THEN and NOW!

by Eunice McFall

The Christmas season will officially open in Quitauque this Saturday. The town will be shining with Christmas lights and trees all aglow. Businesses will have their Christmas decorations out for all the world to see. The City boys have put up the pole decorations. We the Women have cleaned, rearranged the Sidewalk Museum and put out the Christmas finery for everyone to take a stroll down main street and look at what Christmas might have been in years past. They have also redone the pots on main street with a Christmas theme instead of fall items.

All of this is in anticipation of area shoppers and visitors coming to town for the annual Caprock Country Christmas. Merchants are putting out their Christmas wares, giving away door prizes at open house, and brushing up on their greetings to welcome each of you to their store on Saturday. Several businesses who usually do not open on Saturday are going to be having open house that day to say hello to their customers and to let you know how very important each individual is to our town.

The economy depends on each of us doing our part to keep all of our business doors open. The theme, "Shop At Home First" is very relevant in today's world. If it is available at home, we need to purchase it here. Just think what our town would be like if any more of our businesses close. We certainly do miss the ones that have already closed their doors! So let's do our part to keep open the ones that are still here but are struggling to survive.

We do have a great place to live in. Most of us have chosen Quitauque because we like the people, location, and scenery. So Come On Let Us Do Our Best To Keep Quitauque On The Map.

The craft show this year is to be at the Community Center on First Street to draw the people to downtown Quitauque. Most of the craftsmen will be local people who want to show you their gift items and perhaps you might just find that perfect gift for that someone on your list.

Clubs are busy baking so that they can help you with your Christmas food. The Chamber will be serving lunch at the Senior Citizens Building on Main Street. Santa will also arrive in town that day. So there will be something for everyone Saturday from toddlers to grandparents. Come One Come All and Enjoy a Day on the Town!

Quitauque Merchants To Host Open House

Area merchants will be hosting open house during this year's Caprock Country Christmas. Many of these businesses will also be drawing for door prizes throughout the day.

Allsup's and Merrell Food will both be giving away a turkey and Caprock Canyons Cafe will draw for two $20 gift certificates. The Sportsman will give away a dinner for two. The Valley Tribune will give away a one year subscription to the newspaper, the Valley Farm Store will draw at 4 p.m. for booster cables and a pocket knife. Karol's Kountry Korner and Farley's Flowers and Variety will be drawing for several different gifts at each location toward the end of the day on Saturday. Caprock Home Center will also have some door prizes. The Post Office, J & K Insurance and Caprock Public Library will have open house.

Be sure to stop by each of these places of business and enjoy refreshments and register to win a door prize.

Buggy rides will be available throughout the day leaving from the Community Center and touring the streets and sights of Quitauque.

Santa Claus is expected to arrive at the Community Center at 3:00 p.m. Pictures with Santa will be available for a fee. Santa's arrival is being sponsored by the Quitauque Chamber of Commerce.

Did You Know?

(NAPS)—If you suspect you're a victim of credit fraud, notify your credit grantors immediately, advise the experts at Equifax, one of the world's largest consumer information companies.

At some point, one in five Americans will experience depression, a condition that tends to recur, thus requiring long-term treatment. A new antidepressant drug, Paxil (paroxetine hydrochloride), has been shown to be effective in preventing relapse of depression in patients who were treated for up to one year.

Briscoe Historical Committee Suggests Memorial Engraving

Are you looking for a special way to remember someone during the holiday season? Stop at the north side of the courthouse to review the newest portion of the Briscoe County Historical Committee's current project. You might want to add a name to the beautiful marble "bricks" that are around the huge flintstone that bears the Briscoe County marker.

There is still room for others, so if you are interested in having your family name, school, church, organization, business, etc. inscribed, see someone in the County Judge's office or contact a member of the Briscoe County Historical Committee, chaired by Johnnie Morrison, Box 357, Quitaque, TX 79255.

Each inscription may be up to 18 letters (and/or spaces) per line on three lines per brick. You may contract for more than one brick if you wish. There are no age limitations on who may participate in this memorial project containing historical data for public viewing.

Perhaps you still need copies of "Footprints of Time in Briscoe County", they are also available. Don't fail to complete your own home library with this outstanding history of the development of Briscoe County, or give one to a child of grandchild to preserve your family history for them.

Do your Christmas shopping early--call or go to the County Judge's office for help.

Quitaque Is All Decked Out For Christmas

by Mary Stark

Quitaque began taking on the festive air of Christmas this week as the City workers, Robert Patrick, Maria Cruz and Junior Scoggins, along with We The Women and a number of other volunteers began putting out cedar, poinsettias and red bows galore all over town. Even a big, grinning Santa sits on a tractor with a bag full of toys. The excitement is growing as the days rapidly pass by until the Quitaque Country Christmas celebration this Saturday, December 4.

Those working on decorations were Delene Tyler, Johnnie Rogers, Arlene Hinkle, Ernestine Payne, Mary Stark, Betty Price, Johnnie Morrison, J. T. Rogers, Ross Herrington, Grady Tyler, Leroy Hamilton, Jo Mae Merrell, Waldeen Thomason, Jerry Brannon, Carol Ramsey, Dona Smith, Lee Tapp, Bobby Cochran, Warren Lee Merrell and Jacquelyn Ham and the Second Grade Class.

Not only are We the Women extremely busy working on decorations but many many hours are being spent hand quilting a beautiful king size quilt. Tickets will be sold for a drawing and the winner of the quilt will be announced on Friday, December 17 at an open house at J. T. and Johnnie Rogers country home.

The quilt will be on display at the Senior Citizens Building on Saturday. Tickets can be purchased from any We The Women member.

Women who are working on the quilt are Johnnie Morrison, Jo Mae Merrell, Ernestine Payne, Estelle Davidson, Hattie Lois Carter, Betty Price, Dona Smith, Ruth Hooks, Delene Tyler, Mary Stark and Florene Cobb.

Holiday "Food For Thought"

The 1993 "Holiday Delights" cookbook is now available at your local West Texas Utilities Company office. This year's cookbook is a recipe collection of past favorites to use for entertaining, baking, and gift-giving. Each recipe features a nutritional analysis for each serving to help if you are watching calories, cholesterol, fat, sodium, etc.

The holiday season brings with it thoughts of baking and food preparation. WTU has a few tips to offer during this time of year. Food safety is particularly important during holidays when traditionally larger quantities of food are prepared. Here are a few food safety precautions to follow:

Thaw turkey in the refrigerator or in cold water, never at room temperature, to prevent bacterial growth;

Do not oven-roast meats at temperatures below 325 degrees. Temperatures below 325 degrees are not high enough to destroy bacteria that may develop in large cuts of meat or turkey during long cooking periods.

Cooked food should never be left at room temperature for more than 2 hours, including preparation time. Refrigerate promptly.

Refrigerate cream, custard, or meringue pies and any food with a custard filling, such as cakes, cream puffs or eclairs, just as soon as they have cooled slightly. Follow the same precautions for salads and sandwiches made with salad dressings containing eggs or milk products.

Keep hot food hot and cold foods cold. Hot foods should be kept at 140 degrees until served. Cooked cold foods should be kept at 45 degrees or lower.

By planning ahead and following these food safety tips you can help ensure your families' health during the holidays and the rest of the year. Remember to stop by WTU for your free cookbook.

When Self-Esteem Goes Bad

by Ron Trusler, M. ED.

There's no doubt that people need a healthy self-esteem. The key word is "healthy". There are instances when a person who has once felt badly about themselves begins to feel better, can go to far. They start having some positive events in their life but instead of a healthy esteem they become power hungry and aggressive instead of assertive.

I've seen people become transformed from a likeable, trustworthy individual who people respected to a person who people disliked, did not trust and resented—all due to self-esteem being blown out of proportion.

How do you keep that from happening to yourself?

1. Realize who you are and where you have come from.
2. Know that a highly inflated ego is an easy target and will be shot down.
3. People respect the properly humble more than the lofty proud.

FIRE AT FLOMOT GIN

At 2:00 a.m., Wednesday, November 24, eighty bales of cotton on a flat-bed truck were completely destroyed by fire. Eddie Roys was enroute to the Memphis Compress when, two miles east of Flomot, he noticed a bale of the cotton on fire. He returned to the flomot gin with the load of cotton thinking with help it could be extinguished before too much damage. It was a losing cause.

Not only did the Flomot, Matador and Quitaque Fire Departments respond to the fire, area farmers congregated at the location and moved 30 trailers of cotton from the gin yard that were in danger from the massive blaze fanned by strong north winds.

A prayer of thankfulness was given when the trailers of cotton, gin, homes and truck owned by Billy Joe Roys escaped damage. The gin began operation again at 4:00 p.m. Wednesday and the trailers were moved back to the gin yard.

HOLIDAY GIFT IDEAS

Give The Gift Of Fine Writing

(NAPS)—Those who believe in the power of the written word will agree: An elegant pen makes a wonderful gift for family, friends, business associates and just about anyone else on your list this holiday season.

You can add a stroke of elegance to your gift-giving with the purchase of elegant pens.

Some of today's most beautiful pens, excellent for holiday gift-giving, come from Koh-I-Noor, Inc., a leading manufacturer and distributor of writing instruments. Both pens are available wherever fine writing instruments are sold.

To make the most of your closet space, hang tie and shoe racks on the back of the closet doors.

Be Especially Safety Conscious About Tree, Holiday Decorations

The Commission on Fire Protection and Quitaque's Fire Chief Albert Castillo recommends the following steps to prevent holiday fires: Keep natural trees well-watered and moist. Natural trees require special care. According to fire statistics, natural trees used as decorations in the home are three times as likely as artificial trees to be involved in fires.

Water the tree daily. Letting the water supply run out even once can keep the tree from drawing any more water through the trunk.

Heaters dry the air, which dries natural trees. Use a humidifier to replace air moisture.

As the tree dries, don't leave lights on for extended times. Never leave a lighted tree unattended.

Faulty or unattended electrical lights caused half of the Christmas tree fires last December, according to fire statistics. Be sure someone is at home and awake whenever decorative lights are on. Turn off lights before going to sleep.

Remember home fire safety. Be sure there are working smoke alarms near all bedrooms. Give smoke alarms as gifts to those who don't have smoke alarms or who need to replace old smoke alarms.

Don't leave cooking unattended. Plan and practice an emergency exit drill in the home.

Last December, 19 fires involved Christmas trees and another 25 fires involved holiday decorations, according to the Texas Fire Incident Reporting System operated by the commission to gather fire statistics from Texas fire departments. Only one person was injured in a Christmas tree fire. In December 1991, five people died in fires involving Christmas trees.

The most common causes of accidental holiday fires were candles and electrical malfunctions, especially involving lamps and lights.

Fire Chief Albert Castillo urges all residents of the area to use extreme caution with their decorations and holiday celebrations so that it can be a truly happy holiday season for each of you.

Suggestions for Reducing Child Sexual Abuse

Some parts of our society has a way of making us feel to blame for a child being sexually abused. For example, lets say a father sexually abuses his child. Some people tend to think two things:

(1) The protecting mother must not have been a good mother because this happened. The fact is that a parent cannot possibly watch their children all the time. It's impossible.

(2) The mother must have not been a good lover because the man choose someone else. The fact is, I've known of people who have had a good sexual relationship with their spouse (as far as activity is concerned) and still choose someone else.

There are some things parents can do to lessen the chances of their child being sexually abused by providing a child with tools for protecting themselves. It lets children know they need not to accept abuse from other people and that they will be supported. Some things that can help are:

(1) A touching code- can be agreed upon by the entire family. It's to be used in any situation where another person's touch is uncomfortable. By letting your child participate in developing the touching code it show respect for them. The code may be a word or phrase to use when they don't want to be touched. It may simply be "No" or "Please don't" or "It's my body. Don't touch me! I don't like it!" or "No, I won't touch you!" etc.

(2) It helps for children to feel good about themselves in order to refuse abuse from an older person. Find some practical ways you can show your children you value them, building their self-esteem and help their decision making abilities.

(3) Create a family environment in which feelings and expressing them are acceptable. Some children are made to feel that feelings of fear, sadness and suspicion are not correct. So when they have those types of feelings they are kept to themselves.

Child sexual abuse is not a pleasant subject to talk about but its important we not avoid knowing some facts about it.

Social Security News What's In It For The "Thirty-Somethings?"

by Terry Richardson

Soyou're "thirty--something" and you've worked for 10 years or more. You've been paying into Social Security all that time. And now you're thinking about the years that lie ahead until you're "sixty-something" and can start receiving Social Security retirement benefits. The good news is that you may have already worked long enough to become eligible for benefits when you reach retirement. The bad news is you need to keep working.

In addition to working for the money you need for the necessities and luxuries in your life, you'll need to work to increase the amount of your Social Security retirement benefit. If you were able to retire at "thirty-something" after acquiring the maximum credits needed to qualify for Social Security (40 credits--equivalent to 10 years--of work) your benefit amount would be far below the amount you would receive after working 30 or more years at higher wages. In general, a Social Security benefit is based on your earning adjusted for inflation and averaged over your highest 35 years.

But there's more to Social Security than just the monthly checks you'll receive when you retire. All through those years you are working and paying into Social Security, you and your family are protected by the disability and survivors' programs.

This means that if you become disabled and are unable to do any kind of work for which you are suited for at least 12 months, you could receive monthly Social Security disability checks. To get those checks, you must have worked and paid Social Security taxes for up to 5 years just prior to becoming disabled, and earned enough credits to be fully insured--no more than 40 credits.

The chances of becoming disabled are not as remote as you may think. Studies show that one out of four young workers will become disabled some time during his or her lifetime. If that happens to you, not only would you receive Social Security benefits, but your spouse and young children may qualify as well.

If you die before reaching retirement age, members of your family may be eligible for benefits on your Social Security record. They include a widow or widower age 60 or older or age 50 or older and disabled; a widow or widower any age who is caring for your child who is under age 16 or disabled; your unmarried children under age 18 or under age 19 who are still in high school; a child age 18 or older who is severely disabled; and your parents, if they were dependent on you for at least half of their support.

No one likes to think that they will be disabled or die before enjoying a long life. But it should be comforting to know that if the unthinkable happens, you and your family will have a safety net. To learn more about the Social Security programs and what they mean to you, call or visit your Social Security office and ask for a copy of "Understanding Social Security."
