

Shallowater's Homecoming Upset by New Deal 39-0

Last week, Shallowater received its new garbage disposal system. The new truck is shown above. The city asks that all residents start to use the new trash containers and, though it's not mandatory, if possible residents should continue to use the pastic trash liners they have used in the past. This will help eliminate the problem of flies and the smell of garbage.

Harvest Festival Set in Brownfield Next Thursday, Friday and Saturday

The 1975 Harvest Festival in Brownfield will be a three day celebration including a Bicentennial observance with the regular Festival activities. Dates for this event are Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 2, 3, 4, 1975.

Activities for Thursday, Oct. 2, include the annual Farm Tour and barbecue, re-enactment of the early day freight wagon run from Big Spring, presentation of "I Love America", a patriotic musical pageant and a fireworks display. During the Farm Tour awards will be presented to the Outstanding Farm Family, Dry Land Farmer of the Year and businessman who has contributed the most to agriculture in Terry County.

There will be no school on Friday, October 3. A number of class reunions are scheduled for that day. Children will be participating in the Punt, Pass and Kick Contest and scrambling for 3 greased pigs. The Student Council has a super pep rally scheduled prior to the Homecoming Football Game against the Estacado High School Matadors. The Student Council also has a dance on tap after the game.

The events for Saturday, October 4, start with the parade at 10:00 a.m. It will begin in downtown Brownfield and end at Coleman Park. At 12 noon an afternoon of continuous entertainment gets under way at the American Legion Memorial Amphitheatre in Coleman Park. Featured entertainers include Mudy Mallett, Miss Texas of 1973; Jimmy Hendley, World Champion Banjo Picker; Jimmy Gyles,

The Shallowater Mustangs were defeated again for the third time this season last Friday night. It was a disappointing homecoming with New Deal blasting the Mustangs 39-0.

The New Deal attack was led by Chuck Thiel who scored three touchdowns for the Lions. Thiel had a total of 167 yards rushing.

The Lions scored seven points in the first quarter and eighteen points in the second quarter. At the half, the score stood 25-0.

The highlight of the night came at halftime when the Homecoming Queen was announced. Jeanye Hunter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Hunter, was crowned queen of the 1975-76 homecoming game. Members of Miss Hunter's court were: Judy Waller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Waller, who represented the junior class; Tammy Medlock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Medlock, who represented the sophomore class; Julie Sproles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Sproles, representing the freshman class.

All of the girls were escorted by their fathers at the halftime activities.

Nominees for Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board of Directors Listed

Grain Sorghum producers throughout the High Plains are receiving ballots for the biennial election on Oct. 16 of directors to the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board.

Lions Club to Meet Tonight

The Shallowater chapter of Lions Club International will meet this Thursday night at 8 p.m. at the Shallowater Restaurant.

The program this week will be presented by two men who work for the United States Postal Service. James Winder, postmaster of Plains, and Tom Lobaugh from the Muleshoe post office, will present a program about stamp collecting.

The two men also plan to present their program Thursday afternoon to a group at the Shallowater High school.

Board Chairman C.C. Reed of Kress urges each producer in the 29-county TGSPB area to vote for four directors in this election.

Nominees are incumbents K.B. Parish of Springlake, Larry Witten of Olton, Ralph B. Mabry of Petersburg, and C.P. Smith of Hale Center. The fifth nominee is Jerry Don Glover of Lazbuddie. The ballot contains a space for write-in candidates.

Parish served Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board as chairman four years and has traveled extensively for TGSPB representing producers on many national committees. Witten, currently serving as vice-chairman, is a director of U.S. Feed

Ex-Students Stage Meeting Here

The third annual ex-student meeting was held last weekend during homecoming.

Glenn B. Blackmon presided over a brief business meeting. Plans to preserve old school trophies were discussed, and A.C. Henderson modeled his 1932 letter sweater.

The ex-students also elected new officers. They are: president, Jay Stanton; secretary, Mrs. Carolyn Stewart; and treasurer, Mrs. Juanita Krebs.

The oldest attending ex-students were A.C. Henderson and J.B. McAuley, both members of the class of 1933.

The ex-student traveling the longest distance was Junior Winfield, who traveled from Rociada, New Mexico. A total of 87 exes registered for the homecoming.

Shallowater Police Beat

(This is the first of a two part article covering the subject of narcotics.)

To obtain an outlook on the availability of obtaining any type of narcotics in Shallowater, we have to consider the location of the city.

The city's population on the sign post shows 1,139. The estimated population to date, it is safe to say, is between 1,800 and 1,900.

The city lies in the north-western part of the state, with about 110 miles of direct routes to New Mexico, and 365 miles from old Mexico. It is safe to say that the majority of narcotics in the state of Texas comes from either New Mexico or Old Mexico. The boarders that connect Texas and Mexico may be used at any time of the day or night, or any day of the week, or month of the year.

In addition, the city is right next to a large metropolitan area (Lubbock), that has its own direct routes to Mexico, and many side and country roads.

Each and every city, I feel, has an undermanned police force. The Federal and State agencies, I feel, are also undermanned. This is a problem. However, we are faced with the fact that municipalities, the State, and the Federal Government, have only so much money to spend to employ personnel.

What and who are we faced with?

(A) Drug Users:

From a user of marijuana, to a heroin addict, the law enforcement officer is faced with a problem. That being that a person in order to buy his drugs, will commit crimes such as burglary, auto theft, robbery, and even shoplifting, to obtain enough money to purchase drugs.

While the user or addict is "under the influence of the drug" that he is taking, he may commit other crimes, these being violent, such as murder or even rape. Sometimes he will even try to do physical harm to himself.

Shallowater Boy Scouts to Meet Tuesday Evening

The Shallowater Boy Scouts will hold a registration meeting Tuesday, September 30 at 7:30 p.m. in the downstairs part of the Community Building in Shallowater.

All boys interested in joining Boy Scouts should attend this meeting. Also boys who have been in the Scouting program before should attend.

Gene Usrey is the Scoutmaster of the Shallowater troop. He states that the program this year will stress overnight field trips for the boys once a month.

Party Line

Marlin Parrack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Parrack, was dismissed from Methodist Hospital last week after surgery. Marlin will be able to return to school now.

Mr. and Mrs. W.F. Williamson were in Ft. Worth last weekend visiting their son, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Williamson.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Westbrook went fishing last week at Lake

Stamford. The fishing wasn't so good but the couple had an enjoyable time together.

Mrs. A.J. "Doll" Evans is a patient in Methodist Hospital.

4-H Club Meeting Held

The Shallowater 4-H Club met for its regular meeting Monday night, September 15, at the Clubhouse. Eighteen members, eleven parents, and Mr. Ken Cook, agent, were present.

Lynda Maunder, president, made the fair entries and assigned 4-H'ers to work at the Animal Barnyard.

Recognition was given Robin McMenemy, Dawn DuLaney, and Mendi Pair for being in the Bi-Centennial program.

Mendi Pair gave the inspiration, and Rod Burgett was in charge of games. Cheryl and Celeste Potter furnished refreshments.

The cooking projects are starting the end of September. Anyone who is interested in being in a group should contact Mrs. Louis McMenemy. These will be taught by girls from Texas Tech and Lynda Maunder, Junior leader.

Tribble-Shropshire Vows Read in Ft. Worth

Mrs. Joe Guy Shropshire

Rebecca Ann Tribble, daughter of Mrs. A.C. Tribble of Forrest Hill, in Fort Worth, Texas; and the late A.C. Tribble, became the bride of Joe Guy Shropshire, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Shropshire of Shallowater, Saturday, September 20 in a candlelight ceremony at the brides home, 5212 Shackelford, in Fort Worth.

The bride wore a white polyester crepe dress with empire bodice of white lace.

Mollie Tribble of Fort Worth, sister of the bride, served as her maid of honor. She was given away by her brother, Mike Tribble of Fort Worth.

Best man was Mark Polson of Fort Worth. Ringer bearer was Darnell Tribble, brother of the bride; and flower girl was Linda Kay Shropshire, sister of the groom.

The bride graduated from O.D. Wyatt High School in Fort Worth and will attend nurses training Dallas at the Southwestern Medical School.

The groom was graduated from Shallowater High School and attended Texas Tech. He is employed by the Holiday Inn West in Fort Worth.

become Big Ones, then there is a double problem."

We try to arrest all suspects involved in drugs, from the user to the pusher, to the major trafficker. We are consequently fighting a losing battle, due to the time availability and manpower.

What happens when a person overdoses on drugs and dies; or becomes a mental patient? If the person dies, it puts a hardship on his family, especially if he is the head of the house, and the breadwinner. If the person becomes a mental patient, due to the use of drugs, he puts a hardship not only on the family, but on society itself as he goes into a hospital, usually at the cost of the State or Federal Government. (This means tax money.)

Just maybe, by some slim chance, if a small time user is apprehended, he will be scared enough to quit and not fall into these categories: (1) he then would not have to steal to pay for his drugs; (2) and he then would not commit the violent crimes that he did while under the influence of drugs; (3) he then might not die from an overdose; (4) he then might not become a mental patient.

Yes, we go after all drug violators. If we didn't, what type of society would you be living in?

If we, as a Municipal Law Enforcement Agency, could control to a degree, the users and pushers in our own cities, then the Federal and State Agencies would then be allowed to concentrate on the major traffickers, (the ones that supply everybody). If this happened, it would be a big blow to narcotics in the United States.

This is only a personal opinion, from a patrolman, from a small Texas town with a population of 1,800 to 1,900. But I wonder just how many law enforcement officers and citizens feel the same way I do.

Look Who's New!

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hutton Blessed with Granddaughter

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hutton received news this week of a new granddaughter, Holli Dynae Hutton, who weighed seven pounds and one ounce at birth. The proud parents are Mr. and Mrs. Randy Hutton of Fort Worth. Holli was born Sept. 20 at Fort Worth Harris Hospital.

(B) The Drug Pusher: The drug pusher is a much lower class of individual than the user, as he furnishes the drug that causes the user to do what he is doing.

The crimes affiliated with the drug pusher are usually the violent type, such as a major assault case, or a murder case. These two types of cases usually stem from a rip-off, or over a short-change on money. This type of scum thrives on the profit that they make, off of the suckers that they sell to.

We have to remember one thing; drug users and pushers are not confined to any one race, or any set type of society, he can come from a poor, middle class, or rich family. He can even be the head of the family.

The organized narcotic trafficking criminal is here now, and has been here for sometime. The organizations deal in large quantities as they have the largest amount of money. They have established their connections in Mexico, and sometimes it is a relative. They have established their routes to the border, and they have established their routes from here to the northern section of the United States. Most of the organizations keep a low-key profile; this makes them extremely hard to catch.

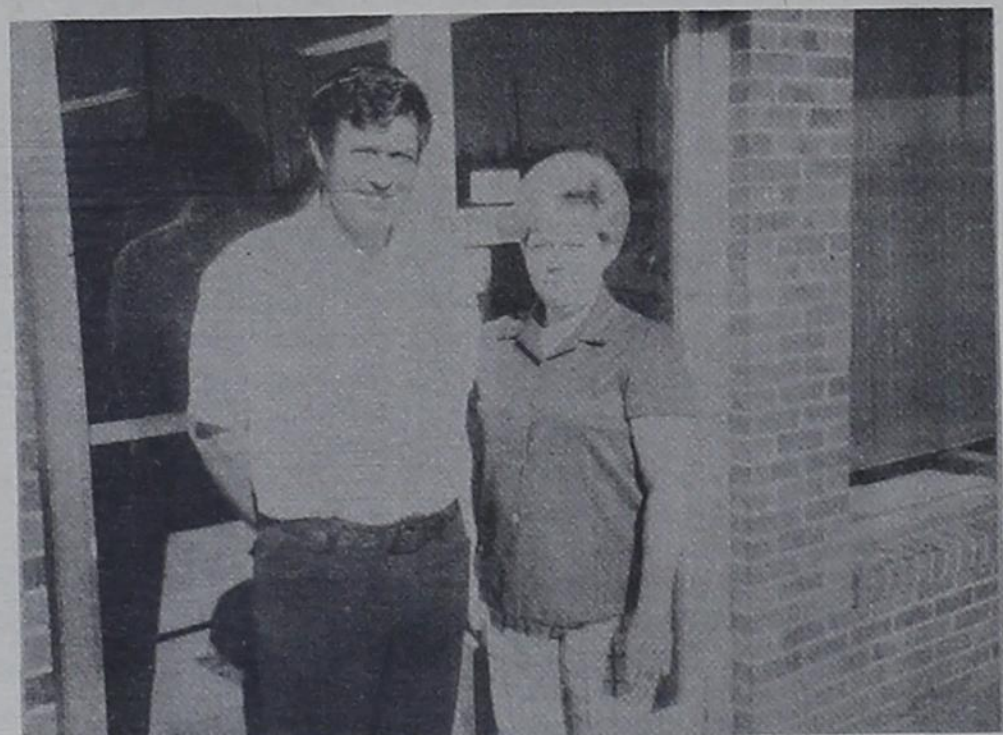

Law enforcement agencies, all of them, are combating the rise in narcotic offenses. Often, different agencies combine strength to make apprehensions. As a result, apprehensions are becoming more frequent and larger quantities are being seized.

However, we are still not apprehending enough drug users, pushers, and traffickers or the narcotics availability across the United States would be less, instead of rising.

I am frequently asked one question: "Why arrest the small timer; why not go after the Big Boys?"

My answer to this is: "If you let the little ones go, then they

Morrow-Truelock Vows Exchanged Saturday

Vows were read Saturday, Sept. 20 at 8 p.m. in the Elgin Avenue Baptist Church of Lubbock, for Karinne Morrow and Sam Truelock. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Homer L. Morrow of Lubbock, and Mr. and Mrs. M.F. Truelock of Shallowater. Officiating was Rev. D.C. Hamilton, retired Baptist minister.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal length gown of white organza fashioned with a pleated ruffle at the high Victorian neckline and around the edge of the lace insert yoke on the empire bodice. The lace was accented with sequins and pearls, and the long sheer bishop sleeves with cuffs edged in the same pleated ruffling. The A-line skirt had a wide pleated ruffle at the hemline extending to a point up the bouffant back skirt, and around the bottom edge of the skirt which extends to a chapel length train. A satin ribbon encompassed the empire waistline. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of apricot spider mums and white carnations. Something old was a handkerchief belonging to her great grandmother; something new was her wedding attire; something borrowed and blue was a blue garter belonging to Mrs. Mike Lindsey.

Mrs. Leslie Morrow, sister-in-law of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore an apricot formal length chiffon dress fashioned with a lace insert on the bodice edged in self material and wide lace cuffs on the full sleeves. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Dennis Armistead and Mrs. Walter Johnson, Jr., both of Lubbock, wore matching apricot chiffon dresses. All the attendants dresses featured full circle skirts with wide ruffles at the bottom. They wore apricot carnation headpieces and carried cascade bouquets of apricot and green spider mums.

Flower girl was Angela Morrow of Grand Junction, Colo., niece of the bride. She wore an apricot organza long dress with white velvet sash and white flowers dotting the lower skirt. She carried a basket of apricot carnations and spider mums, with an apricot carnation headpiece. Ring bearer, Nick Morrow of Grand Junction, Colo., nephew of the bride, was dressed in a white suit with white bow tie and apricot shirt.

Candlelighters were Bart Pigg and Berry Pigg of Lubbock.

The groom wore a white Windsor tuxedo edged in black velvet around the collar, with an apricot carnation boutonniere. Best man, Steve Truelock, brother of the groom, wore a white Windsor jacket with black trousers and apricot shirt. Groomsmen, Gary Young and Leslie Morrow of Lubbock; and ushers Scotty Morrow and Leslie Morrow, wore black Windsor tuxedos with apricot shirts.

Organist was Jay Morrow of Abilene, brother of the bride.

groom received as wedding gifts. A silver coffee service was used on another table, presided over by Gerri Leslie, cousin of the bride.

The bride attended Texas Tech and graduated from commercial college. She is presently employed as a data processor at TG&Y Warehouse. The groom graduated from Texas Tech with a BA in psychology and will receive his masters in sociology this December. He will then enter active duty as a 2nd Lt. in the U.S. Army in February at Ft. McClellan, Alabama. He is presently employed in the Physical Therapy Department at St. Mary's Hospital.

After a wedding trip to Durango, Colo., the couple will reside in Lubbock.

Ranch Day Set October 4th at Texas Tech

Life for the American ranch family, from the 1830s to the early 20th Century, will be recreated in activities at Texas Tech University's Ranching Heritage Center during the sixth annual Ranch Day Oct. 4.

Activities will begin at 10 a.m. on the ranch and end by 12 noon when a barbecue lunch will be served by the Albany, Texas, Texas Trails Chuckwagon.

Registration will start at 9:30 a.m. in the lobby of The Museum of Texas Tech University where exhibits related to ranching will be on display.

Anyone can join the Ranch Headquarters Association which helps support the Ranching Heritage Center and which sponsors Ranch Day for its members. Memberships cost $5.00 for individuals, $10.00 for couples, $12.50 for each family, and $25.00 for organizations. Cost of the barbecue is $4 per person with sack lunches at $1.50 each for children under 12.

Notes and Quotes From Texas Tech

It won't be the first time Steve Sloan has met Texas when he leads the Red Raiders against the Longhorns Saturday. "I played against Texas in the Orange Bowl my junior year at Alabama," recalls Sloan. "However, I went out in the first quarter with a knee injury, but my substitute, Joe Namath, came in and did a pretty good job. It's super when you have a good backup like him."

Although he was born in Austin, Sloan has never seen Memorial Stadium except on TV. "Do they play Taps or the Eyes of Texas down there before the game," smiles Sloan.

They call them crunch and crunch and it's a toss up as to who is the most vicious—Texas Tech linebaker Harold Buell or the red-tail shark he keeps in his room as a pet.

"Actually, it's not very big yet," smiles Buell, a 6-1, 210 pounder from Houston Spring Branch, "but I'm hoping it will grow. Right now it just sort of stays in the plants and lurks—but with time and a little training, who knows he may turn into Jaws II."

Hey! Mumbblings of discontent in the ranks. You would almost think that New Mexico had beaten Texas Tech to hear the comments on Sunday. Ah, success, how fleeting is thy glory.

Forget that Tech is 2-0. The Raiders didn't mop up the Lobos as expected. Pass defense didn't look good. There were too many errors. The punting was weak. Boy! Four tough games coming up and if the Raiders don't do better, a month from now it will be 2-4.

And what is being said in defense? Not much, really. Even Coach Steve Sloan was not among the cheerleaders.

"We didn't play well the second half," he declared. "I guess we weren't ready mentally to play."

Steve even opened his postgame conference by saying that there probably wouldn't be as much humor tonight—and there wasn't. He was far more subdued, even though his own particular brand of drollness did creep in towards the end of his conference.

The Raiders didn't look sharp and no one can argue that point. The offense was shut down pretty well the last half, while turnovers plagued the team.

Fumbles and interceptions thwarted promising drives, penalties hurt and the Lobos stung with their passing and a belated rushing attack that kept the pressure on Tech. It was not an impressive victory, even though the Raiders came from behind to win.

Two plays, which offset each other in the long run, almost were forgotten. Sammie Williams dropped a pass that had seven points written all over it. That could have broken the game wide open.

The other was a pass on which interference wasn't called, although it appeared that Tech was guilty. That could well have put the Lobos in position to tie up the game and, with a successful two-point conversion, win all the marbles.

So, instead of optimism about Tech's chances of beating Texas Saturday, there was universal gloom. Man alive, Tech must play Texas, Oklahoma State, Texas A&M and Arizona on successive weekends—and three of those four games are on the road.

It doesn't look promising, but Tech doesn't need supporters with weak faith, it needs believers in miracles. And miracles are known to happen.

In two games the Raiders have used over 50 players in each. They have used a basic bread and butter offense with little trickery. They have played it pretty straight on defense.

In tough games I don't look for that many players to see action, offensively or defensively. I also think that you will see the pass used more and a little more diversity in the attack. In short, don't count the Raiders out on the basis of two games.

Texas, OSU and A&M don't use the pass like either Florida State or New Mexico, both of which have strong aerial games. Arizona will use it more like New Mexico did.

Instead, the first three teams are primarily ground teams. There's a big difference in preparing for such teams, compared to those with outstanding passing attacks. No, the first two games have been ideal for training against the middle part of the schedule coming up, the part that could make or break the Raiders.

Through the first two full weeks of play the Southwest Conference has done well, with 10 victories, 5 losses and a tie. It's a winning percentage.

There have been some shockers, like Oklahoma State beating Arkansas and Rice beating Houston. Otherwise, games have gone about as expected. Baylor apparently is for real and A&M was awesome beating LSU, while TCU may be weaker than expected.

There aren't many conference games for a while, with one this week, one next and no full action until Nov. 8. But by that time half the schools could be eliminated from contention.

So far everything upholds pre-season predictions that it will be between A&M, Texas, Arkansas and Baylor. Right now only Tech, Texas and A&M have perfect 2-0 records—and one of them will be 2-1 after Saturday.

By the time this hits the streets Pittsburgh probably will have clinched the National League East and will be set to play Cincinnati, while Oakland may have to wait a day to see if it's Boston or Baltimore—although that race, too, may be decided.

The stretch drive of the Orioles is unbelievable. As of Sunday, they had won 14 of 17, while the Red Sox again had faltered. If the Sox blow it, it will be incredible.

From the standpoint of fairness in competition, it's hard to believe that any court would uphold the NCAA's decision to limit traveling squads in college football to 48 members.

The home team already has an edge and the advantage in numbers makes it even greater. More and more coaches are playing a lot of men each game, especially with injuries dictating the role of substitutes.

But the rule was approved in the first place to save money and fewer players, more money saved. If you figure two to a room, it would be 24 motel charges compared to 30, with additional savings in meal costs, as well as air fares.

Still, to make it even, why doesn't the NCAA rule that the home team may have only 48 players in uniform? It might make no difference in the final score, but at least it would be equal treatment.

Frenship J-V Wins Game

The Frenship Junior Varsity won a hard fought battle with the Cooper JV by a score of 14-8. The Cooper JV scored first and tacked on a 2 point conversion. The touchdown came after a fumble by the Tigers on their own twenty.

The Tigers retaliated with a fumble recovery on Cooper's ten yard line. Lloyd Strong scored the touchdown from 4 yards out and also tacked on the extra point. No scoring was done until 1:30 left in the game, when Nick Olenik took the ball from a Cooper player and rambled 80 yards for a score.

Leading rushers for the game were Lloyd Strong and Gilbert Arvedo. The Tiger JV will play Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Tiger Field.

Take a chance on human nature; usually it pays off.

Football Spotlights

by Kim McMenamy

The football spotlights for this week are two seniors, Daryl Morris and Kirk Pierce. Daryl plays center and linebacker. Daryl is real aggressive and loves to injure his opponent. Daryl is 6 ft. 1 in. tall and weighs 175 pounds. With his aggressiveness and size, Daryl is capable of being one of the meanest players on the team. Dirk Pierce is a hard-hitting safety on defense and plays flanker on offense. Dirk is 5 ft. 6 inches tall and weighs 145 pounds. This is Dirk's first year at Shallowater, and he really likes it here. Dirk really works hard and is a Mustang to be reckoned with.

F.H.A. Goes To The Fair

by Caran Conner

The Shallowater F.H.A. Chapter had lots of participation on entry of fair items. The girls entered things that they had made themselves and did an excellent job on. Entered were all kinds of crafts such as: jewelry, stuffed animals, embroidered and crocheted items, wall hangings, and textile paintings. Blouses, dresses, pant suits, and play clothes were also made and entered. Lots of girls were busy this summer canning and entered jellies, vegetables, and pickles. Other girls spent time baking cakes, cookies, candy, brownies, coffee cakes, and quick breads that they entered in the competition. There's an incentive for each girl to enter something, winning a ribbon. Each chapter also wants to have more winners because the chapter with the most points wins $15.00, second $10.00, and third $5.00. It was a real good turnout because approximately 80 items were entered in the fair. Many received first, second, and third prizes. We hope to have a complete list of winners to announce next week.

F.F.A. Officers

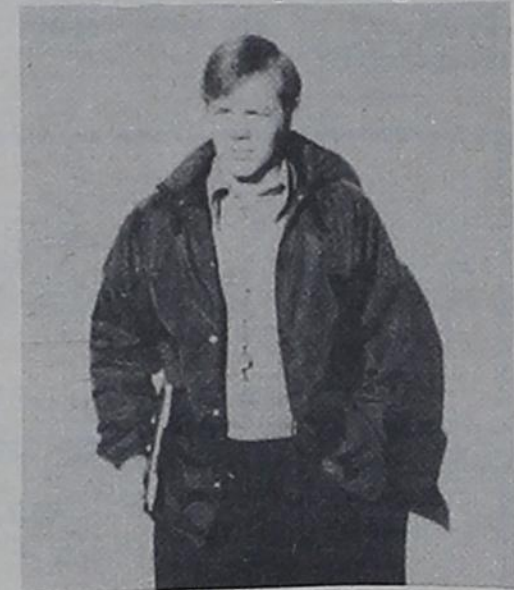

by Anita Alvarado

The F.F.A. officers for this year are as follows: George Stanton, president; Jay Truelock, vice-president; Jackie Randolph, secretary; Glen Jackson, treasurer; Mike Brazell, reporter; Scott Bryant, sentinel. The first Monday in October will be the first regularly scheduled meeting. They will be electing chapter sweetheart and will have green hand initiation.

Juniors Express Their Thanks

The junior class of Shallowater High School wishes to thank our community for the successful magazine sale we have just completed. The money we received will be used for the annual Junior-Senior Banquet next spring. We hope that you encounter no problems with your subscriptions but if any should occur do not hesitate to inform any member of the junior class. Please remember to allow at least 12 weeks for delivery of the first copy of your magazine. The junior class appreciates your support and help with all of our activities.

Teacher Spotlight

by Sue Wall

Coach Tubbs, this week's teacher spotlight, and his wife Kathy, reside at 1201 6th Street. They have two children, Chad, age four, and Lesly, five months. Coach Tubbs attended West Texas State University. He came to us from Hereford and he is our head basketball, assistant football, and golf coach. His comment on Shallowater is, "I like Shallowater, the people are friendly, it's the first small town I've ever lived in, and it's a really different experience when you know everyone and everyone knows you. The athletes and students are tremendous and very dedicated to their town and school." We, at Shallowater High, welcome Coach Tubbs and his family to Shallowater and to SHS.

Disappointing Homecoming

by Kim McMenamy

Homecoming was somewhat of a disappointment this year. State ranked New Deal was a worthy opponent indeed as the Shallowater squad had an off night. The final score was New Deal 39, Shallowater 0. Jeanye Hunter was crowned the 1975 Homecoming Queen. Tomorrow night at 8:00 the Mustangs play Hale Center at Hale Center.

Shallowater F.H.A.

On Tuesday morning, Amy Boring, Sheila Evans, Dawn Hutchings, Kathy Freeman, and Julie Sproles met at the Homemaking Cottage at 6:00 a.m. to prepare and serve breakfast for the school board. The board members met for a business discussion following the breakfast. They complimented the girls for the delicious meal. The next FHA meeting will be Oct. 6. Be there.

Try Good-Manship, Sport

A team is a partnership, each member of which has his ups and downs. If a member of your team is having some bad luck, the most encouraging thing you can do is show him you have confidence in him. No loss is every brought about by one member of a team. After all, unless you are perfect, your time for bad luck will come, too. So keep this in mind. If you want to enjoy your position on the team—be good. Learn sportsmanship.

Eighth Grade Game

by Rodney Jackson

The eighth grade went to New Deal Thursday night to compete against the New Deal Lions. It was an exciting game and we beat New Deal 34 to 6. The cheerleaders, pep squad and parents really had a lot of spirit. Pete Alvarado, number 22, made 4 touchdowns and 1 extra point. Number 37, Rodney Jackson, made 1 touchdown and 1 extra point. The crowd went into an uproar when number 25, Steve Roberts, intercepted a pass and ran 25 yards. We are really proud of all our Shallowater Ponies and encourage everyone to go out and watch them play.

Shallowater Band Marches in Parade

by Laura Walker

The Mighty Marching Mustang Band left around 9:15 Monday morning to march in the Panhandle South Plains Fair Parade. Shallowater was one of forty-five different schools represented in the parade. Led by drum major, George Parsley, the band played Mr. Sherman's arrangement of "I'll Fly Away". The parade lasted two hours and was almost two miles long.

Members of the band attended the fair and ratings were announced at 1:00 on the fair grounds. Although the Mustang Band marched and played well, it was not listed among the four top winners. The band gained experience and hope that next year will bring a first place for them. Starting next week, all information concerning the band will be written by the band reporter, Geniese Grawunder.

Jeanye Hunter is Elected Shallowater 1975 Homecoming Queen

by Melissa Martin

Shallowater maids were introduced and the queen, Jeanye Hunter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Hunter, was crowned at half-time of our 1975-76 homecoming game.

The candidates for Homecoming Queen were elected by the senior class. Then, later, all high school students voted on the nominees. Other nominees included Carol Shropshire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Shropshire; and Kim Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Young.

Maids were chosen by their own classes. The juniors elected Judy Waller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Waller Sr., to represent them. Tammy Medlock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Medlock, did a great job of representing the sophomore class. The freshman class made a wise decision in choosing Julie Sproles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Sproles, as the freshman maid.

All of the girls were escorted by their fathers at the half-time coronation field. During the pep rally Friday, the girls were presented and seated in a place of honor. Julie was escorted by Andy Blackmon. Tammy was escorted by Curtis Lester, while David Montieth was escorting Judy Waller. Daryl Morris was Jeanye's escort. Carol was escorted by Bill Dixon, and Jackie Randolph escorted Kim Young.

Shallowater Ponies Tie New Deal

by Robert Sanders

Starting off, Shallowater won the toss and elected to receive. The Ponies failed to score in the first quarter but action picked up when quarterback, Robert Sanders, passed to fullback Marcus Lara on the one yard line, preceding the Ponies' score. The New Deal defense prevailed and blocked the extra-point. The score at half-time was Shallowater 6 and New Deal 0.

Starting off the third quarter, Robert Sanders hurt his ankle and Raymond Longoria took his place. Both the Ponies and New Deal failed to move the ball or score during the third quarter.

Starting off the fourth quarter, the Lions went for 45 yards to make their score. With time running out, Shallowater had the ball and failed to move it.

The final score was Shallowater Ponies 6 and New Deal Lions 6.
