Patriots Take 26-6 Victory Over Happy In Exciting Game

In a much closer and more exciting game than the score indicates, the Valley Patriots took a 26-6 win over the Happy Cowboys at the Valley football stadium Friday night.

The Cowboys received the toss and kicked to the Patriot 20-yard line. Tommy Williams carried on the first play, then Tim Clardy took the next play and carried for 11 yards and a first down. The Cowboys got into action and stopped the Patriots on the next plays. The Patriots punted.

The Cowboys took the ball and on the second play, Kenny Johnson, one of the two brothers who are outstanding runners for Happy, fumbled the ball but the Cowboys recovered but couldn't make any progress. The ball went over again.

In the Patriots' second possession of the ball, Quarterback Kraig Cox carried for 15 yards, Clardy got another 15, W. Williams 2, Clardy another 14 and first down, then he carried from the 16 yard line into the end zone for the first touchdown. Tommy Williams kicked the extra point.

The Cowboys, coached by Bill Hulse, a former Valley coach, tried every trick to gain yardage, mostly by air, but the Patriots stopped them on every corner.

The first quarter ended 7-0 in Valley's favor.

With 11:06 into the second quarter of play, Bobby Ortiz took a pass from the quarterback and ran it back for a TD. Tommy Williams kick for extra point was blocked, and the half-time ended with the Patriots 13-Zip over the Cowboys.

The second half began with the Pats kicking and the Cowboys made some good gains but the ball turned over again without scoring. The Patriots had the same luck until only 21 seconds were left in the third quarter when QB Kraig Cox went in on a keeper for the third TD. The extra point pass failed, and the third quarter ended with the score 19-0 in favor of the Patriots.

In the fourth quarter, the ball was shunted back and forth until 3:56 remained in the quarter and Kenny Johnson broke loose and carried the ball 25 yards for a touchdown. The extra point kick was blocked.

With only 35 seconds to play, QB Cox intercepted a pass and carried the ball in for another TD. The extra point by T. Williams was good, making the final score 26-6.

There are nine seniors on the Valley squad this year and Cox is one of them. Coach Giddens thinks every year he is losing his team but each year he comes back with another good one.

Statistically, the Patriots had 18 first downs to the Cowboys 10; the Patriots had 263 yards rushing to 95; the Cowboys attempted 29 passes and completed 12, and the Patriots attempted 10 and completed 6. The Patriots received two penalties for 10 yards and the Cowboys got one for 16 yards. It was a clean, hard-fought game.

The Patriots drive to Vega Friday night for the last regularly scheduled game. Game time will be 7:30 p.m.

COOPERATIVES ARE GOOD FOR ALL AMERICANS

Farmer-owned and controlled cooperatives play a key role in making the family farm the highly productive system it has become.

October is "Cooperative Month," a time when cooperatives are recognized for their roles in economic progress in this state and nation, notes an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Texas boasts more than 400 cooperatives that serve some 133,000 members. These cooperatives are doing a business volume of more than $2 billion annually. Nationally, some 60 million Americans belong to about 40,000 cooperatives.

Windbreak Seedlings Available For 96 West Texas Counties

Farmers and ranchers in 96 West Texas counties can now purchase low-cost conifer seedlings, for use in planting windbreaks around their fields and farmsteads, thanks to stepped-up production by the Texas Forest Service's West Texas Nursery in Lubbock.

In its fifth year of operation, the West Texas Nursery has increased its production to the point where it can offer seedlings to 27 additional counties for the first time, making a total of 96 Panhandle and other West Texas counties served.

According to Robert Fewin, TFS silviculturist at Lubbock, there are five species of conifers available for most of these counties for the 1983-84 planting season which ends in late March.

Now is the time to write for applications and make arrangements to pick up the 6- to 12-inch seedlings. They will be distributed at pick-up points in eight different cities during February and early March.

Fewin said the seedlings are grown in individual cells, 30 cells to the Styrofoam container. A minimum order is 30 seedlings or one container, priced at $30 per container, or in multiples of 30. The containers are 12 inches wide by 14 inches long, by 8 inches deep, and several containers can be easily transported in the back seat of a car or pickup cab.

The species available this year include: Austrian pine, ponderosa pine, Arizona cypress, Redcedar and Afghanistan pine. Fewin said that two of these species would not be offered to the northernmost 20 counties in the Panhandle because of the cold tolerance.

"Arizona cypress and Afghanistan pine can't stand the cold weather as well as the other species," Fewin said, "and we have found that they don't survive well, especially in the first year or two after being planted in the northernmost counties."

West Texans interested in planting trees for homestead, field, feedlot or wildlife windbreaks should write for seedling applications: West Texas Nursery, Texas Forest Service, Route 3, Box 216, Lubbock, Texas 79401, or call 806-746-5801.

Seedlings produced by Texas Forest Service nurseries may not be used for landscaping or ornamental purposes. Seedlings will be sold to applicants on a first-come basis until the end of the 83-84 planting season, or until the supply is exhausted.

PICKUP STATIONS

Because the containers are not designed for shipping, it will be necessary for the windbreak planters to drive to pickup points. Following is a list of times, dates and pickup locations for the following counties:

AMARILLO—Soil Conservation Service office, 1416 W 8th Street, March 6, 1984, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.—Armstrong, Briscoe, Carson, Castro, Dallam, Deaf Smith, Hartley, Moore, Oldham, Parmer, Potter, Randall and Swisher counties.

Preventing fires on the farm should be a high safety priority. If a fire strikes be ready to act fast. It may take fire fighters a while to get help to you.

- Equip your home, farm buildings, tractors, trucks and combine with fire extinguishers.
- Install smoke alarms and develop a home fire escape plan, including rescue of the very young and infirm. Establish escape routes and an outside meeting place.

Pick A Pumpkin From Texas Patch

FLOYDADA—When B. A. Robertson began harvesting pumpkins in 1956, he was -- as far as he can recollect -- the first commercial pumpkin farmer in West Texas. Back then, people from all over Floyd County would come to see his fields of gold-orange orbs, standing around as if in wait for the Great Pumpkin.

Robertson, 79, started with three acres at the request of a Dallas friend who wanted to sell pumpkins at his roadside stands. By the time Robertson retired, he was raising 110 acres and had sold pumpkins as far north as Wichita and as far west as Phoenix.

Other farmers, taking Robertson's lead, also began sowing their fields with pumpkin seeds. Acreage grew until pumpkins became a good business in parts of West Texas -- at least for one month of the year. Though statewide totals are not available, Bailey County, west of Robertson's home in Floydada, is expected to harvest 10-15 million pounds this season. Pumpkins are still raised in Floyd as well as Deaf Smith, Parmer and Lamb counties.

Many of these pumpkins are sold in-state, most to become jack-o-lanterns. Eighty percent of the fresh market pumpkins harvested in the United States are sold at Halloween, and the Texas variety is no exception. The remaining "pie pumpkins," some as small as four or five pounds, are sold for food.

If pumpkins are to be carved, their meat can be removed and set aside for cooking. Place the meat in a large saucepan and cook it in a small amount of water for 25-30 minutes or until it is very tender. Drain the pumpkin, and mash it well or puree it in an electric blender. Pumpkins bought strictly for food can be baked in the oven. Wash the rind well and cut it in half. Place the cut sides down on a 15 x 10 x 1-inch jellyroll pan and bake for 45 minutes or until the meat is fork tender. Cool for 10 minutes, peel, discard the seeds and puree the pulp. Three pounds of fresh pumpkin will yield about three cups of cooked, mashed pulp.

Many people would not rate acne as a serious health problem. The anxiety, embarrassment and alienation often associated with acne, however, are very real and serious problems to millions of young people.

Even when acne disappears on its own—as it usually does—it can leave behind unsightly blemishes that will not go away. For this reason, even mild cases of acne may warrant medical care.

Dermatologists—doctors who specialize in the care of the skin—emphasize that no form of acne is too mild or too severe to be helped by treatment. Dermatologists, when treating patients who have acne, take steps to reduce the rate at which sebum (natural oil) is produced, work to unblock the follicle pathway through which sebum flows to the skin's surface, to eliminate or reduce bacteria in the follicles and to reduce inflammation caused by the progression of the disease.

SAFETY ON THE JOB

New Workers: More Likely To Get Hurt?

If you are new at your job, your risk of injury is much higher than for more experienced workers. In fact, the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) reports that in 1979, 48 percent of workers injured had been on the job less than one year.

Workers often do not receive the safety information they need.

Why are new workers more likely to get hurt? BLS studies show that employees injured at work often lack one vital tool to protect themselves: information. In nearly every type of injury BLS researchers have studied, the same story is repeated over and over. Workers often do not receive the safety information they need—even on jobs involving dangerous equipment where training is clearly essential.

What can workers do?

- Be sure you understand all necessary safety measures before you start to work.

- Use what you learn all the time.

- Don't take short cuts. Follow safety and health instructions to the letter.

WTU PLANNING TO PUT RETAIL RATE INCREASE INTO EFFECT THIS MONTH

West Texas Utilities Company has filed notice that it intends to put a major portion of its requested retail rate increase into effect October 22 on an interim basis.

The interim rates will reflect an annual increase of $18.8 million, a level about halfway between the Company's original request and the Public Utility Commission staff's recommendation. WTU asked for $26.5 million and the staff recommended $10.6 million.

Texas law allows a utility to place a rate increase into effect subject to refund 125 days after the original request is filed if the PUC and the cities have not taken final action by that date. A hearing on the WTU request was completed September 12 in Austin, but the final rate order from the Commission has not been issued.

"We had rather not place interim rates into effect," said G. Holman King, WTU vice president and director of corporate affairs, "but we have an urgent need for rate relief and cannot afford the revenue loss caused by waiting for final rate approval."

King said the interim rates will be subject to refund, and probably will create a certain amount of confusion when final rates are approved and adjustments are made.

The interim rates will result in an increase of about 7.5 per cent to residential customers. A residence using 600 kilowatt-hours would be billed $49.56 under the interim rates and $46.11 under the present rates, a difference of $3.45. A customer using 1,000 kilowatt-hours would see his bill raised from $72.02 to $77.61, a difference of $5.59.

WTU originally had asked for the new rates to be effective July 16. The new rates are based on revenue requirements of a historical test year, which in this case was the year ended March 31, 1983.

WTU serves 82 incorporated towns and several unincorporated communities. Of the incorporated towns, 28 have denied the rate increase and appealed to the PUC, 32 suspended the rate increase and 21 ceded jurisdiction to the PUC. The City of Vernon was not affected, as rates there are set by the City Council for both WTU and the municipal electric system.

Towns denying the rate increase were Alpine, Aspermont, Balmorhea, Bronte, Clyde, Cross Plains, Dodson, Estelline, Hawley, Iraan, Jayton, Junction, Lawn, Lueders, Marfa, Memphis, Menard, Merkel, Miles, Putnam, Quitaque, Rankin, Santa Anna, Sonora, Sterling City, Turkey, Tuscola and Valentine.

Suspending the increase were Abilene, Anson, Baird, Ballinger, Benjamin, Big Lake, Blackwell, Buffalo Gap, Childress, Cisco, Clarendon, Crowell, Eden, Hamlin, Haskell, Impact, Knox City, Melvin, Munday, O'Brien, Paducah, Quanah, Rising Star, Rochester, San Angelo, Spur, Stamford, Throckmorton, Tye, Wellington, Winters and Woodson.

The circumference of the earth is about 42 miles greater around the equator than it is around the poles.

Appraisal District Directors
Review 1983 Tax Roll Values

At the regular meeting of the directors of the Briscoe County Appraisal District, the 1983 tax roll values, as presented by Chief Appraiser Carlye Hill, were reviewed.

L. B. Garvin, jr., chairman, called the meeting to order. Attending, in addition to Garvin and Mrs. Hill, were Stan Fogerson, Ray Teeple and Joe Mercer.

Final totals for the 1982 tax roll collections through the month of September were as follows:

Briscoe County 96.8%

Silverton I.S.D. 96.4%
City of Silverton 89.5%
Mackenzie Authority 94.9%

Mrs. Hill noted that a letter had been written to the delinquent tax attorneys requesting a progress report and that Blair's secretary had called the office the day before the meeting to say that she had just put the letter to the directors in the mail. The letter had not been received as of the meeting time.

Following examination of the bills, the motion carried to pay all bills presented at the meeting.

Prudential-Bache Securities

Exports are suffering because our dollar is too strong. Why? Because interest rates are too high in the U.S. Real interest rates adjusted for inflation are now at their historical highs. With the rediscount rates of many foreign central banks at 3 1/2% and ours at 8 1/2%, money is still flowing into dollars.

Jacobs

With U.S. deficits now running at well over 200 billion dollars a year, and forecasted higher next year, it is hard for interest rates to come down. Once the market perceives that we have the national will to reduce these deficits, however, interest rates will come down, the dollar will soften, and exports will improve.

What's the solution? Casey Stengel said, "Forecasting is difficult, particularly when it involves the future." Congress must stop playing for votes and start doing what is good for the country. What we have to do is reduce government expenditures and probably raise taxes.

Hope In Despair

By Rev. Wallace Schulz
Lutheran Hour Speaker

Let the dramatic example of the life of St. Paul be an inspiration in your life. Any problems you may have can be overcome by the strength God is offering you. Your worries can be subdued by the Spirit-planted conviction that God works out all things for the benefit of those who love Him.

The heartbeat of hope is faith in God.

Begin today and live each day with confidence trusting in the beautiful promise recorded in the Bible: "...God shall supply all your needs according to His riches." (Philippians 4:19). Even in the midst of turmoil, you can live your entire life with confidence.

St. Paul's faith was not a passing emotion. His strength was not self-generated. He received his hope, his power, and his courage from the living Lord Jesus Christ. And this same hope is available to you today, free, by the grace of God.

That's James Cathey, Energas' Quitaque manager.

You are likely to find him at any activity that relates to the well-being of the community. He is in business here just like the grocer, the clothing or farm store operator. What happens in the civic life of the town affects him, his family and his livelihood. As an Energas manager, he has a lot of responsibilities... and one of them is to help make the town a good place to live.

So, when you see an Energas man at a civic meeting or in your alley, you can be sure he's there for a good reason.

WIC Program Maximizes Use of Grant

More low-income

women, infants, and children who are at nutritional risk are receiving food assistance and nutrition education in Texas this year than ever before.

At a time when so many federal programs are being reduced, the Special Supplemental Feeding Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC Program) enjoys bipartisan support in Congress, and in Texas is actually expanding.

WIC participants receive food cards for low-cost nutritious foods such as: milk, cheese, iron-fortified cereal, juice, iron-fortified infant cereal and eggs, on a monthly basis. With each visit to the WIC clinic, participants also receive nutrition education.

"We've maximized usage of our 1983 grant monies in Texas," explained Ms. Catherine E. Litteer, Director of the Texas WIC Program. "We're opening several new WIC Projects in West Texas, and we will be serving over 30,000 more participants this year than in 1982."

Ms. Litteer says the increase in caseload is partially due to additional monies from Congress this year-and partially due to the efficiency of the WIC Program staff.

The WIC Program is totally federally funded, but services in Texas are administered by the Texas Department of Health, Bureau of Maternal and Child Health, and delivered through local health service providers.

Texas' 1983 grant is $63,984,143. This figure includes $6,094,299 allocated to Texas from the Jobs Bill, a major piece of legislation Congress passed last spring to aid victims of the recession. In August, the program served 156,556 participants, up almost 30,000 over participation in August, 1982.

"Jobs Bill funding allowed us to eliminate waiting lists and open new WIC projects in areas of the state that have not had WIC services in the past," Litteer added.

New WIC Programs began serving participants in Amarillo and San Angelo this summer and plans for opening more projects in West Texas by the end of 1983 are well underway. In addition, many existing WIC Programs have been able to expand into outlying areas they had not previously been able to serve. In most cases, this means new clinic sites have been opened.

"As we expand, we are giving special attention to providing a high quality ty of service to participants who meet eligibility criteria. We are not sacrificing quality of service, nor are we lowering eligibility standards to serve an increased caseload. We are serving only about 13 percent of the potential eligibles with the present funding," Ms. Litteer said.

Meat Is The Best

"Now is an excellent time for cost-conscious consumers to stock up on meat for the freezer," says Mary K. Sweeten, a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

More cattle and hogs are being marketed because of the summer drought. This increased supply has resulted in lower prices.

According to USDA economists, steady to slightly declining prices for red meat are expected from October through December, says Ms. Sweeten. The economists expect that price levels for meat will be relatively unchanged at the first of the year, but anticipate moderate price increases through 1984, she adds.

Consumers can take advantage of lower prices by buying a whole carcass, side or quarter; wholesale cuts; or retail cuts of meat.

Before buying meat in quantity, Ms. Sweeten suggests that you consider your available freezer space, the amount of meat your family can use within a reasonable length of time, the type of cuts your family enjoys, and the amount of money you have to spend.

A carcass, side or quarter is sold by its "hanging weight," or total weight including fat and bones, says the specialist. The amount of edible meat will be about 75 percent of the hanging weight, with the other 25 percent lost in cutting and trimming.

The carcass or side will yield a variety of all cuts, and not all of them will be equally tender or equally liked by your family. A quarter is limited to only certain cuts, so the buyer can choose more specifically the type of meat wanted, she says.

The hindquarter includes the short loin, sirloin, round and flank sections and will yield more steaks and roasts. It will also cost more per pound than the forequarter.

The forequarter contains the delectable rib section, but also has more of the less tender cuts coming from the chuck, shank and brisket sections, says the specialist. The yield of edible meat is actually greater in the forequarter.

If freezer space is limited or you prefer cuts from a particular section, then whole or primal cuts (also known as wholesale cuts) will probably be your best buy, says Ms. Sweeten.

Wholesale cuts usually are bought from locker and freezer provisioners and others who sell meat as sides or quarters, although sometimes they can be bought at a supermarket.

Individual cuts of beef, like pot roast or T-bone steak are called retail cuts. Their wide variety allows consumers to buy as little or as much of a particular cut as they want. Even though the price per pound is usually greater, it is not as costly initially as buying a large quantity of meat all at one time, she says.

But retail cuts usually must be rewrapped for long-term freezer storage, notes Ms. Sweeten.

"Comparing costs and making sure you are getting a good value can be difficult when buying a product with which you are unfamiliar. And most consumers are unfamiliar with meats in carcass form," she says.

That's why it pays to find a dealer who has a well-established reputation for honesty and fairness. In general, beware of advertisements which offer meat bargains which are too sensational to believe. No dealer can afford to give meat away, and reputable ones will not pretend to do so, adds the specialist.

Cotton Farmers Face Mixed Outlook

American cotton growers currently face a good market due to reduced production and increased consumption, but it's not all "peaches and cream" down the road, says an economist in cotton marketing.

"Part of the problem is that higher market prices this season will encourage increased production next year, driving market prices down to perhaps just above the loan level for 1984," points out Dr. Carl Anderson with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"The other factor dimming the long-term outlook for U. S. cotton farmers is that, while they have worked to reduce production, China and Russia have increased production," notes the economist.

The U. S. supply is much less than was anticipated earlier in the season, Dr. Anderson says. Total cotton supply in the nation is around 15.5 million bales—about three million less than in 1982 and the smallest crop in 16 years.

Texas cotton production is forecast at 2.25 million bales, the smallest upland crop since 1946. Harvested acres are 19 percent below last year's weather reduced harvest.

However, foreign production is estimated at 59 million bales—3.5 million more than last year. This means that essentially all of this season's world stock reduction will originate in the U. S., notes Dr. Anderson.

With some recovery in the world economy, consumption is expected to be up this year, but U. S. textile trade is in a big deficit. Textile imports are up and exports have fallen, dampening the use of U. S. cotton despite the moderate recovery in total cotton consumption, Dr. Anderson says.

Also, cotton has once again lost its price advantage over synthetics. "It is essential for cotton to not only maintain its diminished share of total fiber consumption, but to also regain some lost ground," Anderson said. "The future for cotton depends to a great extent upon the industry's desire and willingness to seek new technological developments in the production and processing of cotton fiber."

Increased prices and consumption will encourage U. S. farmers to increase planted acreage in 1984, Dr. Anderson predicts, and foreign producers are unlikely to cut back from their increased production this year.

"Assuming favorable weather, conditions clearly point to a bearish cotton market in the second half of 1984," the economist says. "Therefore, producers should consider pricing a large part of next year's crop early, probably well before planting." Only adverse weather in this country, China or Russia is likely to reduce 1984 global production below consumption, contends Dr. Anderson.

He suggests that farmers market this year's crop early rather than holding out for a higher price next year because it likely won't come. Cotton prices will probably peak sometime early this fall, says Dr. Anderson. Plus holding cotton accumulates monthly storage and interest costs of some $4 to $4.50 per bale.

HIGHTOWER ENCOURAGED ABOUT TRADE MISSION TO MEXICO

Austin—Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower returned from a four-day trip to Mexico City recently "greatly encouraged" about the possibility of arranging agricultural sales direct from Texas farmers to Mexico.

Accompanied on the trip by Texas Farmers Union President Mike Moeller and Department of Agriculture international marketing personnel, Hightower met with the Mexican undersecretary of agriculture, the secretary of commerce, the director general of CONASUPO (the national export/import agency), the secretary of agriculture economy, the secretary of agriculture reform, the director general of Industrial de Abastos, a United Nations delegation of food, the president of the Mexican Farm Organization Federation, a representative of the American Soybean Association and the American Ambassador to Mexico.

"I believe we laid the groundwork for a long-term relationship that will benefit both Texas farmers and Mexico," Hightower said. "I fully expect that we will be able to arrange some sales in which, by cutting out the big middleman, our farmers will get a higher price and Mexico will pay a lower price. It may take some time, but their response was very positive.

"The single best thing that could happen to the farmers of

Tax Law Affects Family Insurance

Changes in the tax law affecting the amount of uninsured personal casualty or theft losses that can be claimed as deductions have important implications for family finances.

Under the old rule, you could deduct all but the first $100 of uninsured losses, explains Nancy Granovsky, a family resource management specialist.

But beginning with the 1983 tax year, you will only be able to claim total losses in excess of 10% of your adjusted gross income, says Ms. Granovsky, a home economist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

Under the new rules, only the most catastrophic unreimbursed losses would probably be deductible for an average-income family, although any loss could cause a financial hardship, says the specialist.

"People who haven't experienced a fire, theft or other loss this tax year, may be unaware of how this rule change could affect them," Ms. Granovsky says.

It would have the greatest impact on those consumers who raised their insurance deductibles over the past several years, thinking they could write off any uninsured losses on their income taxes, she adds.

Some of these consumers may wish to decrease their deductibles again as a shield against losses that would not be offset by a tax deduction.

Families will need to choose between increasing insurance—and premiums—to compensate for the loss of tax advantages, or risking a greater casualty or theft loss with a high deductible, says the home economist.

In making this decision, consumers should remember that the purpose of insurance is to cover those risks and hazards that we would not be able to cover ourselves, says Ms. Granovsky.

House Joint Resolution 91 proposes a constitutional amendment which requires a county with a population of 30,000 or more to be divided into not less than four nor more than eight justice of the peace precincts. A county with a population of 18,000 or more but less than 30,000 shall be divided into not less than two nor more than five justice of the peace precincts. A county with a population of less than 18,000 shall be designated as a single justice of the peace precinct or, upon a finding of necessity by the commissioners court, shall be divided into more than one justice of the peace precinct but not more than four. The amendment provides further, that in any precinct in which there is a city with a population of 18,000 or more, two justices of the peace shall be elected. The amendment allows a justice of the peace, constable or commissioner to continue in office until the expiration of his term, although a change in precinct boundaries results in the officer no longer being a resident of the precinct for which he was elected or appointed and allows a justice of the peace or constable to continue in office until the expiration of his term even though a change in precinct boundaries results in the abolition of the precinct or more than one justice of the peace or constable serving the precinct. Vacancies in the office of justice of the peace or constable that result from a precinct boundary change shall be filled by the commissioners court until the next general election. The amendment would take effect on January 1, 1984, and counties with populations of less than 30,000 and with more than four justice of the peace and constable precincts would have until January 1, 1987 to comply with the amendment.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing fewer justice of the peace and constable precincts in counties with a population of less than 30,000 and providing for continuous service by justices of the peace, constables, and county commissioners when precinct boundaries are changed."
