Junior-Senior Banquet Held for Shallowater High School Saturday Evening, May 11th

The Junior-Senior Banquet took place this past Saturday evening, May 11, in the Aztec Room of the South Park Inn in Lubbock. The room was arranged and decorated to look like the 50's and 60's. The theme was "American Graffiti".

The banquet started when the invocation was given by Nancy Thomas. Don Grimes, as president of the junior class, welcomed the honored guests, the seniors, and the special guests, the board and faculty members in the name of the junior class.

Terry Saunders, as president of the senior class, made the response for the seniors and also thanked the juniors for their hard work.

The class prophecies, which were made to the seniors by the juniors, were read by Jerry Harrison and Terry Hart. Many laughs were brought about as many of these prophecies were read.

After the reading of reading of the prophecies, everyone enjoyed a good dinner of roast beef, mashed potatoes, green beans, tossed salad, hot rolls, butter, tea and sherbert.

The entertainment was provided by the Pharoahs, consisting of Ray Morris, Bobby Reeves, Luther Vaughn, and their manager, Alex Grice. The Pharoahs specialized in playing songs of the 50's and 60's. Their hair was slicked back very neatly, and their outfits were very "cool". They all wore glittering gold shirts and black pants. These guys really looked "out of sight". What really brought loads of laughter was when Ray and Luther acted out the song "The Last Kiss" while Bobby sang the words to it.

Almost everyone had tears running down their faces, not because it was sad, but because it was so funny.

Also, what came as a shock at first, but then afterwards it was hilarious, was when the song "The Streak" was acted out. Bobby and Luther were singing the song, then Ray streaked out across the room and back where he came from. At first everyone could not believe it, but then the second time he came out you could tell it was not for real.

The class wills were read by Peggy Heinen and Ray Morris. Agains laughs were heard. A special presentation was made by

Shallowater, Texas

Rays of Hope

by Pat Stanton

How do you approach an impossible situation when dealing with someone in your family or a close friend?

When you believe that there is no hope, what do you do? Someone once said, "When you come to the end of your rope, tie a knot and hang on." This is good mental philosophy, but how do you go about tying the knot that will hold?

The greatest practical teacher of all gave definite instructions from the Bible in March 11:24. He said, "Therefore I say unto you, what things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them."

Jesus taught that his followers were to receive answers to their prayers, for he said that men should always pray and not to faint.

Many Christians are fainting spiritually because they are forgetting the key to prayer. Faith is the key that unlocks the answers to our prayers. Jesus said to believe the moment that you pray. Don't wait until you think that you can see the answer coming and then start believing.

Mark 11:23 is another power packed teaching for our lives today. This says that whatever we say will come to pass if we believe and not doubt.

Last week, I was speaking and singing at a church in Lubbock, at the close of the service, a young man came to the front to talk and ask for prayer. He was holding a little boy and as he put the child down, the boy held onto his daddy's leg. I soon learned that the man was desperate and at the end of hope. His wife had left him and had not wanted the young boy. Time had passed and now the mother was going to court to get the young boy away from his father.

What would you have suggested to this crying Dad? Was there any hope that he could have peace? Was there any hope for the young boy?

Well, I shared with this young man that there was help available through God. I also prayed a prayer of faith and trusted God to do a miracle in his life. I reminded him of the verses in March 11:23-24, and told him to start believing and thanking God now that he was going to bring peace to his wife and the restoration of his home.

God will always honor any prayer of faith that comes from a pure and forgiving heart. Also, the believer that is confessing with his mouth that victory is his, will get the attention of God quicker than a 24 hour prayer vigil.

We Christians need to fill our mouths with positive confessions of faith based on God's promises. When you learn to live this way, there is absolutely nothing that can defeat you and rob you of an abundant life.

Happiness

The struggle to enjoy life, to be contented and satisfied, is a constant one. In recent years crime, corruption and crises of life, added to the fast pace of modern living, have made realization of contentment, peace of mind, true happiness, even more difficult to achieve.

But the secret is still the same, and it lies in the mind. Those who are able to limit their goals, desires and dreams to reasonable ones, who will keep in mind the lot of those less fortunate than they and who accept the world as it is, and people as they are, can still find serenity.

The key to inner happiness, then, is not to be found in money, power, position or influence over others. It's to be found in one's mind, in viewing life relatively, with a realistic sense of proportion, thereby achieving an inner peace (faith can help here) neither human beings nor daily events can threaten.

Housework is what a woman does that no one ever notices unless she doesn't do it.

IT'S AMAZING!

THIS STRANGE HEADRESS SIGNIFIES THAT THE SUMATRAN MAN WEARING IT IS MARRIED!

IN MADAGASCAR, THE WEARING OF SANDALS MADE OF MONKEY SKIN IS CONSIDERED A SURE-CURE FOR ALL AILMENTS!!

NATIVES OF THE SOUTH SEAS OFTEN RIDE HUGE SHARKS BAREBACK, JUST TO THRILL ONLOOKERS ON THE BEACHES!!

THE LATE LORD ASHA, FAMOUS FOR ATTAINING THE AGE OF 157 YEARS, WORKED UNTIL HE WAS 154 YEARS OLD!

"I Really Haven't Lost Anything, Have I?"

These remarks are directed to the young people. The night before last one of our officers stopped a vehicle for an infraction of the traffic ordinance. After stopping the vehicle, the officer, on approaching the driver's side, thought that he detected the odor of marijuana coming from the open window of the vehicle. On closer observation of the driver, the officer felt that he had probable cause to place the driver of the vehicle under arrest for Driving Under the Influence of either alcohol or drugs. Subsequent to the arrest and after advising the driver of his rights, the officer made a search of the vehicle and found several joints of marijuana and assorted marijuana paraphenalia. As a result of the evidence found in the vehicle and the fact that a breath test revealed that there wasn't any alcohol in the driver's bloodstream—he was booked for Possession of Marijuana and Possession of Marijuana Paraphenalia and Driving Under the Influence of Drugs.

The passenger in the vehicle was booked for Possession of Marijuana and possession of marijuana paraphenalia. This happens all too frequently in our community.

While legislatures and the medical profession continue the debate over possession of marijuana and its use, the young people continue to play a dangerous game of attempting to beat the law, by using it. I don't intend to argue the validity or the morality of our drug laws but I feel it is important that the young people know something that they are probably not aware of or haven't thought very much about. Lets assume that the District Attorney's office accepts the case and the individuals are brought to trial on a felony count and let's also assume that they are convicted. We can further assume that if it is the first conviction the individuals will probably receive a suspended sentence, because that appears to be the trend of the court system in the country today. The youth of the country then begin asking one another, "So, what difference does the first conviction make."

Other than the expenses involved and the fact that they now have a record, they don't have to worry about serving any jail sentence. So we ask ourselves, "Did he really loose anything?"

Here is something for thought for those of you that think that you're really getting away free with the first conviction.

Item 1—You loose your right to vote, your right to own a gun, and the right to run for a public office.

Item 2—You loose your opportunity of ever becoming a licensed doctor, dentist, C.P.A., engineer, lawyer, nurse, detective, pharmacists, architect, realtor, osteopath, physical therapist, school teacher, barber, funeral director, stock broker, or even a masseur.

Item 3—You can never get a job which requires that you be bonded or licensed.

Item 4—You could never work for the City, County, or Federal government.

Item 5—You would not be able to obtain a job which required any type of security clearance whatever.

Item 6—You would, in all likelihood, loose the automobile that you were driving at the time the offense occurred.

If this had happened to you, could you truly make the statement, "I haven't lost anything!"

Cheerleaders Chosen For Next Year Here

Last Wednesday the student body met in the high school gym to elect the cheerleaders for the coming year.

The girls trying out were: Gracie Lupton, Teresa Willis, and Nancy Thomas, for the seniors; Debbie Grimes and Jeanye Hunter for the juniors; Alison Terry, Maria Hernandez, and Robin Mauldin for the sophomores; and Shelly Adams, Tori Craig, Barbara Thomas and Linday Blumer for the freshmen.

After quite some time of counting ballots, those selected were: Head Cheerleader, Nancy Thomas, senior cheerleader Gracie Lupton, junior Debbie Grimes, sophomore Alison Terry, and Freshman Tori Craig.

Next year's mascot was chosen by the student council. The spirited horse for next year will be Margie Barron. She was selected by the evaluation of a theme written by her titled "Why I Want To Be Mascot".

For farmers, spring is the time for work, not fever.

The bigger the executive, the less actual work he performs.

Survey to Determine State's Energy Policy will Be Conducted Here Soon

Sixty-one Lubbock County agricultural producers will be interviewed on their use of fuel and fertilizer as part of a Texas Department of Agriculture survey to help determine the state's energy policy.

According to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, the comprehensive Texas Farm Fuel and Fertilizer Survey will also provide information for agricultural and research needs.

The survey will begin June 17 and end July 1. It will involve nearly 1,500 farms and ranches selected at random from respondents to an earlier survey on acreage and productions. Participants will provide information on their use of fuel and fertilizer for production and marketing of crops, livestock and poultry.

For this survey 55 counties were chosen at random from the State's 15 crop reporting districts.

White said the department is conducting the survey at the request of the Governor's Energy Council. The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service will supervise the interviews and compile the results.

Specially trained personnel will personally interview farm and ranch operators or others knowledgeable about the operation such as foremen or managers. Persons to be interviewed will be notified and facts about individual operations will be kept confidential.

"We encourage farmers to participate," White said. "This survey will be the first giving us the facts we need to direct our activities to make sure farmers have the necessary inputs for agriculture."

McMenamy-Bickel Exchange Vows Here Saturday

Miss Gayle Ann McMenamy became the bride of James Stanley Bickel at 7:30 p.m. Saturday night, May 18 in a double ring ceremony performed in the First United Methodist Church of Shallowater, Texas. The Rev. Kenneth Howard, minister of First United Methodist Church in Vinita, Oklahoma, and uncle of the bride, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. McMenamy of Shallowater. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bickel of Ballinger, Texas.

Arrangement of ivy and votive candles lighted the aisle. On each side of the altar was a large basket of yellow gladiolas and candelabra. The wedding vows were exchanged before an archway flanked with camilla foliage and candles.

Nuptial music was played by the organist, Mrs. Effie Lee Middlebrook of Shallowater, who accompanied Wayne Starch of Lubbock as he sang "The Wedding Song", "Sunrise, Sunset", and "The Lord's Prayer".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a victorian gown of ivory silken organza with cluney lace accents. The bodice was designed with a horizontal tucked yoke outlined in lace and edged in lace ruffles. The high duchess neckline was also edged in the lace ruffling. Long bishop sleeves were gathered to wide cuffs and fluted lace fell over the hands. The full bell skirt was striped in vertical rows of lace bands. Her finger tip veil of bridal illusion held a matching lace bonnet style cap. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and white daisies intermingled with baby's breath.

Mrs. Buddy French, Cameron, Oklahoma, cousin of the bride was Matron of Honor. Maid of Honor was Miss Kay McMenamy, Shallowater, cousin of the bride. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Steve Briggs, Kerrville; Mrs. Kenneth Dudensing, Sweetwater; and Miss Charlsa Bickel, sister of the groom. They all wore floor length gowns of polyester crepe with scooped neckline and the empire bodice accented by velvet ribbon sashes. The attendants' dresses alternated in the bride's chosen colors of mint green and pale yellow. They carried bouquets of white gladiolas and yellow pom-poms.

Shannon Howard, Vinita, Oklahoma, flower girl, wore a pale yellow flowered dotted Swiss dress styled identically to the bridesmaids. She carried a basket of yellow and white daisies.

Serving as best man was Harvey Browning of Snyder, Texas. Groomsmen were Joe Baird of San Angelo; Lorenzo Pena of San Angelo; Keith McMenamy, brother of the bride; and Rob Talley of Lubbock. Ushers were Steve Burney of Snyder, Randy Rushing of Amarillo, and Kim McMenamy, brother of the bride.

The reception followed in the Fellowship Hall of the church after the ceremony. The bride's table covered with white lace was appointed with a bouquet of yellow daisies and ivy entwined on silver candelabra. The bride's three-tiered cake was also topped with a wedding bell. The groom's table was covered with a yellow cloth with an arrangement of a candle and greenery. Coffee was served from a silver service with the groom's chocolate cake in the shape of an opened Bible.

Mrs. Galen Drier, Newton, Kansas, cousin of the bride; kept the register. Those serving were Miss Vickie Powers, McAdoo; Miss Debra Gates, Shallowater; Miss Teresa McMenamy, Tucumcari, New Mexico; Miss Andrea Arauz, Abilene; and Miss Leslie Bennett, Plainview. Others were Miss Christy Lupton, Miss Pam Thomas, and Miss Cindy Lusk all of Shallowater.

After a wedding trip to Fort Worth the couple will reside in Lubbock.

More Players Sign to Play in All America Game Set Here June 22nd

Randy Gradishar, Ohio State's two-time All-American linebacker, heads a list of seven players signing Thursday to play in the 14th annual Coaches All-America Game scheduled June 22 in Texas Tech's Jones Stadium.

Joining the Ohio State star are Norris Weese, quarterback from Mississippi; Andy Johnson, quarterback, Georgia; Carl Summerell, quarterback from East Carolina; Steve Odom, receiver, Utah; Dexter Bussey, running back from Texas Arlington; and Bill Sandifer, defensive lineman from UCLA.

Gradishar led Ohio State in tackles last year with 134 and won the Big 10 Scholarship Medal for combined excellence in grades and athletics.

The Buckeyes whipped Southern California in the Rose Bowl as they rolled to a 9-0-1 regular season record.

Gradishar, a 6-3, 236-pounder, was drafted by Denver in the first round.

Odom, Bussey and Sandifer will play for Coach Barry Switzer's West team while Gradishar, Weese, Johnson and Summerell have signed with Coach Johnny Major's East eleven.

Already announced to play in the nationally televised contest are: Joe Barnes, quarterback, Texas Tech; Kenneth Wallace, defensive back, Texas Tech; Bill Wyman, center, Texas; Richard Williams, wide receiver, Abilene

Christian College; Paul Vellana, defensive lineman, Maryland; Billy Howard, defensive lineman, Alcorn A&M; Barty Smith, running back, Richmond; Jim Cagle, defensive lineman, Georgia; Church Ramsey, kicking specialist, Wake Forest; John Holland, receiver, Tennessee State; Donald Reese, defensive lineman, Jackson State; Rod Kirby, linebacker, pittsburgh; and Tony Bell, defensive back, Bowling Green.

Dog Obedience School

Police Chief J.T. Alley, announced Sunday the dates for the annual Lubbock Police Department K-9 Squad's Dog Obedience School. Alley said the two-week school will be offered free of charge to Lubbock dog owners, from June 10-21 at Hodges Park, 40th and University.

Classes will be held daily from 10 - 11:30 a.m., Monday-Friday, during the 2 weeks of the school. Certificates will be awarded to those boys and girls and dogs who complete the course on the final day, June 21.

There is no advance registration for the courses and persons who wish to participate should attend the first class meeting. Human participants must be at least 10 years old, while the canine participants must be at least eight months old, have a current City of Lubbock Dog License and the dog owners must be able to handle their dogs. Dogs must be on a heavy choke-chain and leather leash. No other type of leash will be allowed.

During the course, the dogs will be taught to obey basic commands from their owners.

Be charitable, if you can, in your judgement of others; save severity for your own mistakes.

Know What's Scarce As "Hen's Teeth"?

While providing a steady stream of food and fiber for the American consumer, U.S. agriculture also has produced an abundant flow of words and phrases that have enriched the American vocabulary.

Some of our most down-to-earth expressions originated down on the farm, points out the National Cotton Council.

If you think that's a lot of bull, look over this bumper crop harvested from rural U.S.A. It's not all pure corn, either. Some of these expressions are the kind you can really cotton to.

Unless farm prices are dirt cheap, a lot of folks get the notion that the farmer's in high cotton, trying to pull the wool over somebody's eyes or sell a pig in a poke. (The truth of the matter is that most of us have been eating high on the hog for so long now that we're either as fat as a pig, as big as a cow, or as wide as the side of a barn.)

If that's your beef, you'd better look at the lay of the land with an eye out for the weather.

As sure as sun-up, weather's a big factor in farming. It's not always right as rain. Sometimes it turns up a real gully-washer—and that's bad. Sometimes it's just fair to middling—and that's tolerable. But when it's sure 'nuff plowing weather, trying to find a farmer in town is like looking for a needle in a haystack.

Chances are he's off in the back forty trying to plow a straight furrow so he can bring home the bacon. He never misses an opportunity to make hay while the sun shines.

The farmer's no clock-watcher either. He goes whole hog when he catches the weather just right, often working in his fields long after the cows come home.

Today's farmer is no hayseed and he doesn't farm like his grandpappy or even his own father did, either. Forty acres and a mule just won't cut the mustard when it comes to helping feed and clothe today's growing world.

Technological changes in agriculture have streamlined farming practices, and the modern farmer keeps up with his production inputs just as much as he does his outputs. He scans computer printouts almost as much as he does the skies and the market pages. Chances are he has a sheepskin from his state university, backed up by a lot of practical experience that enables him to really know his onions.

He's got a lot of cabbage tied up in his farming operation—and it amounts to a whole lot more than just chicken feed. Some experts figure it takes on the average of

by Joe Kelly

Basketball and hockey championships have been decided. Skiing is over for another year, except in isolated areas. At long last the fall and winter seasons are finished, right? Wrong!

You only thought they were all over. There are two summer events, the All-America game here June 22 and the College All Stars vs the pros in Chicago. That gets rid of the fall-winter sports, then until September, right? Wrong!

Okay, what in the name of thunderation could possibly be left? Semi-pro football, that's what. Yes, and Canadian League football for another. And don't forget that the World Football League probably will be operating in the summer, too.

Where will it all end? No one knows, but one thing seems to be certain; if they insist on having football all summer, it's bound to take some of the edge off it in the fall.

The Stanley Cup finals Sunday proved to be the best game of the playoffs and most unusual in that it was pretty close to being what a great hockey game should be.

There was a minimum of fist action, a maximum of good, hard checking. There was good stick work, good passing, power sweeps, swarming offense and brilliant work in the nets by both Rod Gilbert and Bernie Parent.

Whether you were for Boston or Philadelphia, or whether you just didn't care, it was exciting hockey. The teams gave it everything and the fans came out ahead.

Philadelphia definitely deserved the Cup. The Flyers were more opportunistic. They carried the fight. They kept the Bruins upset much of the time with their poke checking, and they took advantage of opportunities.

The Bruins were guilty of careless hockey, with some inattentive work with the puck. And they couldn't capitalize on their power play chances, with the Flyers turning in brilliant defensive work.

Bobby Orr did nothing to diminish his stature, but he didn't have enough help once again. But the way the Flyers played, it is doubtful that Boston could have won this year. The first expansion team to win the Cup deserved the crown.

When they write about great Stanley Cup playoffs, the name of Parent will have to come up. The Flyers' goalie was, at times, unbelievable.

Parent always seemed to have the angles cut off. He made miraculous recoveries to save goals. He seemed to have a leg or stick in the right place and he showed brilliant reaction with his hands. It was a marvelous playoff series for him.

Congratulations are in order to both Monterey and Lubbock Christian College, no matter what happens in their playoffs, for having won titles during the regular seasons.

And LCC's defeat of Texas must have shook the Orange clear down to it sweat-sox tips. Meanwhile, Bobby Moegle's Plainsmen returned to their accustomed spot on top of the district standings. Bobby has a real dynasty going for him.

Are the Los Angeles Dodgers for real? The season still is in its infancy and the Bums have opened a tremendous lead. If—that biggest little word in the language—they keep going, the Dodgers could set an all time record for a winning margin.

But the front runner has more pressure than the others in the pack and the long, hot summer lies ahead. It's reassuring to have a big lead, but injuries, sore arms, hard fields, a letdown in hustle and those big leads vanish quickly.

Meanwhile, both the East and West divisions of the American League have a couple of great races going. There's a new leader almost every day as the teams remained bunched.

The early front runners, the Yankees and the Rangers, have returned to more normal ways. They're about as dangerous as the blue racer—they look maniac and then, poof! Zilch. In the meantime, it's a good race for baseball, and the fans.

Law enforcement personnel seldom rest in this big state, as the Parks and Wildlife Dept. points out. For instance, a game warden and a biology field worker toiled in the shallow waters of Laguna Madre in the middle of April.

And guess what? They pulled out 4,800 feet—imagine—of gill nets, with one section of the netting 3,000 feet long. The nets were set in three feet of water. Read sportsman, someone.

"Outdoor Times" had an interesting article that is timely at any season, but maybe worth passing on right now with so many people going fishing and/or hiking. It dealt with snakes.

In a nubbin, the article points out that the old treatment of crosscuts in the fang marks is passe. Instead, it is recommended that you put ordinary rubber bands above and below the snake bite. Use an ice pack, if available, and get the patient to a hospital quickly.

Oh, yes, an encouraging report: about 30% of those bitten receive no venom, another 30% get too little to worry about and only about 40% require extensive and rapid treatment.

Tired of being nipped at by mosquitoes? Yeah, me too. Thus, an ad for Trans-International Corp. in Outdoor Times was interesting. The company has invented a mosquito chaser.

The lightweight contraption emits a beep-like sound that resembles the male mosquito, which repels the female, the only one of the two that bites, anyway. For information write the corporation at 2330 52nd, West Cermak Road, Chicago, Ill. 60608.

Scarce as Hen's Teeth . . .

about $250,000 to go into the farming business today. And that ain't hay in anybody's vocabulary.

Another thing about your friend out there on the farm. He was planting cover crops, building terraces, and carrying out other soil conservaion practices when most of today's environmentalists were knee-high to a duck. He's the steward of America's most valuable asset and the renewer of its nautral resources—and if he hadn't done his job well, our horn of plenty would have dried up a long time ago.

If you put all the people in the U.S. in one small corner of the world and tried to find a farmer, you'd soon discover they're just about as scarce as hen's teeth. Farmers now make up less than five percent of our total population. That means they have a lot of mounts to feed and a lot of backs to cover—ours as well as theirs.

While they're not exactly like peas in a pod, farmers share a lot of the same traits our pioneers had. Maybe the most important of these is stubbornness.

A fellow's got to be as stubborn as a mule to keep on farming against the odds of weather, insect damage, plant disease, weeds, fuel shortages, government regulations, rising costs, uncertain prices, and consumer misunderstanding. He's got a tough row to hoe but he just keeps on plowing.

It sort of makes you wonder who's living off the fat of whose land anyhow.

YOUR GARDEN

VEGETABLE VIABILITY

With food prices going up all over the country, a growing number of Americans are investing in vegetable gardens, but unfortunately, don't always know how to have vegetables that thrive.

For one thing, you can't let your vegetables get too crowded. Most should be thinned when still seedlings, to allow the rest to grow best, and then thin them again when they're not quite their full height but are just good enough to eat.

For another, you shouldn't let insects plague them either. Check your plants regularly for bugs and treat them with an all-purpose, non-persistent pesticide such as Spectracide. When spraying, cover both sides of the foliage until the leaves drip. It will

The Museum at Texas Tech to Highlight Exhibit of Fossil Remains this Month

A "how-to" exhibit in paleontology—the science which deals with animal and vegetable fossil remains—is on display at the Museum.

Featured is rock taken from the Stenomylus Quarry near Agate, Nebraska, where about 21 million years ago a small herd of prehistoric camels died suddenly. Their bones lay fossilized in rock until their discovery by man in this century.

In the summer of 1942 a Texas Tech geologist, Prof. Grayson Meade, working for The Museum, went to Nebraska and brought back some of the bones encased in the rock in which they had been found.

This is what is on display now at The Museum, along with a descriptive exhibit of how such discoveries are used for study and education. Texas Tech students of paleontology will work on the rock Sundays from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. The public is invited to observe the students while they work.

The camel is identified by a bone in the leg and by the teeth. The prehistoric camels were very small, had no hump, and are sometimes called a "gazelle camel."

All the camel bones are found at a given level, and the only other animal bones found with them are those of birds, and these are few in number. About one and a half miles away there is another bed of bones of prehistoric animals, but this is a mixture of several species.

The exhibit at The Museum was arranged by John Sutton, graduate student in biology at Texas Tech and collections data analyst for The Museum.

Senior Student at Frenship Builds Solar House

Rita Savage, Frenship graduating senior, built a solar house as a science project. It was built on the concept that water circulates by itself when heated.

Miss Savage built a model house frame. On top of it she put a wooden box with copper tubing soldered to it. The tubing ran to a metal plate under the floor of the house. When the water in the collection box of the house became hot, it began to circulate and heated the metal plate under the house. This in turn would heat the house.

Miss Savage explained that the infra red rays of the sun could be stored up to heat the water when the sun was not shining.

Miss Savage plans to attend LCC this summer and will go to ACC in the fall.

Frenship Teachers To Retire this Year

Two teachers of the Frenship School District are retiring this year. They are Sylvia Gibbs and Ida Ruth Sitton. Other personnel retiring are Mrs. Jane Isbell, Dietitian and Mrs. Zella Richards, R.N. school nurse.

Other people who will not be back next year are Mrs. Susan Casto, Betty Donaldson, Wanda Shipp, James White, Mrs. Patsy Bitner, Nancy Delzell, Mrs. Sara Easter, Cathy Fletcher, Camille Monzingo, and Joan Nolan.

New people hired are Barbara West, Lenora Stockton, Vickie Lou

Erickson, Claudette Ward the new school nurse, Rayalinn Karns and Vickie Payne.

Special education teachers will be June Hofer, Caroline Rogers, Astrid Anderson, Linda Marr, Betty Hall and Mavalynne Rossi.

Mrs. E.W. Zukauckas was hired to replace Mrs. Isbell as Dietitian.

Frenship Senior Class Presents School Gift

Each year the Senior Class of Frenship High School gives a gift to the school. This year, the senior boys built a patio between the auditorium and the cafeteria. They built forms and had concrete poured leaving a border of about 3 feet around the edge.

In this border, they set out evergreen trees, some shrubs and flowers. In the center, they left a circle where they plan to put an F for Frenship. On each side they left a square where they planted a shade tree.

Eighth Grade Commencement

The commencement services for the Frenship Eighth Grade were held Thursday, May 23 at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The processional was played by Ilene Nelson and Mrs. Cathy Childers. Invocation was by Patrick Brady.

The Salutatory address was given by James Stahl and the Valedictory Address by Kathryn Ham. Special awards were presented by Mr. Wyman Richey and presentation of diplomas by Mr. J. Weldon Bennett and Mr. Don Davis.

Special numbers were presented by Terri Walker and the class sang "We've Only Just Begun".

Benediction was by Lloyd Strong and the Recessional was played by Ilene Nelson and Mrs. Cathy Childers.

"You must cooperate," often means, "Let me have my way."

YMCA Schedules Summer Programs

This week the Young Men's Christian Association announced its program for the coming summer months. The Program includes activities for all members of the family. Most of the programs will start the week of June 3rd and will continue most of the summer.

Summer means swimming to a lot of folks, and the YMCA has a lot of swimming scheduled, starting with a Free Swimming Class to begin May 28th. Enrollment will be on a "first come first served" basis. Also scheduled is a Progressive Swimming Program, Junior and Senior Life Saving Classes, and Family Swims.

The YMCA Day Camp will again be held this summer. The camp is held in two week sessions starting June 3, June 17, and July 8. The cost is $20 per session plus membership in the "Y". The program is for 6 to 9 year old boys.

A Basketball Clinic will be offered again this year for 7 through 15 year old boys who want to learn the basic skills in playing basketball.

Gymnastics and Trampoline will be taught for boys and girls over age 6. Tennis Instruction will be offered daily in two-week sessions starting on June 3, June 17, July 8, and July 22nd. Women's Exercise classes are held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings and Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Mother-Tot is a program for mothers and their pre-school children.

Buttons and Books On Exhibit at the New Library

"Buttons and Books"! One might think that this is a curious combination for the current exhibit at the George & Helen Mahon Library, 1306 9th Street. Buttons of the early nineteenth century were designed to tell the old Aesop fables, European fairy tales, biblical happenings and history.

Dr. Mina Lamb, Professor of Foods and Nutrition at Texas Tech University, has loaned the Lubbock City-County Library many buttons from her collection of antique buttons and these are being displayed in an exhibit case along with the books which tell the stories they depict.

Most of the buttons are brass and were made in the United States between 1800 and 1870, but there is only one American historical figure depicted and that is Davy Crockett. "Man has put so much effort and recorded so much history in these small accessories, and relatively few have been preserved down through the ages, that button collecting has proven a fascinating hobby", said Dr. Lamb.

The exhibit is open to the public during library hours: Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Friday and Saturday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and will be in the library from May 20 through June 9.
