Patriots Enter Bi-District Playoffs

The Valley Patriots walked away with two victories from Lakeview on Tuesday February 2.

The lady Patriots had a 62-21 win with three high scorers. Melissa Maupin came out as top scorer by only one point with 13 points. Sandy Price had 12 points and Amy Maupin claimed 10.

The boys claimed a 69-49 victory. Jackie McNary came alive with 22 points and Derek Mullin hit for 20 points.

The Patriots were fired up on Friday night for their match up with Silverton. The lady Patriots couldn't pull off another victory against the Owlettes, ending with a 33-45 loss. Paula Scoggins was high scorer with 14 points. The boys had an easier time at home against Silverton ending the game with a 63-36 victory. Kirk Martin saw a good game with 23 points and Derek Mullin shot for 14 points. If the girls win their game against Hedley Tuesday night, they get second place in district. If they win, there will be a playoff game with Silverton on Friday night, possibly at Motley Co.

The boys have District wrapped up and are scheduling practice games at this time.

Childress, Matador, and Kress were invited to play in the seventh grade Valley Patriot tournament over the weekend.

The Patriots met Kress in their first round. The girls counted their first win 18-10, Rothwell had 6 of those points.

The boys also won 34-9 with Price and Smith both hitting 12 points.

In the second round the Valley girls met Motley Co. and won 33-16, keeping the first place trophy at home. Fuston was high scorer with 8 points.

The boys also met Motley Co. losing that game 18-39, giving the boys second place in the tournament. Smith was high pointer with 9 points.

Mel Phillips Announces Candidacy

Mel Phillips, Democratic candidate for the Texas Senate, has lived in the Panhandle area all his life, attending Amarillo schools and earning a degree from the University of Texas in 1968.

Upon graduation Phillips enlisted in the U.S. Navy and earned his wings to become a Navy pilot.

Following his military career Mel has been involved in real estate development and farming operations.

As a small business man, Mel Phillips is aware of the problems people are facing in this senate district. According to Phillips, "When paying one dollar in taxes, expect one dollar in state services. Recent studies indicate that this senate district receives approximately one dollar in services for every seven dollars it pays in taxes. It's time that the people of this region received the same consideration as those in the rest of the state. While the prison may bring some much needed state funding, there are even better ways for the people to receive some of their tax dollars back from Austin."

Firefighters Of Area Battle Fire

Area Firefighters united Monday afternoon February 8 and into the night in an effort to stop an intense grass fire 17 miles north of Turkey on the Harwood Ranch.

The first call came in about 3 p.m., followed by another call for more help about 5 p.m. Fire units from Turkey, Quitaque, Silverton, and Memphis responded to bring the blaze under control after battling the fire for over 4 hours.

An early estimate of 1,000 acres of pastureland were burned, however there were no injuries or loss of livestock reported.

Caprock SWCD Banquet February 11 at Silverton

The Caprock Soil and Water Conservation District Awards Banquet will be tonight Thursday, February 11 at 7:00 p.m. in the Silverton School Cafeteria. Awards will be given to the students who were winners in the Conservation Poster Contest and the Coloring Contest. Winning students, parents, and teachers are urged to attend and bring a covered dish for the meal.

The Caprock Soil and Water Conservation District sponsors the Conservation Poster contest every year to help students learn the value of our natural resources. Emphasis is placed on teaching students how farmers can conserve our soil and water resources and continue to produce the food and fiber that is essential to our existence.

The posters were judged by the directors of the Caprock Soil and Water Conservation District on Monday. First through fourth place ribbons are awarded to the winners of each class. Then three winners are chosen for the county.

The Conservation Awards Banquet is held each year to honor those students and teachers involved in the contest. The banquet is open to the public and everyone is encouraged to come and bring a covered dish for the meal.

Farmers Time Limit For USDA Eligibility

Farmers with highly erodible cropland have less than two years to begin meeting the conservation requirements of the 1985 Farm Bill to remain eligible for USDA benefits.

John Crowell, district conservationist for the USDA Soil Conservation Service at Silverton, said these provisions require farmers who have highly erodible cropland to have a conservation plan approved by their local soil and water conservation district by 1990.

The plan must be prepared by January 1, 1990, if they want to remain eligible for farm program benefits, loans, or guarantees on all their land," Crowell said.

"We estimate that about 240 new conservation plans need to be prepared for local farmers by our staff by 1990. Our goal is to get at least 200 written by the end of this year."

"Then we will try to schedule the remaining plans during 1989," Crowell said the planning workload will be difficult for the local SCS staff, especially if farmers wait until the end of 1989 to begin developing plans.

The sooner farmers ask SCS to help them develop a conservation plan, the greater

The Soil Conservation Service provides the schools with resource materials such as films and slide shows. They also make class presentations to help teachers tell students about plants, animals, soils, water, weather, land forms, and other natural resources as required in their essential elements for the class. SCS speakers strive to tailor the material to meet the needs of the teacher and the students.

The poster contest helps students to demonstrate their understanding of the importance of our natural resources and how we can conserve them, by drawing a picture showing conservation

Let's Talk Turkey
 By Thelma Gafford
"MY WORRY"
 A little bitty worry
 Started early in the day;
 By noon, it seemed my worry
 Hovered, standing in my way.
 The things and thoughts I should have had
 Got buried in my mind
 Until my little worry turned
 Into the horrid kind.
 By bedtime I was frantic --
 What to do, oh, what to do!
 And then I couldn't go to sleep,
 For worrying -- fretting, too.
 By morning I was almost sick,
 When suddenly and soon,
 My worry had been all worked out.
 Before the toll of noon;
 Then I looked back and saw my worry
 Just for what it was --
 A thing that didn't happen,
 As a worry seldom does.

"bargain." A good bargain now is the Quitaque souvenir newspapers which were published and sold last August.

The original price was $5.00 and the papers have now been marked down to $3.50 and they are well worth the price. The papers are available at Farley's, B.J.'s Beauty Shop and First National Bank.

the chance we will have to get to everyone by the deadline, Crowell stressed.

Since highly erodible land is not always obvious, farmers should check with their local SCS office to see if they have land that meets the criteria if such a determination has not already been made.

Another option is to enroll highly erodible land into the Conservation Reserve Program. Under CRP, farmers receive annual rental payments for putting such cropland in grass or trees.

"If people who grow commodity crops on highly erodible cropland do not want a conservation plan and want to give up USDA benefits, that's their business," Crowell said. "But we intend to do our best to help farmers who want to keep those benefits."

Sharing The Road With a Truck

Everyone is concerned about highway safety—especially professional drivers. So here are some tips for sharing the road with a truck, courtesy of the van operators at United Van Lines:

* When passing a truck, let the driver know by blinking your headlights. The driver will make it easier for you by staying to the far side of the lane.

* If the driver blinks his lights after you pass, it's a signal that it is clear to pull back in.

* When you follow a truck at night, always dim your headlights since your bright lights could temporarily blind the truck driver.

* If you need directions, ask a truck driver for help by using channel 19 on your CB radio.

Remember, though, whether you're sharing the road with a truck, car, bus, or other large vehicle, it's important for safety's sake to obey traffic laws, abide by the rules of the road, and drive defensively. The roads are there for all of us. Let's learn to share.

Briscoe Co. Appraisal Dist. Members Sworn In

In a January 14 meeting, Board of Directors of the Briscoe County Appraisal District, Bess McWilliams, County and District Clerk, administered the oath of office to L.B. Garvin, Jr., Joe Mercer, Robert McPherson, and Jimmy Ross, newly elected members of the Briscoe County Appraisal district for 1988-89. Due to the fact that Ray Teeple has offered his resignation, another member will be chose in the near future.

The 1987 tax roll collections through the month of December were as follows: Briscoe Co. 70.0%, Silverton ISD 71.9%, City of Silverton 52.1%, MWA 58.1%.

Caryle noted that the rollback election on January 12 at Quitaque failed, so the City of Quitaque will have a 1987 tax rate of .4300 per $100.00 value. The office planned to have these tax bills mailed on or about February 1.

It was decided to invite Briscoe County Attorney, Tom West, to the February meeting in order to answer some questions members have concerning the appraisal district. Ross stated that he would like to see Mr. West present at all meetings.

There was considerable discussion concerning the choice of the bank depository. The motion was made by McPherson and seconded by Ross to designate the First State Bank of Silverton as the bank depository for 1988-89. The motion carried.

Southern Fried Chicken
 "Crispy on the outside, juicy on the inside"—good old-fashioned fried chicken! The trick lies in using chicken fat for that real fried chicken flavor.

- INGREDIENTS
- 1 chicken (3 lb.) cut up
  - 1 tablespoon fat for frying (chicken fat is best)
  - 1/3 cup white flour
  - 1 teaspoon light seasoned salt
  - 1/2 teaspoon paprika
  - 1/4 teaspoon poultry seasoning
  - 1/4 teaspoon onion powder or garlic powder
  - 1/8 teaspoon black pepper
  - 1/2 cup water

DIRECTIONS

Select a large nonstick skillet with a closely fitting lid. Remove all skin and visible fat from chicken. If chicken fat is to be used for frying, fry the skins long enough to render 1 tablespoon fat, then discard skins. (If oil is used, omit this step.) Combine flour and spices in plastic bag or bowl. Shake or roll chicken, one or two pieces at a time, in seasoned flour. Set aside on waxed paper. Coat all chicken with flour before heating fat. Heat 1 tablespoon fat in the skillet, then add chicken, starting with breasts, then legs, thighs, wings, and back. Brown over medium heat, about 10 to 12 minutes per side, until golden brown on all sides. Add 1/2 cup water to chicken. Cover tightly, cook over low heat for 30 minutes. Remove cover, turn up heat, and cook off any remaining liquid. Continue frying chicken until reddish-brown, 1 to 2 minutes. Serves 4. Per serving: Calories-245, Fiber-0, Sodium-380 mg.

"I Don't Have a Dime to Spare"

Is your financial situation hopeless? Is there too much month left at the end of the money? There may be some small spending leaks in your budget that could be plugged.

Sometimes we only think of saving "big" dollars, but the small spending habits we have can add up to extra dollars. We need to identify these leaks and make some changes.

One of the first areas to investigate is our food habits. Do you make a grocery list and buy only what is on the list? Or do you and other family members add to the shopping basket as you go down the aisles? Do you eat out more than you prepare food at home? How about convenience foods? Do you buy those that could be prepared at home with very little extra time or skill?

Does your family waste food? Buy only the quantity you will use at the time, and store food properly so it does not spoil.

Snack foods can be a big spending leak for families. One soft drink at 50 cents a day, for 5 days a week, 50 weeks a year adds up to $125. The daily coffee break can also add up. Many snack foods add mostly calories with few nutrients. More nutritious snack foods could be substituted to get more nutrition for the dollar.

Impulse buying, whether food items, clothing, magazines, books, toys, etc., can wreck the best household budget. Analyze your buying habits to see where you have problems and plug the leaks.

Beef Stew Provides No-Watch Cooking

A savory stew simmering on the range provides a pleasing aroma on a cold winter day. And once you put together all the ingredients it practically cooks itself in a little over two hours. That gives you plenty of time to relax, handle household tasks or get some extra work done.

To prepare European-Inspired Hunter's Stew simmer flavorful beef in a red wine vinegar and garlic flavored broth. Then add fresh vegetables like onion and carrot. Serve this ethnic stew as a main dish with a crusty whole grain bread. Add a mixed green salad to complete the meal. On a cold, crisp, wintry day, this delicious stew is worth the wait.

- 1 large onion, thinly sliced
- 2 3/4 cups water

Baby, it's cold outside! The winter season is once again upon us, bringing with it visions of sleigh bells, swirling snows, roaring fireplaces, and of course, steaming hot bowls of hearty soup. ### Facts About Plastic Bottles

Consumers buy products in plastic bottles for convenience, safety and ease of handling. But DID YOU KNOW that

- Plastic bottles can be recycled.

Many people aren't aware that plastic beverage and milk bottles can be processed into new products. But communities nationwide are recycling plastic bottles—reducing the amount (and cost!) of waste disposed, and conserving valuable resources.

- Plastic bottles reduce landfill needs.

Plastic bottles weigh less than other packaging materials; they're collapsible; and they can be incinerated safely. This means less need for landfill space.

President's Day

President's Day, celebrated on February 15, is a national holiday to observe the births of George Washington (Feb. 22) and Abraham Lincoln (Feb. 12), two of the greatest presidents in U.S. history.

As the first president of the U.S., Washington was a driving force behind the shaping of our Constitution. When elected, he was respected internationally and enjoyed bi-partisan support. "The basis of our political system is the right of the people to make and to alter their constitutions of government," he said in his farewell address.

President Lincoln, the 16th president of the United States, led the nation during the most turbulent years in its history. He is credited with the preservation of the Union during the Civil War and the emancipation of the slaves. "A house divided against itself cannot stand," said Lincoln, who valued above all else the preservation of the Union. ll

The Eyes Have It

Dr. Sager Answers Your Questions About Your Eyes
By Bonnie L. Sager, O.D.
Vision Industry Council of America

Q: What is your opinion of people who wear sunglasses even when it isn't summer? Because I'm a mailman, I'm outdoors year-round. Should I wear sunglasses? And what kind would be best?

A: No matter what the season is, someone in your line of work is exposed to the sun at its brightest—between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. This high intensity sunlight can harm your eyes even in the winter. For optimum protection, buy glasses with optical quality lenses that bear a label saying they are treated to filter out ultraviolet rays. As for color, gray is the best, followed by green and brown.

Q: I'm 58 and I notice that I can see distances more clearly than I used to be able to. Does this usually happen or are my eyes healthier than average?

A: Actually, this second sight you describe might be a warning sign. It's often an indication of cataracts—a clouding of the lens. I urge you to see your eyecare professional immediately. He or she can best decide whether or not you require treatment.

Q: I'm a 42-year-old brunette. Would you tell me what kind of glasses might make me look younger?

A: Choose a frame that makes a fashion statement—pick a color and style that makes you feel terrific! Reds and corals are great on brunettes, as well as black, which can be quite striking. Your lenses can be double-tinted, gray at the top and pink at the bottom—to warm up your complexion. Frames with an upward line give an uplifting appearance. Also, multi-focal lenses provide the benefits of bifocals without that noticeable line.

Q: I've been reading that everyone should have an eye examination every year. I only go when I need my glasses changed. Why isn't that enough?

A: Several eye conditions that can seriously affect your vision have no symptoms. That is, you won't know you might have a problem until it's too late. An annual checkup is your only safeguard against these diseases. It's the old story: better safe than sorry.

Q: What do you tell people who keep losing or breaking their glasses? It seems as if I go around half blind most of the time because I've left my glasses at a friend's house, or they're in for repairs.

A: It sounds as though you need your glasses to function. So it's obvious that you should treat yourself to a second pair. You'll enjoy the security the standbys give you. And, because it also sounds as though you lead an active life, you'll probably enjoy selecting a second pair that can add to your lifestyle by giving you a different look, maybe glasses that are sporty or more chic than your everyday pair.

FROM HEAVY BRANCHES to leaves and lawn clippings, a good garden shredder makes yard cleanup fast, clean and economical. This versatile Chipp'r/Shredd'r/Mulch'r™ from Vornado operates standing up or lying on its side.

Spring cleanup tip: Turn yard and garden debris into attractive chips and rich compost

It's amazing how much debris even a small piece of property can produce over the course of a year. Spring is the time when most homeowners take a look around and size up the damage.

The inventory may include storm-felled branches and old autumn leaves, last year's tomato vines and perennial flower stalks, piles of lawn clippings and thatch, tree and shrub prunings... organic refuse of every description.

Getting rid of this mess used to mean hard labor or bringing in expensive outside help.

A good garden shredder—a machine that grinds up garden waste—will quickly pay for itself in time and money saved.

Shredders reduce organic debris to a fraction of its original volume for easy, clean disposal. Shredded leaves, grass clippings and other lightweight material can also be turned into soil-enriching compost.

The better machines have the capacity to chip wood. Fallen limbs and tree prunings can be quickly recycled into attractive chips for pathways and borders, and for around ornamental plantings.

Perhaps the most versatile garden shredder currently on the market is Vornado's Chipp'r/Shredd'r/Mulch'r™. Available in electric or gas-powered models, it operates standing or lying on its side. This permits the operator to rake debris directly into the machine's hopper where a suction device draws it in.

A special mulching screen can be inserted when extra-fine shredding is desired. All processed material is caught in a heavy-duty nylon bag which is included.

Best of all, wheels and handletrips make the machine easily portable to go where the job is.

The electric Chipp'r/Shredd'r/Mulch'r is powered by a 110v, 15-amp motor. It's intended for the average-sized suburban property, and is available at retail chain stores.

Homeowners with bigger yards and bigger cleanup jobs may want to consider the more powerful gasoline-engine ver-

Create your own version of paradise by gardening

Voltaire concludes his renowned didactic novel Candide by having his hero state the opinion that, despite the upheavals in the world outside, "we must cultivate our own garden."

And, based on experience, Candide should know. Beginning his adventures ingeniously believing that "all was for the best in the best of all possible worlds," involvement in an amazing series of cataclysms, from a shipwreck to the Spanish Inquisition to the 1755 earthquake in Lisbon, eventually drove Candide back to his own private piece of turf, and to the peace and fulfillment which tending it offered.

Like Candide, those of us who observe turmoil in the world around often turn eagerly to our gardens for the relaxation, reassurance and even comfort that only tiring manual labor can bring.

What makes gardening especially a labor of love is that it bears fruit, often quite literally, soothes eye and soul with the colors of flowers, the fragrance of roses, tomatoes, apples, raspberries and a myriad of other edibles.

A reaffirmation of the life principle, visible confirmation that the barrenness of winter is followed inevitably by the fecundity of spring, gardening is also an opportunity to escape into a paradise of one's own creation.

And, what could be more appropriate, considering that the very first Paradise known to mankind, Eden, was a garden.

Perhaps all the weeding and digging, the pruning and planting, is an attempt to return there.

Certainly, the children of the sixties, the hippies, took the phrase "back to the garden" as their slogan.

Whatever their other aims may have been, one of their most cherished goals—still valid almost 20 years later—was to simplify life and restore the basic, real values, of which the love of and respect for the integrity of nature was paramount.

Today, more Americans than ever before are gardening, growing their own vegetables, and filling their houses with the overflow from their flower beds.

Apartment dwellers are learning to use windowboxes and windowsills to capitalize even on the limited sunlight which penetrates through the manmade valleys of skyscrapers. Homeowners are using backyards large and small to pursue their own visions of paradise—from lush English-style gardens, exuberantly colorful, to regal topiaries reminiscent of the Renaissance, from serene rock gardens which borrow inspiration from the Orient to combined with abandon, provides a dazzling, yet homey display as fragrant as it is colorful.

Nor are the changes in America's gardening habits confined to the plants that are being grown.

Time and effort—and, often, a considerable amount of money—are expended in order to provide an appropriate framework for the plantings, which is in itself a pleasure to behold.

Wood picket fences, many painted white, or natural fences of shrubbery, replace sterile chain links. Arbors wreathed with roses or cascading with grapes are appealing additions, and brick or cobble paths lead through the carefully-tended precincts—a world in themselves—where time is told on a sundial.

Rustic wood benches or ornamental wrought iron tables and chairs are drawn up strategically under a tree for shade or, alternately, where a dawdler can catch the sun's rays and watch the unfolding drama of nature.

Sometimes a Victorian swing dangles flirtatiously from a tree branch—an invitation few can resist, to linger for a while, thinking and dreaming, and, in the poet Andrew Marvell's words, "annihilating all that's made, to a green thought in a green shade." Such is the allure of gardens.

Plant care: New soil additive stores water for plant roots

Home plant care is part of the daily rituals of millions of Americans. It does, however, pose serious challenges, including ensuring efficient use of water and nutrients, aerating and draining soil, eliminating buildup of nutrient salts, and reducing transplanting shock.

Water Grabber is a new product designed to help plant owners meet these challenges. It is a soil additive which absorbs and retains up to 500 times its original weight in water.

Plant roots, which grow into and through Water Grabber-treated soil, can withdraw water from it on an as-needed basis.

Plants which typically require weekly watering will, in this fashion, require watering every third week. The product can be used for both potted plants and outdoor gardens.

Water Grabber eliminates buildup of potentially harmful nutrient salts in the root zone area, and reduces transplanting shock, which is common in both home and commercial gardening. In addition, it is non-toxic and pH neutral, and will not harm living organisms.

The product is packaged in four-gram packets, both individually and in packs of five on blister cards. Four-ounce packages are also available. One four-gram packet contains enough of the product for one medium house plant. One application will last for three to five years.

Water Grabber is applied to previously potted plants by pouring the granules into holes made with a pointed object in the soil surrounding a plant's root system. After watering, the granules absorb the water, storing it for future use.

When potting plants for the first time, one four-gram packet of Water Grabber is mixed with one pint of water. After absorption occurs, it is mixed directly with potting soil, in a ratio of one part Water Grabber to six parts potting soil. Water Grabber will release up to 96 percent of the water it stores, and is compatible with fertilizers.

Water Grabber is available for purchase at supermarkets, mass merchandisers, lawn and garden stores, retail plant nurseries, drug and hardware stores, and building and lumber suppliers.

For a sample packet and free tips on how to use Water Grabber in gardening, send $1.50 for postage and handling to: FP Products, P.O. Box 1306, Lake City, SC 29560.
