Rights Bill Signed

Young Texas 18 to 20 years old will get full majority rights under new legislation which takes effect August 27.

Governor Dolph Briscoe signed the bill in spite of speculation that he would veto it.

It permits the 18-20-year-olds to "enjoy all the privileges and responsibilities of adult citizenship," according to Briscoe's statement.

Among adult privileges which the youth group will be able to indulge in is purchase, consumption and sale of alcoholic beverages.

ELIMINATES PHYSICAL EXAMINATION REQUIREMENT

West Texas State University has eliminated its physical examination requirement for incoming students, Dr. T. Felipe Carruth, vice president for student affairs, says.

Under new regulations adopted by the Board of Regents, only a record of a student's immunization is required for admission.

Mrs. Louise Mitchell of the University Health Center says, "In the past, a student would go to a doctor for a physical examination and the doctor would give him several that were not required by the university, such as chest x-ray and blood tests. This practice was very expensive for the student."

Due to a rash of grass fires here in Quitaque, local residents are asked by the Quitaque Fire Department to be extremely careful when burning trash.

Next Wednesday is July 4th and many youngsters will be popping fireworks, creating more of a fire hazard, and Quitaque Fire Chief Dick Evans cautions everyone to be very careful of starting fires in this way. Mr. Evans suggests that everyone burn or clean away the grass around their trash cans to help prevent fires starting there.

These girls include Head Cheerleader Jane Duncan, Jenna Turner, Kim Ham, Doni Lane and Juana Cotton. They will return home Thursday after a very full and tiring week preparing them for the year ahead.

CERTIFIED KINDERGARTEN TEACHERS SHOULD BE IN DEMAND THROUGHOUT TEXAS

Certified kindergarten teachers should be in demand throughout Texas now that free kindergartens for five-year-olds was authorized by the recent Legislature, a West Texas State University education professor says.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe signed the kindergarten bill last Saturday to become effective next fall.

Certification in kindergarten teaching requires 12 hours of kindergarten classes, says Dr. Dan White, chairman of the WTSU elementary education department.

A teacher may obtain an endorsement on her degree for "early education for exceptional children" by taking any six hours of special education classes at WTSU, he adds.

A student from Turkey who is among those enrolled for the early education program is Laura Eady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom J. Eady.

Mrs. Arthur (Fro) Patrick underwent gallbladder surgery in Swisher Memorial Hospital Wednesday morning of this week.

Mrs. J. W. Ewing is scheduled for surgery this morning (Thursday) in Nichols Hospital in Plainview.

The Quitaque and Turkey elevators have already shipped 110 cars of wheat. Last year only a bout enough wheat to plant this year's crop was harvested in the area.

This year's wheat is bringing a fair price, too, making the crop a profitable one for growers. This year's crop is averaging about 30 bushels per acre and when it is all over, should return nearly a half million dollars to the area economy.

Even that figure is deceiving, as far as the worth of the wheat crop is concerned, for the wheat was graded until late this year, further adding to its worth.

Fortunately the Valley has not been plagued with fires as has been the case on the Plains, where much damage has occurred.

Dan Davis and Wakana Montgomery of Dallas visited here last weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Mullins.

Mr. and Mrs. Randy Gaffard of Floydada visited here Tuesday with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Flores visited in Vernon Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Flores and son.

Mr. and Mrs. David Guest and Byron Young attended the All-Star Football Game in Lubbock Saturday night.

Dreams for sale.

Everybody's got a dream lurking around in the back of his mind. A dream vacation. A dream cottage. A dream car.

Dreams can be a lot more fun if you know you're doing something to make them come true.

And that's what the Payroll Savings Plan is all about. When you sign up an amount you specify is set aside from each paycheck and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

New Bonds mature in less than six years. That's the shortest maturity period ever, and makes Bonds a practical way to save for dreams you want to come true while you're still young enough to enjoy them.

See the folks in the payroll office where you work. They've got dreams for sale.

New U.S. Bonds pay 4% interest when held to maturity of 1 year. 12 months U.S. Savings Bonds are required to be held for 12 months. When needed they can be cashed at par value. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.

Now Bonds mature in less than six years.

AT HOME

Kangaroo mamas have one advantage over "human" mamas—their crib is "built-in." There's no need for them to dash around the house to give Junior tender loving care. He is always nearby, located quite conveniently for mother's attention.

Any mother's attention is crucial in providing a child with the religious foundations needed to produce a responsible adult. Enough freedom so that he can be independent — enough discipline to provide structure for his life. And moral precepts instilled by the Church and parental example.

One day Junior will outgrow mama's pouch or crib. Then, and only then, can parents know if they have been successful.

Use Vegetable Matter Grass For Compost

Home gardeners can make good use of vegetable matter, grass clippings and other refuse left after harvesting and mowing to build a compost pile, suggests County Extension Agent Jimmy Vanstory.

Composting has two advantages—it disposes of unwanted plant matter and at the same time it provides a mixture high in organic matter that is good for the soil in gardens, flower beds and other locations.

To compost plant material, all that is needed is a three-sided structure made of wood, chicken wire or hardware screen. One end is left open for convenience in turning the mixture from time to time.

Prepare the compost pile by alternating layers of vegetable matter or grass and soil, each layer being four-to-six inches thick. Sprinkle a commercial fertilizer such as 12-12-12 or 8-8-8 on each layer of vegetable matter at the rate of half a pound or one cup to each 10 square feet of surface area. The fertilizer speeds up the decomposition process.

Soil should always serve as the top layer of the compost pile. Leave it low in the center to catch water. Water a new compost pile thoroughly when completed and add water during long periods of dry weather.

Turn or mix the compost pile with a fork every few months to speed up the decomposition process, advises Vanstory. If watered and turned adequately, the compost should be ready to use in about six months. A commercial compost activator may be added to speed up decomposition.

Once the material in the compost pile is thoroughly rotted, use it to improve the soil in much the same way that peat moss and humus are used. Compost is a cheap means of improving your soil, and it can be prepared in your own backyard, adds the agent.

Freeze Carries Dangers For Farmers

The President's 60-day freeze on retail food prices is a "stop-gap measure that carries with it some real dangers for consumers as well as farmers," J. T. Woodson, president of the Texas Farm Bureau, said today.

"There is a real possibility that we may soon see shortages of milk, eggs and meat if prices are too low for farmers to make a profit," he said.

"Although farmers appreciate the President's exemption of prices of raw agricultural products, the freezing of prices at the retail level does affect prices all the way back to the farm," Woodson said. Commenting on the cost-price squeeze, Woodson said that some producers have absorbed all the increased production costs they can handle.

"Farmers will not produce for very long when their prices are at or below the cost of production," he said. "When producers feel the pinch badly enough, it won't be long before the consumers will, too, in the form of empty grocery shelves and meat counters."

"The farm leader said the only way that consumers can be assured of a bountiful supply of food at reasonable prices is to have adequate production and that this can only come from price incentives in the marketplace.

Woodson said that food prices are not out of line.

"The American consumer spends only about 16% of his take home pay on food," he said. "This is lower than any other nation on earth and lowest of any time in our history."

The Farm Bureau leader said that the "real culprit behind inflation is still wasteful and deficit spending by government.

"Until we cut out spending beyond our means, we will continue to have our pocketbook robbed by inflation," he said.

New Law To Help Protect Children

Day care workers, school teachers, doctors, neighbors — anyone, in fact—who suspects child abuse or neglect and fails to report it may now be charged with a misdemeanor and punished by fine or jail sentence.

The new law, which passed both houses of the Legislature in May and was signed into law by Governor Dolph Briscoe June 13, prescribes punishment ranging from $100 to $500 or a jail term of 10 days to six months, or both.

Rep. Chris Semos of Dallas, House sponsor of the bill, says the new law is simply an extension of a 1971 law making reporting child abuse mandatory. The problem now, Semos says, is making the public aware of the bill and urging lawmen to enforce it.

Most doctors know how to recognize abuse, particularly through bone x-rays. They also know to question multiple bruises and cuts, unexplained burns, hemorrhages and anemia.

School teachers, day care and nursery school personnel, neighbors and relatives are also in positions to protect children by reporting signs of neglect or abuse which they have observed.

The American Humane Association's Children's Division suggests some key signals of abuse which may be present in a child's appearance or behavior:

- Dirty or torn clothing, or clothing inappropriate for the weather
- Unusual fatigue or listlessness
- Lack of proper nourishment
- Physical injuries or complaints

- Unattended medical problems, such as glasses or dental work
- Unusual shyness or aggressiveness
- Frequent tardiness or absence from school, or early arrival and delayed departure from school

The Association also suggests that parental attitudes — such as apathy toward his problems and refusal to allow him to take part in school activities — be considered. If abuse is suspected, it should be reported to the county child welfare unit or to any local or state law enforcement agency.

- Names of persons who report abuse are not revealed to suspected abusers, and Texas law grants legal immunity to all reports made by persons who report in good faith.

welfare unit or to any local or state law enforcement agency.

The report should include the names of the parents and child, their address, the child's age and the nature of the abuse. If not all these facts are known, then any information which can direct an investigator to the scene should be reported.

Names of persons who report abuse are not revealed to suspected abusers, and Texas law grants legal immunity to all reports made by persons who report in good faith.

RUFFLES ATTRACTING ATTENTION THIS YEAR

Ruffles attract attention this season, adding feminine touches to summer fashions.

"After all, ruffles are very feminine—whether wide and smocked or in several layers of gathered eyelet," points out Mrs. Vivian Simmons.

"This season finds them edging necklines, sleeves, collars and hems," the clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, noted.

"When sewing at home, remember that ruffle style determines the application method used.

"Single ruffles offer the choice of sewing them in the seam or directly on the garment."

Double ruffles, on the other hand, must be sewn directly on the garment. Otherwise, the desired "double effect" is lost, Mrs. Simmons explained.

"When making single ruffles, cut fabric two or three times longer than the area decorated.

"Sew strips together to make one continuous piece. Before gathering, make a narrow hem along one edge—it's much easier to handle at this point.

"Along the other edge, machine baste two rows of long (basting) stitches.

"To achieve evenly-spaced gathers, first divide both the ruffle and area to which it will be attached into fourths. Then gather ruffle to fit area, one fourth at a time, and pin.

"Stitch ruffle to right side of garment and finish with a facing.

"Wide ruffles—and those of sheer fabrics—are more attractive with extra fullness," Mrs. Simmons added. To give them additional fullness, she recommended cutting them longer than the suggested two or three lengths.

Mrs. R. J. Harmon left Quitaque Saturday morning, her husband taking her to Matador, where she took a bus for Dallas. She spent the night in Dallas with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Davis. Sunday morning Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Harmon took a bus to Port Arthur where they visited another sister, Mrs. Blou Nutt. They left there Wednesday to return to Dallas. Mrs. Harmon visited the Davis' Thursday, then returned home Friday.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Duke Woods and children for the weekend were Rev. and Mrs. Cheto Moreno and three boys of Durango, Colorado and Rev. and Mrs. Norris Willborn and five children, also of Durango, who were enroute to Copperas Cove where he will pastor a Baptist Church. The Moreno family is still here. She is a sister of Mrs. Woods. The Willborn family left Monday morning.

No fifths this Fourth.

There used to be a saying at Fourth of July picnics that fireworks and fire-water don't mix. Well, neighborhood fireworks are pretty much a thing of the past. So this year let's keep in mind that driving, drinking and speeding don't mix either.

That's what we mean by "No fifths this Fourth." All it takes is a little driving, a little drinking and a little speeding—and you've got the ingredients for big trouble.

This Fourth if you want to drink, get somebody else to drive. And take your time. That's DRIVING FRIENDLY.

HOW SMALL, YET

HOW BIG

How small a man seems—walking down a lonely road on a rainy day, with gaunt trees towering over him.

How small man is, and how frail in body. The trees in the picture and even the chimneys on the old house will probably long outlive the man.

Yet how big man is—in the things that are not of the body, but are of the mind and soul. God has not made man mammoth. But He has made him potentially great—if he will but accept the blessings given him, and use the tools of Christian teachings.

Man finds in the Church, the encouragement and the instruction to enable him to make from his God-given divine spark something great and enduring—and of benefit to all human-kind.

Conservation Aids Beef Production

There's a lot more beef in your favorite grocery store because of improved grasses planted by Texas conservation farmers and ranchers.

In fact, an extra 335 million pounds of beef is produced in Texas every year from grasses released by the USDA Soil Conservation Service.

Edward E. Thomas of Temple, state conservationist for SCS, said the figures came from a recent study conducted by his office.

"Our survey revealed that in the last 20 years, 5.9 million acres of land has been planted to new grasses released by SCS," Thomas said. "Statewide, increased beef production is averaging 56 pounds per acre per year from these grasses. And the average climbs every year."

Thomas admitted that he didn't know how much this affected the price of beef for the housewife.

"But take away that 335 million pounds of beef every year and prices would have only one way to go—up," he stressed.

"In the past 25 years, annual beef consumption has jumped from about 64 pounds per person to 113 pounds. Meanwhile, our state's population has increased by more than 50 per cent. That adds to a gigantic increase in the demand for beef."

Without improved grasses and better conservation treatment of grassland, this demand would outstrip available supplies.

Thomas said 23 grasses released by SCS are being grown in Texas. Each has its own area of adaptability and is used to fill a specific conservation need.

Two grasses account for a major share of the acreage planted. Buffelgrass, released by SCS in 1949, has been planted on 1.8 million acres of land in Texas; increased beef production from this grass averages 74 million pounds annually.

King Ranch bluestem, released in 1941, is growing on about one million acres. Other widely planted grasses include Pensacola bahiagrass, El Reno sideoats grama and weeping lovegrass.

To illustrate how quickly some new grasses become popular with livestock producers, Thomas told of the success of Selection 75 kleingrass.

"We released this grass to commercial seed growers, in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, in 1969," Thomas said. "In spite of the fact that seed are expensive and scarce, 132,000 acres have already been established."

And even though much of this land has not been grazed as yet, increased beef production from this one grass amounted to 11 million pounds last year.

In addition to the increased beef production, the survey revealed that the new grasses have increased mutton production by more than 1.1 million pounds. Smaller increases were noted for milk, mohair, wool and goats.

Increased beef production is only one benefit from improved grasses. Others include erosion control, reduced sediment damage to lakes and streams, fewer dust storms, and more abundant wild-proved grassland management, irrigation, and increased use of fertilizer.

Thomas said several other factors also contribute to increased beef production from Texas grasslands, such as better livestock, improved range management, and improved range management.

"Yet it's hard to grow more beef without having more blades of better grass," Thomas said.

The goal of SCS plant materials work is to find new strains of plants that will solve specific conservation problems. Since livestock and wildlife co-exist on the same land, the search extends to grasses, legumes, forbs and shrubs which have dual values for both wildlife and livestock. Such plants are needed for use in range seeding mixtures, travel lanes, or wildlife border plantings.

Strains of plants thought to have value for solving a conservation problem are grown and evaluated at the SCS plant materials center near Knox City. After careful selection, promising strains are field tested on farms of soil and water conservation district cooperators under a wide variety of conditions. Selections that prove superior to other plants available commercially are then released to seed growers. These producers then grow and sell it to the public.

Some of the groups who cooperate with SCS in this work include Agricultural Research Service, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas A&M University, Texas Tech University, Prairie View A&M, Abilene Christian Col-

FOOD POISONING DISCUSSED AS HOME CANNING

SEASON APPROACHES

Quite often we hear of a friend or acquaintance who has suddenly been stricken with a case of "food poisoning." Or, occasionally, a community may experience an outbreak of food poisoning from foods improperly packaged or improperly handled during and after preparation.

Since summer normally is the canning season when fruits and vegetables are at their peak, now is a good time to re-emphasize canning precautions.

Health authorities in California reported that more than 62% of all cases of botulism were due to string beans, asparagus, fruits and other vegetables canned at home.

Another 24% was due to the preparation of animal products. With the great amount of home canning and freezing done in Texas, officials of the Texas State Department of Health are concerned about the possibility of this potentially fatal disease.

You probably have had no problems with home canning and freezing. But then you may have been lucky. How would you answer these questions?

First, do you believe that home freezing is the best method of food preparation, and the least likely to cause the growth of germs?

Is the disagreeable odor evident with spoiled food a sure-fire indicator that the food is spoiled?

Are nausea and diarrhea always the first symptoms of botulism?

Before answering these questions, let's take a closer look at what food poisoning really is.

Among bacteria involved in food borne diseases are three arch criminals of the germ world. These are salmonella germs, staphylococcus and botulism germs.

The source of salmonella is found in the intestines of human carriers and domestic animals and may be present in meat or dairy products, eggs or egg products. One strain of salmonella contained an unchlorinated public deep water supply in Riverside, California in 1966 and produced an epidemic of 15,000 cases of diarrhea.

Staphylococcal food poisoning may occur from a large number of contaminated products. Contamination may be from bovine origin in contaminated milk or milk products, or of human origin. Toxin-producing staphylococci of human origin may come from purulent discharges from infections of a finger or hand, nasal secretions, or the apparently normal skin of hands and forearms. This is one reason disposable plastic gloves are widely used by food handlers.

Good sanitation in food preparation, plus proper cooking and quick, thorough cooling of prepared foods, are good insurance against staph and salmonella occurrences.

Botulism is caused by a deadly poison—a toxin—produced by a germ found abundantly in the soil. This germ is one of the spore-forming bacteria and is very resistant to normal heat and cold. It can grow without air, which makes it such a sinister threat in home canning. The germ itself doesn't cause illness, but the toxin it produces can be fatal to man. Although some outbreaks have been caused from commercial products, the vast majority of botulism cases have been due to eating improperly processed home-canned food.

Now let's answer the questions. First, the pressure cooker method is safer and preferred for canning. Still, precautions should be taken as to length of time and degree of temperature for preparation of any food. Studies on the heat resistance of the spores of the botulism germ prove that home canning by the cold pack method, still widely used in Texas, is extremely dangerous. All home-canned products should be boiled for at least three minutes with thorough stirring before serving.

Second, is odor always evident with spoiled foods? No. Factors such as acidity and nutrient value play a part in odor. Canned foods could be free of obnoxious odor, appear in good condition and still contain organisms of botulism. Never use canned goods that are puffed out on the ends or spurt when opened. And, never taste a suspect canned food before it is cooked properly. You can even get leage, U. S. Air Force, U. S. Corps of Engineers, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, and the state's 193 soil and water conservation districts.

Next time you go grocery shopping, think how bare the shelves would be without that extra 335 million pounds of beef.

botulism by smelling a contaminated food.

Third, are nausea and vomiting usually the first symptoms of botulism? Botulism's clinical manifestations relate primarily to the nervous system. Change in voice, such as hoarseness, often is the first sign noted. It is a serious intoxication (not an infection) characterized by weakness, dizziness, headache and constipation. However vomiting and diarrhea may occasionally initiate illness. Symptoms usually appear within 12 to 36 hours, sometimes several days after eating contaminated food. About two-thirds of patients die within three to seven days, usually from respiratory or cardiac failure or from infectious complications.

State Health Department officials say that proper preparation of all foods could make botulism a thing of the past.

TURKEY TROTTERS NOTES

The Turkey Trotters had their graduation dance Saturday night June 16, with Weymon Box of Plainview calling.

At 9:30 everyone enjoyed a salad supper. Then the students received their diplomas and badges. They are Lewis and Lind Ferguson, Joan Ferguson, George and Kay Calvert, Don and Anna Jean Rickman, Murry Wayne and Judy Morrison, Robert and Brenda Phelps, Gerald and Becky Lane, David Paul Majors and Donna Stodghill.

We had visitors from Flomot, Plainview, Quitaque and Turkey. We dance Saturday night to the calling of Ellred Parker. We invite everyone to come and visit with us.

Harold Stevens of Farmington, New Mexico spent a few days here last week visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. U. F. Coker, sr. Harold received his master's degree from Ohio State and was on his way home.

Robert Chambliss of Plains is visiting here this week with Mr. and Mrs. Keith Green and family.

Peggy Fuston of Dallas spent the weekend here with her mother, Mrs. Hazel Fuston and Hal.

GRANT AWARDED CENTRAL PLAINS MH/MR CENTER

State Representative Phil Cates announced today that a State-in-Aid Grant in the amount of $153,623.00 will be awarded the Central Plains Comprehensive Community MH/MR Center.

The Center is headquartered in Plainview and serves nine counties. These are Bailey, Briscoe, Castro, Floyd, Hale, Lamb, Motley, Farmer and Swisher counties. The State-in-Aid Grant through the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, is an increase of some 44% over last year's State-in-Aid Grant of $107,111.00, according to Center officials.

W. W. Allen, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Central Plains MH/MR Center said, "We are most appreciative of all of the hard work and many hours spent by Rep. Cates. Without the help of our State Representatives and our State Senators, support of our area county officials and area city officials, it would have been most difficult to serve such an increase."

The State-in-Aid Grant will be used to support the 11 mental health and mental retardation services now being conducted by the Central Plains Comprehensive Community Mental Health/Mental Retardation Center.

"We will have some new funds to 'beef-up' our Alcohol and Drug Prevention Programs. Also, some additional funds will be spent on the sheltered workshop for the handicapped and mentally retarded," Allen said.

NEWS FROM U. S. SENATOR LLOYD BENTSEN REDUCE FOREIGN AID

As the Senate considers foreign aid bills in coming weeks, I will give my strongest support to efforts to substantially reduce spending in these areas.

By the end of this year, United States taxpayers will have provided $182 billion in assistance to foreign countries since the end of World War II. That amounts to $30 out of the pocket of every American, each year over the past 28 years.

Only because we have been an incredibly rich nation have we been able to provide for our own needs as well as those of many foreign countries.

Karen Eudy, who is attending summer school at Canyon, spent the weekend here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Eudy.

Mr. and Mrs. Jan Turner, Janina, Jenny and Dodi Lane were in Ranger last weekend for the closing session of the Ranger Junior College Basketball Camp. They returned to Abilene for a visit with relatives there on their way home.

Leigh Williams of Lubbock is visiting here this week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Doc Williams.

Bob Coker of Flagstaff, Arizona visited here this week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Coker.

Jeannie Driskill of Canyon spent the weekend here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Driskill.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Denton and Roger have recently moved to Turkey to make their home. Dennis will be employed with the new school.

Leigh Ann Lane of Van Horn returned home Tuesday after a visit here with Mr. and Mrs. Luke Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Stone left Friday for a two weeks visit with Mr. and Mrs. Jay Stone in Ames, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Jones and children have recently moved to Sanford to make their home.

Lubbock Recruiters Sign Female For MP

Shelia Ann Payne, 23, has enlisted in the U. S. Army and will serve in the military police program. According to officials of the Army recruiting office in Lubbock, Miss Payne is the first woman to receive such assignment in the Lubbock recruiting area.

She already has been sworn into the service and will depart July 16 for her first eight weeks of training.

Miss Payne, a graduate of West Texas State in Canyon and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Payne of Quitaque, will be entering the service with the rank of E3, and after four months probably will move to the rank of E4.

Her enlistment time is three years, with the first eight weeks assignment to be in Fort McClellan, Alabama, and then to Fort Gordon, Georgia, where all military police of the U. S. Army are trained.

Working with the military police in his second inaugural address, this past January, President Nixon said: "The time has passed when America will make every other nation's conflict her own, or make every other nation's future our responsibility, or presume to tell the people of other nations how to manage their own affairs. So," the President continued, "let us encourage individuals at home and nations abroad to do more for themselves."

And I am in agreement. To combat inflation and reduce our growing international trade deficit, we must cut back on foreign assistance. In the past, we have been very generous, always willing to lend a helping hand when other countries were in trouble, and often when they weren't in trouble.

BILLIONS IN ASSISTANCE During the current fiscal year, the U. S. will spend between $8 and $10 billion on various foreign assistance programs.

It is difficult to give a precise estimate because of the multiplicity of programs, and because— incredible as it may seem—many of the programs are not under control of the Congress, which is supposed to be responsible for the taxpayers' monies.

The lowest estimate is that we will spend $8.4 billion this year; $4.9 billion on foreign military assistance, the rest on economic aid.

One of the reasons it is difficult to determine the exact amount to be spent is that some of the programs are administered by the State Department, others by the Department of Defense, and still others by other departments—such as the food program, which is handled by the Department of Agriculture.

Among the economic foreign aid programs are the Peace Corps, contributions to the Inter-American Development Bank and contributions to United Nations development programs.

Military assistance, in addition to direct, monetary aid, includes credit sales, disposal of excess weaponry and subsidies to governments that maintain their own defense forces.

DEBATE DUE SOON

The Senate will debate the military assistance bill within the next few days, and the economic foreign aid bill will be taken up sometime in July.

in the Army is Miss Payne's own decision. She is seeking a career in law enforcement since she already has received her bachelor of arts degree from WTSU she may apply for officer's candidate school at any time, or she may seek a direct commission.

There are about 20 women in the military police force of the U. S. Army today, according to Lubbock recruiting Sgt. Jim Edmondson.

Miss Payne is one of an estimated five women in the U. S. at this time seeking work with the military police.

"We are especially proud of Miss Payne," said Sgt. Edmondson. "On the Armed Forces Women's Qualification Tests, which women rarely pass the first time, Miss Payne scored a 90. All that is required by women on the score is 59. Men only have to score 31. With her education Shelia will go far in the service."

Currently, Miss Payne is employed in the Lubbock County tax assessor-collector's office.

"She'll be riding around in patrol cars, taking gate guard, doing criminal investigation, and will have available to her the option of selecting the exact MP battalion in the entire U. S. that she would like to serve in," said Sgt. Edmondson. "But she will not pull all night duty somewhere by herself."

"Yes, I have always wanted a career in law enforcement, but not to be a meter maid, or sit at a desk. I like to work with people and get out into the public. I am really excited about starting this job and getting into the field, she said."

"One thing that really interests me is that the Army will pay 100% of my expenses while attending night classes at a nearby university should I continue studies in law enforcement. They, the Army, are in as much favor of continuing my education as I am," Miss Payne continued.

Miss Payne will not be the only woman assigned to a single battalion. She will be with at least one other woman, but when she is out on patrol she will be working with men.

Should Miss Payne marry while in the service she will be entitled to an increase in her salary, what the service calls a housing allowance, the same as a male.

"Within the next year and a half," Sgt. Edmondson said, "the Army plans to double their Women's Army Corps."

GETS UP EARLY

The one thing that discourages women from joining the service, said Sgt. Edmondson, is that at first they are required to work from 5 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"They usually don't like getting up that early," he said.

Miss Payne will be taught self-defense, how to work with guns, and the different training requirements that law enforcement officers are expected to know. She will know how to disarm a potential assailant.
