Sorghum Statewide

Farmers throughout the state have decided the key to economic recovery is in their hands. They have called for a referendum on a checkoff on grain sorghum to provide funding for development and expansion of their grain. A survey conducted by Texas A&M University Extension Service confirms a majority of farmers would favor a grain sorghum checkoff for this purpose, calling for the referendum. Farmers expressed their opinion that it is up to themselves, to do so about slumping demand and depressed prices.

"Farmers must continue to work for a favorable program," said J. B. Cotton and grain farmer lives at Roscoe. "It is on that farmers who are putting the good life for the reservation should share prosperity. But it is clear farmers can't wait for the government. The way we can muster resources to implement a market development program is through a uniform off."

"I am a firm believer farmers need to help," said Mark Lamo, a 40-year-old farmer at Laguna Medina County, "because this is going to do it for them."

That statement was made by J. L. Massey of Roscoe who has been farming for more than forty years. "We promote our own production because no one else will do it," Massey said. "The grain sorghum today is far more expensive than the cost of production, and I am strongly in favor of a sorghum checkoff to support research to increase sales and reduce production cost."

Ben Scholz, a grain sorghum farmer in the Wylie community of Collin County, said, "I am in a self-help program for farmers. Markets don't just come. Unless we, the farmers, build markets, we expect sales to expand and to improve."

Sorghum Farmers Call For Statewide Checkoff Program

Farmers throughout Texas have decided the key to their economic recovery is in their own hands. They have called for a referendum on a statewide checkoff on grain sorghum to provide funding for development and expansion of markets for their grain. A survey conducted by Texas A&M University Extension Service confirmed that a majority of farmers who responded favored a grain sorghum checkoff for this purpose. In calling for the referendum, dozens of farmers expressed the opinion that it is up to farmers, themselves, to do something about slumping demand and depressed prices.

"Farmers must continue to work for a favorable farm program," said J. B. Cooper, a cotton and grain farmer who lives at Roscoe. "It is only right that farmers who are providing the good life for the rest of the nation should share in that prosperity. But it is clear that farmers can't wait for solutions from the government. The only way we can muster enough resources to implement an effective market development program is through a uniform check-off."

"I am a firm believer that farmers need to help themselves," said Mark Lamon, a 23-year-old farmer at LaCoste in Medina County, "because no one else is going to do it for them."

That statement was repeated by J. L. Massey of Robstown, who has been farming for more than forty years. "We need to promote our own product because no one else will do it for us," Massey said. "The price of grain sorghum today is far below the cost of production, therefore, I am strongly in favor of a grain sorghum checkoff to support a program to increase sales and for research to seek ways to reduce production cost."

Ben Scholz, a grain sorghum farmer in the Wylie community of Collin County, said, "I believe in a self-help program for producers. Markets don't just happen. Unless we, the farmers, work on building markets, we cannot expect sales to expand or prices to improve."

U. S. grain sorghum, as a commodity, has some unique marketing problems. Its quality and value are not universally accepted. Most of the world's sorghum production is of a high tannin type which is poor in nutritional value. To overcome prejudice toward sorghum in general, it is necessary to demonstrate that U. S. sorghum is different. Every grain importer in the world is a potential customer for U. S. sorghum but the producers must prove that it is better than the poor quality sorghum most of the world knows. This proof must be demonstrated in feeding trials and projects throughout the world.

Texas already has a grain sorghum checkoff in a 29-county area of the High Plains. It was established in a 1969 referendum and is called Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board (TGSPB). TGSPB collects an assessment on sorghum at the time of its first sales transaction. Producers who do not wish to participate, simply request and promptly receive a refund. Last year, more than 95% of the farmers in the TGSPB area supported the checkoff.

The referendum which established TGSPB provided that the program would remain under the control of farmers who produce within the referendum area. Producers elect a board of directors who set the rate of the assessment within limits approved by the farmers. The board administers collection procedures and projects.

Since 1969, TGSPB market development projects have produced dramatic increases in sorghum sales. For example, this month TGSPB is assisting the National Grain Sorghum Producers Association in financing and shipping 30 tons of sorghum to Egypt for trial in livestock feeding tests. The Egyptian government will not issue an import license for U. S. sorghum until the results of these tests are known. TGSPB is assisting with the shipment of grain for a similar demonstration in Algeria and is just concluding one in the PRC. To buy the grain and make special shipping arrangements is costly but these countries can be good markets for Texas sorghum in the future.

"We see a potential for grain sorghum sales in more than a dozen countries right now," said TGSPB's executive director, Elbert Harp. "But we must limit our efforts to one or two markets at a time because we simply don't have financial resources from our 29-county checkoff for the rest. That really is too bad," Harp continued, "because we can prove that every sorghum farmer in the nation received at least 15 cents per hundredweight more for their grain last year as a direct result of TGSPB's work."

In response to the requests of producers throughout the state and the results of the Extension Service survey, a referendum will be conducted under the authority of The Texas Commodity Referendum Law between July 15 and August 15. Texas sorghum farmers outside of the 29-county area of the High Plains will vote to determine if they will join those already participating in the TGSPB checkoff. On the same ballot, they will choose directors for the 15-member board to administer the program. Ballots will be mailed to more than 50,000 Texas sorghum farmers whose names are listed by ASCS. Any sorghum producer who does not receive a ballot in the mail by August 1, may pick one up at his County Extension Office or from the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board at Box R, Abernathy, Texas 79311.

THE DIRT FARMER

A dirt farmer is a man who starts out with nothing, loses on everything he grows and comes out even at the end of the year. If any man aspires to the title of a dirt farmer, let him measure himself by this standard: He must have worn out two pairs of overalls growing cotton enough for one; he must regularly do half a day's work after the sun goes down; he must have heart to plant in hope, cultivate in faith, and end in failure, and start all over with greater hope and stronger faith. This is a dirt farmer. Heaven help the family that depends on him for its support; heaven help the nation that does NOT have him to depend on for its support.

MRS BRYAN BURSON

Lana Fuston, Bryan Burson Exchange Vows In Ceremony

In an impressive ceremony, double-ring vows were exchanged May 25 at 2:30 p.m. at the Turkey Church of Christ where Miss Lana Fuston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Fuston of Turkey, became the bride of Bryan Burson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Burson of Silverton. Officiating minister was Harold Rhodes of Lubbock.

Vows were spoken before an archway entwined with greenery. The altar was enhanced by two candle trees and heart-shaped candelabra holding white tapers. Centered on the altar was the unity candle. Baskets of Hawaiian schefflera completed the setting, and peach and white satin bows marked the bridal aisle.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a southern belle gown designed by Michele Piccione. This graceful gown of silk taffeta featured a ruffle of Cluny lace and taffeta forming a sweetheart neckline which was edged with silk venise lace with silk bows and flowers adorning the shoulders. The natural waistline gathered into a full ballroom skirt of taffeta ruffles, lace ruffles and satin rosettes cascading into a magnificent cathedral-length train. She wore a large brim picture hat by Priscilla featuring Cluny lace ruffles and a venise covered crown adorned with puffs of maline illusion accented with silk flowers jeweled with seed pearls. Boughs of white jasmine clasped with white satin ribbon and lace made up the bride's bouquet.

Attending the bride as matrons of honor were Mrs. Laura Davidson, sister of the bride, of Dimmitt; Mrs. Charmaine Adamson, sister of the bride, of Abilene, and Mrs. Lisa Fuston, sister-in-law of the bride, of Monte Vista, Colorado, and the bridesmaid, Miss DeLane Proctor, of Turkey. The girls wore identical full-length peach-colored taffeta dresses with sweetheart necklines and large puffed sleeves. They carried braided straw hearts entwined with peach and lace ribbon that made a shower of streamers.

Lighting the candles were Miss Paula Helms, Miss Sandy Morris, Mrs. Dianne Dendy of Lubbock and Mrs. Lisa Blake of Sweetwater. The girls wore dresses fashioned like those of the bridesmaids. All of the bride's attendants' attire was made by Mrs. E. L. Hill of Turkey.

Jarrod Crowell, cousin of the bride, of Turkey served as ring bearer. Flower girls were Jamie Fuston and Ashley Adamson, nieces of the bride, and they were escorted by Aaron Adamson, nephew of the bride, and Donnie Burson, nephew of the groom.

Serving the groom as best man was John Burson, brother of the groom, of Silverton. Groomsman were Tom Burson, brother of the groom, of Silverton, Tony Schaffer of Lubbock, and Jon Davidson, brother-in-law of the bride, of Dimmitt.

Guests were greeted and registered by Mrs. Debbie Burson, sister-in-law of the groom, of Silverton.

Ushers for the occasion were Rex Adamson, brother-in-law of the bride, of Abilene, and Leck Fuston, brother of the bride, of Monte Vista, Colorado.

Organ music preceding and during the ceremony was played by Mrs. Ross Herrington of Quitaque. Ronda, Sherry and Emily Fuston, cousins of the bride, of Hereford sang "God Has Been Doubly Good To You." Steve McLean, minister of the Turkey Church of Christ, sang "My Only Love." During the lighting of the unity candle, Steve McLean and Carie Teague of Lubbock sang "Nobody Loves Me Like You Do."

The bride's mother chose a street-length dress of sea-foam green for the ceremony, while the groom's mother chose a street-length beige-colored dress. Both mothers had gardenia corsages.

RECEPTION

The bride's table was laid with a white lace cloth with a peach-colored underlay and featured a four-tiered cake with a stacked base. Cascades of roses covered the base and kissing angels were placed in the center. Australian lace and bands of peach-colored rosebuds, made of icing, encircled the tiers in scallops and was topped with a cherub and roses enclosed in a gazebo made of icing. The cake was designed especially for the bride by Betty Johnson of Lubbock.

The groom's table was covered with a floor-length peach cloth with a round crocheted cloth covering the table top. (The crocheted was a gift to the bride and groom from Mrs. Ying Lyles.) The centerpiece was a small antique wooden saddle tree. The groom's cake, baked by Mrs. Billy Pinkerton, was square and topped with a horseshow decorated with chocolate roses. Names of the bride and groom and the date of marriage were inscribed on the top. Chocolate mints in the design of boots, horseshoes and saddles complimented the table setting.

Those who served at the reception were Barbara McCarthy of Tucson, Arizona, Kara Gott, Jenny Clay, Judy Mason, Renee Beasley and Jammie Cammack, all of Lubbock. Claudia Crowell, cousin of the bride, gave each guest a rose-shaped rice bag.

REHEARSAL DINNER

A lovely rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at the Quitaque Community Center. Dinner was prepared by James Brunson.

After a honeymoon trip to Boston, Maine and parts of Canada, the couple will live in Silverton where the groom is engaged in ranching.

BRUNCH

A brunch for the bridal attendants was served on Saturday morning in the home of Mrs. Thomas R. Fuston.

The refreshment table was centered with an arrangement of ivy in a container in the shape of a baby shoe with flowers made from lace-topped baby socks. Cookies and pink punch were served from crystal appointments.

The young lady received many useful gifts, including a high chair from the hostesses.

Hostesses were Lila Ramsey, Susan Ramsey, Melba Merrell, Janice Henson, Amanda Curry, Betty Price, Linda Little, Debbie Wellman, Janelle Smith and Mary Stark.

Mr. and Mrs. David Setliff and Mr. and Mrs. James Lynn Kimbell, Shorty and Travis, all of Turkey, Mrs. Mary Wallace, J. B. Tiffin, Kraig Cox and Shon Phelps visited in the J. W. Kimbell home over the weekend to see the visitors from Vancouver, Canada and those from Arizona.

Remember The Wildlife At Harvest Time

Don't forget wildlife when harvesting wheat and oats. Quail, pheasant, mourning doves, turkeys, and other birds find food and cover in fields of small grains.

Strips of unharvested grain around field edges near brush or tall grasses provide excellent food for quail and turkey. Pheasant will use unharvested strips along terraces or around areas in the field that are too wet to cultivate. Mourning doves will feed on shattered seed where soils are shallow and the stand of grain is thin.

Even if the entire field is combined, these same areas can be left untilled until next planting season to benefit wildlife. Without tillage, waste grain is available to the birds and an 8-inch stubble provides suitable cover until it deteriorates.

If an area in the field has a thin stand of wheat and a good stand of native sunflowers, save this area for dove hunting next September.

Do not burn the small grain stubble. Wildlife benefits are lost as well as organic matter; it also exposes the soil to erosion. The Caprock SWCD and USDA Soil Conservation Service encourages soil protection through proper use of small grain residues.

"In God We Trust" first appeared in U.S. coins after April 22, 1864.

Mrs. Bert Matson of Vancouver, Canada, and Mrs. Bill Kimbell of Wilcox, Arizona spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kimbell.

Mrs. Louise Kimbell of Wilcox, Arizona and Minnie Mae Roberson of Quitaque visited Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kimbell Saturday afternoon.

It's easy—when you know the answers

All of life is not far removed from the classroom. There are truths to be learned every day. And there are questions to be answered.

But some people don't have the answer when they need it. And some people do...

Any teacher will tell you it's a question of preparation. And any preacher will tell you the same.

The people who go to church on Sunday have no more problems than those who stay home. Nor do they expect as a result to have any fewer.

They believe simply in preparation—preparation of the mind, conscience, heart and soul... faith.

This is the preparation God offers men... for the questions that will confront us all tomorrow!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

It's Such a Big World

Some folks say that as we grow older the world grows smaller. Is that because of the wonders of modern communication and transportation? Or is it because when some folks grow older they become preoccupied with their own little orbit of life?

Junior certainly enters life completely preoccupied with himself. But once he begins to walk and talk—gosh how his world balloons!

That's why he needs the religious training our churches provide. His faith must keep pace with his burgeoning world.

And as grown-ups, in worship and Christian devotion, we need likewise the spiritual gifts our churches offer.

For it really is a big world. Full of challenges, opportunities, and promising tomorrows. It always looks that way to a growing soul.

The Way We Live Makes Our Electric Meters Run Faster!

IN TODAY'S BUSY LIFESTYLES, IT'S OFTEN EASY TO FORGET THE SIMPLE THINGS THAT HELP MAKE OUR ELECTRIC METERS RUN FASTER — AND MAKE OUR ELECTRIC BILLS HIGHER! PRACTICE THE FOLLOWING CONSERVATION TIPS TO HELP SLOW YOUR ELECTRIC METER DOWN AND TO HELP YOU SAVE MONEY THIS SUMMER.

- Set your thermostat on 78° or higher.
- Keep all outside doors tightly closed when your air conditioning system is on.
- Don't leave unnecessary lights on — they add heat to the room and consume unnecessary energy.
- Use fans with air conditioning, to increase comfort at thermostat settings over 78°. Remember to turn fans off when you leave the room.
- Don't leave your refrigerator door open for an extended amount of time.
- Remember to close draperies, blinds, or shades to block the sunlight on hot summer days.
- Use exhaust fans in the bathroom, kitchen, or laundry to help move heat and humidity outside, but remember to turn them off when their job is done.
- Use major heat-producing appliances, like ranges and dryers, during the cooler part of the day.

Care Needed With Replanted Cotton

Recent heavy rains and other bad weather have damaged or destroyed large acreages of cotton on the Texas High Plains. Thousands of acres will have to be replanted in June and producers need to use care in selecting varieties and cultural practices for an abbreviated growing season, warns a cotton specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Replanting is complicated by several factors, said Dr. James R. Supak, the Extension agronomist. First, growers are nearing the cutoff date for planting to allow the crop to mature before harvest. Second, there are limited supplies of seeds for the more desirable varieties for late planting. "Many producers will have to look at such alternate crops as grain sorghum, sunflowers, forages or, where they have sufficient water, soybeans," Supak said. He cautioned that before replanting with any alternate crop, the producer must get certified by his local office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Producers who replant cotton in counties north of Lubbock should consider varieties that fall into the very early maturity class, the Extension specialist said. Producers in the central counties around Lubbock should use very early or early maturing varieties for planting until approximately June 10. After June 10, only the very early varieties should be used, he advised.

Producers south of Lubbock can use the early maturing varieties until mid-June. After that time they should give priority to only the very early maturing cultivars, Supak said. Information about the cotton varieties available on the Texas High Plains and their approximate maturity class can be obtained from seed company representatives or County Extension Agents.

Late planted cotton generally requires a slightly higher than normal planting rate, Supak noted. He said research has shown that 55- to 60,000 plants per acre (4 to 4.5 plants per foot of drill) is a good plant population for late cotton. This requires a planting rate of 20 to 25 pounds per acre, or six to eight seed per foot of drill.

Pre-emergence herbicide residues are frequently a problem in replanting. On land treated with Caporal or Karmex, seedling injury can generally be avoided by busting down to about four inches or more below the soil surface, Supak said. He said residual problems are unlikely to occur with Sancap and Dual unless the chemicals were applied to cotton planted in deep furrows. In such instances, it would be advisable to replant into untreated soil, he suggested.

Decisions concerning irrigation must be considered after late cotton is up and growing. "Because the yield potential for late planted cotton is reduced, fields having adequate moisture at replanting won't likely require summer irrigation," Supak said. In fact, yields and quality of late planted cotton are frequently reduced by overwatering.

Smaller Cities See Largest Increases, Decreases In Rebates

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Friday sent checks totaling $58.1 million in local tax payments to the 1,003 cities that levy the one percent local sales tax, with the largest amounts of increases and decreases seen by Texas' smaller cities.

Houston received the largest check—$10.3 million—to push 1985 payments to $76.6 million, up 5% over last year. Dallas' payment of $7.5 million brought its yearly total to $56.4 million, a 16% increase.

San Antonio's check for $3.5 million brought payments this year to $27.4 million, up 14%. Austin received $2.9 million, pushing its 1985 total to $21.8 million, a 27% increase over last year.

Fort Worth's payment was $2.2 million for a 1985 total of $16.5 million, a 12% increase. El Paso received a check for $1.3 million, bringing total checks this year to $10.3 million, up 15% from 1984 payments.

June checks represent taxes collected on sales made in April and reported to the Comptroller by May 20.

Silverton's sales tax rebate for this period was $933.70, down from the $759.56 received for the comparable period in 1984. This brought the Silverton total to date in 1985 to $9,852.16, down 2.29% from the $10,083.51 that had been received at this time last year.

Quitaque received no payment for this period in 1985, after having received a check for $655.80 last year. The Quitaque payments to date in 1985 total $6,003.07, down 4.44% from the $6,282.26 received for the same period in 1984.

The specialist said the application of foliar fertilizer to cotton damaged by hail or foliar disease isn't recommended. Grasshopper Control Program To Be Implemented In Briscoe County

The USDA-Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service and the Texas Department of Agriculture have agreed there is a need for a Grasshopper Control Program in Briscoe County. Local ranchers attended the first planning meeting Tuesday, June 4.

A program on grasshoppers was conducted by Jim Duncan of the USDA-APHIS. Mr. Duncan explained the control program and how the federal government would contribute. He stated that under the available program the federal government pays one-third, the state pays one-third, and the rancher is responsible for paying the remainder for non-crop land.

At the county program June 4, a County Control Committee was elected. The role of the committee is to administer the program and be a liaison between the rancher, the USDA-APHIS and Texas Department of Agriculture. County Chairman is Pascal Garrison. Other committee members are Jarus Flowers, Doug Forbes, Zane Mayfield and Don Burson.

All farmers were contacted by the County Extension Office of the available program and its need. The deadline to sign up was June 11 at 5:00 p.m.

Aaron states that the turnout of ranchers was very good and the prospects of a successful kill look favorable. The chemical to be used will be Malathion at eight ounces per acre and will be applied by three aerial applications. At this point, 40,000 acres have been blocked off and are ready to spray. June 20 is the projected date for the grasshoppers to be sprayed.

Aaron warns the people to remove their vehicles from the premises or put them in a garage or shed; also that all beekeepers within the county should contact the County Extension Office at once.

For more information, contact the County Extension Office or your local committee member.

Time To Start A Planned Grazing System

Grassland and other forage plants that were grazed short during last year's drought are in a weakened condition and will recover a lot faster if managed properly during the 1985 growing season.

Melony Chandler, range conservationist for the USDA Soil Conservation Service in Silverton, said producers who sold their livestock last year should develop a grazing plan that considers the needs of these weakened plants before they buy back.

"Our better range plants are very low in vigor due to the drought," Chandler said. "The more rest we can give them this year, the faster they will regain their productivity."

"People who are stocking back now should consider stocking at a lower rate for at least a year to give the grass a chance to get ahead of the livestock. And remember, we don't have any assurance that we won't be back in a drought by the end of the year."

Chandler said since we now have adequate moisture, this would be an excellent time to install a planned grazing system so all pastures could be rested during the current growing season.

If you have cropland, you might also want to consider growing some forage sorghum this year. You could graze it to take some pressure off your grassland until later in the year.

The Caprock Soil and Water Conservation District can help producers work out a planned grazing system or a grazing plan to help improve the drought stressed grassland.

The onion was regarded by the Romans as a god who guarded the kitchen and guided the healing of battle wounds and skin diseases.

Mrs. James Lynn Kimbell of Turkey and Mrs. J. W. Kimbell of Quitaque spent Thursday night and Friday in Amarillo visiting Mrs. Ann McBee, a sister of Mrs. J. W. Kimbell.

The onion is related to the lily.

Water Conference Findings Discussed

A four-day international water conference at Texas A&M University, May 27-30, addressed such issues as water supply, management and salinity; integrated ecosystems; water and energy; and technology.

Preliminary findings emphasized removing political constraints from water and agriculture policies; sustaining current water supplies; increasing training and education programs, particularly at the farmer level; providing incentives to invest in new technology, especially at the farmer level; directing more attention to total integration of water related technology; making better use of existing information; dealing more effectively with drainage; addressing livestock as well as crop production; involving local people more fully; and assessing all resources more thoroughly, including water, energy and other inputs.

Some weightlifters take as many as 250 vitamin tablets a day.
