A cold front moved through Shallowater Saturday night around 1 a.m. with very strong northerly winds with gusts clocked at up to 54 miles per hour, reported at the Lubbock weather station.

As the front pushed through, the gusts ripped the top from the mobile home of the Bruce Cody's in Town Village, causing an estimated $8,000 in damages to the trailer home, that had been occupied by the Cody's only two months.

The Cody's were inside the home at the time of the mishap, but luckily no one was injured.

Mrs. Cody reported it all happened so fast, that the only explanation she had to the frightening experience was, suddenly she was standing in her trailer home looking up at the sky, where the roof once was.

January has been an unusual month for high winds and dust, as this type of weather normally occurs in February and March.

Due to the damage to the mobile home in Town Village Sunday morning, Civil Defense director, J.D. Young, issued the following statement:

Tiedowns offer the most consistent and effective means for minimizing mobile home damage from high winds. Two types of ties are needed: the over the top tie and the frame tie. The first keeps the unit from overturning and the second prevents it from being blown off the supports. Frame ties can also reduce the chances of overturn, but many mobile homes do not have enough internal strength to transmit high wind loads to the supporting steel frame. Therefore, the Civil Defense recommends use of both over the top ties and frame ties to secure the 10, 12 and 14 ft. wide mobile homes.

The weather station recorded a wind gust of 54 mph at 1:50 a.m. Sunday morning and this is believed to be about the time that the home lost its roof. We can expect more of these high winds this spring.

Water Usage Heavy Here Last Year

Water consumers for the city of Shallowater used 96,568,000 gallons of water during the past year, according to a report from water Supt. W.F. Williamson.

The biggest month for water usage was in June when a total of 14,395,000 gallons was registered through the master meter. The smallest month was in November when a total of 4,264,000 gallons was used.

Due to the dry summer months that prevailed last year, a considerable amount of water was used. During that time there were only four water wells to provide the consumer, but a new well has been readied for use since then, and city officials hope residents will not experience a shortage of water this year as in the past that caused them such an inconvenience.

Julia Hohenberger Named to Dean's Honor List

She is a 1961 graduate of Shallowater schools and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Powell.

The mother of three active boys, Stacy 13 years old, Dee age 9 and 2 year old Joel, it is quite a challenge for Julia to find the time to attend college, be a housewife, and mother and still make a straight A average.

While attending school here, she was grade school queen from the fourth thru the eighth grade and participated in all types of school events. Her husband is gin manager in Worley.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin—The 64th Texas Legislature started with a bang and a burst of action last week.

State Senators set new records for speed in organizing while the House named Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake its new speaker and debated rules.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, as promised, named a complete roster of Senate standing committees on the first day of the session, January 14. Only changes in chairmanships were Sens. Don Adams of Jasper moving up to head the housekeeping appropriations panel and Sen. Pete Snelson of Midland taking over the intergovernmental relations committee.

The Senate went to work almost immediately on a proposed emergency pay raise for state employees, while both houses advanced a measure to extend unemployment compensation benefits four weeks and gain $5 million in federal funds.

Clayton, who defeated Rep. Carl Parker of Port Arthur for the speakership, delayed naming of his committees until this week, while he concentrated on getting rules changes he wants.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe submitted lawmakers a long list of emergency measures for immediate consideration, including the pay raise for state workers and $80 million in stop gap aid for schools.

Other than the emergency measures, and rules adoption, little action is expected on the floor of either house until after the inauguration of Briscoe and Hobby to second terms Tuesday (January 21).

Briscoe prepared longrange recommendations for delivery to a joint session of the House and Senate Wednesday (January 22).

Production Still "Wide Open"—February is the 35th straight month of wide open statewide oil allowance.

Texas Railroad Commission once again set a 100 per cent production order.

Meanwhile, independent oilmen said the decline in Texas oil production has begun a "big turnaround."

Frank Pitts of Dallas said 60,000 to 70,000 wells can be drilled a year instead of the present 30,000. There are lots of places to drill oilwells, but the cost is going to be high, said Pitts.

Crude prices should average $90 to $100 per barrel to encourage drilling the maximum number of wells, said the Dallas oilman.

Investigation Funded—A Senate sub-committee was given a budget to begin an investigation of questioned Southwestern Bell Telephone Company operations in Texas.

The Senate Administration Committee approved a $27,832 allowance to hire utility rate experts and two investigators to look into allegations of wire tapping, campaign slush fund contributions and keeping of dual sets of books (one for rate cases).

Sen. Ron Clower of Garland, chairman of the Senate Sub Committee on Consumer Affairs, said the panel already has an extensive file of leads. Clower said he hopes to have the investigation completed before the legislative session ends June 2.

Rays of Hope

The Bible teaches that it is God's perfect will to heal and restore the physical body. He created the first man, Adam, with the full intention that man would live forever and never be sick. (After Adam's sin, we know that death and sin entered the earth).

Man's first physical body was such a perfect machine of power and wholeness, that Adam could work all day and never perspire (Gen. 3:19 -this came after his sin) Adam was so strong that he worked the whole Garden of Eden. This was to be done systematically. How big was the garden? Gen. 2:10 -14 mentions four rivers; namely, Pishon, Gihon, Hiddekel and Euphrates. They all flowed from Eden and submitted by February 21 to the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, Box 489, Waco, Texas 76703.

The recipient of the award will be presented an inscribed plaque at the annual meeting of the Texas Safety Association at the Shamrock Hilton Hotel in Houston on March 3rd.

"Individuals who performed acts of life saving heroism in a farm or ranch environment during the 1974 calendar year are eligible for the award," points out Keese. "The nomination should include a detailed report of the incident, names of all persons involved, and the location and date. News pictures and stories will be helpful."

According to Keese, highway or transportation accidents, industrial accidents or recreational accidents on public property are among those not considered eligible. However, exceptions may be made when the incident involves farm and ranch families or employees.

SPORTS

by Joe Kelly

Once, when Tech played SMU here, it seemed as though everything the Ponies threw at the hoop swished through the nets. It was a fantastic shooting night.

The Raiders were, for a time that game, just as hot before they cooled off. It sent the crowd away oohing and aahing over the accuracy shown. It was so fantastic that Max Williams, on a foul call, threw the ball over his shoulder in disgust—and it went through.

That was several years—and basketball games—ago and nothing equalled it until Tech played Houston a week ago this past Monday. And that game has to go down in my books as the most awesome shooting game I've ever seen.

Consider this. The losing team shot 53.7%. The winning team, Tech, shot 52%. Together, the teams hit 75 of the 142 attempts they tried for a whopping 52.8%. It's unbelievable.

Polk Robison, who sits in press row for a half—and then leaves for the final 20 minutes—said once or twice: "They can't keep hitting like that!" No one could, or did, argue with him.

But they did. Houston tailed off the last half, after hitting 61.3% of its first half shots, to 47.2%. That isn't a bad average, but Tech hit 51.4% the first half and 52.5% the last half. As a result, fans were treated to one of the finest offensive shows ever.

Houston, however, is behind Tech and the Raiders are into conference play. You can throw the season's records away for the league run, because all those games mean is experience.

Tuesday night the Raiders opened against Arkansas and, of this writing, I don't know the outcome. But after the Oklahoma Baptist game, Gerald Myers' young, clean face was wrinkled with worry. Not only had Arkansas come on steadily, Rick Bullock was hurt.

"How do you feel about the conference race?" I asked Gerald.

"I'd feel a lot better about it if Rick wasn't hurt," he replied. "We play what I think are probably the four toughest teams in the conference and, if he's not well, shoot, do you realize we could be oh and four real quick? It's real deep in his right shoulder and it hurts him. I've seen him doubled up in pain in practice."

"Everybody's different," Gerald continued, "and some people have a low threshold of pain (shades of Jim Carlen, who said the same thing about some of his hurt football players).

"I'm not putting Rick down. I know it hurts. But if he's not at full strength, well..." and the Raider coach's voice trailed off.

Mark Davis, of course, is available, but there's a big dropoff in talent, with all due respect to Mark. In fact, Gerald may well turn to Rudy Liggins or someone else to fill in.

After Arkansas, as Gerald pointed out, Tech has to go to Texas this Saturday, come home for A&M Tuesday and then travel to TCU for the third game in four on the road. That's a tough start for any team, but especially for one with an ailing center.

I questioned Gerald about TCU being one of the four tougher teams and he pointed to what the Frogs had done.

"They lost to Hardin-Simmons and that must have been a fluke," he declared. "Then they beat Hawaii, and Hawaii is one of the better teams around. No, they're getting better all the time."

After playing three of the first four on the road, the Raiders come home for three of the next four here—Rice at home and away, with Baylor and SMU here. After that it's an even schedule—away, home, away, home, away, home.

As usual, the team that can win on the road is the team most likely to win the title. So far, for Nervous Nellies, Tech is 2-4 on the road, 5-1 at home.

"It may be better that we're getting them early," George Davidson, Tech assistant, stated Saturday night, referring to Arkansas. "They've been improving steadily and they'll get better."

The most impressive feat was taking Kansas State into overtime a week ago before losing by two points—at Manhattan, Kansas. George said that Arkansas is using a couple of junior college transfers and a former Western Kentucky player, along with holdover material, and the Razorbacks have shown steady improvement.

Beating Texas in Austin, in anything, is an achievement, and while Tech has had outstanding success, it's never easy. And the Longhorns, with a wealth of material, may well be congealing right now.

Then come the Aggies and, outside of Arkansas and SMU, always tough, there may not be a better team in this section. Nope, the first four games for Tech might well play a major part in deciding what the fate of the Raiders will be in the conference race.

So, before the league battling begins, I'll take Tech to win the crown, followed by A&M, Arkansas, SMU, Texas, TCU, Baylor and Rice—but don't bet the week's rent on it!

As I pointed out to Gerald, at least it's Bullock's left shoulder—and he's righthanded. Right now I think Tech has experience to go with ability. It has poise and patience. The guard play, particularly on the part of Keith Kitchens, is improving. The front line is strong and there's good depth.

But it should be another great race.

Rays of Hope

divided into four river regions. Adad had tremendous power and astounding ability.

Man's physical body today is so equipped with the healing principal that when a germ or virus enters his body, there are signals sent throughout the body. Then the body's defense mechanism sets up its own arsenal of destroying these foreign germs. Any doctor or nurse could explain this in medical terms. When you have a cut or break, the body begins to heal and to mend.

Scientists tell us that the creative force of the human organism is so great, that we get a brand new body every eleven months! That is, every cell in the body (except the brain cells) is replaced in that time, so that no organ is more than 11 months old. When we see this vast repair system at work, we are further convinced that God wants us well.

We were created to be whole. When God delivered the whole host of the Israelites from Egypt, there was not one feeble or sick person in the group.

You can know that it is always God's will to heal by reading and understanding the whole Bible. Exodus 15:25, 26, shows us that God made a healing covenant to be kept forever. He said, "I am the Lord thy God that healeth thee."

Later on, Jesus Christ was to die on the cross and bear all the sickness and sins that man would ever have. Isaiah 53:4 states that he bore our griefs and sorrows. In the original Hebrew, the words are diseases and pains. In the New Covenant, Matt. 8:17 states what was prophesied in Isa. 53:4, saying "Himself took all of our infirmities and bore our sicknesses."

When we need forgiveness for sin, we come to God by faith, and so it is the same when we have a physical problem. We ask in faith believing God says that "he is a rewarder of those who diligently seek him." Read these verses stating God's intent to heal and restore. Ps. 103:3, James 5:14, 16; 1 Peter 2:24, Prov. 4:20-22, 1 Cor. 12:28, 3 John 2, Ps. 107:17-20. There are many other verses and this does not include any of the verses regarding faith.

Some people say that it might not be God's will for them to be healed and at the same time they are spending much money at the doctor's office, trying to get healed. It is a natural God given force put in all of us. We all want to be whole.

Basketball News

by Janie Serna & Caran Conner
 Tuesday, January 14, the Shallowater Mustangs met the Seagraves Eagles at Seagraves for the first district game of the year.

The Fillies played a tough game but were beaten 65-45 with Cindy Cowart as high point with 23, Vickie Roberts 12 and Kay Williams 6.

The boys then went out to meet each other. It was a really close game but I guess an Eagle can fly higher than a Mustang can jump because it ended up 46 to 45.

Last Friday, on the 17th, the Fillies displayed their power and proved to O'Donnell that they could play ball.

It was a tight game from the beginning with both teams playing their best.

For a short time Cindy and Vicki insisted on rolling the ball to one another. Vickie had fallen and she was unable to get hold of the ball, so she rolled it to Cindy. Cindy also had a small problem as she also rolled it back to Vicki.

Ball after ball was being sunk into the baskets, with fans from both sides on their feet cheering their team on. The buzzer finally sounded, with the score showing 44 to 40, and "home" lighted at the top of the winners score.

The Mustangs remembered their loss to Seagraves so they all set their minds to win. Not by a small margin, but by a large one.

All during the game the Mustangs maintained the lead, with angry, frustrated O'Donnell fans complaining to the refs. Too much was dished out because the refs gave O'Donnell a technical. Pressure must have been pretty bad on the court, because a couple of the O'Donnell players were shooting the ball at our basket. Luck was not in our hands, as no points were made. They just couldn't sink those shots.

The game finally ended with the score 79 to 44.

FHA News

The FHA met for a business meeting on January 6. Incounter, a way for FHA members to grow individually, was explained by Grace Lupton. A committee composed of Nancy Thomas, Debbie Grimes, Terri Martin, Janice Horton, and Lori Harrison was appointed to plan the FHA Sweetheart Banquet.

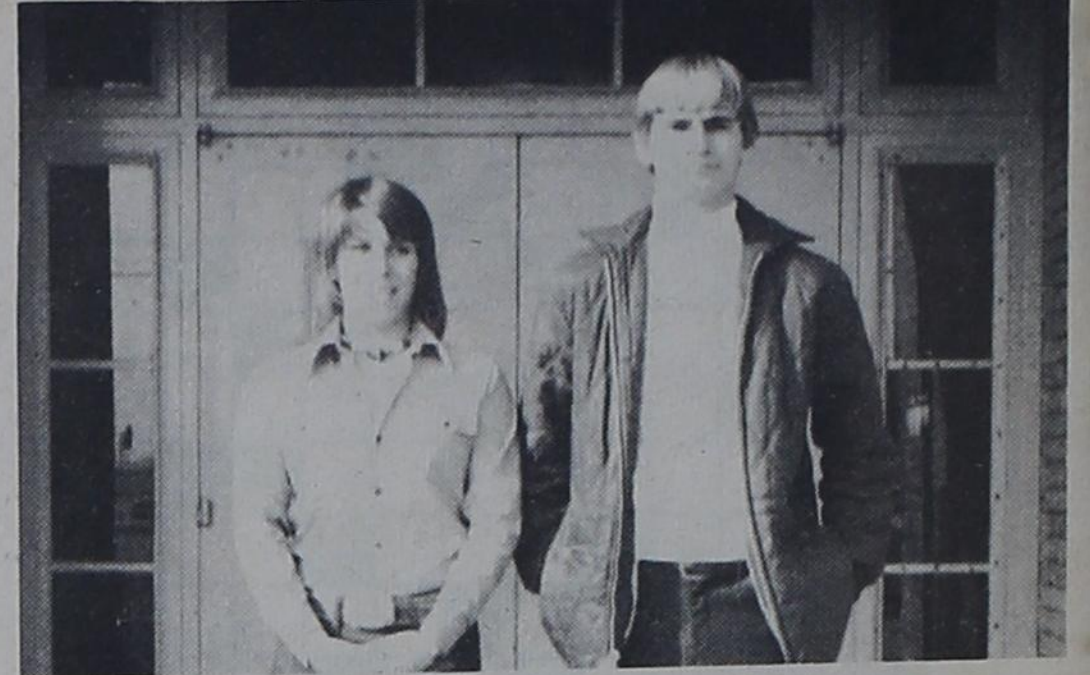

The FHA Area meeting will be Feb. 28 and March 1 in Lubbock. Donna Evans and Connie Boone will represent Shallowater in the Ima Dee Choir while Caran Conner and Letty Anaya will be in the Sharon Singers.

A section of the quilt which the FHA members have been making was on display. The girls have embroidered their names, pieced the blocks, and are in the process of quilting it by hand. The quilt will be given to a Shallowater citizens selected by the girls.

J.V. Spotlight

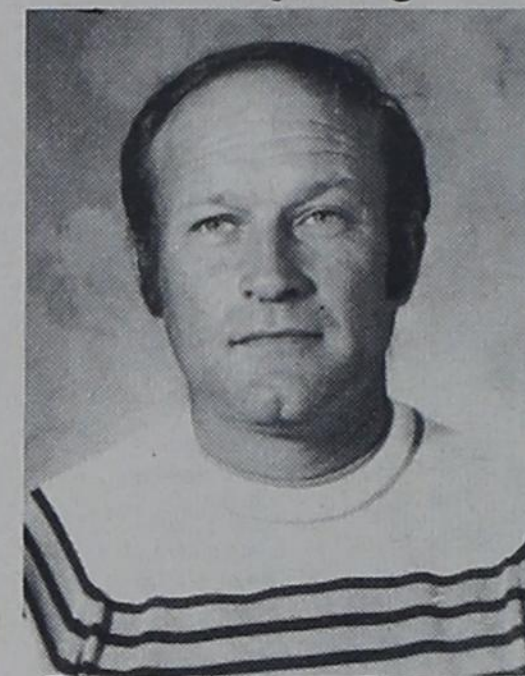

by Charles Krebbs
 There are two players in the J.V. spotlight this week. Wyvonne Ford and Jackie Randolph, both are excellent ballplayers.

Jackie, so far this season, has been averaging 18 points a game at his post position. Jackie is also a very consistent rebounder. The JV boys are 6-4 this season thanks to a lot of spirit, hustle and great playing by Jackie.

Wyvonne, plays guard for the JV girls. She has a lot of hustle and spirit, and helps with her great rebounding. The JV girls are 2-4 for the season.

Teacher Spotlight

by Anita Alvarado
 This weeks teacher spotlight is Mr. Bert Grimes. He is a graduate of Floydada High School and has a B.S. and M.S. degree in Education at Texas Tech University. He was assistant coach at Crosbyton for six years, and served as head coach at Amherst for six years. This is his sixth year in Shallowater as head coach and athletic director and he teaches math.

Coach Grimes has done a tremendous job at SHS. In 1963 and 1968 he was voted by the Avalanche Journal as football Coach of the Year, and Basketball Coach of the year in 1971. Also in 1971 the Mustangs were Co-Champs in basketball. The Mustangs ended up last year in track as District Champs.

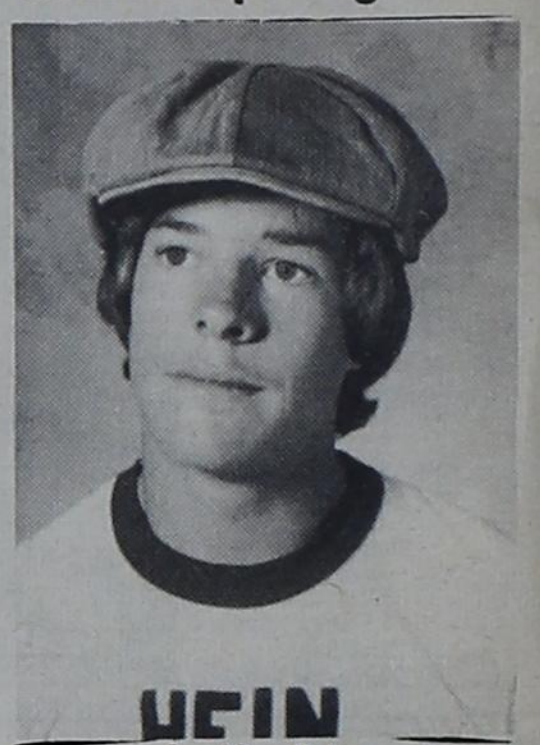

He and his wife have two lovely daughters: Debbie, a junior cheerleader, and Amy, a sixth grader.

I only have one thing to say about this coach, and that is "he is a coach to remember."

Senior Spotlight

by Alex Grice
 This week the spotlight is cast upon a very worthy student. Bobby Heinen is president of the Shallowater High School Band. Bobby played a large role in molding the Mustang band into a first division rating.

Bobby spends his free time on two things. Electronics and girls. Now Bobby said, "I know how most stereos and clocks tick, but I haven't found out what makes a girl tick, but I'll keep trying."

Bobby is also an active member of another organization, the "Dudes". He feels that you only go around this world once, so why not be a DUDE!

Lubbock and Monterey Rivalries

by Janie Serna
 Anybody remember the lonely frontier store of Singer's that was established on Yellowhouse Canyon in 1876?

Everything started with two real estate men with the names of John T. Lofton and James Harrison, who delt especially in lands in the Texas Panhandle. Lofton visited Lubbock County, and apparently liked what he saw. So, he began to organize the venture with professional skill. Lofton brought the Crump-Goss-Bandy group, giving them shares in his proposed town.

With the great support of Crump's following of settlers and the funds and experience supplied by Lofton and Harrison, the town on the north side of the canyon, which was given the name of Lubbock, began to grow. (Lubbock began where the Lubbock Country Club is today.)

On November 12, 1890, the Reverend Bandy arrived with a large party of emigrants to augment the settlement. As the freezing weather began to chill the plains, excitement grew, for W.E. Rayner was promoting another town on the south side of the canyon.

Theme of the Week

A Story by The Fireside

by Nancy Thomas

Yes -siree, Sonny, I was there during the great California Gold Rush -"Californy" as we used to say. I grew up back East in a little town called Wrong Turn, Tennessee, where my pa ran a general store. I had already decided that wasn't the life for me when the news from California came rolling across the Rockies.

Of course, my ma didn't really go for the idea at first, but she just couldn't put out the fire inside me to go and make myself a rich man. I told her there just wasn't any future for me in Wrong Turn, that California offered adventure, opportunity, and best of all, gold! With that I left, taking our old reliable wagon, my every belonging, and my hard earned savings. Life held beautiful promise.

The trip across isn't the subject of this story, but I will mention that people were pouring over those trails like ants headed for a picnic. It seemed like the whole world was rushing to its haven of wealth and ease.

Now, I can't truly say that California was everything I'd expected or hoped for. One of the first camps I came upon couldn't even be considered a town. Some were better, others were worse. They all seemed to have the same slushy, muddy streets, the shabby tents, the dilapidated saloons. I guess I was rather disillusioned, to say the least.

Yet, even the slosh in the streets couldn't put out the fire of excitement. I chatted with an old miner who agreed to take me with him to his claim the next day. He didn't exactly fit my idea of an industrious miner with gold at his fingertips, but I was sure that his day, as well as mine, was coming.

The first gold I found showed itself after three days of fruitless, back breaking effort. I had crouched over the stream, panning through the sand for hours on end. When I saw it, I lept and hollered for joy. I knew this was my ticket to fortune.

I was wrong, however. The days stretched into weeks and the weeks into months. I roamed from stream to stream, claim to claim, thinking each one would surely be my last. Once I found twenty three dollars worth of gold, but that proved to be my greatest fortune finding as a miner.

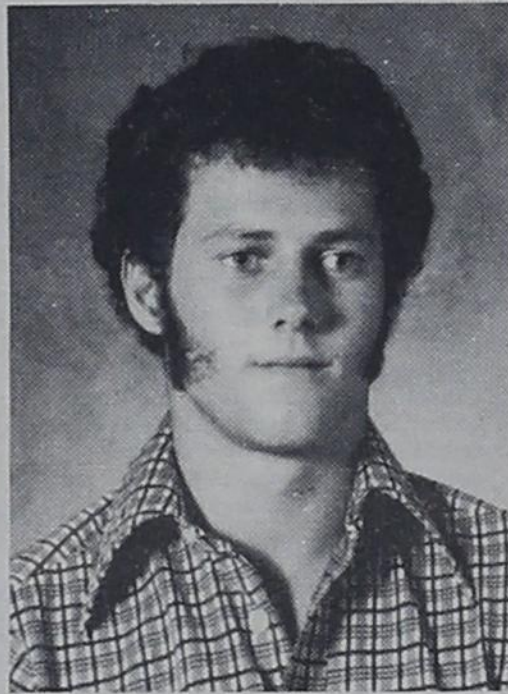

I now run a little store in Wrong Turn, California, a former mining camp which I named after my old home town. In my earlier days, I used to laugh at all the "big breeches" who'd parade into town thinking they were gonna strike it rich. Now my favorite pastime is just to sit around telling stories of the great California Gold Rush.
