Butler Wins SPS Sponsored Trip To National Convention

J. Dale Butler of Valley High School chapter of the Future Farmers of America is one of five young men who won Southwestern Public Service Company-sponsored trips to the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Missouri in November.

Butler was a top student in the "Farm Motors" course at a three-day farm electrification workshop sponsored by SPS in Amarillo June 13-15. Eighty-four FFA boys and five FFA girls from Texas and New Mexico attended.

Vocational agriculture teachers who made up the workshop faculty selected the five trip winners on the basis of test scores and class performance. Also honored were Frank Jesko of Lazbuddie, Keith Williams of Mobeetie, Shad Kelley of Abernathy, and Brooke Owens of Artesia.

The workshop was the 21st sponsored by SPS. It was the second ever in which girls were students.

The future farmers learned how to wire buildings, build and use electric controls, or how to build electric motors. They also were taught how electricity is made, and first aid and safety tips.

Five area vocational agriculture teachers paid by SPS taught the three courses. They were assisted by 10 adult FFA advisors and by SPS personnel.

The "Farm Wiring" course emphasized safe and efficient wiring of two-and three-way switches, proper wire splicing, and how to make a meter loop. The skills can be used in homes, barns, sheds, or other places electricity is needed.

Students in the "Electric Controls" course learned how to tie in three- and four-way switches, how to set up photoelectric cells for automatic lighting, and how to set up two- and three-pole relays.

The "Farm Motors" course taught students how to operate, repair and build small electric motors.

On the second day of the workshop, the students toured SPS' Harrington Station, the coal-fueled power plant north-east of Amarillo. The station has a generating capacity of 1,122,000 kilowatts.

Southwestern Public Service primarily provides electric utility service to a population of more than one million in a nearly 70,000-square-mile area of the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas, eastern and southeastern New Mexico, the Oklahoma Panhandle, and southwestern Kansas.

We expect this to be an excellent opportunity for students to become involved in tennis and at the same time have an enjoyable experience. The class on tennis fundamentals will teach grips, stroking the ball, the basics of the game, and other facts of tennis which need to be learned in order to make the game more enjoyable.

Good Crop of Wheat Being Harvested In Quitaque Area

Arville Setliff, manager of Quitaque Elevator, reports the Quitaque area wheat is the best average crop harvested in years up to date.

Bart Owens brought in the first load on June 13, and he has completed harvesting his 400 acres. The average on his land was 31½ bushels to the acre on dry land.

Leroy Hamilton has completed harvesting his 136 acres and it averaged 27 bushels to the acre.

Mr. Setliff reports that he has taken in 30,000 bushels to date at closing time Monday evening. He says there is no doubt that there will be higher yields when the harvest is completed, but the two are the only ones finished harvesting.

The wheat is just beginning to come in at Turkey, according to David Setliff. Donnie Turner of Flomot brought in the first load.

NOTICE!

Due to the many hands that a newspaper goes through before it is printed, the Valley Tribune takes this regrettable position which most newspapers state. We will not be responsible for photographs that are brought to the newspaper.

The printer charges for printing each picture and we have been assuming that expense. That charge will be relayed to those who have pictures printed. This is a position we hate to have to relay to our people, but it is almost impossible to keep up with pictures. Many come back months later to pick up a picture and we have to go through stacks of pictures.

Subscriptions Due

Many of our subscribers have been with us since we started the Valley Tribune which begins its 24th year at the middle of this month. Since we started this month, many of our subscriptions come due this month. Look at the date next to your name, and if it is circled in red it is time to renew. The Tribune staff takes the subscriptions out with the first issue of the month and begin circling the due date. The postal service requires the subscriptions be kept up to date. The editor doesn't want you to miss a single issue, so please check the date. Thank you.

Jon Davidson Makes Dean's Honor Roll

Jon David Davidson was one of 2,200 students at Texas Tech University who qualified for the dean's honor roll in one of the university's six colleges for the 1983 spring semester.

Jon made a grade point average of 3.83 for the last semester, and a 3.41 for the four-year period, on a grade point scale of 4.0 taking at least 12 hours or more of classes. The minimum is 3.5 for the dean's honor roll.

Congratulations, Jon, from the Valley Tribune and your area friends.

TYPOGRAPHICAL ERROR

The editor of the Valley Tribune made a typographical error on the subscription notice and it ran for three weeks stating we had been in business 26 years. In last week's newspaper, we stated we were beginning our 24th year. That is correct. We overlook errors, but no newspaper is infalible. It was called to our attention.

The Tribune received a renewal for two years from Mrs. W. H. (Ruby) Folley from Wellington, Colorado, and she states she and her husband enjoy reading about friends and loved ones, and she says she really likes the "new look" of the paper. (Thanks, Ruby! I needed that.)

The Valley Tribune received a letter from Mrs. J. B. (Ina Mae) Baird of San Diego, California, in which she states she has good news. The Bairds, former residents of the Quitaque area, have been wanting to come back this way. They lived in Arizona before moving to California.

The letter reads: "We bought a home in Lubbock this week (June 13) and will be moving back to the "Holy Land" by July 1."

She states they had just received the keys after the deal for the house was completed when they heard a "Yoo-hoo! Your neighbors are calling." It proved to be a friend whom Ina Mae had not seen in many years and had gone to school with in Roaring Springs. She pointed in three directions, Ina Mae states, and said there were two more friends from Roaring Springs living in the immediate neighborhood.

She says: "We are excited and happy to be so near Quitaque and HOME and will be able to keep in touch. In the meantime, our address will be 908 Adrian, Lubbock, Texas 79403. Turn off Amarillo highway on Cypress, then left on Adrian. Come to see us!"

Welcome back, Ina Mae and Jim.

Mrs. Thetis Rogers, formerly of Quitaque who now resides in Poco Apartment #122, 4501 Brownfield Drive in Lubbock, has been a patient for the past several days at Lubbock General Hospital.

Lottie Owens and her sister, Mrs. Ollie McMinn of Silvertown, visited Mrs. Olive Owens in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ebbs in Plainview Sunday.

WITH THE SICK

Katy Robison, owner and manager of Heads and Heels Beauty Salon, underwent surgery June 2, and returned home in a few days, but had to be taken back the same day, according to report. She returned home June 13, but had to be taken back again. She is still in Nichols Hospital as we go to press.

Vollie Hodges is in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock where he was taken last week following an accident at the Panhandle Compress. He underwent surgery for a broken jaw and to set his leg which was broken in two places, and stitches were taken to close the wound in his forehead last week immediately after his arrival at the hospital. His broken nose was repaired Monday of this week, according to report. Mrs. Hodges told friends she thought he was on the road to recovery now.

Mrs. Jack (Debbie) Wellman entered Lubbock General Hospital Wednesday of last week where she is being confined for an indefinite period. The Wellmans are expecting twins and the doctor thinks if he can keep her stable, that everything will be all right.

Joe Henry Tiffin was taken to Lockney General Hospital Sunday, June 12. It is reported he is improving.

Mrs. Vaughn Hall is at home in Quitaque and is in serious condition, according to report.

Mrs. David Aubuchon was in the Hall County Hospital over the weekend. She returned home on Monday morning.

PIK Improves Cotton Picture

The previously gloomy cotton picture has done an about-face due to the government's PIK (payment-in-kind) program and an increase in domestic usage.

But Mother Nature will have a lot to do with whether or not the strengthened cotton market will continue, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Because cotton supplies are still plentiful, the market price may drop to near the loan rate at harvest time. So, farmers should consider forward contracting or hedging in the futures market some of their crop during periods of market strength.

Mental Health Drive Receives Monetary Benefit

Anna Marie Ham of Quitaque raised $130.50 in the May drive benefiting the Mental Health Association in Texas.

Bellringer workers collected house-to-house during the Spring campaign.

Proceeds benefit the non-profit, non-governmental agency whose members are dedicated to fighting mental illness while working on behalf of the mentally ill and their families.

"The Mental Health Association exists entirely on donations, such as those raised in the May campaign," said Mrs. Jess Hay, state president.

Mrs. Hay thanked Mrs. Ham and the Bellringer workers in Quitaque, calling them an important team in the movement to promote mental health in the state.

There's no harm—and a lot of good—in promising yourself a small reward for a task well done, psychologists say. If household chores have got you down, try to picture yourself relaxing with a tasty snack and a frosty glass of iced tea. Then after you've finished the dishes, the dusting or the laundry—put your feet up and put yourself in the picture.

About half the population of America over the age of three wears glasses.

Moeller added, "State and local conservation, commodity and farm groups are each invited to submit one contestant to the statewide contest with the winner going on to the national competition."

Aggie engineers building smart tractor

COLLEGE STATION — Texas A&M University agricultural engineers are developing an automated tractor system that could tell a farmer when to slow down or even shift gears to conserve fuel.

The research conducted by Texas A&M's Agricultural Engineering Department is part of an effort to help farmers improve energy efficiency, reduce their costs and lower consumers' grocery bills.

The researchers are connecting a complex network of sensors to a tractor for measuring such things as fuel flow, forward travel speed and the amount of power that's being produced.

Mr. and Mrs. James May returned to their home Saturday night after a vacation trip to Arkansas and Louisiana. They drove to Ardmore, Oklahoma where they met Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rucker of Canyon and all drove from there to Murfreesboro, Arkansas where they went diamond hunting. They were none of them lucky enough to find one. A man found one that day and a girl had found two the preceding day. The largest diamond found was found by a Mr. W. W. Johnson of Amarillo. It sold for $75,000.00, it is reported.

Mrs. May says they were shown a picture show to show them what to look for in hunting diamonds and it was very interesting. She says the ones on display are ugly. The unrefined diamond is black (carbon) and they don't sparkle in the rough.

The two couples also visited Hot Springs and saw many interesting sights there. They parted company there. The Ruckers attended the Carpenter reunion at Lake Hamilton, near Hot Springs, and the Mays drove into Louisiana to visit his relatives. They visited an aunt in a rest home in Linden, Texas. More than one-third of all U.S. households rent their homes, and most of these families have low to moderate incomes. This means that affordable rental housing is of great importance to our nation. How to achieve this goal, however, is one which has generated a good deal of controversy.

There are many who argue that the way to make sure that people can afford adequate housing is through rent control -- simply pass a law keeping rents from rising. During the past four years, some 200 cities and counties have adopted controls, and many more nationally are considering similar proposals.

Unfortunately, cities that have enacted rent control ordinances have discovered that these regulations in fact create shortages of rental units.

The shortage develops in two ways: First, the existence of a rent control act discourages developers from building new units and financial institutions from providing financing. Secondly, rent control regulations often mean that landlords cannot provide needed upkeep and existing apartments deteriorate. Often, landlords find that the cash-flow problems resulting from artificially low rent levels require them to close apartments or convert them to condominiums.

Washington, D.C., for example, has seen a net loss in the number of available units since it implemented rent controls.

Despite the well-documented evidence concerning the negative effect of rent controls, however, there are some in the Congress who would have us subject federally subsidized housing to these counter-productive rules.

One of the federal programs before the Senate now is the Rental Rehabilitation and Development Grant Program. The purpose of this program is to provide grants for rehabilitation of rental housing. Eighty percent of the funds under this program would go to housing for low- to moderate-income renters. The method by which these funds are targeted will ensure that rents stay at levels which these individuals can afford.

The legislation as approved by the Housing and Urban Affairs Subcommittee, which I chair, prohibits these units from being subjected to rent controls. These restrictions are designed to make sure that housing is provided in areas which need it most.

Additionally, we want to make certain that housing developed under this program is available to the targeted low- and moderate-income families for the long term. If a city can impose artificially low rent controls on a project, these controls can be lifted later -- displacing families which depend upon this housing. In short, the restrictions against rent control are necessary to ensure that this rental rehabilitation program functions the way it is intended to operate.

The Housing and Urban Affairs Subcommittee rejected an attempt to remove this prohibition against rent control in assisted housing, but the issue likely will come before the full Senate when the bill is considered. I believe, however, that we will be able to retain this important provision. Certainly, it is in the best interest of all renters that it remain in place.

The recent summit meeting of NATO leaders to discuss economic issues is a sign of the degree to which all of our economies are inextricably linked. This linkage affects every level of business and commerce.

For Texans, there are two areas of particular concern in our trade relations with the European Economic Community -- agricultural products and steel. Recently, I had the opportunity to express these concerns to Mr. Etienne Davignon, Vice President of the European Economic Community. I came away from our discussion somewhat encouraged. While there are still significant problems in both of these areas, the EEC seems to be shifting its approach to them.

In agriculture, EEC policies cause two problems for Texas farmers. First, import barriers make it difficult for them to sell within the EEC; and, secondly, the EEC nations subsidize their inefficient agriculture to the point that their farmers are undercutting our sales to Third World nations.

I asked Mr. Davignon how long European nations could continue to subsidize their farmers so heavily when they have their own budget deficit problems. He said the EEC is concerned about this problem and has asked its agriculture experts to examine the wisdom of subsidizing products which heretofore have been purchased more cheaply from the United States.

The EEC will address this point at a meeting this month in Stuttgart, West Germany.

Steel mill and steel pipe and tube imports from Europe also are having a negative impact on the Texas economy. In 1982, there was a reduced demand for steel pipe and tube products, which caused U.S. domestic production to fall. However, imports from the European Community and other nations continued to enter the U.S. in quantities significantly in excess of market demand.

The pressure of these increased imports on top of decreased demand brought about unprecedented U.S. layoffs and plant closings. For example, Lone Star Steel was forced to shut down its oil pipe and tube manufacturing operations in Texas last year.

Mr. Davignon told me the European Community has concluded that it is producing 55 million tons of steel a year above what is justified by market demand. He expects the EEC to cut that production by 30 million tons. However, he also indicated that the EEC likely will demand that we modernize our steel industry and cut our capacity as a condition of a new steel agreement. This causes me great concern.

The recession that has plagued our economy also has affected Europe, some nations more severely than the U.S. This makes reaching trade agreements more difficult, but at the same time all the more important. We must continue to work together to solve our mutual economic problems, but we also must ensure that the Europeans understand our basic philosophy -- we are willing to compete on equal footing, but we will not tolerate unfair barriers on our goods while affording our trading partners free access to our markets.

Consumer Update

Texas telephone customers soon will experience major changes in the way their telephone services are provided, and how much they must pay for these services.

New regulatory philosophies and technological advances have created a more competitive environment in the telecommunications industry, with numerous companies emerging to offer alternatives to traditional services, especially long distance services.

Most of the changes stem from new rulings by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) and the antitrust agreement between the U.S. Justice Department and American Telephone & Telegraph Co. (AT&T).

Some of the changes we expect have not been finalized yet. But because these changes ultimately will affect every telephone utility ratepayer in Texas, the Public Utility Commission began an investigation and review of the FCC rulings and the antitrust agreement in May 1983.

For nearly 50 years, the offering of basic telephone service at an affordable price to everyone who wanted it (known as universal service) has been a national goal. The current high level of universal service in Texas and the United States is due largely to a traditional pricing approach where part of the cost of accessing basic telephone service is paid by long distance users.

Today AT&T operating companies (including Southwestern Bell), AT&T's Long Lines Division, and independent phone companies provide local and long distance services in a single network. Through this structure, some costs of providing local phone services are covered by the sharing of long distance revenues.

Local phone companies operate facilities enabling their customers to call across town or across the country. Local or in-state calls are handled by the local phone companies. Out-of-state calls are handled by the AT&T Long Lines Division and local companies, with these costs shared by the local and long distance companies.

Money collected for long distance is used to support basic service. The money is collected through an internal process known as the Bell System's "Division of Revenues." The internal revenues transfer was developed at a time when AT&T operated as a monopoly and provided most local and long distance services.

One result of the antitrust agreement between AT&T and the Justice Department is that Southwestern Bell and other local operating companies will lose the long distance revenues from the "Division of Revenues" arrangement. Southwestern Bell will not be permitted to offer long distance type service statewide as it does now. They will compensate for this revenue loss at least in part by charging to connect long distance carriers to the local telephone network. Billing for this process will be known as an access charge.

Southwestern Bell is expected to use changes brought on by FCC rulings and the coming divestiture of AT&T as partial justification for a record rate increase it will seek from the PUC. In reviewing this and other requests, the Commission will work to protect the interests of the ratepaying public, and to explain any changes to the public as they occur.

We'll take a closer look at access charges in our next report.

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

THE REALITY OF DWI

AUSTIN — The Governor has signed into law a bill which all Texans can be proud of. The signing of Senate Bill One, a bill we authored and sponsored, represents a significant step toward increasing the safety of motorists who travel the roads and highways of Texas.

The new DWI law will go into effect January 1, 1983. The new measure calls for tougher penalties for repeat DWI offenders and it encourages alcohol rehabilitation. The new law also eliminates deferred adjudication, which in the past, allowed offenders to keep their record clean by serving probation without committing another offense.

We believe the tougher penalties, which will be assessed against DWI offenders beginning next year, will discourage intoxicated persons from getting behind the wheel of an automobile.

Under the new law, the courts will be allowed to suspend a motorist's license for up to one year on the first DWI conviction if the offender refuses to participate in a DWI education course. A second offense can result in a suspension of six months to two years.

A first time DWI offender will face a possible maximum fine of $2000 and a jail term up to two years. A first time offender can receive probation without going to jail by participating in an alcohol or drug dependency evaluation and by completing other necessary conditions of probation.

Jail time will be mandatory for repeat offenders. Second time offenders will face jail time of from fifteen days to two years and a fine of from $300 - $2000. On a second DWI conviction, a person will have to serve at least three days in jail as a condition of probation.

A third time offender will face from thirty days to two years in the county jail or from sixty days to five years in the Texas Department of Corrections and a fine of from $500 - $2000. On a third conviction, a person will have to serve at least ten days in jail as one condition of probation.

Penalties will be further enhanced in DWI cases involving death or serious injury.

Juveniles who are arrested for drunken driving will lose their license after their offense unless they take a DWI education course.

After a second DWI conviction, a juvenile will lose his or her license for a year or until he or she reaches the legal drinking age, whichever is longer.

The new law also includes a new definition of intoxication. A person will be considered legally drunk if a test for alcohol in the blood shows a concentration of 0.10 percent or more. Studies indicate that anyone with a 0.10 percent blood alcohol level is too drunk to be driving.

The new law makes refusal to be tested for alcohol in the blood admissible as evidence in court.

The new measures are designed to keep drunken drivers off of our streets and highways and encourage them to seek help in alcohol treatment programs.

We believe the new law will help save the lives of innocent victims across the state. Statistics show that from 1976 to 1981, fatal accidents in Texas increased by 48%, and 79% of the fatalities were caused by drunken drivers.

If you have any questions about the new law, please write Senator Bill Sarpalius, P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas 78711.

PUBLIC MEETING NOTICE

The Texas Department of Water Resources will conduct a public meeting at 1:30 p.m. June 30, 1983 in Room 118, Stephen F. Austin State Office Building, 1700 North Congress Avenue, Austin, Texas 78711.

Purpose of the meeting is to discuss the draft Federal Fiscal Year 1984 Water Quality Management Strategy and Annual Work Program. The Strategy and Work Program are key management documents which set forth the Department's resource allocation and project commitments for programs funded by Federal grants under Section 106 of the Clean Water Act.

Because they are the State's primary management planning documents for programs to control and abate water pollution, the Department invites comment and participation in the development of the Strategy and Work Program. Both the Strategy and Work Program shall be reviewed by the State Advisory Committee on Water Quality Management.

Draft copies of the Strategy and Work Program will be available to the general public from John W. Janak, Texas Department of Water Resources, P. O. Box 13087 Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711, (512/475-3926) and may be obtained for review at all Department of Water Resources District Offices. Copies will be available after July 1, 1983. Public comment on the Strategy and Work Program will be accepted for 15 days after the meeting date.

Shrink Wrap Succeeds In Protecting Consumers

Since a package cannot be made totally tamper-proof, a good solution is to make it tamper-evident—a package that lets the consumer determine whether the integrity of the package has been violated by simply inspecting the outside of the package.

One tamper-evident method that consumers will be seeing more and more of on their grocery shelves is shrink wrap packaging.

Shrink film has been used successfully for over 20 years to prevent product pilferage. According to Weldotron Corporation, a leading manufacturer of shrink wrap equipment, shrink wrap is one of the most effective, economical and highly visible methods for achieving tamper-evident protection.

Shrink wrap packaging can be used to protect individual bottles and cartons regardless of size and shape. And because the entire package is enveloped in a plastic film, it is easy to quickly determine if the package has been tampered with. Consumers do not have to open cartons or remove caps to make this determination. With shrink wrap, once the package has been tampered with, there is no easy way to reconstruct it.

Shrink wrap packaging is giving consumers an extra range of safety.

Taxpayers Granted One-Month Extension

The Internal Revenue Service has said that it is granting to all payors of interest and dividend income an automatic one-month extension of the requirement to withhold tax scheduled to begin July 1, 1983. The automatic one-month extension is being granted to alleviate any undue hardship to payors.

This action is being taken in light of the June 16, 1983, Senate action to repeal the withholding provisions which were enacted by the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982. The IRS noted that there has been no final action concerning repeal. The Congress continues to consider expanded backup withholding and other compliance measures.

If you were born in June, your birthstone is the pearl.

Texas Opens For 18th Season In Amphitheatre

Fifty-one flags flew over "Texas" on June 15. At the gala opening celebration for its 18th season, "Texas" honored its 49 sister states that provide visitors each summer to Paul Green's story of the settling of the Panhandle in the 1880's.

A flag from each of the 50 states proudly stood at attention in the evening breeze as visitors filed into the amphitheatre. Pictures were snapped of representatives of the states posed with their flag. The Stars and Stripes stood a little above the rest and seemed to enjoy the festivities.

According to the guest register and parking lot surveys, 27 states were represented at the celebration, and visitors came from seven foreign countries. More than 1300 people drove the winding road to the Pioneer Amphitheatre nestled against the stage's 600-foot back-drop.

George Lokey, President of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, producer of "Texas," introduced Bill Barrick of Cedar Park, artist for 1983's Souvenir Program. Announcement was made of a donation of a $10,000 cash bequest from the last will and testament of Alvin A. Bush, who is survived by his wife, Hattie Mae.

And then the show began. Eighty singers, dancers and actors, supported by 50 technicians and hospitality crew members went into action. The evening ended with a burst of fireworks that sparkled against the night sky in a breath-taking climax to an inspiring evening.

"Texas" plays nightly, except Sunday, through August 20.

Try Carp Fishing For Fun-Food

For a fishing thrill, catch a carp.

Carp are generally plentiful, bite readily, are an excellent fighting fish and offer variety for family menus, says a fisheries specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"The body conformation of carp can make even the most jaded fisherman think that he has latched on to a whale," says Dr. James T. Davis.

To help enjoy the thrill of catching one of these hard-fighting fish, Davis offers a few tips. Find a fishing place around brush piles or ledges in a calm, secluded cove. Just below a dam is also an excellent spot to find carp, says Davis.

Fishing success can be improved by baiting the location with such materials as fermented grain, cottonseed cake, rotten potatoes or orange cubes. Several dough baits can also be prepared. Scatter the bait at least six hours before you want to fish. Each baiting should be effective for about 24 hours.

Popular Diets May Be Unsound

"Many of the millions of dollars that Americans spend on diet books, plans and products are a waste of money," says Marilyn Haggard, a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

According to Ms. Haggard, there are no scientific studies showing that any of these popular diets are successful in the long run for most people. The best way to reduce is with a nutritionally balanced diet, moderation of eating habits, increased physical activity and the establishment of good eating habits, which will result in gradual weight loss, she says.

Although nutritionists, physicians and health educators recommend a balanced diet, popular diet plans often encourage an unbalanced intake of foods, says Ms. Haggard.

For example, some diet plans claim that carbohydrates are harmful and recommend eliminating them from the diet. Yet omitting the carbohydrates found in cereals and breads could cause a lack of thiamine, niacin and iron necessary for good health.

Other diet plans advocate over-consumption of particular food groups like protein or fruit, which cannot provide a variety of necessary nutrients, Ms. Haggard says.

A nutritionally balanced diet which results in a one- to three-pound weight loss per week is optimal for long-term weight reduction, says the specialist.

ENERGY-SAVING IDEAS

How Evergreens Help

A row of lush evergreens is a thing of beauty. But much of their beauty is hidden beneath a very practical exterior. You see, a wall of evergreens planted along the street side of your home will act as a sound barrier in addition to providing privacy and protection from chilling winds.

Evergreens are very big energy savers, too. Planted on the predominant windward side of the house, they serve as excellent wind-breaks. They have been proven to reduce a home's heating bill by up to 40 percent.

The secret of evergreens' greater efficiency over masonry walls is that they let part of the wind through, thereby lifting the air current up and over the house. With a masonry wall, a turbulence is formed between the wall and house which draws the wind down full-force against the house.

The Green Survival program of the American Association of Nurserymen teaches that evergreens are one of the essentials in any landscape plan. Over the years, they will pay for themselves in energy savings and noise reduction.

The U.S. Army adopted olive-drab for winter service uniforms in 1902.

At least a 15-pound test line and hooks of size eight or larger, suggests Davis. Big carp are usually caught on a size 4 hook. Fish on the bottom and have patience, because when carp begin to bite, they tend to mouth the bait before swallowing it. At the first steady pull, get ready for a fight.

Carp, like all fish, spoil easily, so gut and gill the fish as soon as possible, advises the specialist. Most fishermen bleed carp by cutting off the tail. Also, skinning the fish before cooking tends to reduce their strong flavor.

For the best cooking results, score the fish with a knife about every 1/8- to 1/4-inch. While deep fat frying is most popular, alternatives include baking, pickling, smoking or stew.

A drop of liquid can contain as many as 50 million bacteria.

Travel Carefully On Fourth of July Holiday

The Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety called on drivers to use extreme caution in traveling the streets and highways in Texas during the July 4 holiday weekend.

Major Vernon Cawthon said, "We realize the added dangers of traveling by motor vehicle during holiday periods and want to help motorists avoid the tragedy and suffering which could mar this otherwise happy occasion."

He pointed out that the DPS will be conducting its holiday "Operation Motorcade." He said, "We will continue to work with the news media to keep motorists posted on unusual traffic conditions and to advise them on where and why serious holiday accidents are occurring."

Cawthon said, "Excessive speed and driving while intoxicated continue as the primary law violations contributing to fatal accidents," and he warned, "DPS troopers have been directed to be especially watchful for motorists exceeding speed limits or under the influence of alcohol."

Cawthon also reminds motorists that many lives could be saved and serious injuries could be reduced during the crowded driving time through greater utilization of seat belts.

Fire Ant Control

Fire ants are continuing to plague all of the South and half of Texas, and their westward march continues. Well known for their painful stings and mounds that can tear up farm machinery, fire ants remain difficult to control, says an entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Mound treatment can be successful if done when ants are most active—during warm weather, late in the afternoon or evening when ants are foraging, and after a rain. Treat mounds with an approved insecticide diluted in water or use a granular insecticide. Apply with a sprinkling can or gallon-sized plastic jug with holes in the screw-on top.

Need a flowering plant that withstands summer heat, has few insect problems, and tolerates city smog? Try the Madagascar periwinkle.

This colorful plant is finding its way into more and more gardens each summer because it is so tough and heat tolerant, says Everett Janne, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

At the same time, plant breeders have been able to bring new characteristics into this plant that has made it even more desirable for home garden use. A good example is the variety Morning Mist. It's the first periwinkle with clusters of flowers. Each flower is pure white, centered with a red eye.

Periwinkle varieties presently available have white, pink, rose or lavender flowers (many with a contrasting eye), but flower breeders have additional varieties almost ready to release that will further extend the color range.

The foliage is one of the Madagascar periwinkle's most attractive features with its narrow, dark-green, glossy leaves, notes Janne. The contrast between the foliage and the flower is as attractive as any summer flowering plant available.

Periwinkles are superb for Texas gardens where heat frazzles many other plants. They will deliver a fine show in full sun throughout the summer until a killing frost gets them in the fall.

Some newer varieties have a spreading growth habit making them excellent for border plants, explains the horticulturist. These include Morning Mist, with its white flower and red eye; Little Delicata, a baby pink flower accented with a deep red eye; and Little Blanche, with its snow white flowers.

Two others in the "Little" series include the deep orchid colored Little Linda and Little Pinkie, which was initially introduced as Coquette.

For hanging baskets or a mass carpet planting, few varieties make a better show than Polka Dot, Janna points out. It has a low creeping growth habit, with each plant spreading about two feet across and only four to six inches tall covered with snow white flowers, each centered with a velvety cherry red dot.

Periwinkles will survive and thrive in locations where other plants would languish, such as by the foundation of houses with south and west exposures, on the balcony of high-rise apartments, or next to walks and drives with reflected heat. All they need for survival is an occasional watering plus a little fertilizer every six weeks or so, says Janne.

Because of its resistance to heat, disease, insects and air pollution, the periwinkle makes an excellent plant for summer color in the inner city and is also an excellent choice for the country home or suburban landscape.

Sarpalus Spends Hours In Filibuster For Farmers

State Senator Bill Sarpalus spent the last few remaining hours of the 68th Legislative Session fighting against a bill which would adversely affect Texas farmers.

"The farmers of this state are already plagued with serious financial difficulties. It would be extremely unfair to impose additional hardships on our farmers by passing a bill which would force them to pay a lot of money, which some of them do not have," Senator Sarpalus said.

Senator Sarpalus successfully fought against a bill which would have brought most farmers and ranchers under the state's worker's compensation law. The Senator filibustered against the legislation for more than two hours Monday night. Senator Sarpalus filibustered for more than nine hours Friday night, when the bill was first introduced in the Texas Senate, by Senator Hector Uribe of South Texas.

Senator Sarpalus opposed the legislation despite strong lobbying efforts to pass the bill and despite Agricultural Commissioner Jim Hightower's support of the bill. Proponents of the legislation said the bill would affect a small percentage of Texas farmers. However, a large number of Panhandle farmers, who would have been affected by the bill, disagreed. "The bill would have hurt at least 30 to 40% of all Texas farmers," Senator Sarpalus said.

The Senator's filibuster forced final defeat of the bill. "I'm happy the farmers of this state won an important victory Monday night. If the bill had gained approval, it would have forced some Texas farmers out of business," Senator Sarpalus said.

SOCIAL SECURITY NEWS
BY
TERRY J. CLEMENTS

An increased retirement age is one of the provisions of the 1983 amendments. When the "baby boom" generation begins to retire around the year 2010, an imbalance between beneficiaries and those paying into Social Security is expected. The later retirement age is designed to assure that the system is stable through this period. Basically, retirement age is when a person can receive an unreduced Social Security retirement benefit.

Simply stated, the current retirement age of 65 will be extended to age 67. The reduction for early retirement, now 20%, will be increased to 30%. However, these changes will come in the form of gradual steps.

The phase-in will be in two parts. First, the retirement age will be increased by two months per year until the retirement age is age 66. Beginning 2017, the age will again be increased two months per year until the retirement age of 67 is reached. It will be age 66 for a person born in the period 1943-1954. An individual born in 1958 will have a retirement age of 66 plus eight months. Those born in 1960 or later will have retirement ages of 67.

The lower reduced benefit will not go into effect until after the total increase in retirement age is complete. In other words, the maximum reduction for early retirement will be the current 20% until 2023. There will be up to a 30% reduction for persons who were born in 1961 or later who take early retirement. The new provision does not change the availability of reduced benefits. There also will be no change in the age of eligibility for Medicare.

How much have you heard about the new Social Security law? The 1983 amendments have a major impact on the Social Security provisions and probably affect you. If you would like a free copy of the booklet, "Social Security Strengthened," call, write or visit us, and we will be glad to provide you with a copy. RECORD BOOK TRAINING WORKSHOP IS FRIDAY

4-H'ers, parents and leaders are urged to attend the 4-H record book training workshop Friday at 1:30 p.m. at the City Hall in Silverton. The training will be repeated for the Valley 4-H Club at the Tommy Edwards home in Quitaque at 7:00 p.m.

Conducting the training will be 4-H Youth Specialist Dr. Martha Couch of Lubbock, who will explain how to keep 4-H information that can be put in the record book, the importance of citizenship and leadership activities in the record book, and the awards and scholarships that are based on completion of a 4-H record book.

Record books are not difficult to put together if 4-H'ers, parents and leaders understand what is required. 4-H'ers with a record book should bring it for help in adding to it.
