lead community singing of carols. Other participating groups will be announced later.

The program concludes with the throwing of a switch which turns on 28,000 red, yellow and white electric lights on 50,000 feet of wire strung on 10 buildings in the center of the university campus.

The entire program, which will begin at 7 p.m., is open to the public. Residents and visitors of the area are invited to tour the campus to see the display. Thousands of West Texans and eastern New Mexicans drive to Lubbock yearly to view the spectacle.

Following the formal Carol of Lights program, the lights will be lit from dusk until midnight from Dec. 6 through Jan. 2. Until last year, when energy conservation measures reduced the hours of illumination, the lights burned all night during the period. The cutback will remain in effect this year.

SPORTS

by Joe Kelly

This is, without a doubt, the screwiest, most mixed up, craziest, zaniest, ever-loving football season I've ever seen. You could make a fortune just betting upsets.

A week ago Tech's chances for a conference title and a Cotton Bowl berth were as dark as the murky, misty skies on the South Plains. Today, those hopes have been resurrected and the Raiders are back in the thick of things—with two league losses.

The road ahead is rocky. Beating Baylor in Waco this week is a major chore. Adding Arkansas next week in Lubbock will be little easier. But the Raiders MUST win both games to have a chance.

If Tech beats Baylor, then the Bears would have two losses, also. Let's assume that Texas beats TCU, as it should, and A&M beats Rice, as it should. That would leave the Aggies in first place at 5-1, put Tech and Texas at 4-2, all with one game left.

Let's assume, also, that Baylor beats SMU Nov. 23 to stay in the race, with only Rice left. That would put all the marbles on the Nov. 28 game between UT and A&M—at Austin, an Aggie nemesis.

All of this conjecture is interesting and might not prove a thing, but if it follows the above script—and don't bet on it—and Texas beats A&M, Tech would be in the Cotton Bowl. Sounds simple, doesn't it? It wouldn't touch it with a 10-foot pole, but it's possible.

As a matter of fact, most people I've heard talk are convinced that the Horns will beat the Aggies, so it really is up to the Raiders. If Tech beats Baylor, it will have beaten the Bears and Horns, lost to A&M, and SMU can be disregarded since it can't go to a bowl.

In the process, for the first time in history the conference title will have been won by a team with two losses. It speaks well for the way talent has been distributed and the evenness of the race.

For much of the first half, yawns were more prevalent than cheers Saturday. It was a standoff punting duel, with neither team doing anything to fight off the sleep of the Homecoming fans.

Then Don Roberts appeared and sparked the Raiders to a 7-0 halftime lead, that looked tenuously safe. TCU had not been a threat at all, but the Horned Frogs had come on strong the second half in their last two or three games. The victory wasn't assured.

The Raiders—not given a pep talk by Jim Carlen at the half, or so he said—came out more fired up for the last half. They controlled action, staying on the ground, and rolled over TCU.

The shut out was pleasing, the first in 35 games. Incidentally, Tech hasn't been shut out since Arkansas did it the week after the Raiders blanked the Bears in 1971, 34 games. Indeed, TCU crossed midfield only three times Saturday and never really threatened.

Once again the defense played an outstanding game, intercepting four passes and recovering a fumble. Meanwhile, the Raiders had only one turnover, a first half fumble.

One interesting note, Tech converted only one of 11 third down situations Saturday, while TCU converted 6 of 18. Carlen could have cared less, and so indicated at his postgame interview. That interview was not like the usual one, with TV cameras, high officials, women and a Peach Bowl official present.

After the bowl bid presentation and other hoopla was over, Carlen answered questions. It was the most informal conference he's held and he was far more relaxed, with general give and take apparent.

Indeed, Miller Bonner more or less set the tone when he remarked that "two weeks after you went to the Peach Bowl with West Virginia, you took another coaching job. Where are you going this time?"

Carlen smirked at Bonner, gave a flip reply and the give and take was on, with Eddie Clinton getting in some licks, too.

Nothing like a victory, is there?

Did Muhammed Ali call, and talk, with Howard Cosell in the ABC football booth, or was it a clever Canadian mimic? The Ontarian claims he made the call, talked with Cosell—and the resulting laugh was heard, and enjoyed, around the world.

The only one who didn't think it was funny was, of all people, Cosell. Big Mouth had only one comment. "He ought to be put in jail," or something like that. Jail? He ought to get a medal!

If you haven't been listening to the Art Turf show on KFYO radio, you've been missing the funniest show this side of All in the Family or Sanford & Son.

When I first heard it, I shook my head and said to myself, now what in heck would KFYO want to put a corny show like that on the air. Then, since I didn't have much of anything better to listen to as I drove, I started listening more closely to it.

The show is hilarious, and the longer you listen, the more you start to put coaches, writers, radio men and others into the script. Schools like UFO (University of Florida at Okeechobee), DUD, well, you get the idea, are featured opponents.

Inept Tech, Coach Turf's school, finally scored a safety a week ago. Those were the first points scored in years. And the names of the players really grab you. If you aren't tuning in, you ought to be.

Rays of Hope

by Pat Stanton

This past weekend was most enjoyable! I had the privilege of visiting my parents, Rev. and Mrs. J.T. Campbell, in Denver, Colorado.

I attended the 10th year anniversary celebration of my mother and dad's ministry in the First Southern Baptist Church of Northglenn.

My sister, Mrs. B.R. Nail, of Atlanta, Georgia, was also visiting and we all had a great family time together.

My dad's ministry in this church has been most effective, as he has seen over 1100 people join as members. Out of this number, 400 of these came as new converts and received water baptism. This church ranked 5th this past year in the Denver Baptist Association in the total number of baptisms (61).

The church family is made up of families from varied walks of occupation and culture. There is a great warmth of Christian love and fellowship. This was expressed to my parents as the church presented them with a beautiful dining room table and chairs.

I had a wonderful time on Saturday night as I spoke to a young people's prayer and praise rally. This was held in one of the local schools and young people from many different backgrounds came and participated. Many of these young people were new converts to the Christian faith and had come from a life of drugs and heartache.

The whole weekend was a beautiful experience of God's love and peace.

Youths Learn "Art" of Breadmaking in 4-H

Nothing is more satisfying than the aroma of a freshly baked loaf of bread, or basket of rolls, or of pasteries. Over 715,000 boys and girls receive that satisfaction when they prepare tasty, delicious bread dishes as part of their activities in the national 4-H bread program.

Sponsored by Standard Brands Incorporated, these youthful bakers create tasty, nutritious bread dishes that excite their family, friends and neighbors. The youths know that bread is an important part of the 4-4-3-2 daily formula for good nutrition—four servings of bread and cereal, four of fruits and vegetables, three of milk and two of meat.

Supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service, 4-H'ers in the bread program give demonstrations on breadmaking to other youths and adults in their community. They are also eligible for awards provided by Standard Brands. The company offers up to four medals of honor for county winners and an expense-paid trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Dec. 1-5 for a top winner in each state.

At the annual 4-H event, six national winners will be announced with each receiving $700 educational scholarships, courtesy of the company.

One such national winner, last year, was reluctant to enter the program. Ann Gurney of Cheshire, Mass. was astounded when her mother first suggested she enroll in the 4-H bread program. "Breadbaking, I thought, was something people did in the old days", said the 18-year-old Miss.

"But", she added, "I decided to give it a try".

Some nine years later, Miss Gurney points to more than 150 blue ribbons for bread and other foods exhibits. Last year, alone, she prepared more than 200 yeast bread products. She has given numerous bread demonstrations and headed the food department of the Berkshire County 4-H Fair.

Across the country in Wyoming, Nalene Robinson, 18, of Bedford, has been baking foreign breads using recipes handed down by her grandmother. She also has found bread and other baked foods an appreciated gift by friends, neighbors and shut-ins, especially at holiday time.

For more information on the 4-H bread program contact the local county extension service office.

J.V. Lineup

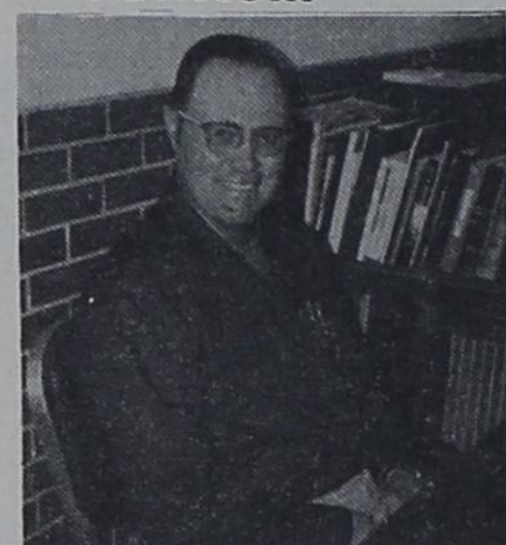

by Charles Krebbs

The Mustangs' JV backfield is full of talent this year. The quarterback is Jesse Longoria who is a good passer and fine runner. Jesse is a freshman this year with a bright future as quarterback. At left half is Chet Webb, a junior. Chet has good moves and speed. He also has plenty of fire and enthusiasm.

Billy Glenn is a freshman and is the fullback. Billy's blocking and running is a great asset to the team. Frank Cuevas is the right half. Frank has good speed and moves to match.

These guys deserve a lot of credit because they have done a magnificent job this year. Keep up the good work. Their season record is 7-2.

Pony Football

by Andy Blackmon

The 7th and 8th grades were combined to play Anton Thursday night and came up the winners with a 38-20 score.

The scores were made by Pete Alvarado, Steve Waller, Dale Holleman, Tim Sinclair, and Andy Blackmon. The backs were running real good and the line was doing a fine job of opening the holes. One exciting play was a 55 yard run by David Coker on a tackle sweep but was called back on a clipping call.

Theme of the Week Series:

In Thanksgiving For Our Blessing

Shakespeare didn't know anything about Thanksgiving, but what he said was very fitting: "O Lord that lends me life; lend me a heart replete with thankfulness."

In 1620 the Pilgrims dropped anchor in what is now the harbor of Provincetown. In only one year, this is what they had to be thankful for: survival (54 out of 102), peace with Indians (temporary) and plenty to eat (mostly corn). However, replete with thankfulness, they prepared to feast after fasting, and invited Massasoit to join them. He did, and brought 89 braves along. The Indians, realizing there wasn't enough food for all, went out and killed five deer, presented them to the Governor and the feast continued. Colonists and Indians ate, drank, and were merry for three days.

Since that time, Thanksgiving has had quite a history. It has been celebrated in February, April, and May as well as November, and it wasn't a national holiday until 1863. President Lincoln proclaimed the last Thursday in November as a national holiday. Two years later, Andrew Johnson forgot to proclaim it in time.

In 1939, 1940 and 1941 there were two Thanksgivings. Now, by a resolution of Congress, Thanksgiving has at least been definitely established as the fourth Thursday in November.

make this library LOOK like a library AGAIN.

After most of the hard work coming from Mrs. Meeks, and a few helping hands, the library is back to normal again, but with quite a bit of changes.

This library will be shared by both Elementary and Junior High students for their convenience. We encourage the students to benefit from this library, but also to take care of everything that is used. Remember: There are other students following in your footsteps, ready to use what you have used, and they want to be able to use a book that was left in good condition.

J.V. News

by Chet Webb

On November 7th, Shallowater JV Met the Sudan Hornets for an easy battle.

The first quarter started out with both teams showing their offensive strength. Later in the quarter Frank Cuevas ran from the 23 yard line for 6 points. However, the conversion failed. The second quarter was almost like the first and with the closing minutes of the half, Billy Glenn ran 42 yards for a score which made it 12 to 0. With 2 minutes and 48 seconds showing on the clock, the Hornets fumbled on the Shallowater 37 yard line. The JV managed to push the ball to the 45 yard line. On a sweep, Chet Webb scored from the 40 yard line. For the conversion, Jessie Longoria connected David Montieth for the extra points. At halftime the Mustangs were leading 20 to 0.

In the 3rd quarter, the Mustangs started out with another touchdown that was made by Billy Glenn. Late in the 3rd quarter the Mustangs got the ball and stampeeded down the field for a touchdown. This TD was made by Joe Valdez. The conversion was made by Chet Webb. Late in the 4th quarter, Chet Webb scored again. Billy Glenn made the extra points which made the score 40 to 0. Next week, the JV will take on the Stanton Buffalos.

Library to Be Shared

by Janie Serna

More shelves, a set of new encyclopedias, and some new books are some of the new ingredients in the library that is stationed in the Junior High building.

While "the big move" was taking place outside the door of this library, hard work was being done in order to accomplish some things. Putting call numbers on new books, rearranging books, and the moving of shelves were some of the things being done to
