Bill Woods Gulf Oil Products

PREPARING A DELIVERY — Bill Woods, local wholesale dealer for Gulf Oil Corporation, readies his delivery truck for a trip into the country. This company was originated with the advent of the tractor as a farm power in the late 20's and early 30's and its operators have never failed to respond to the call of farmers of this area when they needed fuel for farming.

For years the truck pictured on this page, or its predecessors, has been a rather familiar sight along the roadways of Briscoe and Hall counties as its operators carried to the farmers and ranchers of the area essential petroleum products—gasoline, diesel and motor oils.

No one will fail to recognize Bill Woods, Gulf wholesaler for Quitaque, as he fills his delivery tanks and otherwise prepares his truck for a trip out into the countryside around Quitaque.

This distributing company has been the Bill Woods Gulf Wholesale Oil Company for the past 22 years. Bill purchased the business in 1949, but prior to this it was in operation under Ray Persons, and before

From San Francisco Sourdough French Bread

The Great Mystery of San Francisco's matchless Sourdough French Bread, now being investigated by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, can actually be solved in your own kitchen. Below is Sourdough Jack Mabee's authentic recipe.

This unique recipe, which can be duplicated endlessly because of the curious nature of sourdough, is one of dozens which come, along with the essential dry Sourdough Starter, in a new 96-page book: "Sourdough Jack's Cookery and Other Things". The colorful volume is crammed with Alaskan and Western cooking traditions, tall stories and recipes for biscuits, waffles, "rowboy stews" and even Alaskan King Crab, as well as special advice on preparing the recipe shown here.

"Sourdough Jack's Cookery and Other Things," complete with Sourdough Starter, is available in gift, gourmet and book stores. Or our readers may order an autographed copy direct from Drawer D, The Country Kitchen, 2901 Clement St., San Francisco, CA 94121 at a special holiday price of $4 postpaid. (Add 5% sales tax in Calif.)

Recipe book and starter make a delightful Christmas gift for kitchen-clever Aunts and other relatives and friends who pride themselves on their baking. Those who love to entertain can draw from the book's wealth of unusual ideas for parties, picnics and barbecues. Of course, sourdough cooking is a special man-chef's world, too!

SOURDOUGH FRENCHBREAD (SAN FRANCISCO STYLE)

1 1/2 cups warm water	2 teaspoons sugar
1 package active dry yeast	2 teaspoons salt
1 cup SOURDOUGH STARTER	1/2 teaspoon soda
4 cups unsifted flour	About 2 cups unsifted flour

Dissolve yeast in warm water in large mixing bowl. Mix with Starter. Add 4 cups flour, sugar and salt. Stir vigorously 3 or 4 minutes. Cover with a towel and let mixture rise in a warm place until double in bulk (1 1/2-2 hours). Mix soda with 1 cup of remaining flour and stir in. The dough should be stiff. Turn dough out onto a floured board and begin kneading; add the remaining 1 cup of flour or more if needed, to control the stickiness. Knead until satiny—between 5 and 10 minutes.

Shape into oblong loaves or one large round loaf. Place on lightly greased cookie sheet cover and place in a warm place. Let rise to nearly double in size—time will depend on warmth of the spot—1 1/2 to 2 hours in most kitchens. Before baking, brush outside with water, make diagonal slashes across the top with a sharp single-edge razor blade. Put a shallow pan of hot water in the bottom of the oven. Bake in a 350° oven (400°) until the crust is a medium dark brown (about 45 minutes for oblong loaves, 55 minutes for the large round loaf).

"Look at the red kite up there! See how high it's flying!"
 The little boy follows her finger, and she is warmed and gratified by his smile of appreciation.
 It seems as if mothers are eternally anxious to make sure that their children get all there is to get out of life—that they miss nothing.
 Mothers would, if they could, show their children all that there is to see and give them everything—time for fun, time for play—new clothes, new toys, a television to watch cartoons, endless red kites and bright yellow balloons and, later, skis and sports cars.
 Yet, in this eagerness to show and to give, aren't they in danger of overlooking some of the most important things of all? What of beauty, of serenity, of joy—the knowledge of God's goodness, His love, and familiarity with His house on earth... the Church?

Shirttail Sermon

Matthew 28:16-20

Not long ago the Associated Press issued an item about a church that was more interested in ecology than theology. The dispatch read: "Nearly 500 church members prayed, sang and listened to a sermon as they stood amid a ton of empty bottles they had collected in an antipollution campaign. We live in a moment of history when people choose death, poisoning the air and water with chemicals, and destroying the earth with sewage, pesticides, and trash," the pastor told his congregation.

Another article tells about members of a Florida church who are spending a few hours each Sunday morning to clean up a nearby lake. Its concluding comment says, "This pilot project will consist of more than just cleaning up the lake. Plans are being finalized for studies of the water."

Where in the scriptures do we find, "Go ye into all the world and fight pollution." I can't locate that verse in my Bible. There certainly is nothing wrong with individual believers being concerned about the environment. We believers should be interested and willing to do our part in maintaining the beauty and healthfulness of God's wonderful creation. But this is not the commission of the church. Our business is to "preach the Gospel" and "teach" God's Word. Our primary obligation as Christians is to point the lost to a saving knowledge of the Lord Jesus Christ. We are to bring people into the church—not bottles! The "water of Life" and not the "water of a lake" should be our concern as members of the Body of Christ. Beware of a church that substitutes ecology for theology! R.W.D.
