Carnival Against Dystrophy Readied

Five Arrested in Drug Raid

Five persons, in two separate cases, were arrested by Cochran County deputies in Morton last week and charged with possession of Marijuana.

One of the persons arrested and charged, Wendel Bicket, 20, 306 S.W. Third Street, was arrested and charged with possession of a narcotic drug, Marijuana, according to sheriff deputies, they searched Bicket's residence with a search warrant and found what appeared to be Marijuana growing in his yard and flower beds. He was free after posting a $1,000 bond.

Lamont Debre, 20, also of Morton, and three juveniles, one reported to be 14 and the other 15 years old, were apprehended in the act of smoking what was thought to be a Marijuana cigarette. According to sheriff records, the four were sitting around a fire in a grove of trees near Morton and passing the alleged Marijuana cigarette from mouth to mouth when they were apprehended.

Dewbre's bond was set at $1,000 and the juveniles were released in the custody of their parents.

Shallowater 4-H Club News

Monday, June 18, 1973 at 7:30 p.m., the Shallowater 4-H Club met at the Clubhouse. The meeting was called to order and Jon Gates, reported riflery project would start soon. Genise Grauwunder gave an exciting report on her trip to the State 4-H Roundup in Austin, where she was 2nd place winner on her Method demonstration. She also reported when the 4-H camp would be and also there is a possibility of a county fair.

Linda Munder and dog "Suzie" showed what is learned at Obedience School by the dog and its master. She announced new training class would start this week.

This month's main topic of the meeting was the Record Book Workshop, presented by Mr. Louis McMenamy, 4-H adult leader.

Club members were dismissed and then enjoyed homemade ice cream furnished by Maureen Pair, Benny and Alan Judah. Cookies were furnished by Kathy Farris, Randy Middlebrook and Debra Crowther.

The next meeting will be the third Monday night in July. The program will be a 4-H picnic.

Lisa Bartlett is selling tickets for her June 27 "Carnival Against Muscular Dystrophy". Tickets can be purchased at Lisa's home, 1313 6th Street in Shallowater, where the carnival is to begin at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday. All money from the carnival will be sent to the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc. (Staff Photo)

Lions Club Meeting Was Last Thursday

Shallowater Lions Club met for a regular meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday, June 14 at Vardeman's Restaurant.

Lions Club president, Jack DeLaney, presented the club 2 plaques which were delivered to him at the District 2T2 Convention in May. One was for recruiting the most new members during October Membership Development Contest. The other was for greatest percentage of gain during the October campaign.

Lion Milton Elliott was presented a pen for membership development in his zone.

Lubbock County Sheriff Choc Blanchard was speaker for the evening.

The next meeting will be Thursday, June 28 at 8 p.m. at Vardeman's. New officers will be installed for the 1973-74 term. Their meeting will be a ladies night meeting.

To Attend LCC Cheerleading School

Misses Teri Dixon, Gracie Lupton, Debbie Grimes, Lana Williamson, and Allison Terry will attend Cheerleading School at Lubbock Christian College next week, starting Saturday.

Charles R. Hohertz is New Principal at Shallowater Junior-Senior High School

Mr. Charles R. Hohertz was employed as the Junior-Senior High Principal for the 1973-1974 school year.

Mr. Hohertz taught math in the New Deal Schools for the past two years and has previously taught in the Benjamin, Goree, and Eastland Schools. He has a B.S. Degree from Texas Tech and a Master's Degree from Mid-Western University.

Mr. Hohertz is married and his wife, Virginia Raye, is also a teacher. They have two children, Cathy 11 years old and Charla 7.

What is Lisa Bartlett's goal in her June 27 Carnival Against Muscular Dystrophy? "At least 18 dollars!" Lisa said in a pre-carnival interview.

Ten-year-old Lisa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Bartlett, said the carnival will begin at 2:30 p.m. on "the front" lawn of her residence at 1313 6th Street in Shallowater.

Tickets, which are on sale at 1313 6th Street, cost ten cents per person or 25 cents per family, but, Lisa stressed, donations are welcome. All money from the carnival will go to the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc. So far, ticket sales have netted $1.35.

Diane Cate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E.M. Cate, Jr. of 1214 9th Street in Shallowater, will help with the carnival which will include a treasure hunt, bowling on the green, refreshments, fortune telling, and a bean bag toss, Lisa said.

Carnival participants can purchase two cookies and a glass of KoolAid for a nickel, she added.

Lisa said she has never planned a fund-raising carnival before, but estimated the event will continue for two and a half hours. The carnival idea, she said, came from the "Captain Foghorn" television program. Lisa simply dialed a local television station and requested information. That was the beginning.

Trustees of the Lubbock School District have voted to annex one square mile of the Frenship School District if the change is ordered by Lubbock County Commissioner's Court.

Howell Kilgore is requesting the annexation as he plans to develop the area north of 4th Street and west of Frankford Avenue. Preliminary plans call for 550 single homes, 1,140 town houses and 920 apartments in the area.

The Frenship school board are opposed to giving up part of this district. A new law signed last week by Gov. Dolph Briscoe, abolished the Lubbock County School Board and placed in the hands of the Commissioner's Court the jurisdiction over all petitions to enlarge, annex or otherwise change school district boundaries.

Asked what she plans for her future, Lisa said, "I'm going to be a teacher, and if I don't make teacher, I'm going to make nurse." Lisa is in the fifth grade.

Equalization Board Meets Next Thursday

The Shallowater Independent School District has set the date for the Board of Equalization meeting for Thursday, June 28, 1973 to be held in the School Tax Office.

The Board will convene at 9 a.m. and remain in session until 3 p.m.

The purpose of the Equalization Board Meeting is to give any district taxpayer a chance to present any tax problem for the Board's Review.

DEBRA HAD A LITTLE LAMB—Debra Crowther with one of her show lambs she raised as a 4-H project during the past two years.

Miss Debra Crowther daughter of Mrs. Jack Crowther of Shallowater, has raised 2 show sheep as her 4-H Club project the past two years, and has won many honors in her 3 years of club work. Besides her sheep projects, she has earned medals in clothing and foods. Debra is 11½ years of age and a 6th grader in the Shallowater School.

In 1972, her first year to raise sheep, Debra's lamb won fourth place at the Shallowater Jr. Livestock Show. Later the sheep was entered in the South Plains and Lubbock shows, but did not place. Debra entered 2 lambs in 1973, her medium wool lamb won third place at the Shallowater Live Stock Show, and 11th in the Lubbock Show. The Southdown sheep won second place at the Shallowater Junior Live Stock Show and 6th place in the Lubbock Show. Both animals were in the top 2/3 of class, which made them eligible for the premium sale.

The lambs were bought by the Shallowater Ag Boosters.

Debra wishes to express her appreciation for their support and encouragement.

Land Grab is Criticized!

by Mrs. Joe Mangum

It seems to me that it would be to the advantage of all patrons of the Frenship School District to contact the members of the Commissioner's Court and protest the annexation of this land by Lubbock School District.

As I understand it, the bonded debt adjustment would be a very small sum. But the loss in school taxes would be a much greater amount.

It doesn't seem fair that a land developer can request such an annexation and get it, thus gobbling up land for Lubbock School District and the smaller School Districts around the city losing by it. Who knows where the next developer will want to go to grab land for the Lubbock School District to benefit from?

Energy & The Future

If inflation is currently the nation's number-one domestic problem, the energy shortage is probably the number-one long-term domestic problem. And it seems clear the federal government must move on several fronts to insure adequate energy for the American people in years to come.

Since there's little time to lose (a start should have been made several years ago), the Nixon Administration, it seems obvious, should mount an all-out effort to produce within this country approximately ninety per cent of the nation's energy needs—because national security demands that we not become overly dependent on foreign oil.

To accomplish this more coal must be mined, and used. We have more than ample reserves. More oil and gas must be produced in this country, some perhaps on federal lands. More nuclear power must be developed. Conservation should be preached and practices, and engines burning less fuel and producing less pollution are desirable for our automobiles. These are general goals almost everyone agrees on; it is now up to the Nixon Administration to have them translated, by experts, who appreciate that the public interest and national security are our primary consideration, into a practical program. How the President meets this crying need will, at least in part, determine history's judgement on his second term.

To The Young

Pertinent advice for the young generation has been offered by Judge Phillip Gilliam of Denver, Colorado. Today's young men and women are more sensible and realistically oriented than were their counterparts just four or five years ago but the advice is still valid, and worth repeating each summer—as college and university students go home:

"Go home. Hang the storm windows, paint the woodwork, rake the leaves, mow the lawn, wash the car, learn to cook, scrub the floors, repair the sink, build a boat, get a job, help the minister, priest or rabbi. Visit the sick, help the poor, study your lessons . . . and when you are through and not too tired read a good book.

Your parents don't owe you entertainment. Your city or village doesn't owe you a living. You owe the world something. You owe it your time and energy and talents so that no one will be at war or in poverty or sick or lonely. In plain simple words, grow up; quit being a cry baby. Get out of your dream world and develop a backbone, not a wishbone; start acting like a man or lady. You have no right to expect your parents to buy you every whim or fancy just because your selfish ego instead of common sense dominates your personality, thinking and requests. In heaven's name, grow up and go home."

Nixon, Dean & Cox

The recent charge by John Dean, that he discussed Watergate many times with President Nixon, was not unexpected. After all, he had been the man designated to investigate White House involvement. And he is apparently hard put to explain his alleged investigative role in the affair.

Other White House aides have testified that Nixon became dissatisfied with Dean's investigation, which is said to have exonerated everyone in the White House. It seems obvious Dean wouldn't have been telling the President anything different. Aides have also testified the President sent Dean to Camp David for six days to write a report on the investigation. Dean returned with nothing in writing. He was then fired according to reports.

Splashing his charges against the President on front pages over the world, depressing the dollar, the stock market and causing widespread consternation and doubt was certainly a costly business. But it is inevitable as long as a Senate committee continues its circus—which Democrat special prosecutor Archibald Cox has asked postponed. Cox says the whole truth may never be discovered if the Senate show continues before the television cameras; he seeks a delay of three months to conduct the Justice Department's investigation.

The politicians, of course, know when they have a crowd-pleaser, a good gate attraction, and make the most of it, for better or worse. Since Democrats control Congress and its committees, it's inevitable politics is being played in these scandal hearings.

The Justice Department would not play that game. And since Democrats on the Hill overwhelmingly approved fellow-Democrat Cox only a few weeks ago, they should now comply with his request for the good of the nation and in the interest of obtaining the truth "from bottom to top," as Cox puts it. That kind of Justice Department determination can be relied upon; sensational, self-defense statements from a parade of involved witnesses before a Democratic committee, about a Republican President, cannot be equally relied upon.

Rushed Plantings Cause Weed Problems in West Texas Grain Sorghum Fields

In their haste to get grain sorghum planted after a late harvest and wet spring, many High Plains farmers skipped the pre-plant or pre-emergence applications of herbicides used for controlling weeds. These fields will now need careful attention, says a Lubbock-based agronomist.

Dr. James Supak, area specialist with the Texas Agricultura Extension Service, says that many area fields where no herbicides were used are becoming heavily infested with weeds. In some cases, herbicides were used but their effectiveness was limited by less than ideal soil and moisture conditions.

Under these circumstances, what is the farmer's best approach?

"Mechanical methods such as cultivation or knifing will help," says Supak, "but the weeds left in the drill row are the real problem.

"The weeds can be cleaned out by hoeing, but this method is costly. The next best method is with timely and precise post emergence applications of herbicides."

The agronomist explains that for small careless weeds (less than one and a half inches), atrazine (Aatres) is recommended. The rate necessary to obtain control depends on the soil type and is specified on the chemical label. Usually, the rate is about one and a half pounds for these small weeds.

For larger careless weeds and small annual grasses, a higher rate of atrazine (up to two and a half pounds per acre) plus one gallon per acre of a non-phyto-toxic crop oil is needed to get control.

"Even with this higher rate," Supak points out, "careless weeds more than four inches tall and even small annual grasses may not be controlled, especially if they are moisture-stressed at the time of application."

The area specialist says that atrazine is capable of killing weeds that germinate after it is applied. A timely rain or incorporation with a rolling cultivator within two days after application will increase the residual effectiveness of the herbicide.

Although atrazine generally provides effective post emergence weed control, the chemical has some limitations. First, it persists in the soil for long periods of time, and only sorghum and corn can be grown the following year. Second, atrazine should not be used on sandy or loamy sand soil because serious crop injury can result. And third, sorghum must be at least six inches tall before over-the-top atrazine treatments can be applied, Suak emphasizes.

For broadleaf weed control in areas where cotton and soybeans are not grown extensively, 2,4-D or Vanvel may be used. The 2,4-D is available in amine, acid and ester formulations. However, the amine formulation will drift less than the ester or acid. All formulations of 2,4-D may be used at one-half pound per acre to control broadleaf weeds less than two inches in sorghum. The sorghum should be at least six inches tall but not yet to the boot stage at the time of application. The agronomist warns that hybrids with wheatland parentage are susceptible to 2,4-D damage at all growth stages and should not be treated with this chemical.

Banvel, another effective herbicide for broadleaf weeds, should be applied at one-fourth pound per acre to sorghum that is three to twelve inches tall but not later than 25 days after crop emergence, Supak advises.

Since both Banvel and 2,4-D constitute a drift hazard to susceptible crops such as cotton, soybeans and vegetables, he says, precautions must be taken. While Banvel causes less injury to cotton than 2,4-D, soybeans appear to be more sensitive to it.

Spray drift, Supak explains, can be minimized by the use of high gallonage (10 to 20 gallons per acre) and low pressure (15 to 20 pounds per square inch) at a time when the wind is less than 10 mph.

Careless weeds that emerge after late irrigations and which are less than two inches tall can be controlled with post emergence directed sprays of Karmex he adds. Applications of two-tenths to four-tenths pound per acre should be made using 20 to 40 gallons of water containing one-half of one percent surfactant. Sorghum should be at least 15 inches tall. This is an inexpensive treatment which provides excellent weed control and leaves no residues which might damage next year's crops.

"Heavy infestations of grassy weeds such as Johnsongrass, nutgrass, and watergrass can not be controlled in sorghums with the available herbicides," Supak says. "However, lighter infestations of Johnsongrass and nutgrass can be spot treated with MSMA. Watergrass which emerges after a preplant application of propazine (Milogard) can be controlled by applying an additional two pounds of AAtrex after sorghum is six inches tall, and should be incorporated with rolling cultivator."

SPORTS

by Joe Kelly

This is it! The All America game unfolds Saturday night in Jones Stadium amid all the splendor and pomp that only Lubbock can stage. It's truly a magnificent spectacle.

To go with it are two football squads that well could be the best that have ever been assembled. That includes the two abortive efforts to stage the game at Buffalo, N.Y., and Atlanta, Ga. This year's group is outstanding by any standards.

As usual, it probably will be a passing game to go with the punishing ground game that both teams manage to develop in a span that is all too short to develop a smooth attack.

Passing has been the key to other games, despite the fact that there have been tremendous runners. And this year's game has four of the finest aerialists around. I'd have to go with Terry Davis and Don Strock, both of the East, as having an edge.

You can argue quarterbacks all afternoon and not come out ahead. You can do the same with runners, although I think that Greg Pruitt could turn out to be the top rusher in the game.

Both teams have great runners, which is what you expect in this type of all-star game. In fact, there isn't a player on either team who doesn't come equipped with the credentials to prove that he has earned a place. Second raters just aren't considered.

I will be pulling for the Southwest Conference players to have outstanding games, especially Don Rives and Davis Corley of Texas Tech. They have a chance here to show why so many in these parts considered them among the best in the nation.

Probable, however, the defensive action will center on Rich Glover, the great Nebraska middle guard. Many consider Glover the finest defensive player in the U.S.

If you haven't bought a ticket for this extravaganza, it isn't too late. The game deserves our support, not only because it brings the city and Tech so much publicity and exposure, but also because the proceeds are used for worthwhile causes.

When you come right down to it, the All America game is a bargain. Only on nationwide TV would you see so many 1972 stars. And here you see them on the same field.

If I was sponsoring the game, which I'm not, I'd be less than excited when talk of moving the show somewhere else. It was tried elsewhere with less than enthusiastic success.

In Lubbock, and West Texas, it has found a home. With the kind of support it has gotten, and probably will continue to receive, it would be the height of stupidity to move it. This is "home" to the All-America game and this is where it will stay.

Despite normal June heat, the players have been working hard this week. Their biggest problem is getting their timing down on offense. In other games, this surprisingly hasn't been a factor. These are stars and they learn quick.

As for the heat, it really isn't that bad, especially for these youngsters. When you consider that gray-haired old men cut the grass and work in the sun, it can't be that impossible for these young men. Tough, yes, but not killing.

Anyway, to heck with everything else. This is the All America game! This is for Lubbock and West Texas. Support a worthwhile cause and get your full money's worth. You'll be glad you did.

There isn't a bad seat in the stadium and the action is exciting no matter where you sit. And, in years to come, you may be able to tell someone that you saw some particular play that was unusual or especially noteworthy. In short, Go To The Game!

Next week's scribbling in this place will relate once again to Saranac Lake, N.Y. For, shortly after this appears, the wife and I will head out for the Adirondacks and, hopefully, some good fishing this year. Last year, you may remember, we ran into Hurricane Agnes.

A friend tells me that the water is higher this year, thanks to the rains they have had. And his writing about catching a juicy, succulent Red Salmon was all I needed to hear. I'll let you know from the mountains what it's like.

Lake E.V. Spence Fishing Report

Fishermen are catching big striped bass and lots of keeper black bass at Lake Spence near Robert Lee. Strippers have been schooling in the main portion of the lake. The saltwater transplants have been taking up the feeding habits of their 'running mates' the white bass.

Lately, several times during each day they can be found thrashing around on the surface while feeding on shad. Some nice sized stripers have been taken with top water baits since the surface feeding began.

However, the majority of the stripers are still being caught with deep running trolling rigs.

Black bass action has also picked up at the Robert Lee Lake. Some nice fish are being taken by worm fishermen who work the ledges and dropoffs around Spence Lake.

"Texas" Musical Drama Opens Once Again

Prizes will be waiting for the 242 person who walks up the ramp to see the Gala Opening of the eighth season of the musical drama "Texas", because he or she will be the 500,000 person to attend this production. In seven years the show has drawn half a million people.

The Paul Green show this season will be the finish of many races against time, as it always is at the opening of a new season.

The directors, William and Margaret Moore, Royal Brantley and Neil Hess, have had to find time to prepare the members of the cast so that the opening comes at the peak of their powers when they are ready but not jaded or tired.

The costumers led by Charlotte Brantley have prepared a new look for the second act overture and renewed the other scenes. However, this took more time than usual because the new members of the cast happen to be very different sizes from the ones they are replacing.

Pat Jarrett and his sound and light crew have been working day and night for two months to install a new lighting system in the theater handicapped by the loss of time in long delays in the delivery of some of the key parts.

The construction crew building the new rest rooms near the theatre which the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is responsible for, is working against time to make up for weather caused delays at the start of the project.

The crew under technical director Nick Reid and stage manager Jim Meeks is repairing the make up for the ravages of this

He is also concerned about food and concession supplies and the mechanics of the Box Office.

The monument company must have time to carve the additional memorial names on the historical wall under the rain shelter at the theatre.

for many years must have time to receive and confirm the reservations so that the ushers may seat and greet the audience.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Nolon Henson, the committee for the Gala Opening will find time to hang the works of the finalists in the Windmill Art Competition and help the judges choose the winners. She must also arrange for the best-of-show ceremony from the stage.

After seven years of experience in making these races come out even, the staff will present the

Postmaster at Texas Chapter Convention

Postmasters representing every area of Texas gathered in Dallas, June 10-13, for their annual Texas Chapter, NAPUS, convention. Adolphus Hotel was headquarters for 400 delegates, including Postmaster, Milton Elliott, and his wife Fern Elliott of Shallowater.

NAPUS (National Association of Postmasters of United States) numbers, within Texas Chapter, over 1200 of the near 1500 Texas Postmasters.

Meaningful resolutions adopted included two of special significance to Postmasters in smaller offices. These concerned restoration of recently abolished clerk-hour allowances and reversal of the accelerated trend toward closing of smaller offices.

Headline convention speakers were USPS Southern Regional Postmaster General Carl Ulsaker and Regional Chief Inspector F.R. Freyer from Regional Headquarters in Memphis, Tenn. Also, Postal Data Center Director James Martin of Dallas. A number of NAPUS committee chairmen and NAPUS Executive Director Ed Coll of Washington, D.C. were program participants.

The time and place committee set the next state convention for June 9-12, 1974 at the Hilton Crest Hotel in Austin.

Mackie Buck-Brenda Hayslip Pledge Vows

Double ring nuptials were solemnized by Miss Brenda Kay Hayslip and Mackie Joe Buck at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Church of Christ. Ted Kell, instructor at Sunset School of Preaching, officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy G. Hayslip are parents of the bride. She is a graduate of Shallowater High School, and attends Texas Tech. She is employed by Texas Tech Press.

Buck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Buck, is also a graduate of Shallowater High School, and is employed at Anderson-Bigham Sheet Metal Works, Inc.

Miss Shirley Hayslip, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Debra Hayslip of Lubbock and Diana Middleton were bridesmaids.

Paul McClure served as best man. Groomsmen were Jon Garth of Muleshoe and Jackie Buck. Ushers were Gary Farris, Jackie Hayslip of Lubbock, Sid Leonard and Jimmy Lester.

Jana Hayslip and Michelle Stanley of Lubbock were candlelighters. Stassia Irie of Irving was flower girl, and Randy Leach of Lubbock was ring bearer. Wedding music was presented by Dr. and Mrs. B. Wayne Hinds, vocalists.

For something old the bride carried a handkerchief that her grandmother and mother carried at their wedding. It was atop the spring bouquet the bride carried. Something borrowed was a wedding band belonging to her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Jack Hayslip, and she wore the traditional blue garter and had a penny in her right shoe.

The bride's attendants wore chantilly lace dresses in pastel shades of yellow, orchid and lime green. The candlelighters wore dresses of blue floral flocked sheers, and the flower girl wore a matching pink dress.

A reception followed immediately. The bride's table was covered with a tablecloth belonging to her great grandmother. The silver service belonging to the grooms grandmother, and a tiered cake with a fresh flower arrangement on top.

The bride, escorted in marriage by her father, wore a formal bouffant gown of white chantilly lace designed with a portrait neckline, long sheer bishop sleeves and cascading tiers of lace ruffles.

After a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M., the couple will be at home at 2611 27th St., Lubbock.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Stanley, Kevin and Michell; Mr. and Mrs. Ron Edwards and children; Mrs. Russell Moody, Mrs. Sammy Flannery, Mrs. Pat Snyder, Mike Long of Houston. Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Ivie, Irving; Mrs. Torice Rackler, Larry and Debra, Mrs. Bobby Rackler, Levelland; Mrs. Bill Partain, Ft. Worth; Mrs. Donna Hayslip, Ft. Worth; Mrs. Floyd Jector, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hayslip, Jackie and Deborah, Mr. and Mrs. Max Hayslip and family, Eddie Gann, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor

Cotton Buyers See Cotton Incorporated Research Center at Raleigh, North Carolina

Key executives from the nation's leading sales yarn spinning mills got a first hand look at Cotton Incorporated's yarn research, marketing and sales support activities at a special seminar in Raleigh, North Carolina.

The spinners, representing a cotton market of more than half-million bales a year, toured the product development laboratory at the Cotton Incorporated Research Center and heard detailed reports of research aimed at making cotton yarns more desirable for knitters and thus more profitable for spinners.

"We gave the spinners a candid look at the company representing the cotton farmers who grow the raw material their mills process," said Don Kleckner of New York, Cotton Incorporated marketing director for apparel.

Cotton Incorporated is the research, sales and marketing company sponsored by America's 300,000 cotton producers through their dollar-per-bale program.

Sales yarn spinners are the initial link in the chain of distribution of cotton knit goods, explained Kleckner. The spinner is the supplier of spun yarns to knitting mills. And knits make up the fastest growing apparel market in the country.

"We wanted to impress upon representatives of this source that Cotton Incorporated is a strong fiber company that has the spinner's interest at heart," said Kleckner.

"We wanted to show him our capabilities in cotton research and development, production research and marketing, and to offer our cooperation in solving production problems."

The visiting textile executives heard reports on Cotton Incorporated research in agricultural production; harvesting, handling, ginning and services; textiles flammability; durable press; and knitting. They also heard reports of Cotton Incorporated's intensified programs of research on byssinosis.

You're never too old to yearn.

When you retire, you'll still want to take vacations.

When you retire, you'll still want to buy new clothes, have an occasional night out, drive a newer car, buy gifts, and be independent.

Will you be able to?

If you have your health there's only one thing that's going to keep you from living the way you want to. Lack of money.

That's where U.S. Savings Bonds come in. You can join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work right now. That way an amount you specify will be set aside from your paycheck and used to buy Bonds. It's an almost painless way to save, and before you know it, you'll have a sizeable nest egg built up for your retirement years.

U.S. Savings Bonds. Because you want to retire from work, not from living.

Nutritive Value of "Organically Grown" Foods: There is no proved, substantiated basis for claiming that plants grown with only organic fertilizer have a greater nutrient content than those grown up conventional methods. The type of fertilizer used, whether organic or inorganic, is not a determining factor in the nutritive value of the plant.

The nutrient content of a plant is based on its genetic nature. The genes in a carrot cause it to develop a relatively large amount of vitamin A value, just as the genes in an orange are responsible for its high ascorbic acid content. Climate (including the amount of light), together with the kind and amount of nutrient material available to the plant for growth, and the stage of maturity at harvest are the other chief factors involved.

Nutrient material must be in the inorganic form to be absorbed by the plant. This means that the manner in which the vegetables or fruits are fertilized and grown. Freshness depends on the manner and the time of harvesting, control of such factors as temperature and humidity, packaging, speed of transportation, and thereafter the handling at the wholesale and retail levels and in the home.

The nutritive superiority of most whole grains over their more refined counterparts, i.e., whole wheat flour vs. white flour, is well recognized. This superiority, however, is in no way related to the type of fertilizer used or the use of pesticides or additives. The process of refining removes some of the nutrients in varying degrees, especially the B vitamins, iron, and trace minerals. Often products are "enriched" by adding certain purified B vitamins and iron. This is not done, however, for the trace minerals and vitamin E lost in refining.

Increased use of cereals in the whole grain form is commendable. It can be promoted on the basis of increased nutritive value but not as related to fertilizer and processing methods.

Extended Trip Is Enjoyed by Ropes Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall have returned from a two week vacation. They visited a son, Delbert Hall and family at Coppers Cove, Texas; their daughter, Thelma Fowler and children of Euless, Texas; a son, Kenneth Hall and family at Metairie, La. They then travelled across the state of Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, North and South Carolina, and Virginia.

The Halls traveled with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Spears of Mountain View, California. While in Virginia, they visited with Robert and Mrs. Spears sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bush and girls. They attended the wedding of a niece while there. On the return trip, they spend the night in Tulsa, Okla. with another sister, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Horne.

There was so much beautiful scenery on this trip. But the plains of West Texas always look good when you return home.

organic fertilizer must be broken down into its inorganic components before the elements are absorbed. Also, most of the nutrients present, except for the mineral elements, are synthesized in the plant rather than being absorbed from the soil in the preformed state.

Maintaining or preserving the nutritive value of fresh vegetables and fruits from the time they are harvested until they are marketed and then until they are consumed requires great care. Maintaining "freshness" is the key to maintaining nutritive value. But maintaining freshness, including the desirable flavor which it connotes, has nothing to do with
