PTA Survey Results Given

The school mailed 966 survey forms to local and Rt. 1 box holders. Of the 966 surveys mailed, 146 were returned. Of the ones returned, 112 rated the school system. The ratings were as follows: 10% - A; 45% - B; 38% - C; 6% - D; and 1% - F. Statistically, of the surveys mailed, less than 8/10% of 1% rated the system below average and of the surveys returned, 5% rated the school below average. Everyone and any organization can improve including this system and based upon the PTA Survey, we will attempt to take the local citizens feelings into consideration in operating this school system.

The School Board and Staff want to thank the PTA for all the work they put into running this survey. This type of survey is very time consuming and the PTA contributed many hours of developing the survey and tallying the results. All comments have been read by school personnel and members of the Board and these comments will be considered.

We also appreciate the interest of the community in taking the time to answer the survey and we

Congratulations Seniors! From members of the School Board and Staff of Shallowater Schools. We are proud of each of you on your graduation from Shallowater High. We also want to take this opportunity to recognize Miss Susie DeAnda, Valedictorian; Miss Alison Terry, Salutatorian, for 1977. These are accomplishments you will cherish for the rest of your life.

The Board and Staff appreciate the efforts of parents on your willingness to work with school officials during the past school year. This effort on your part benefits the children in Shal-

We also appreciate the efforts of the police and fire departments for the security provided, and a special thanks to the merchants and people who, through your financial contributions, help support student organizations.

Accident Study Under Way

Farm machinery and recent winter weather have taken their toll of Texas farm and ranch accident victims, according to Dr. Gary Nelson, a safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Nelson bases his report on information obtained from 300 volunteers who have recently begun collecting facts about accidents on a sample of 3,000 Texas farms and ranches. The accident study is being carried out through a cooperative effort of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the National Safety Council. The efforts of volunteer data collectors are directed toward decreasing the 200 accident fatalities and approximately 4,000 disabling injuries which occur on Texas farms and ranches every year. Data will be collected at the end of every quarter throughout 1977.

"Early returns of accident descriptions indicate that 30 per cent have involved slips and falls, with the majority involving falls on ice. Other falls included those from ladders and slips and falls on mud," points out Nelson.

Another 30 per cent of the reported accidents involved machinery, with tractors leading the list. Nelson notes that one type of tractor accident which involves the handling of large round hay bales contains a potential for a fatal outcome. This occurs when the front-end loader is raised too high and the bale - all 1,000 pounds worth - rolls down the arms of the elevated loader and lands on the head of the tractor operator.

"Other accidents revealed in early study returns involve the mishandling of animals, inadequate lifting of materials, and misuse of handtools," notes the safety engineer.

"It is important to learn what accidents are occurring to our neighbor farmers and ranchers," emphasizes Nelson. "This will assist equipment designers in correcting discovered deficiencies and will cause operators and users to give special attention to following correct procedures where a high potential for mishap exists."

Congratulations Seniors

It is not the critic who counts, not the man who points out how the strong man stumbled, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena: whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs and comes short again and again: who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions, and spends himself in a worthy cause; who, at the best, knows in the end the triumph of high achievement: and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while doing greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat.
