CLINTON KELLY

Master Carpenter Enjoys Hobby, Builds Miniature Condominiums

The feel of wood is second nature to Clinton Kelly of 504 Fairview in Amarillo. So it is natural that now, retired, his hobby affords him much of the satisfaction he knew as a builder.

Brother of Walter Kelly of Quitaque, he's been a carpenter since he was 16.

Agriculture's outpost on Wall Street

Most farmers and ranchers don't realize the Federal Land Bank gets its loan funds from the sale of bonds to investors. There is no government money in the Land Bank system. The quality of Land Bank Bonds, plus the skill with which the Farm Credit System's own Fiscal Agency works on behalf of agriculture, means a constant flow of low-cost financing from the nation's money market. Come in... and let's talk over how Land Bank money is bought—and sold—at a fair price to the borrower.

Baptist Ladies Meet For Week Of Mission Study

The ladies of the First Baptist Church in Quitaque have met each day this week from 9:00 to 10:00 a.m. in Week of Prayer for Home Missions during the Annie Armstrong Missions Week.

On Monday there were 16 ladies present with Mrs. Freddie Martin leading the program. The theme for the week is "Ask of Me." The song for the week has been "Teach Me to Pray."

Tuesday's program was led by Mrs. R. J. Harmon with 11 ladies present, and Wednesday's program was led by Mrs. A. C. Barrett. There were 13 ladies present Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Barrett, WMS president, read several very appropriate scriptures Wednesday, one being, "where two or more are joined together, there will I be in the midst." We know that God hears and answers prayer and when more than one are praying for the same thing, then God hears each one and that prayer is answered. We may not be called to the mission field but we are called to support our missionaries in prayer and with our substance.

Mrs. Clyde Dudley and children returned home Sunday evening to Garland after they had spent the week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lon McKay, and other relatives.

Mrs. Shorty Woods is visiting her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Corgill and boys in Midland this week. She drove down Friday of last week.

He designs and builds miniature condominiums. Since his retirement three years ago, he has completed seven condominiums and three chalets.

Kelly was born in Cochise County, Arizona, "when it was still a territory" and moved to Amarillo from Quitaque 30 years ago.

When the building boom began in Colorado's ski areas, Kelly and his wife, Floy, closed up their home and took to the high country.

Working mainly at Vall, Kelly had a hand in building many of the condominiums in that ski area.

One of the most interesting jobs was converting an old railroad depot into a condominium, which he did without architectural plans. The depot once had served the village of Gypsum, and was moved to Eagle.

In 1968 Kelly had a heart attack and had to leave the high country.

Back home and recuperating he missed the feel of the wood and began working with the miniatures, detailed down to the door-knobs.

If his health permits, he may go back to Colorado for limited carpentry. His former boss has promised him "one day of fishing to one day of building," to come back and oversee the construction of a condominium at Durango.

Until then, he builds the little ones.

BAPTIST LEADIES HAVE MONTHLY MEETING

Mrs. Pete Clark was hostess for the monthly meeting for the WMS of the First Baptist Church Thursday night, March 1, at 7:30. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. A. C. Barrett. The minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. Lolla Belle Harmon.

A business meeting was opened with a motion to give $10.00 from the ladies to the Annie Armstrong Home Missions Offering. Motion carried. The ladies also made a donation to Mrs. Connie Ruiz who lost two children in death last week. Several items of business were discussed before turning the meeting to Mrs. Freddie Martin who had charge of the program, "Marshalling Resources."

The ladies brought a dish towel shower for the church kitchen.

The hostess served delicious refreshments of homemade cookies, cake, spiced tea and coffee.

Dismissal prayer was led by Mrs. Harmon.

Nuevo Study Club

The Nuevo Study Club met Feb. 22 with Mrs. J. R. Nell as hostess. Mrs. Adamson, president, presided. "China" was the study for the day. Roll call was a current event about China.

A most interesting and informative talk was given by Mrs. Meacham on "What You Should Know About China," by John Roderick.

Miss Davis concluded the program with New Interest in China. A tasty plate was served to 16 members, carrying out George Washington motif. The next club meeting will be March 8 with Miss Davis. Program will be on Texas Heritage.

Mack Truelock of Quitaque underwent surgery in General Hospital in Hereford Thursday of last week where his left lung was completely removed. The doctor, according to reports, says chances for his complete recovery are good. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Patrick of Quitaque visited him Sunday and said he was feeling good.

Mrs. Dottie Huddleston of Gainesville is visiting here this week.

Covered - Wagon Travel Fond Memory For Woman, Age 94

The romance of covered wagon days is a distinct reality for Mrs. Lizzie Kelly, mother of Walter Kelly of Quitaque.

She spent a good portion of her early life rambling over Texas, Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma in one of the creaking, canvas-covered schooners. And she loved it.

Her playground was as far as her mother's eyes could see. Now, her blue eyes dimmed and her hearing impaired, she remembers those early days in segments no less clear for lack of continuity.

Mrs. Kelly, 94, was born in San Saba, one of 13 children, and now lives at 504 Fairview in Amarillo. "Only two of us were born in the same house," she said. "They were twins."

Her father, Robert Peter Haverty, was a horse-trader during most of her early childhood, which accounted for a good many of the family's moves. At one time, however, he had a stage coach run from Durango to Silverton, Colorado. The building that housed his business still stands in Silverton.

He also raced horses on occasion, and she remembers that he won $1,000 "in gold" on one race. But most of her memories center around the covered wagon.

"We cooked in a big Dutch oven," she said. "Always sourdough bread. Usually rice and prunes. And maybe some beef, or bacon. Maybe ham."

One morning her little brother wandered out of sight just as the breakfast fire was kindling. Her mother went to look for him, leaving 6-year-old Lizzie to look after the younger children.

Getting hungry, Lizzie stirred up her first batch of sourdough biscuits and had them cooking in the Dutch oven when her mother returned with the wanderer.

"That was my job from then on," said Mrs. Kelly, who even now stirs up an occasional pan of biscuits.

The family's first home in Kansas was a half-dugout a few miles east of Ashland. Arriving at the spot, Lizzie's father removed the wagon bed and set it on the ground. The mother and five children lived in the wagon bed while he took the running gear to Dodge to bring back lumber for the upper part of the home.

A test school was set up in the area, to see if a school were actually needed, eight miles east of Ashland.

"It was a sod shanty," said Mrs. Kelly, "with homemade chair and desk for the teacher. The kids sat on slabs of sod—two slabs set one way, and the next layer of two set in the opposite direction."

It was about this time that an incident happened which Lizzie and her brother, Rocky Mountain Haverty, never really explained to their parents.

"They put kids to doing things in those days that only grown folks would do nowadays," she said. "Had to. Wasn't anybody else to do it."

So Lizzie and her brother were put to herding sheep.

She said that the sheep would get into water holes to drink, and Rocky Mountain would have to get them out. So he took off his shoes, tied the laces together and made her carry them.

"I got tired carryin' them," she said, "and made him take them back."

It made him mad, and he pitched the shoes onto the back of one of the sheep. They immediately stampeded and disappeared.

"We never did find but one of those sheep," she said. "And we never told our folks why they stampeded."

One of her brothers' favorite pastimes was throwing a hat among the longhorn steers and listening to the horns rattle as the cattle were startled.

She spoke of moving many more times—to Capitan, New Mexico, Liberty, Missouri, Kinsley, Kansas, Rockwood and Leadville, Colorado.

On one move in 1883 she recalled camping overnight at Adobe Walls.

"There was a well, the walls, and a pole corral," she said.

On another occasion she remembers coming through Old Tascosa, which she vaguely remembers as being a "busy place."

She was 14 when the family moved to a spot near El Reno, Oklahoma, and Lizzie drove a team hitched to a covered wagon carrying the household goods. A 10-day trip.

On one occasion the Haverty's made a trip by train.

"It wasn't near as much fun as a wagon," she said. "You had to sit still."

When Lizzie was in her teens the family moved to the Arizona mountains, and there was a time when she served as cook on a ranch near the Arizona - Mexico border.

In 1905 she married David Clinton Kelly, the wedding taking place in Tombstone, Arizona, and in 1919 they moved to Texas in their first automobile, settling near Lubbock.

"Weren't any roads much," she said. "You had to carry along a shovel in case you got hung up on a high center." Her tone indicated that the trip would have been infinitely easier in a wagon.

"Took seven days," she added. Lizzie Haverty Kelly reared seven children, among them David C. Kelly with whom she makes her home since moving to Amarillo from Lubbock a couple of years ago.

She's baked many a pan of sourdough biscuits. And she's travelled many a wagon mile.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Merrell, Cheryl and Jayne, were hosts for a family dinner and fellowship at que. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Baca and girls of Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. James Starkey and boys, Plainview; Mrs. Willie Mae Taylor and boys, Lockney; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Edd Smith and family, Quitaque and his mother, Mrs. Ike Smith of Clayton, New Mexico; Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Davidson and boys, Mr. and Mrs. Duke Woods and children, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Woods, Mrs. E. E. Woods, Don and Donna Douglas.

Rod Mullin of Lubbock visited here over the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Mullin.
