Proper Harvesting Technique Will Help Reduce Barky Cotton Grading

As if summer drought, a wet fall, disease, hail and low prices were not enough, some cotton producers now may have to face the prospects of reduced grades and possibly even yield due to "barky" cotton.

The strange condition is the result of prolonged periods of wet, humid conditions during the latter part of the season, says Dr. Robert B. Metzger, Cotton Specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Cotton plants that were killed by desiccants, verticillium wilt or other diseases prior to the prolonged wet spell now have deteriorated to the point that limbs and stalks break off during stripping, he explains. Strips of bark are peeled from these broken sticks and limbs in harvesting and ginning operations.

The former Lubbock based specialist who now serves the state from Extension headquarters at College Station says that barky cotton will be reduced by delaying stripping until the cotton plant has time to dry out.

"With green stalks, it is difficult to remove the bolls from the plant, requiring close setting of the stripper rolls to get the cotton," he adds. "Under these conditions, considerably more barky bales can be expected.

"Under dry, open weather conditions, stripping will improve each day. Grade, whiteness of the cotton, also will improve with open weather. But, excessive delay of harvest will result in deteriorated plants, and thus bark, loss in grade and even yield can be expected," he says.

"Only dry cotton should be harvested," Metzger advises. "This is essential in maintaining lint quality, whether it's ginned immediately or placed in storage."

Magazine Sales to Benefit Texas 4 - H Center

4 - H members across the state are undertaking a magazine sales campaign to meet financial goals set by each county for the new Texas 4 - H Center at Lake Brownwood.

4 - H boys and girls will be participating in the Reader's Digest magazine sales program arranged through the Texas 4 - H Youth Development Foundation. Some 240 different magazines will be offered at low subscription rates.

The sales program will run for some 60 days and is designed to raise about $400,000 for the completion of the $1.4 million 4 - H Center. The Center is being built on a 78 acre site on Lake Brownwood and is about 80 per cent complete. It is scheduled to open its doors in early 1975.

The magazine sales program will provide an opportunity for all Texans to contribute to the new Center and to secure or renew magazine subscriptions at the lowest possible rates. The Center will serve as a headquarters for 4 - H leadership training programs.

The new Center will be an excellent training site for Texas 4 - H youth which now total more than 241,000. The 4 - H program continues to show phenomenal growth with an increase in enrollment of almost 96,000 during the past year. With this continued growth, the new Center will play an important role in providing viable programs for the youth of Texas.

All Texans are urged to support this drive to complete the Center.

Texas Employment Commission Seeks Occupational Data

In a time when government and private sources spend billions of dollars for educational and occupational training, the Texas Employment Commission has launched a data gathering effort which will have practical application.

TEC, with the assistance of

Lubbock's TEL-MED Program Termed "Success" Following Month's Operation

The Lubbock TEL - MED program has been a great success in its first month of operation. The library of taped health and medical information began operation October 1 and, in 27 days of operation, played 11,942 tapes for callers.

Of the total number of calls received, 3399 (29%) were from males, 6842 (57%) were from females and 1701 (14%) were from children. The number of calls per day for the first month averaged 442 and the highest number of employers, is gathering data which will permit accurate projections of the future worker skill requirements of Texas industries, and permit a study of the occupational composition of industries in this state.

Called the Occupational Employment Statistics program, it has the sanction of the Governor's Office, the Texas Education Agency and all concerned groups involved in the development and expansion of human resources.

"This project", says TEC Chairman and Executive Director Harold K. Dudley, "will assist both public and private educational and training programs, including vocational training, to become responsive to the manpower needs of industry."

The Commission, cooperating with the U.S. Department of Labor, is asking a sample of Texas employers for statistical information about their work force. The information, to be held confidential, will yield valuable data which decision makers can use to assure the proper design and funding of training programs.

TEC's Manpower Data Analysis and Research Department, directed by Horace N. Goodson, is conducting the data gathering effort.

Employers selected at random intervals.

The OES program is designed to:

- Provide accurate profiles of occupational resources by industry, and trends in the number of workers employed by occupation.

- Identify the areas where people with various skills are located.

- Help determine future worker requirements by industry and occupation.

- Identify emerging and disappearing occupations.

The data thus gathered will be essential in planning and developing educational training programs which will more closely provide persons with the skills that are needed by Texas employers.

Long range occupational demand projections may also be made from this data.

Skill levels by industry will be available so that a firm may compare its own occupational profile with that of the industry of which it is a part. No individual firm data will be available.

The OES program will collect data on different industrial segments of the Texas labor force over a three year cycle. Some 5,500 questionnaires were mailed for the first sample.

calls received in any one day was 600.

The most requested subject areas in the first month included cancer, heart, birth control, women, pregnancy, venereal disease, drug abuse, children and skin disorders.

The ten most requested tapes (in order) were: Masturbation, Vasectomy, Am I Really Pregnant?, breast cancer, venereal disease, LSD, I'm Just Tired Doctor, Marijuana, diaphragm, foam and condom, and The Woman Living Alone. These ten subjects accounted for approximately 27 per cent of all tapes requested.

Also, eight other high interest tapes accounted for an additional 10 per cent of the total calls. These were: The Rhythm Method, Vaginitis, Fears of the After Forty Man, The Pill, Gonorrhea, Low Blood Sugar, Advice for Parents of Teenagers, and Syphilis.

According to TEL - MED officials, the major problem experienced with the TEL - MED program in its initial operating period has come as a result of its popularity. With only six telephone lines currently operational, many callers have found that it takes several attempts before they can get through to the TEL - MED operator.

In addition, TEL - MED is in need of extra volunteers to serve as operators and handle requests for tapes. Persons interested in serving as TEL - MED volunteers should contact the West Texas Health System, Inc. office.

It's Beginning to Look A Lot Like Christmas

by Caran Conner

With the Thanksgiving holidays over, everyone's thoughts are now turned toward Christmas. Trees going up, with families decorating the tree and house. Going down the street and seeing all the houses lit up with Christmas lights.

But with all the hustle and bustle of getting things bought, made, and together, going to all the different parties and all of these things, we seem to forget what Christmas is all about.

When you start getting frustrated in the midst of all your buying, just stop a minute and think of a small babe in a manger, in the town of Bethlehem, on a quiet night. When thinking of this night, you should have a warm

SPORTS

by Joe Kelly

All hail the new Southwest Conference champions, the Baylor Bears! I take my hat off to Grant Teaff, his staff, and his players, for making the impossible dream come true.

Baylor, champions of the conference for the first time in 50 years. Doesn't seem possible, does it? And yet this group of dedicated young men turned the trick that possibly better Baylor teams were not able to accomplish. Congratulations!

Baylor will be a good opponent for Penn State in the Cotton Bowl. The Bears may not be as big and strong as the Nittany Lions, but they have as much fight, if not more.

And they have a versatile attack that should be troublesome. Along with thousands of others, I watched the Lions demolish Pitt Thursday night last. Penn State has a solid team, one that runs and passes well, with a good defense. It should be a good game.

The basketball season has opened for Tech and Coach Gerald Myers has been elevated to the role of favorite. At first blush, that seems a little high for the Red Raiders.

I haven't seen the Raiders work out, but Gerald was wearing a smile, even after the practice season had begun. Indeed he wore the smile through the Arkansas game. That's late, and it must mean something. He even went so far once as to say that things couldn't be better.

The Raiders face a rugged schedule. The opener wasn't against a power, but it was one of the light spots on a slate of games that takes Tech against some of the best.

If the squad can get through the non-conference battles in good shape, they should learn a lot and be in a good position to make a run at the title. The Raiders had a good season last campaign out and should be hungry for a title this season.

Despite the loss of Ira Terrell, SMU will have a good team, as the Ponies always do. The Aggies are consistently strong, too, and could win all the marbles.

Arkansas, with a new coach and new material, is a darkhorse. Baylor should be strong and the football record won't hurt the cage squad. Rice has a new coach and also is in the darkhorse category, while TCU just doesn't seem to measure up. Texas once again should be strong.

The college football season ended about the way it started, when Arkansas shocked Southern Cal. Saturday, it was Southern Cal's turn. To put it mildly, they shocked Notre Dame.

I was prepared for a titanic struggle, instead, the Irish started out like gangbusters and it seemed to be over at the half. Then here came the Trojans and the last half was a rout. Southern Cal looked impressive and even Woody Hayes was subdued.

Friday I made a call just as the National Anthem was being played over radio. I apologized to the gentleman who opened the door, told him why I was there and he ushered me in.

He remarked that the game must be about to start and I allowed as to how it was. I hope, he said, you don't mind if I turn it on. I replied that I hoped he wouldn't be insulted if I said I'd be unhappy if he didn't.

And so we sat down to talk business. I sneaked a peek just at the kickoff and I noticed that he peeked a minute or two later. We both gaped when Texas scored.

I had hardly gone back to my presentation when I peeked again, apparently at the same time he did. "Not another touchdown!" he exclaimed. I agreed that indeed, it was. And a few minutes later, after the field goal, I got up and left.

Now the Aggies know how Texas felt after the Raiders stung them, 26-3 in the first half, except that Tech won the Texas game on offense and the Aggies lost it on mistakes.

I wasn't surprised that Texas won. I was surprised at the ease and the atrocious playing of the Aggies, both. I thought it would be a close, hard fought game. Instead, it was all over in the first five minutes, for all practical purposes.

And so the Aggies are left with a basket that doesn't have an egg in it. A month ago the Aggies appeared headed for the Cotton Bowl and Baylor was crying about not being invited anywhere.

Today, the Aggies: 1. Aren't the champions; and 2. Aren't going to a bowl, while Baylor is going to the Biggie. This was to have been A&M's year. Instead, a loss to SMU and a crushing defeat by Texas left A&M with nothing but next year to dream about.

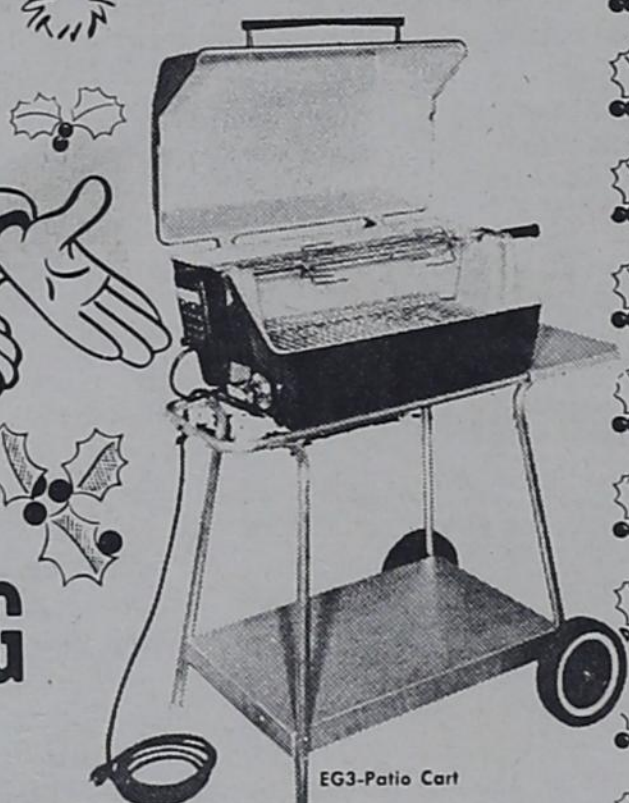

I was a little amused a week ago by the reaction of conference coaches about the lie detector test. Put on the spot, they reacted in ways that might have been predictable.

Barry Switzer of Oklahoma was all for it—if it was based on this year but not on the year before. Darrell Royal of Texas was all for it. Emory Bellard, whose recruiting has caused a lot of talk, didn't think much of the idea.

Unfortunately, many of the coaches in this country probably would have trouble passing the test, which is a sad commentary on the state of "amateur" athletics. Even the proposal that college coaches should have to submit to lie detector tests is reprehensible. Maybe it tells us something about what's wrong today.

Rays of Hope

by Pat Stanton

"Sing a new song to the Lord! Sing it everywhere around the world! Sing out his praises! Bless his name. Each day tell someone that he saves.

Publish his glorious acts throughout the earth. Tell everyone about the amazing things that he does. For the Lord is great beyond description, and greatly to be praised. Worship only him among the gods! For the gods of other nations are merely idols, but our God made the heavens! Honor and majesty surround him; strength and beauty are in his temple.

O nations of the world, confess that God alone is glorious and strong. Give him the glory he deserves! Bring your offering and come to worship him, worship the Lord with the beauty of holy lives. Let the earth tremble before him. Tell the nations that Jehovah reigns! He rules the world. His power can never be overthrown. He will judge all nations fairly.

Let the heavens be glad, the earth rejoice; let the vastness of the roaring seas demonstrate his glory. Praise him for the growing fields, for they display his greatness. Let the trees of the forrest rustle with praise. For the Lord is coming to judge the earth; he will judge the nation's fairly and with truths?" (Psalms 96, Living Bible).

During this new month that brings us the Christmas season, let us all continue with praise and thanksgiving to God, our Father.

Superstition never contributed to the unfolding of truth.

Girls Basketball Spotlight

by Alex Grice

This week Nancy Thomas, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B.H. Thomas, is the basketball spotlight. Nancy is a part time starter on the Varsity Girls Basketball team. Nancy is a guard and I must say, she makes good use of the title. She really gives those forwards a hard time. Nancy is also one of the captains on the Fillie team. The girls are now 2-3 in non district play.

Teacher Spotlight

by Anita Alvarado

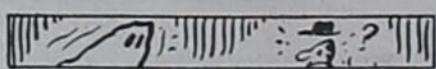

This weeks teacher spotlight is Mrs. Ruth Kulm. Mrs. Kulm was born in Oregon. She attended school in Oregon, Washington and graduated from high school in Palmer, Alaska. Mrs. Kulm graduated from the University of Alaska and has also attended Texas Tech.

Ruth became Mrs. Kulm in Alaska. The Air Force transferred them to Texas in 1954, but her husband is now retired from the Air Force.

Mrs. Kulm has two children; Jerry, who teaches in San Diego, California and Judy, who lives in Germany. Both are SHS graduates.

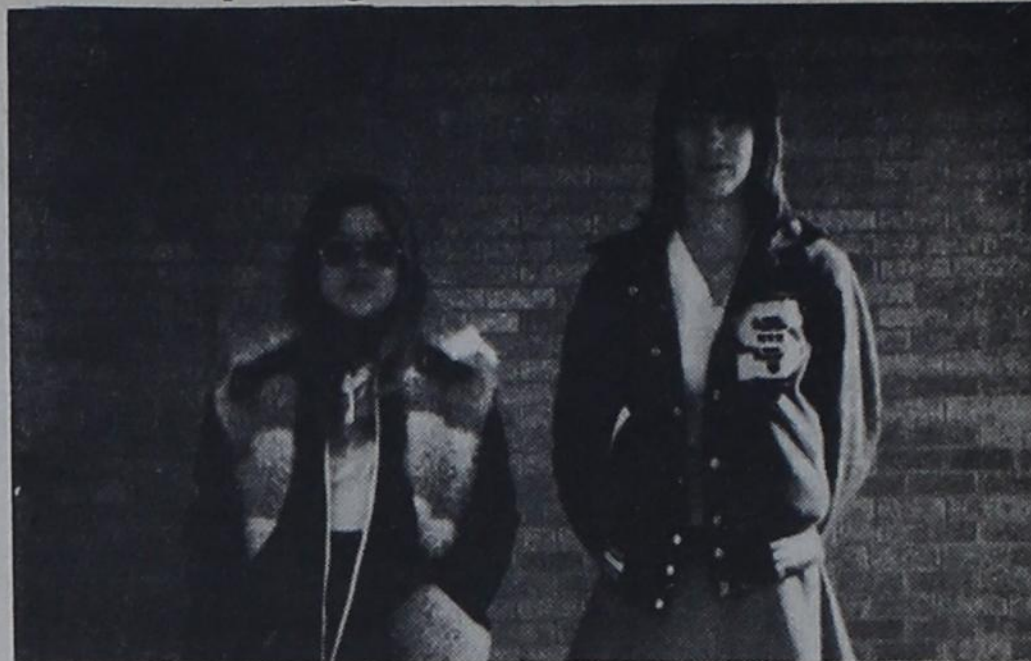

Mrs. Kulm has been teaching fifteen years in Shallowater. She has also taught in Anton. She belongs to PTA, TSTA, NEA, and is also active in CTA and in the Lubbock Ostomy Association.

Mrs. Kulm enjoys watching all kinds of sports. Her favorite activities include reading, eating, and swimming. Mrs. Kulm has enjoyed teaching here and hopefully is still enjoying it.

People once believed that the disembodied ghost of a living person would appear to his distant friends shortly before he died!

Senior Spotlight

by Caran Conner

The featured seniors this week are Debbie Harrison and Dione Lester.

Debbie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Harrison. She was born on April 16, 1956 in Lubbock. Debbie is a member of SOS, FTA for four years and this year she is serving as president; FHA also for four years and is Historian; she is manager of the varsity girls basketball team, and participates on the golf team. She is a member of the Parkway Drive

Church of Christ in Lubbock. After graduation she plans to attend college.

Dione is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shorty Lester of Shallowater. She went to school in Lubbock before coming to SHS. Dione is involved in our new DECA club and is working at the 7-11 Superette in Shallowater. She played basketball for two years and then managed for two years. She can't wait til school is out. She plans to attend college.

Gorillas at Clubhouse in Shallowater

by Janie Serna

Basketballs, books, smiling faces, astrological signs, and self portraits at the Clubhouse? These are some of the ornaments that will be decorating our FHA Christmas tree.

FHA always holds its regular meetings on the first Monday of every month. So, on December 2, we held a Christmas party at the Clubhouse, since it would be very difficult to have one at a later date because of all the activities being held throughout the month.

Each girl was asked to bring a white elephant gift worth 50 cents or under, and an ornament that represents one's personality or something that one likes to do. The colorful ornaments ranged from books to basketballs.

Roars seemed to capture people who were passing by the Clubhouse last Monday night. A game was played which involved the participation of every girl that was present at this party. If one has not played this game, ask Debbie Grimes how you play it. Ask Kay Williams, Cindy Jackson or Carol Shropshire, they will be happy to share their experiences with you.

Twisted legs, arms, bodys, and heads were all over the Clubhouse floor. The 'twister' is a game liked by all. All of the different classes participated in this and we all enjoyed watching them.

Popcorn was strung through some string in order to use it for the decorating of our Christmas tree. If it would have been a race, the room parents would have been disqualified. Thanks to a few helping hands, Mr. Conner and Mr. Boone were really putting it together by cheating, by tying different strings full of popcorn to make theirs look longer than all the others. Honestly Mr. Conner and Mr. Boone!

All was not lost because it all pays in the end. (Right, Mr. Conner?)

The time we had all been waiting for finally arrived, the distributing of gifts. Numbers had been placed on the gifts and little pieces of paper with numbers on them were placed in a paper sack. We all drew numbers and awaited the announcement of our number. No one opened their gifts until everyone had received theirs. Gifts ranged from Tootsie Roll pops, little play wrenches, used toothbrushes, tiny dolls, play jewelry and even the "unspeakable."

Ask Mr. Conner what his Christmas gift was! It all pays in the end, right girls? Right! (Mr. Conner may not agree, but it really does.)

Junior High Basketball Girls

Last Monday the 7th and 8th basketball girls played at Ropes. The 7th lost 74 to 2. Michelle Price "High Point" with the only 2 big points of the game. The 8th grade girls lost 34 to 25. Terri Stanton was high point with 12, Jana Hayslipp with 7, and Jeani Roberts with 6. We'll get 'em next time!

Fillies and Lioness' Engage in Battle

On the 26th of November, our varsity girls fought a battle with the New Deal Lioness'. It was a fierceful game, full of roars and neighs.

Tremendous scoring took place with one of our Fillies being the top scorer from both teams. Our Fillie was Kim Young, who had a total of 23 points. Other high point girls for the Fillies were: Cindy Cowart with 12, Kay Williams with 9, and Vicki Roberts with 6. These girls brought the final score to 50, while the gals from New Deal managed 3 more points than our girls. Final score was 53-50.

Theme of the Week FHA Bake Sale

What Is A Friend?

by Nancy Thomas

She's someone to rely on, I know she's always there.
 I bring to her my burdens and unload my every care.
 I tell her my secrets, that no one else can hear.
 I share with her my hopes, my dreams, my sorrow, my fear.
 She does the dumbest things sometimes:
 a dance, a cheer, a song;
 And even when the going's tough, she acts like nothing's wrong.
 Somehow she usually manages to keep me smiling, too.
 We then can spread the love around that grew from only two.
 Though I've had many friends before, and shall have many more,
 I doubt that any will compare to this one I adore.

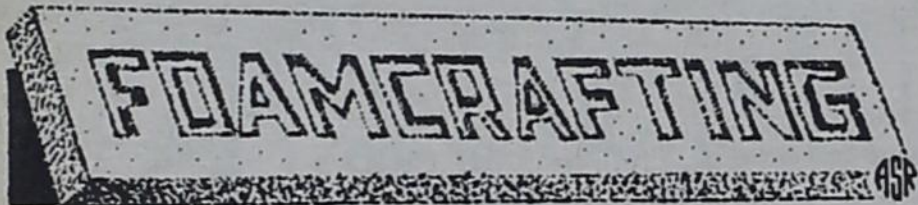

Wednesday, November 27 the FHA had a bake sale at Super Save, all day. The goods were all homemade by the girls. We made $108 which will go toward the Sweetheart Banquet in the spring.

We would like to thank all who bought and helped in the bake sale.

The Mustangs

by Charles Krebs

The Shallowater Mustangs played the New Deal Lions here last Tuesday night, Nov. 26th. This game could properly be called a grudge game between the two teams. From the opening minutes to the closing minutes, Shallowater made a rout of the game. New Deals' press couldn't hold the Mustangs explosive ball handlers, Grice and Grimes, nor could they out rebound Gates, Lusk, and McMenamy. The Mustangs thoroughly out hustled the Lions and totally out scored them.

If ever a snowman needed an angel to watch over him, it's our friend "Charlie". Whether it's snowing or not, Charlie Snowman can make even a cloudy day "sunny".

Let Charlie and his angel brighten the faces of children at your house. They're fun to make. Such projects are found in a new book, "A World of Designs With Styrofoam", at most hobby and craft stores.

Charlie Snowman

To make hat, cut out a 3" disk of Styrofoam. Thin disk to 3/8". Glue disk to a 2" wide X 2 1/4" long rod of plastic foam. Paint black.

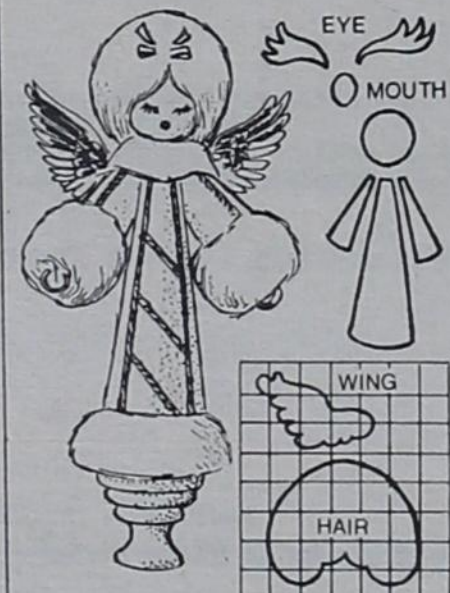

Use 1-1/2" X 6" X 6" piece of foam for earmuffs, nose, hat brim, eyes, mouth and buttons.

Earmuffs are small ovals 1" long X 3/4" wide X 1/2" thick. Paint bright red. For the headband, cut two slices of plastic foam approximately 1/8" thick X 1/2" wide X 1" long. Paint black.

Cut nine small, irregularly shaped blocks of plastic foam approximately 1/4" X 3/8" X 3/8". Paint black. Carve a 1 3/4" carrot-shaped nose. Paint orange.

To assemble Snowman: Glue 4" ball to center of 6" disk. Glue hat to 3" ball. Glue earmuffs and headband in place. Attach eyes, nose and mouth.

Using toothpicks and glue, attach head to body. Glue buttons in place. Use a 3/4" X 12" length of red felt for muffler and scraps of green felt for "holly berries and leaves". Wrap muffler around neck and pin in place. Highlight muffler and hat with the felt holly berries and leaves, pinned.

Golden Angel

Use a 12" cone of plastic foam for the body, a 6" cone -cut in half- for the arms and flesh colored 3" ball for head.

Fake fur is used for the hair and for the cuff and skirt trim. Gold braid is glued to the front for trim. Eyes are cut from black paper and glued to face. Cut wings using pattern.
