Many of the Junior High students also received certificates for Perfect Attendance, All A Honor Roll and A Average Honor Roll.

Shallowater City Tax Notices to Be Mailed to City Residents this Week

Some 1500 tax notices will be placed in the mails this week according to Miss Jessie Lee Vance, Tax Assessor for the City of Shallowater, and Mrs. Ruth Walker, Tax Assessor for the Shallowater Independent School District. These notices will advise all property owners of the new assessed valuation placed on their property for 1974. The tax value shown on the notice will be the value for both the City and the School District if the property is in the city limits. If the property is outside the city, the value is for the school district only.

These tax valuations are the result of the tax 'equalization program' employed by the City of Shallowater and the Shallowater Independent School District to insure that each property owner pays only his fair share of the cost of operating the city and school. Many property owners will find that their assessment has been reduced, while many others will find their assessment has been increased; some assessments will remain approximately the same.

The taxes paid by the property owner is an 'ad valorem' tax—meaning 'according to value.' The state law requires assessment of this tax on an equal and uniform basis. To comply with the law, it was necessary to reappraise all property in the City of Shallowater and the Shallowater Independent School District equitably and uniformly. All of the land has been set out on maps, as well as aerial photographs, and appraised at so much per front foot, square foot or acre, depending upon the many factors that must be considered. All residences and commercial buildings have been appraised separately from the land. Buildings were appraised by the use of a cost schedule which takes into consideration the type and quality of construction. Depreciation was applied depending upon age, condition and degree of utility. All appraisal data has been placed on permanent record cards. One side of this appraisal data has been placed on permanent record cards. One side of this appraisal

The Shallowater Lions Club met on Thursday, May 9 at Vardeman's Restaurant to celebrate their 20th Anniversary as a Charter Club.

The meeting was called to order by Clois Cobb, Jr., First Vice-President. Bobby Styles gave

Shallowater School Band Concert Presented Here Last Friday Evening

The Shallowater School Band Concert was presented on Friday, May 10 in the High School Auditorium at 8:15 p.m.

The program was opened with the Fifth Grade Band. They played Marine's March, Army Song, Away We Go, and Skaters Waltz.

The Sixth Grade Band presented Colonel John, The Space King, Greensleeves and Grand March.

After intermission the Junior High Band played the following: Little Rock, Phantom Trumpets, Scarborough Fair, Cycles, When The Saints Go Marchin' In, and Hogan's Heroes March.

The High School Band presented the last part of the program. They played Thundercrest, Reverie, Fantasy For Band, I Think I Love You, Overture (From Tommy), Chicago, We've Only Just Begun, and Can't Help Falling In Love.

The Band Booster Club met following the Concert and elected the following officers for the 1974-75 school year: President, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Hayslip, Vice-President, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Buck, Secretary, Mrs. Jimmy Marrs, Treasurer, Mrs. J.D. Young and Reporter, Mrs. Floyd Epperson.

Rays of Hope

by Pat Stanton

A few years have passed since a friend gave me a wall plaque that had a very special reading from the Bible. This was the main thought, "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on thee". . . . Isaiah 26:3.

I have looked at the plaque many times in passing and thought it to be a very pleasing and hopeful thought. In recent years, this has become more than just a favorite verse. The truth of it has become an actual reality for in knowing the author of true peace I have found the source and supply of continual and abiding peace. The greatest peacemaker in the world, Jesus Christ of Nazareth, this is of whom I speak.

Many Christian people are still searching for a daily peace. They do have peace in their heart because they have the Prince of Peace, but their minds are often distracted by fear, worry, and doubt.

What do they do when plagued by these enemies? Many will turn to ceaseless activity, more work or a friend and even then the frustrations are still there.

In the midst of these problems, there is a daily cure. First of all, we have to recognize where fear, worry, and doubt come from. II Timothy 1:7 tells us that God is certainly not the one that keeps our minds filled with fear. The writer goes on to say that God has given us power, love, and a sound mind. We Christians need to claim this great promise every day and quit losing the battle to the enemy.

Philippians 4:6,7 gives the believer a promise of peace. The Living Bible reads as follows: "Don't worry about anything; instead, pray about everything; tell God your needs and don't forget to thank Him for His answers." If you do this you will experience God's peace, which is far more wonderful than the human mind can understand. His peace will keep your thoughts and your hearts quiet and at rest as you trust in Christ Jesus.

Also a definite must is to ask the Father in the name of Jesus to cleanse you and forgive your sins and ask his peace to fill your mind. (John 14:27). This will work every time if you have God as your father; if you ask in the name of Jesus, if you hate or think evil of no one and have no unforgiveness in your heart.

I definitely feel that someone who will read this writing is undergoing a tremendous strain that is affecting their minds.

There is always his peace available. Learn how to tap into this wonderful supply.

If anyone desires help or more information regarding peace of mind and heart, feel free to write me at Route 1, Shallowater or call 763-1334.

A Chinese Custom . . .

The so-called detente established with Red China was not billed as an attempt to adopt the Chinese culture. Yet, this seems to be the result.

* * *

This refers to the Chinese custom of always attempting to "save face."

* * *

When the so-called energy crisis developed, one of the first measures introduced by the Federal bureaucracy, and one of which was rushed through the Congress was to put the nation on daylight saving time during the winter.

* * *

The rationale was that if there was an hour longer daylight in the evening, lights would be turned on an hour later, saving electricity.

* * *

However, strangely overlooked was the fact that this meant the lights would be turned on an hour earlier in the morning, and also more heat would be used because the coldest time of the night is the last few hours before dawn.

* * *

In addition, it required lighting and heating schools earlier in the day, and also closing them down when the day's temperature reached its peak.

And in addition to all these factors, it also meant that

SPORTS

by Joe Kelly

Two Boston teams apparently are headed in opposite directions, at least as of Monday night. The Celtics overcame major obstacles to win the pro basketball title in the NBA, but the Bruins played like pussycats in falling behind Philadelphia in the hockey playoffs.

The Celtics, who used to rule the roost in the days of Bob Cousy and Company, had the determination. They were underdogs and yet they shrugged it off to come out on top.

John Havlicek possibly was the key. The veteran Celtic played like a youngster and literally drove his teammates to victory. The Celtics obviously wanted the title more than the Bucks. (And that could be a play on words, since it also meant dollars).

You might say the Bucks were Kareem-ed. The former All American got his points, but he didn't get enough scoring help. Shades of Wilt Chamberlain in his prime!

As for the Hockey Bruins, they didn't show much Sunday. Where the Celtics played with desire and drive, the Bruins looked apathetic and almost listless.

The Flyers carried the fight to the Bruins, forced them into mistakes and took advantage of careless play. Surprisingly, the Flyers now have the edge and, while the Stanley Cup playoffs are far from over, the momentum is with the Flyers.

I quite honestly didn't hold the Flyers in high esteem when I saw the series against Atlanta. They impressed me with their physical strength, but I didn't think they were capable of beating a team of equal size, strength and ability.

I still don't think that they are better than the Bruins, when the latter play up to their ability. Anything less than their best, though, is going to cost Boston victory.

The Flyers proved that they are sound. They have good speed, they are quick, they check hard and they shrug off penalties with brilliant defensive hockey. The Flyers also are alert.

To give credit where credit is due, they carried the fight to the Bruins and, despite Bobby Orr, the most exciting player in the sport, Phil Esposito and Wayne Cashman, the Flyers came up with players as equal or better. If Boston fights back, it could be one of the best of the Cup finals.

There are stirrings on the local baseball front, and I don't mean high school, college or semi-pro. I'm talking about the former West Texas-New Mexico League players.

Jackie Sullivan, a deputy in the sheriff's office here, formed an organization of former players, fans and others some four years ago. The group opened with an Oldtimer's Game in conjunction with the NBC playoffs and drew a tremendous crowd.

That winter there was a get together at Ransom Canyon, strictly social, and it was a success. The next year the players took their aging talents to Lamesa, where an appreciative crowd turned out for the exhibition.

A pre-Christmas party that winter didn't do well and last summer's scheduled game was rained out after some people had driven from as far as Eastern New Mexico to see the players.

Now, a double feature is scheduled. The Amarillo baseball team of the Texas League wants to stage an exhibition game some time in June as a feature of a home stand. Apparently the old warhorses are raring to give it another creaky whirl.

Then, there probably will be another Oldtimer's Game, with the site yet to be determined. Plainview might be a good spot for, in the short time pro ball flourished, it did well there.

Enjoyed a visit with Bob Parks of Sportsman Supply the other day. Bob's office is interesting to anyone with a love of hunting or fishing—even despite a picture of former Raider basketballer Ardis Barton, now a ginner in Earth.

Bob showed me his boats, and he has some beauties that he will "sacrifice" to the bass fisherman—or anyone else. He explained carefully why his boats are the finest bass boats on the market.

We also talked about Tech football and basketball and the amazing success that Jim Carlen has had in a short time. "I've got to agree with him," Bob said, "that he has the best coaching staff in the nation."

We also talked fishing, where to go, what bait to use, etc. Bob is a good source of information on various lakes and you could do worse than talk with him before planning a trip.

*****

If you don't think fish are amazing, consider this item from the Parks & Wildlife Dept. Five walleyes were netted by department men in Lake Marble Falls recently.

So? So, no walleyes ever were stocked in Lake Marble Falls. They had been stocked, however, a year ago April in Lake LBJ and apparently travelled through the dam's gates to Marble Falls.

Recently, I took my wife to Buchanan Dam for a combination business-pleasure trip that was, however, devoid of any fishing. Other than that, it was a great trip through varied scenery.

After our return, my wife was telling her hairdresser about the trip. The latter explained that they knew that area well, because they had a place at Tow, not far away. She said that prices were cheap and the fishing great.

You might look into it, for it's not a long drive and the area is beautiful—along with good fishing.

It's not too early to start plugging the annual All America game to be held in Lubbock June 22. That's only five short weeks from this Saturday and once again it deserves the support of all football and civic minded citizens.

The addition of Joe Barnes and Kenneth Wallace from Tech adds a lot of early spice. In addition, more than usual outstanding stars are expected to play. Mark the date on your calendar and plan to attend. You'll see a good game and one that only adds to the impressive Lubbock story.

Beef for The Home Freezer

Buying beef wholesale for storage in the home freezer can be a money-saving experience, if it's done wisely. Some guidelines are listed by Woodrow Bailey, livestock and meat specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

First of all, locate a reliable firm. The Better Business Bureau or Retail Credit Association can furnish information.

Decide what cuts of beef your family likes and know how much you consume over a period of time. Beef will usually show some storage flavor after six months in a freezer.

For a family of six or more people that enjoys hamburgers, steaks and pot roasts, Bailey suggests buying a complete side of beef. It will provide all the cuts you see displayed in a supermarket.

If broiled steaks are the family preference, a full loin may be the best purchase as it will yield only sirloin, porterhouse, T-bone and club steaks.

For those favoring pot roasts, a fore quarter would be in order. The price would be much less than a hind quarter and the amount of edible meat would be about the same.

Bailey also advises buying beef according to grades by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The "Choice" grade is best if steaks and roasts are to be broiled or dry roasted. Choice beef has been fed longer and has more marbling (fat scattered throughout the lean). It is more expensive. On the other hand, "Good" grade beef is suitable if steaks are pan fried and roasts are "pot roasted". If ungraded beef is bought, check the rib eye muscle for a liberal sprinkling of fat throughout the lean.

Cattle that have been grain fed provide the best beef for your money. Bailey advises against purchasing a calf for your freezer out of a pasture.

When buying beef wholesale, be sure the meat is trimmed properly with only a minimum amount of fat. A Choice carcass should not have more than one-half inch of fat on the outside.

The specialist also suggests that a wholesale cut or carcass be weighed in the buyer's presence. A carcass should yield about 75 per cent retail cuts, with the remaining 25 per cent going to fat and bones.
